warmest interest in club work, but has been prevented from actively engaging in it owing to home duties.

Mrs. Lee has a well selected library, and through all the labor of personally caring for her home and children she manages to keep informed concerning all the leading questions of the day. She is amply qualified to act in the responsible position she now occupies. She has introduced five bills. She is a strong advocate of pure air and proper ventilation in schoolrooms and considers that much improvement can be made on the present system, to which she attributes the death of many children.

SHE IS AN OPTIMIST.

In conversation with Mrs. Lee one cannot help being impressed with her almost remarkable methods of reasoning along the lines of sociological, financial and municipal questions and the great concern she expresses for bettering all conditions that have to do with the raising of the standard of morals and intelligence. She is very optimistic, having all confidence in the future and higher possibilities of mankind generally.

It is not likely that a stronger or better informed and more conscientious trio could be found in any legislature than the three women members of the Colorado legislature.

The Power of the Tip.

It was a colored girl chambermaid at a big city boarding house who gave one of the guests a new maxim the other morning. It was Sunday, and for some particular reason Mrs. Brown wished her room put in order early that day. It was always her practice to make her own bed on Sunday morning, and the dusting which the maid was to do would take but a short time. Calling to her, she said:

"Annie, won't you please put my room in order immediately, as I am a little in a hurry?"

"No, ma'am," answered Annie, respectfully, but decidedly, "I can't, because I have to do Mr. Smith's room first, and gentlemen always have the right of way."

And Mrs. Brown said nothing more, because she knew that Mr. Smith was the most generous person in the house in the way of tips and that she had not a chance in the competition if one of the maids had decided that he had "right of way."

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

WHERE THEY GO.

There's something that I'd like to know
And often think about;
I wonder where the colors go
When all the lights are out.

And where are all the shadows then,
And all the sunbeams, too?
What is it makes them come again?
I want to know, don't you?

But, say! Here's something that it seems
I just now thought about:
Perhaps they go into our dreams
When all the lights are out!

THE GAME OF PRISONER.

Youngsters Who Play It Become Clever Geographers.

An interesting game when young folk come together is the escape from prison.

It requires children who are clever in geography. It is a lesson in the disguise of pleasure.

The game proceeds after this fashion: A map is held by the judge, usually a grown person or an older child. Then two children are chosen and placed in separate corners.

Says the judge: "Now, Carrie, you represent New York in this corner, and, Richard, you are in Moscow, imprisoned; you want to get away and reach home by Thanksgiving day. You have gotten from behind the walls, but what is your most direct route home?"

Then Richard has to tell each sea, country and ocean he crosses to get home for the turkey and cranberry sauce. If he can't do it successfully he must remain right on the spot in the floor where he stopped until he thinks out his escape.

Other members of the game are placed in prisons at various parts of the country. The favorite jails are now located in China and Japan on account of the interest aroused during the late war. A leading question is: "If you were put in a Yokohama prison, how would you get back to Peking?"

Soon the room becomes filled with prisoners, all trying to get home. Half of them are "stalled" in the center trying to think of the boundary line which brings freedom; others are just leaving the prison walls.

When the game has been played frequently, those who join in get very familiar with the junction of countries, and learn many straight lines and clever jumps that had not appeared feasible before. For those who are not quite conversant with geography, easy tasks are given; for instance, to be placed in a Paris prison and find their home in Boston.

To Save Trees of Stone.

An effort is to be made to place under the protection of the government one of the most remarkable natural curiosities of the world. It is the petrified forest of Apache county, Arizona. The wonderful stone trees cover a large tract of land near the town of Holbrook, where they lie partially embedded in the soil and rock and hide hearts of most beautiful decorative stone under exteriors that have become rough and gray from exposure and the wear of the elements.

The great logs of stone, which were at one time foliage-bearing trees, have become like agate through a process which probably took thousands of years and by which every particle of the wood fiber was chemically replaced by silica, which preserved in stone the original hues of the decayed wood. This formation takes a high polish and is much sought after for decorative purposes. Some of the petrified trunks are several feet in diameter—so large in fact, that table tops have been made of single slabs.

It is now proposed that the forest be made a national reserve or park in order that it may not be depleted by stone dealers and curio merchants.

Boys Make Cake.

"Turn about is fair play," is an old adage, and the school boys and girls of Brookline, Mass., have been proving its goodness by practical experiment lately. Last year the boys learned carpentry and carving and the girls took lessons in bread and cake making, but this year the books have taken up cookery and the girls have been sawing wood.

Of course, the boys are delighted with the change, for they are permitted to boil eggs, cook steaks and even make cake once in a great while. The girls profess to thoroughly enjoy driving nails and making things of wood, and are determined to show that they can be as good carpenters as the boys.

The Fox's Bedquilt.

Why does the fox need such a big, bushy tail? Of what use is it anyway? One would think that it would be in the fox's way when he was running through the brush and that it would help to proclaim his presence when he was creeping up on game. Besides that, it is sometimes caught in traps. But nature knows best what the fox needs.

Grain Taller Than a Man.

Recently in the Boston chamber of commerce samples of grain from Yamhill county, Oregon, attracted much attention for their extreme height. There was timothy hay five feet tall and a sheaf of oats standing over six feet in height. Most any boy or girl would be entirely lost sight of in a field of grain of such giant growth.

ROD AND GUN.

The regular shoot of the Central New Jersey Trap Shooters' Leage took place at South Amboy on the grounds of the Columbia Gun Club last Saturday afternoon. Four teams of five men each were entered in the regular event. Each man shot at 25 targets. The Dunellen Club was not represented. The event was won by the Reservoir Gun Club, of New Brunswick, with a total score of 86, out of a possible 125. The scores of the other teams were: Columbia Gun Club, of South Amboy, 74; New Brunswick Gun Club, 70; Climax Gun Club, of Plainfield, 70. The next shoot will take place next week at New Brunswick.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The well-known trotting horse "Daisy M.," 2:20, has been purchased by Samuel Schuyler, of Chatham street, who expects to enter her in the races at the Gentlemen's Driving Park in Hunterdon county.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

The final accounting of Henry H. and Oliver M. Palmer, executors of the late Joseph R. Palmer, of New Brunswick, was filed yesterday with the Surrogate of Middlesex. The amount of the estate was $158,532 89.

Public improvements to cost in the aggregate nearly $50,000 will be made by the city of New Brunswick and the county of Middlesex. It is expected that local contractors will do the bulk of the work and they will be required to employ local workmen.

Capt. John Brereton, of the Twenty-fourth Infantry, U. S. A., who has been named for a lieutenant-colonelcy of one of the new volunteer regiments now being formed, is a native of Paterson. He was appointed to West Point from New Jersey and was graduated in 1877. He was instructor in tactics at Rutgers College.

President F. B. Poor, M. E. Clarendon, Alvah W. Trowbridge and George W. Conklin, representing the Hackensack Board of Trade, held a conference with Supt. Thomas, of the Erie, yesterday afternoon, with reference to a $20,000 station at Main street, Hackensack. The board promises to pay half the amount required. President Thomas said his company would give the matter immediate attention.

A resolution was adopted by the Milburn Township Committee last night asking the Court of Common Pleas to refer to the committee for its ratification all future applications for liquor licenses in town. The trouble with beer bottlers, a number of whom were arrested recently for violations of the provisions of their licenses. Constable John Trengrove notified the committee that unless his compensation should be increased he would decline to execute the alias warrants for collection of unpaid personal taxes.

SENATOR KEAN'S HANDSOME CARS.

The New Trolleys Will be Shipped to Elizabeth Next Month.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 12—Senator Kean learned yesterday that the trolley cars for his roads will be shipped from St. Louis on the fifteenth of August. The cars, as has been recently announced, will be painted a rich white color, while the names of the streets upon which the will pass, will be in raised block letters, and illuminated at night.

The cars will be of the most approved design, containing almost everything for the comfort of passengers except bath rooms. Electric buttons on every seat will enable passengers to "call" the conductor, rendering it unnecessary for one to rise in order to attract his attention.

In winter time the cars will be heated by electricity. The cars will be handsomer than any ever brought to New Jersey.

WANT A NEW PLANT.

Summit Citizens Would Avoid Trouble Over Using Green Brook Water.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Summit, July 13—There is considerable opposition on the part of the citizens of Summit against the proposed purchase of the Feltville and Green brook water plant of the Commonwealth Water Company. The principle argument advanced is that the city of Summit has trouble enough of its own without going to the extent of buying a water plant subject to the claims for damages that the mill owners between Feltville and Plainfield intend to bring against the Commonwealth Water Company at the fall term of court. There is a strong sentiment arising among the citizens that Summit should own both its water and electric light plants, and that the water plant should be a new one entirely.

NO TROLLEY CONSOLIDATION.

Chandler W. Riker Says It Was Not Effected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, July 13.—Chandler W. Riker says that he was not at the meeting of trolley men at the office of the North Jersey Street Railway Company in Jersey City yesterday. But he knew that the expected consolidation of the North Hudson Street Railway Company and the White Line Traction Company was not effected.

He understood that all that was done was the re-election of officers and directors of the Consolidated Traction Company, the North Jersey Traction Company, the Newark Plank Road Company and the Jersey City and Bergen Railway Company.

KISSING BUG IS HERE.

STUNG JOHNNY VAN NEST IN HIS SLEEP.

He Took a Nap Yesterday Afternoon and Awoke to Find He Had Been Badly Stung—Face Much Swollen.

The far-famed "kissing bug" has arrived in Plainfield at last. Yesterday afternoon while little Johnny VanNest was taking a nap he was stung on the right cheek, just below the right eye, by some insect supposed to have been the melanolestes picipes, more familiarly known as the "kissing bug."

Little Johnny is the six-year-old son of John VanNest, of Sycamore street. Yesterday afternoon he laid down and took a nap. When he woke up there was a sharp and severe pain in his right cheek, just below the eye. The pain was so great that the lad began to cry.

The cheek began to swell rapidly, closing the eye. Close to the eye there was a discoloring of the skin and a larger swelling. The boy was taken to Dr. Hedges who applied soothing lotions.

Today the lad is able to run around again but his face is still badly swollen and he is just able to look out of his eye. After stinging the boy the insect, whatever it was, flew away.

COLLISION AT 'PORT.

Two Locomotives Derailed by Slight Accident at Crossover Track.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 13—An accident which might have proved serious was averted at 8 o'clock this morning on the Central Railroad of New Jersey at the Elizabethport junction by the prompt action of the tower man at the crossing.

A gravel train coming from Newark and bound for Perth Amboy had, it is said, the safe signal to cross the main line. A passenger train from Roselle, loaded with commuters for New York, was approaching on the main track, and for some unknown reason did not stop to let the gravel train cross.

The tower man deliberately derailed the gravel train, which, however, ploughed along on the ties and the locomotives crashed together. The passenger locomotive was knocked off the track and came to a standstill. Both locomotives were slightly broken about the pilots.

There was some excitement among the passengers, several of whom jumped from the cars before the collision occurred. Both trains were moving slowly, and none of the cars were damaged. Travel was delayed for an hour on the westbound track of the main line and on the Newark branch.

RED MEN FRATERNIZING.

The Installation Was Postponed, But a Pleasant Evening Was Passed.

The installation of the new officers and the entertainment to have been held last evening by Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe of Red Men for the pleasure of the wives and families of the members of the organization, has been postponed to next Wednesday evening. The heavy storm prevented as large attendance as had been expected, but nevertheless the evening was much enjoyed. Sachem Nash presided and speeches were made by Chiefs Newcorn, Westphal, Allen, Houseman and others. The members of Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty, were invited in and the refreshments that had been prepared were served. There were about 40 present.

A Farewell Reception.

Miss Gertrude Tier, of Bank place, gave a farewell reception at her home last evening in honor of Miss Page, of Nashville, Tenn., who has been her guest and who went home today. The guests included the intimate friends of the hostess, and many social features were introduced to pass a pleasant evening.

Announcement is made of the recent celebration by Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Todd, of Park avenue, of their first wedding anniversary.

T. J. VanHorn, of 114 Grove street, left this morning for Hope, Warren county, for a rest of about three weeks. While he is absent he will visit the Delaware Water Gap.

CRANFORD'S CARNIVAL.

Preliminary Arrangements Made at a Meeting of the Cranford Association.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 13.—Cranford is to have a river carnival this year. At the annual meeting of the Cranford Boating Association held Tuesday at the township rooms it was decided to hold the carnival Thursday evening, August 17th, on the picturesque Rahway river at this place.

Commodore G. Harvey Miller called the meeting to order. Seventy-two members were present. The association at once organized for business by holding its annual meeting and electing the following officers: Commodore and treasurer, G. Harvey Miller; vice-commodore, D. P. Smock, and secretary, C. R. Williams. A committee consisting of W. W. Buckley, Judge S. J. Cox, J. A. Hibson, J. R. Crane and R. F. Hibson were appointed to see owners of boats and ascertain just how many boats and canoes will be placed in the parade.

Commodore Miller stated that he had counted over sixty boats in the upper section of the river, and if as many more could be obtained this year's carnival would excel all previous ones. Secretary Williams was authorized to ask the Township Committee for an appropriation to have the river and its banks cleaned. The meeting the adjourned to meet Monday evening at the Electric Club rooms, at which time lieutenants will be appointed and more complete arrangements will be made pertaining to the decorating of the boats, river banks and the town, the hiring of a band and the appointment of special officers for the occasion.

VACATION FOR FIREMEN.

Arrangements in the Department During the Summer Months.

The summer vacations among the members of the Plainfield Fire Department have begun. James Daly, driver of No. 1 hose wagon, is now enjoying a ten days' vacation. He returns to duty Monday and will be followed by William Ross, driver of No. 2 hose wagon. The other paid men will follow in their turn, each receiving ten days.

The two firemen who were on the sick list the first part of the week are back to duty again. Harry Bush is tillerman on the truck and Edward E. Vail, who took that position in Bush's absence, has relieved Harry Kesselring, who was driving No 1 wagon in the absence of Driver Daly. George Feiring is also back to duty in the West End engine house once more.

Edward E. Vail has been put on extra to fill the place of the men as, one after another, they take their vacations. It is probable that he will become a regular paid fireman after the next Council meeting when action, providing for an additional paid man, will probably be taken. He will continue to fill the places of the men as they take their vacations and, after the vacation season is over, will be transferred about to do duty for the men during the regular day's vacation that comes every ten days. That will permit the assignment of one man regularly to duty at the tiller of the truck.

INNOCENT MAN SENT TO JAIL.

Vincenzio Found the Cash Which He Supposed Malquand Had Stolen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, July 13.—Silvestro Vincenzio had his friend, Sthephen Malquand, arrested last week, charging him with stealing $80 from him. Justice Woodruff committed Malquand to the county jail on the charge in default of $200 bonds.

On Monday Vincenzio happened to pass the spot where he and Malquand met and where he claimed the money was stolen, and there, in the grass, he found his missing money. Vincenzio reported the find to Justice Woodruff and asked when his former friend would be let out of jail, as he wanted to be somewhere else when Malquand returned to Roselle.

—A dance will be held at Emery's pavilion, Scotch Plains, tonight. $5 in gold will be given to the best waltzing couple.

WANTS THAT MACHINE.

Surrogate Spencer Would Like to Have Uniform System of Copying.

The Somerville Messenger says that Surrogate Spencer has not given up the idea of the purchase of a book typewriter for his office, by any means, although the Freeholders have tabled his application for such a machine for the time being. Mr. Spencer will again bring the matter up shortly, as he is of the opinion, as a taxpayer, that our country should not be behind others of the State in this particular. There is no doubt that such an instrument would be the means of a great saving of public funds eventually, not only in the number of record books to be purchased, but as to economy of space in the record room, which is fast filling up, and, at the present rate, will soon have to be enlarged, at no small amount of expense. Then, again, the machine would be the means of establishing a uniform system of writing in the office, which cannot be brought about in any other way; and this is a very desirable manner in which to have the county's records kept.

DUNELLEN UP IN ARMS OVER TROLLEY.

To Force Brunswick Traction Company to Act.

PUBLIC MASS MEETING.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO NEGOTIATE A CHANGE.

Residents of Dunellen Do Not Like the Idea of Not Receiving Transfers From Plainfield, as Was Promised When Franchise Was Granted—Some Strong Talk Indulged in.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 14—Indignation was expressed in no uncertain degree upon the faces of the citizens of Dunellen last night, when they gathered in large numbers at the borough building.

It was a mass meeting called by Mayor Swackhames at the request of many residents who wished to offer their protests against the Brunswick Traction Company for the unfair method which has been in vogue for some months exacting fares.

When the meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by the Mayor, the hall was well filled with a representative class of citizens, who did not hesitate to freely express their opinion of corporations in general and the Brunswick Traction Company in particular. W. J. Winges was made chairman and P.M. Ising, secretary.

In calling the meeting to order Mayor Swackhamer stated that when the Brunswick Traction Company secured their franchise from the Common Council of Dunellen it was with the distinct understanding that the rate of fare for adults should be five cents to and from Dunellen to Bound Brook and to and from Dunellen to Plainfield. While the Traction Company had fulfilled its agreement in regard to carrying adult passengers to and from Dunellen to Bound Brook at the five cent rate, it had not done so in relation to carrying passengers to and from Dunellen to Plainfield. In fact, for some months passengers had been compelled to pay an extra fare from Plainfield to Bound Brook or be compelled to walk from the Plainfield boundary line.

At the request of the chairman Secretary Ising was requested to read section 22 of the franchise. In this section it states the obligation of the company as to rates of fare and that all passengers must be carried from Bound Brook to Plainfield for one rate of fare, but it does not state that they shall be carried from Plainfield to Bound Brook for one rate of fare.

This unfortunate omission or technical clause appears to have been overlooked by the members of the Council at the time of granting the franchise.

It is this omission in the framing of the franchise that has caused the trouble. The Brunswick Traction Company, evidently realizing that they have the best of the situation, seek to hide behind this technical point, and now refuse to accede to the wishes of the citizens, claiming that the company is living up to the letter of their franchise, even though they may be violating it in spirit.

The first speech of the evening against the rank injustice of the Brunswick Traction Company in compelling its patrons to pay an extra fare, was made by Thomas W. F. Scanlon, of West Dunellen, Mr. Scanlon said he believed if the citizens had the power to grant certain privileges to corporations that they also had as much power to revoke such privilege, particularly when it was evident that the privilege was being grossly abused and violated. It appeared to him that the citizens had been, he said, the victim of a gold brick swindle.

For the purpose of setting the ball in motion Mr. Scanlon offered a motion to the effect that the chair appoint a committee of three to submit suitable resolutions to be acted upon at the meeting. Messrs. Wilson Fredericks, Louis Snyder and George W. Day were named as that committee.

While the committee was confering the secretary read a long letter from H. B. Willis, the borough attorney, in which it appeared as though he attempted to smooth over affairs.

He said he had been told by Mr. Radel, the secretary of the Brunswick Traction Company, that his company would do what was right in the premises, although by the provisions of the franchise they were not compelled to carry passengers from Plainfield to Bound Brook for one fare.

At this point in the meeting a citizen jumped to his feet and stated that he understood the trouble did not lie

MUCH USE FOR 'PHONES.

N. Y AND N. J. TELEPHONE COMPANY STRINGING NEW LINES.

Two More Trunk Lines to New York Made Necessary—Also Another to Somerville—Local Wires to Come Down.

Now that the local exchange of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is fully established in its new headquarters on Park avenue, the attentions of Manager Charles W. Runyon are turned toward the enlargement of the present system. The number of local subscribers has now reached 460 and promises to pass the 500 mark before the beginning of winter. The return of many Plainfielders from their summer outings will see many who will equip their homes with telephones for the winter.

The business between Plainfield and New York has grown so rapidly within the last year that the company has been forced to make more facilities for the transmission of messages. A big gang of linemen is now at work stringing two trunk lines from Plainfield to New York to satisfy the great demand. Another trunk line to Bound Brook and Somerville will also be put up after this work is done.

Then the linemen will be put at work in this city removing the wires overhead that have been replaced by the cables in the underground circuits. A few linemen are busy removing them now but the balance of the work will be done in a few weeks.

TO JAIL THEY MUST GO.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER RECEIVED A SEVERE SENTENCE.

Must Spend Forty Days in the County Jail for Being Disorderly—Three Young Children Are Left Behind at Home.

The Killoren establishment on West Second street has been under police surveillance for some time. The neighbors have complained in private, but not until yesterday would any of them start formal action against Mrs. Killoren and daughter.

It is alleged that young women and men have congregated there at times and that the carousels of the guests have disturbed the neighborhood. The complaint, however, was on the charge of using profane and indecent language and being disorderly. It was made by Mrs. Phebe Luckey.

The trouble was originally between Mrs. Luckey's daughter, Pansy, and Mrs. Kill ren's grandson, Eddie. Mrs. Killoren used some unpleasant language to the little Luckey girl. There were various threats made.

Mrs. Killoren anmitted the facts, but pleaded great provocation, saying that her grandson was greatly bothered by Pansy Luckey. Miss Julia Killoren admitted her share in the trouble.

Judge Runyon found them both guilty and made the penalty more severe on account of the numerous complaints that had been made. He sentenced mother and daughter to pay a fine of $10 or go to jail for forty days. They will probably take the latter, while the Overseer of the Poor will look after the three children left behind.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

Church Deacons Ate Watermelon After Meeting of the Consistory.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church met last evening in regular session at the home of Deacon E. E. Anthony, 414 West Front street. In the absence of the pastor, Mr. Anthony was elected president and presided at the meeting. Only routine business was transacted and after a short session adjournment was made and Mrs. Anthony invited all to the dining room to partake of one of Elder Fred E. Smith's ice cold watermellons. Jolly Elder Laire was given the seat of honor at the head of the table and filled the position with dignity and himself with melon, as did everybody present, excepting Deacon Gayle, who was off his oats, and did not dare indulge. All were loud in their praise of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony and a very pleasant social hour was spent eating the delicious melon and listening to Deacon Adams stories of "What I Saw While I was a Drummer on the Road."

Fire Loss Adjusted

George Kirch, the Liberty street groceryman, whose barn was destroyed and his store and dwelling damaged by fire a few weeks ago, yesterday settled with the insurance company through Woodruff's agency. The damaged builings are being repaired by carpenter John D. Kirch. The barn will not be rebuilt. I. S. Miller will do the painting.

FARMERS FOUGHT ABOUT A FENCE

Allen Offered a Keg of Beer for its Destruction.

FENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

AN EXCITING TRIAL HELD IN JUSTICE KITCHEN'S COURT.

Not Enough Evidence to Hold Allen to Await the Action of the Grand Jury—The Offer That Allen Made in a Joking Manner Came Back in a Way That He Did Not Expect.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 14.—One of the oddest of the many line fence fights among the farmers of Somerset county terminated in Justice Kitchen's court, when County Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan sought to have Edward K. Allen, a well-to-do farmer, of North Plainfield township held for the Grand Jury on a charge preferred by his neighbor, Gerabano Friano, of maliciously burning his line fence.

Allen and Friano own adjoining farms on the Watchung mountain, ten miles from here. They lived in peace and good fellowship until three years ago, when Friano built a straight wire fence in place of the old style "worm" fence that formerly divided the farms. "The "worm" fence is so-called because of its zigzag construction. Allen alleges that instead of building the wire fence in a straight line through the centre of the "worm," Friano constructed it on the outer edge, and thus grub-staked many feet of his, Allen's land all along the line.

The fence has been the cause of many fierce quarrels between Allen and Friano since its construction. Some weeks ago Allen was entertaining a number of his male friends at his home, when one of the guests touched on the sorest spot in Allen's memory, the fence. At the time Allen said he would give any man a keg of beer and full legal protection who would tear down the fence that was wrongfully on his property. A few nights after this incident the fence was destroyed by fire. The posts had been maliciously set on fire and burned to the ground.

Allen's friends were brought into court and obliged to testify that he had offered them a keg of beer to destroy the fence. Among the witnesses was Freeholder Mobus, of North Plainfield. All the witnesses purged themselves of having destroyed the fence. Justice Kitchen decided that the evidence implicating Allen with the destruction of the fence was insufficient to hold him for indictment, and he was discharged.

WOULDN'T MOVE ON.

Herbert Smith Started to Explain and Was Arrested.

"I tried to give the officer satisfaction," explained Herbert Smith, colored, to City Judge Runyon this morning, and that was the secret of the whole trouble It wasn't anything very serious, however, and so the Judge suspended sentence.

Last night Patrolman McCarty was walking along West Front street and he saw a group of colored men clustered about the entrance to Scheuer's store. He told them to move on. Passing again a few minutes later he found them still there and again told them that they should move on.

Smith was one of the group. He undertook to explain that he lived in one of the flats above and therefore was entitled to stand there. The officer says that he told the others to stand there and defied the officer to touch them. So McCarty locked him up.

Lightning Invaded House.

During the storm last Wednesday night a house owned and occupied by Samuel Hetfield on the Rahway road, in Fanwood township, was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of $100. The bolt passed directly through the centre of the house and very rudely disturbed two bedrooms. The house is insured with E M. French & Co., of North avenue, and a settlement will be effected soon.

Cakewalk in Society.

There is going to be a cake walk at the Mountain Park Inn tomorrow evening which promises to be something very enjoyable. It will be given by the guests themselves and they have invited a number of the Plainfielders to be present on the occasion and witness the "walk," which is going to be all right, so they say.

To Raise the Chiefs.

There will be a meeting of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men this evening and Deputy Great Sachem W. A Westphal and staff are expected to be present and raise up the recently elected chiefs of the tribe.

FLAG FOR CADET CORPS.

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS PRESENTED WITH AMERICAN COLORS.

It Was the Gift of Lieut. T. N. Horn, of the First United States Artillery, a High School Boy Himself.

The Plainfield High School cadets are now the owners of a handsome American flag, the gift of First Lieut. T. N. Horn, of the First U. S. Artillery. It will be remembered that Lieut. Horn reviewed the cadets one evening last winter and was much impressed by the excellent showing that the school cadets made. He remarked at the time that all that was lacking was a flag.

July Fourth, before the parade, the High School cadets marched to the home of Col. Mason W. Tyler, on West Seventh street, and the flag was presented by Col. Tyler in the name of Lieut. Horn. Capt. George F. Edwards, of the cadets, responded with a few words and then the company marched to its position in line. Harold Davis acted as color bearer.

Lieut. Horn was graduated from the High School in 1886, and so is particularly interested in the local school company. Captain Edwards will take charge of the flag until the company assembles in the fall.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

Over one thousand drum fish were recently caught in Game Warden Gus Hilton's big pound net, at Holly Beach.

The glass blowers have the assurance that Governor Voorhees will be a guest at Washington Park on the 20th inst., the date of their big picnic.

Raphael Naar, of Elizabeth, has a wonderful fowl. It was a Spanish hen when his brother presented it to him three years ago. Recently it has grown a tail, spurs and a comb and has all the appearance of having been transformed into a rooster.

At the Nixon ship yards in Elizabeth a tug boat to be named Vigilant for the use of the supervisor of the New York harbor, and six pinnaces for the Russian Government, are being constructed. These little vessels will be carried on battleships, which are in course of construction at the Cramp ship yards.

Several detectives in the employ of insurance companies who lost heavily on the recent fire have been in Summit for the last few days making a thorough investigation to learn the cause of the fire. One of the officers said last night to a reporter that he was satisfied that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The Asbury Park Journal, pioneer newspaper of the Jersey coast, which was started early in seventies by James A. Bradley, and afterwards purchased by John K. Wallace, was closed out Wednesday afternoon by the First National Bank, to which $7,500 was owned by Mr. Wallace on a chattel. The newspaper was Republican in politics.

B. Frank Hires, the recently appointed superintendent of the Bridgetown & Millville Traction Company, is a member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders. Two years ago he personally tore up the trolley track from from one of the bridges because the company refused to obey an ordinance of the Board. As superintendendet he will now ask the Board to permit the relaying of the track.

TO BE DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

New Jersey Municipal Officials Going to the Mayors' Convention.

Mayor Silas Dewey Drake, of Lincoln, received a special invitation this morning from Mayor Jas. McGuire, of Syracuse, asking him and the Councilwomen of Lincoln to attend the annual convention of Mayors and Aldermen of the United States, which will be held in that city in September. Mayor Drake and his fair colleagues in the local legislature of Lincoln have accepted the invitation. Mayor Drake will also arrange a party of New Jersey municipal officials to attend the convention The Lincoln delegation attended the conventions of the Mayors and Aldermen in Columbus, O., two years ago and in Detroit, Mich., last year, and cut a great figure in the proceedings.

Successful Excursion.

The First Baptist church excursion to the seashore yesterday was the most successful ever conducted by this church The deficit amounted to $26, the lowest since the excursions were inaugurated. Every one had a thoroughly delightful time at the shore and not an accident happened to mar the pleasure of those who went.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER'S LOVE GREW COLD.

Discovery of His Wife's Infidelity Broke His Heart.

SAID TO BE A BIGAMIST.

SAILS FOR AMERICA AND LANDS IN PLAINFIELD.

Takes a Second Wife Whom He Marries in New York After a Short Courtship, Though the Divorce Was Granted by a Rabbi in Poland—Wife No 1 Learns of His Second Marriage—Wants Satisfaction

There's trouble in store for a citizen of Plainfield. The trouble is all about a woman, who is at present in New York city; at least she landed there a day or two ago from her native town in far off Poland.

The man in question is in business in the west end of the city. He has been a resident for some years and is living happily with a woman he calls his wife. They have two children.

Some years ago this much married man left Russia to seek his fortune in America, leaving behind a wife and three children. Previous to coming to this conntry he had served in the Russian army. He was absent from home about two years. When he returned the soldier was astonished to find that his family had increased by the addition of two children.

This knowledge of his wife's infidelity so preyed upon him that he sought consolation from the Jewish Rabbi, to whom he related his suspicions. In accordance with the ways of that country and his religion, he secured from the Rabbi a divorce from the woman he had once loved and cherished.

Many of the soldier's former associates often derided him for his domestic troubles and he became so thoroughly disgusted with affairs in his native country, that he decided to leave, which he did about five years ago.

He landed in New York and subsequently came to Plainfield where he located and established himself in business.

Previous to his taking up a residence in this city the heart broken man met and fell in love with a buxon lassie of the Jewish faith. His affections were reciprocated and the couple were married.

The Polander, not being familiar with the customs of the country of his adoption, had no idea that he was violating any law when he took to his bosom another partner to share his joys and sorrows. Nevertheless, he later learned to his consternation that he had committed bigamy.

News that he was married again finally traveled across the big pond and reached the ears of his divorced wife. Friends of the woman in New York, with meddlesome proclivities, made haste to acquaint the woman of what they maintained was her husband's perfidy.

She saw a chance to obtain satisfaction, and the green-eyed monster jealousy was only too glad to help along the trouble.

As soon as possible the divorced wife made arrangements to come to America. As stated above, she reached the coveted shores a few days ago and was met at the steamer by her friends.

In the meantime the unfortunate veteran of the Russian army, all unconscious of the storm brewing, had been apprised of his first wife's visit to this country. What was he to do?

A friend advised him to seek legal advice, which he did and that quickly, only to learn that he was a bigamist and liable to arrest at any moment.

However, the soldier—brave as he was supposed to be—did not have the courage to tell his second wife of the troubles that now threaten his pathway. Where all was sunshine and love the unfortunate man could see only thorns and squalls.

To keep from wife No. 2 knowledge of his first marriage is what his friends are now trying to help him do. If he can do this, he feels satisfied that a settlement can be effected with wife No. 1, who is reported to have said that she would be satisfied to leave the man to his second love and agree not to molest him providing she received a certain sum of money—an amount sufficient to provide for her children.

As for her husband, her love long since grew cold and she is said to have centered her affections upon another, who was her companion en route to America.

Interesting developments are expected in a few days if wife No. 1 does not succeed in obtaining a sufficient amount in cash as a solace for her injured feelings.

Harry Campbell, of Park avenue, has gone to Philadelphia on business.

DOG ATTACKED CYCLIST.

MISS ELIZABETH SMALLEY BITTEN BY A FOX TERRIER.

The Canine Chased Her on the Bicycle and Succeeded in Setting His Teeth in the Flesh—The Brute Was Killed.

While Miss Elizabeth Smalley, of Craig place, was riding her wheel on Craig place near Grove street, last evening, she was attacked by a fox terrier owned by Mr. Hall, of Duer street, and severely bitten in the ankle by the animal. This dog has on more than one occasion been complained of as a nuisance and is constantly running after bicyclists and snapping at their feet.

When first the dog attacked Miss Smalley she made every effort to frighten him away and thus prevent him biting her, but her efforts were unsuccessful. The dog finally accomplished his purpose and Miss Smalley was throw from her wheel.

As soon as she learned the extent of the injury she hastened to the office of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, on Duer street, and had the wound cauterized by him. A little later the matter was reported to one of the marshals, and after Miss Smalley identified the dog the officer reported the matter to the owner, and the canine was killed last evening by Marshal Campbell.

Dr. Buchanan does not belive that Miss Smalley will feel any ill effects from the bite.

FAMILY ON ONE BICYCLE.

REMARKABLE CONTRIVANCE OF A PHILADELPHIA MAN.

A Tandem Frame Which Carries the Husband, Wife and Four Children, Passed Through Plainfield Yesterday

An entire family are touring from Philadelphia to Yonkers, on a queer looking bicycle, half tandem and half carryall. They arrived at Plainfield yesterday. The party comprises F. C. Warren, of 418 Ridge avenue, Philadelphia, and his wife and four children, Minnie, seven; Frances, six; Frank, three, and baby Elizabeth, 18 months old.

An ordinary tandem is the foundation. On the left side is a frame supporting a box three feet long, two feet wide and two feet deep. A third wheel keeps the rig balanced. In the box sit the four youngsters, while the parents pedal the tandem. An awning shields the children from the sun.

"We camp out when it is pleasant," said Mr. Warren, "and we are enjoying ourselves tip-top. We ride only early in the morning and late in the afternoon. We expect to reach Yonkers Saturday."

NEARLY FELL UNDER THE CARS.

Fred VanEps Had a Narrow Escape on an Excursion.

That Fred VanEps, of Park avenue, is alive today is a miracle. He went on the First Baptist church excursion to Asbury Park yesterday and last evening when the first section of the excursion was pulling up to the station from the switch below he was on the train. By the time the train reached the station it was travelling at a high rate of speed. While the train was in motion Mr. VanEps made an effort to jump from the train. He missed his footing and almost fell under the wheels of the cars. By good luck he grasped hold of the car rails and hung fast as best he could, His hat went off, and the large crowd standing by expected to see him killed every minute, as his legs were hanging dangerously near the track and wheels.

Mr. VanEps retained his presence of mind and hung to the hand rail until he could get on without running any risk. The position he was in made it impossible for him to land on his feet on the car steps.

Municipal Ownership to be Considered.

It was expected that there would be a meeting this week of the councilmanic committees who have under consideration plans, ways and means for the purchase of the plant of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, but the whole committee could not meet at the appointed time. A meeting will be held, however, in the near future.

TRACKS BLOCKED.

Broken Axle Derails Several Cars at East Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 14.—A broken axle on an east bound coal train on the Jersey Central Railroad delayed traffic on the two east bound tracks for several hours this morning. The accident occurred at 9 o'clock this morning just east of the signal tour in East Bound Brook. Several cars were derailed but no one was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Butler, of Putnam avenue, are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter born last night.

TO FOUND A TOWN FOR THE NEGROES.

The Proposed Colony to be Located Near Flemington.

CO-OPERATIVE FACTORIES.

CAMP MEETING GROUNDS ALSO TO BE ESTABLISHED.

It is the Same Scheme That Was First Broached by Rev. E. W. Jackson, of Plainfield, Several Months Ago — Many Colored Ministers Are Interested in the Big Enterprise.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, July 14—A negro colony is to be established at Oak Grove, near Flemington. The scheme is progressing rapidly and is full of promise. The farm of ex-Sheriff W. Howard Lake has been selected as the site for the town.

When the promoters of the plan try to bring several hundred negroes and their families in a colony asked Mr. Lake for terms on his Oak Grove farm, he granted them certain options. Everything has been planned on a big scale. The first thing the promoters did, after perfecting plans with Mr. Lake, was to employ a thoroughly competent engineer to lay out the town. Maps were made, and it is said by those privileged to examine them that they are perfect and provide for every need of a modern town.

The plan contemplates a big shoe factory, run on the co-operative plan, and also the running of a branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad into the town. A portion of a large grove has been set aside as campmeeting grounds. Many of the leading colored people of the State have given their indorsement and are persuading their brethren to purchase lots. A great many of those who have indorsed the plan are preachers of the gospel, and even the Bishop of the colored church in the State, it is said, is among the number aiding in the work.

The people who are pushing the enterprise have an office in Broad street, Newark, and transact business under the name of "Rome Land and Improvement Company."

It is reported that the company has given to Henry C. Smith, of the Christian National Mutual and Industrial Order, New York, a tract of land as a site for a negro industrial school, and that steps will be taken at once for the erection of the building.

ACCIDENT ON THE HIGHWAY.

Mrs. Ford Wants $200 Damages for Injuries While Riding Her Wheel.

The action brought by Mrs. Kate Ford against Angretta Maur for damages alleged to have been sustained June 9th, was tried before Justice Mosher this morning. The plaintiff affirms that while riding her wheel on Cole's hill she was run into by a horse and wagon in charge of the defendant, who is an Italian. Mrs. Ford claims that she was knocked from her wheel and severely bruised and the wheel damaged. The action is in tort and the plaintiff asks $200 damages. J. P. D. Kirch appeared for the plaintiff and W. L. Hetfield for the defendant. Court reserved decision.

Must Go Through a Form.

The visiting committee of the Firemen's Relief Association met last evening with Chief T. O. Doane at his office, fire headquarters, and adopted a very important resolution. Heretofore members of the association have been receiving relief without any proper form. The attention of the committee was called to the matter and a resolution was adopted, which provides that in the future no member of the association shall receive aid when sick unless that person notifies a member of the visiting committee and the case is investigated.

Red Men Visited Perth Amboy.

Deputy Great Sachem W. A. Westphal and staff departed last last evening to the wigwams of the Po Ambo Tribe of Red Men at Perth Amboy. They were received amid general rejoicing and succeeded in raising up the newly-chosen chiefs in proper fashion. After the installation ceremonies, the visitors were escorted to a neighboring hotel, and there fed in very royal fashion. They returned home by stage sometime early this morning.

IRON AND STEEL BOOMING

The Demands Require a Tremendous Production of Pig Iron.

AN ADVANCE IN PRICE.

Notwithstanding Increased Production of Pig, the Scarcity Becomes More Pronounced.

An Advance of $5.00 a Ton Goes Into Effect on Structural Material—The Great Scarcity of Plate Causes Uneasiness on the Part of Manufacturers.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—The iron and steel market continues to show very interesting features, and the improvement during the second half of the year promises to be greater than in the first. Prices generally remain steady and there have been sharp advances. Notwithstanding the increased production of pig, the scarcity is becoming more pronounced. The necessary shutdowns the first of this month relieved matters a little, but it is more than probable that during the next month or two the steel mills will have trouble in securing the iron they need.

There is a tremendous production of pig iron. The capacity of the furnaces in blast in July amounts to 256,878 tons a week, which is the largest production in the history of the country. During the month of June the actual weekly production of the furnaces, according to the reports which have been received, was 256,074 tons.

This large production of pig iron is about the only feature of that market this week. Prices are maintained at $20 in the valley, and there is little indication of an advance for a week or two. It would be difficult, however, to find much iron at that price.

The scarcity of plate is causing haste on the part of the manufacturers to finish up the new mills in the course of construction. All the new mills at the Homestead plant will be ready by the fall, and each one is to be put into operation as soon as it is completed. These mills will increase the output of the plant 360 tons per day.

The billet market has been rather quiet this week and no important transactions have been made, simply because of the scarcity. A lot of sheet bars were sold this week for $33 at the mills. Structural material is in good demand, and an advance of $5 a ton was made last week.

The situation seems to indicate further advances in all lines for the latter part of the year, and those in close touch with the market are unanimous in saying that no break in prices need be expected for several months, unless something which cannot now be anticipated turns up.

Arrested for Cruelty.

Fostoria, Ohio, July 14.—Humane Officer Caldwell has applied for a warrant for the arrest of James Gracy, a baker. It is claimed that his bread wagon team ran away, and when under control he hitched them to a much heavier wagon and drove to Bloomdale and back, 16 miles, at the top of their speed and beat and kicked them unmercifully. One of the horses died from the exertion.

To Draft Arbitration Scheme.

The Hague, July 14.—Several of the Governments represented in the Peace Conference will send in amendments to the arbitration scheme. These amendments chiefly relate to the form of drafting, with the exception of those concerning the Dutch proposal. The drafting committee will assemble to prepare the drafts for submission to the plenary commission on Monday.

Lady Salisbury Stricken.

London, July 14.—The Marchioness of Salisbury, wife of the Premier, had an attack of paralysis at Walmer Castle. She rallied well, and is now improving. Lord Salisbury was obliged to curtail the diplomatic reception at the Foreign Office, immediately after the receipt of the news, and took a special train to Walmer Castle.

Racing at Newmarket.

London, July 14.—The race for the Midsummer Stakes of 500 sovereigns, added to a sweepstake of 50 sovereigns each for starters, for 3-year-olds, one mile, was run at Newmarket. The event was won by P. Lorillard's Domino II., ridden by Sloan, who beat Lord Dunraven's Morgante, ridden by Madden.

Customs Receipts in Porto Rico.

Washington, July 14.—The War Department has made the statement that the total customs receipts from all sources in Porto Rico for the week ending July 1, were $57,094.49. The total receipts for fourteen weeks ending July 1 were $429,918.79. The average of weekly receipts for the fourteen weeks named is $30,708.48.

Illinois Mining Trouble.

Carterville, Ill., July 14.—The mining situation in this city is strained, owing to the recent firing on the troops stationed here. Later developments point to a preconcerted plan to drive the troops from the position they have occupied for several nights. The outlook is for a long drawn-out contest, similar to the Pana troubles.

Man's Body in River.

Middletown, Conn., July 14.—The nude body of an unknown man has been found floating in the Connecticut River at Rock Landing. The body was that of a man about thirty-five years old, with brown hair and moustache. The cause of death has not yet been ascertained.

Lineman Killed on Duty.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 14.—George E. Payne, 35 years old, a lineman of the Brooklyn Fire Department, was killed by an electric current on a pole at the edge of the Newtown Creek on the Long Island City side

HAS MYSTERIOUS CURRENT

Why So Many Vessels Are Destroyed on the Manacles.

Falmouth, Eng., July 14.—Superintendent Aisbett, of the wrecking companies which salved the steamer Paris, gave a newspaper correspondent a contribution of a startling nature to the controversy as to the cause of wrecks on the Manacles. He said:—

"In bringing the Paris to Falmouth she narrowly escaped a big Manacle rock. It was ebb tide, with a northerly wind blowing, which would naturally take the vessel south; but we found her getting nearer and nearer the Manacles, until within four hundred yards of them, whereas we ought to have been a mile to the southward. Things looked queer for a time, but we altered our tactics and cleared the rock.

"From what I have seen during the past six weeks, I am confident some mysterious current draws the vessels toward the rocks. While working on the Paris we warned numberless vessels of the danger they were in."

On entering the tidal harbor the Paris, under the influence of the wind and tide, became temporarily unmanageable.

Her stern swung round and struck the end of a wooden pier upon which a large crowd of people had assembled.

The pier shook from end to end, the spectators became panic stricken and made an ugly rush for escape. Ultimately, control of the ship was regained and she was safely anchored.

Tin Plate Scale Signed.

Chicago, July 14.—The officers of the American Tin Plate Company and the Wage Committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, who have been in daily conference for the last two weeks over the question of wages of the tin workers employed by the American Tin Plate Company have agreed on a scale. The scale as signed grants a straight increase of 15 per cent, and the men will all return at once.

Five More Lockjaw Victims.

New York, July 14.—Five more deaths have resulted here from lockjaw, and after all there seems to be no remedy known to the medical world for the cure of tetanus. To the surgeons it still remains an incurable disease, and the delicate and dangerous operation of trephining the skulls of two boys in hospitals in this city for the injection of serum direct into the brain have failed. Both boys died after being only slightly relieved.

Pingree Opposers Grow Serious.

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—The opposition to the Pingree municipal ownership plan seems to have the best of it. Indignant citizens are brow-beating, threatening, cajoling and arguing with the Aldermen who voted for the security franchise, and the more enthusiastic of the citizens are suggesting all sorts of punishment for those who continue to support the Pingree plan.

Trouble Brews in Cape Colony.

Cape Town, July 14.—The Cape Parliament opened to-day, and exciting scenes are anticipated, owing to the attitude of the Premier, W. P. Schreiner, on the Transvaal question. A large number of the Opposition members favor his impeachment.

Big Automobile Order.

New Haven, Conn., July 14.—A contract for $8,000,000 to construct automobiles has been placed with the New Haven Carriage Company, and with the Columbia Automobile Company of Hartford by the New York Automobile Vehicle Company.

Preacher Accused of Assault.

Salem, N. J., July 14.—Rev. J. A. Oakes, pastor of the Sharptown Methodist Episcopal Church, has been arrested on a charge of assaulting Mary H. Stephens, 13 years old, of Camden, in his church. He was held for court.

Queen Regent Foregoes Salary.

Madrid, July 14.—The Cabinet after a long discussion, accepted the offer of the Queen Regent, to assist the finances of the country by giving up another two million pesetas from the civil list

New Brooklyn Player.

Washington, July 14.—James McGuire, the veteran backstop of the Washington Baseball Club was to-day traded to Brooklyn in exchange for First Baseman McGann and Catcher Aleck Smith.

Six Companies Sail for Manila.

San Francisco, July 14.—The City of Para has sailed for Manila with four companies of the Twenty-fourth Infantry, Major Wigant commanding, and two troops of the Fourth cavalry.

Growth of Shrubs.

It is perfectly amazing to notice carefully how much an ordinary shrub will grow in a single summer. A silver fir 2½ feet high was lately carefully measured. It had put forth 585 new shoots, varying from ½ an inch to 6 inches each.

Dangerous.

Doctor—I hope your husband followed my prescription.

Mrs. Chubbs—No, indeed! If he had he would have broken his neck.

Doctor—Broken his neck?

Mrs. Chubbs—Yes. He threw it out of the fourth-story window.

A Gentle Reminder.

Father (calling from the head of the stairs at 1.30 A. M.)—Fannie!

Fannie—Yes, papa; what is it?

Father—I wish you would ask that young man where he would like to have his trunk put when it comes.

Sleeps Slow.

A servant girl in a Birmingham family was taken to task for oversleeping herself.

"Well, me'am," she said, "I sleep very slow, and so it takes me a long while to get one night's rest."

Cashmere Shawls.

Cashmere shawls are made of the hair of a diminutive goat found in Little Thibet.

SQUADRON OF EVOLUTION

The Navy Department Plans For Its Format n In the Pacific.

HURRY ORDERS ISSUED

The New Squadron Will Consist of the Iowa, Philadelphia, Newark and Marblehead.

Nothing on of a Political Nature in the Pacific to Require the Presence of so Large a Ship as the Iowa—The Philadelphia Not Going to Guatemala.

Washington, July 14.—Arrangements are making at the Navy Department for organizing a squadron of evolution in the Pacific similar to that now temporarily under the command of Capt. Henry C. Taylor in the Atlantic. It is not likely that the squadron will be formed until the fall, and from present indications it will not be very large. The plans of the department contemplate the formation of a squadron consisting of the battleship Iowa and the cruisers Philadelphia, Newark and Marblehead. The Iowa has come out of the dry dock at the Puget Sound naval station, Bremerton, Washington, where she was fitted with bilge keels to make her steadier in a heavy sea. The Philadelphia is at the Mare Island Navy Yard undergoing repairs.

The Newark and the Marblehead are in Chilian waters. It is said that unless something unforeseen happens, the Pacific squadron of evolution will surely be organized within a short time.

There is nothing of a political nature going on in the Pacific that requires the presence of such a big ship as the Iowa and she will be practically without an assignment until the squadron is formed, barring complications of a serious character in that part of the world. There are already enough big ships at Manila. The Philadelphia is to be repaired at once, hurry orders having been issued. At both the State and the Navy Departments it is denied that the Philadelphia is going to Guatemala to back up representations made by the United States against the plan of the Guatemala Government for refunding its debt, which it is asserted will be detrimental to the interests of American and other foreign creditors.

The explanation given at the Navy Department of the orders to hurry the work on the Philadelphia is that although the cruiser has been at the Mare Island yard three weeks not a stroke of work has been done on her, and the Department was merely stirring up the authorities there.

It was intended soon after the close of hostilities between Spain and the United States to form a squadron of evolution on the Asiatic station with Admiral Dewey in command, but this plan could not be carried out owing to the troubles with the Filipinos.

The Venezuelan Arbitration.

Paris, July 14.—Sir Richard Webster, Attorney-General of Great Britain has concluded before the Venezuelan Arbitration Commission his presentation of the British case. He said it would be a death blow to arbitration if the courts sanctioned such claims as advanced by Venezuela. It would imply that an unsupported claim amounted to a title.

New Zinc Rolling Mill.

Fairmont, Ind., July 14.—The Fairmount Zinc Smelting Company will immediately commence the erection of a $250,000 rolling mill, which is to be of steel entirely and will cover five acres of ground. There is only one other rolling mill of the kind in the United States, located at LaSalle, Ill., and this has heretofore rolled the spelter for the local concern.

Absorbed by the Trust.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—The Hope Worsted Mills, of this city, will soon pass into the hands of the United States Worsted Company, the trust. The papers have been sent to the trust headquarters at Boston, and as soon as they have been signed and filed the mills will have been absorbed.

Will Remain at Scio.

Scio, Ohio, July 14.—The Executive Committee of Scio College decided that the college must remain in Scio. The spring and summer terms were held at New Philadelphia. The old faculty was given the privilege of returning in ten days. If not, their places will be filled.

Taylor Nominated.

Lexington, Ky., July 14.—Gen. Taylor was nominated for governor by the Republican convention. The nomination was made by acclamation. John Marshall of Louisville was nominated for lieutenant governor and Caleb Powers of Knox County for secretary of state.

Federal Prisoner Pardoned.

Columbus, Ohio, July 14.—William Westmoreland has been pardoned from the Ohio Penitentiary by President McKinley on account of the prisoner's health. Westmoreland is quite ill from consumption. He will go to his home in North Carolina.

Another Cent Advance.

Lima, Ohio, July 14.—Another advance in the price of Lima crude oil, just made, gives the price another boost of a cent toward the dollar mark, toward which it has been gradually creeping for the past few weeks.

Lamp Chimney Combine.

Toledo, O., July 14.—The American Lamp Chimney Company has transferred its interests in the plant in this city to the Macbeth-Evan Company.

Westinghouse to Go to England.

London, July 14.—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, of New York, is to build works here and give employment to 5,000 men.

COAL STRIKE SETTLEMENT.

Agreement in Pittsburg District Puts 1,000 to Work.

Altoona, Pa., July 14.—The settlement of the Central district strike is credited to the fact that President Dolan of the Pittsburg district placed the embargo on cars sent there for loading. A general movement throughout both the Central and Pittsburg districts had been made for the support of the strikers should the trouble continue, so that the operators were compelled to yield. An advance is given to 45 cents per ton for pick mining and 22 1-3 cents a ton for machines.

Drivers and laborers receive an advance of 10 per cent. The agreement is to continue in force for one year, and provides that in the event of an advance in competing regions the miners of this region will receive a proportionate advance. The scale is the highest that has been paid in this region for a number of years. The resumption will give employment to 10,000 miners and several thousand railroad men.

Founder of the Peak Family Dead.

Niles, Mich., July 14.—William H. Peak, founder of the original Peak family of Swiss bell ringers and harpists, died at Belvidere, Ill., aged 68. He made his first appearance before the public when he was 7 years old, antedating even Dan Rice.

WILLIAM H. PEAK.

Shot for a Dog.

Lancaster, Pa., July 14.—Edwin J. Brogan, of Fulton township, a carpenter, forty-three years old, with a wife and three children, came to this city and surrendered himself to the District Attorney, the charge against him being murder. On Tuesday evening R. Marion Wiley, aged twenty years, and a companion named John Wills, neighbors of Brogan's, passed the latter's place and threw stones at his dog. They started to run, when the crack of a pistol was heard and Wiley received a thirty-eight calibre bullet in his left lung. He became unconscious a short time after and remained in that condition until he died. Brogan claims that the young men had been in the habit of annoying him and that he was fully justified in doing the shooting.

American Fruit in London.

London, July 14.—There is general comment in commercial circles here at the remarkable speed with which the first consignment this season of California fruit was discharged from the American Line steamer St. Louis, which arrived at Southampton Wednesday evening. All the fruit was sold before noon next day. The prices realized were fairly good. The pears sold for from six shillings to seven shillings six pence per half box, the plums fetched five shillings to eight shillings six pence per package, and the peaches, which were in bad condition, only realized three shillings per package.

The Loss of the Portia.

Halifax, July 14.—It is stated on excellent authority that the steamer Portia's patent log, by which the distance run was recorded, was largely responsible for her loss on Big Fish Shoal Monday night. The log went wrong, and at the time the Portia struck the rocks Capt. Farrell supposed her to be ten miles to the westward of that point. The Portia passed extremely close to several very dangerous ledges before she finally brought up against Big Fish Shoal.

Killed Himself With Nitric Acid.

Trenton, N. J., July 14.—Henry Miller, a pottery kiln man, who had been drinking for several weeks, appeared at the Empire Pottery for duty. Miller worked an hour or two, when he disappeared. Fellow workmen found him in a kiln shed dying. Lying by his side was a bottle labelled nitric acid. Miller died before reaching a hospital.

Old Man Run Down by Train.

Zanesville, Ohio, July 14.—Marion E. Tague, aged 50 years, residing near New Lexington, Perry County, while en route home from this city, was run down by a C. and M. V. passenger train near McLuney, and sustained injuries from which he died at the City Hospital three hours later.

The Strike in the Blairsville Region

Altoona, Pa., July 14.—The striking miners in the Blairsville region have been organized into the U. M. W. Association. They refuse to treat with the operators as individuals and the operators will not recognize the union, so that a settlement seems far off.

Narrow Escape in Hotel Fire.

Rockland, Mass., July 14.—The Central House in this city was destroyed by fire. The inmates of the building had no time to dress themselves, and although all got out, there were several narrow escapes. The loss is about $80,000.

Run Over by a Wagon and Killed.

Jamestown, N. Y., July 14.—Mabel Hazard, 8 years old, fell from a load of hay at Bemus Point, and the wheels of the wagon passed over her breast, killing her instantly.

Dislocated His Heart.

Omaha, July 14.—As the result of overlifting, the heart of J. M. Murphy has moved to his right side. Doctors have begun a course of massage to drive it back.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

Don't trust your shoeing to any one who as not made a study of the horse's foot, it is too delicate in its construction to be handled by a carpenter or butcher. We are having great success in leveling and balancing horses that have been ungaited by being shod by inexperienced men and boys. Our reference is NOT to people who are out of the State, but to OUR CUSTOMERS, who can be found right here in the city and vicinity. Horses called for and delivered.

Making People Happy.

Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs. Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

ONE STRAPPING EPISODE.

Statement of a Former Member of the Hudson Board of Managers.

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—A former member of the Board of Managers of the House of Refuge for Women at Hudson, speaking of the abuses said to exist at that institution, said that the only strapping episode referred to, in the statement given out by the Comptroller, was the case of an inmate who had made a murderous assault upon one of the female attendants besides nearly wrecking the institution. In her case heroic measures of some sort were deemed necessary to subdue her, and she was, accordingly, strapped.

"A few such cases as the one I have cited," continued this gentleman, "form the basis for the charges made by Comptroller Morgan. To my mind, the one great mistake of the State is in using the institution for a prison where vicious characters of all sorts are sent who ought to be committed to a State prison."

Strike At Bridgeton.

Bridgetown, N. J., July 14.—The owners of the glass works here have at last precipitated trouble with the striking glass blowers.

A riot was brought about by the attempt of the owners of the works to bring into Bridgeton a carload of non-union men.

There were fifteen non-union men in the car. When the awaiting strikers learned that the non-union men would not be coaxed to go back to their homes, they opened a fusillade of stones and brick upon the car and nearly demolished it. The non-union men fled out of the city.

This is the third attempt that the employers have made to steal non-union men into the works.

Strike Grows Worse.

Bridgeton, N. J., July 14.—The strike situation here among the glassblowers has not improved any and there is likely to be more serious trouble than that which has already occurred. The non-union men who were attacked by the union workers threaten to protect themselves with firearms if necessary in the event of another attack.

To Check Science Healing.

New York, July 14.—Some 200 persons of both sexes and all varieties of creed, most of whom came with the passionate and long-deferred hope of getting a chance to make a speech, assembled in the east parlor of the Waldorf-Astoria in response to a call by the "Medical and Legal Relief Society" to discuss a bill to curb Christian Science treatment of the sick and injured. The tentative bill presented provides that any person advising another person not to call a doctor or surgeon in case of illness or injury shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, if said illness or injury results in death, of manslaughter. The meeting was about equally divided between Christian Scientists and Anti-Christian Scientists, and a number of arguments on both sides of the question were made, with neither side having any particular advantage.

Blair's Find of No Value After All.

Chicago, July 14.—William Blair, the Custom House broker who got $3,000 in bonds in a package of old clothes which he bought for $4 at an auction sale of unclaimed property at the Appraiser's warehouse, got a "gold brick" after all. The bonds were of the Equitable Investment Company of Council Bluffs, Ia. Mr. Blair telegraphed to Council Bluffs and learned that the company failed some time ago, and that the bonds are valuable only for their weight as paper.

Not to Hold Stocks.

New York, July 14.—The New York Life Insurance Company has adopted a new by-law which in effect will take the company out of the list of those corporations which hold stock investments. This is probably the most important move that thas been made by any life insurance company for years. It will write off in this company alone nearly $70,000,000, a sum which will really go into other investments, such as bonds and mortgages on improved real estate, and government, state, and municipal securities.

Two Vessels Lost.

Perth, Western Australia, July 14.—The British ship Carlisle Castle was lost in a storm off Rockingham. The crew perished. The British ship City of York has been wrecked off Rottnest Island. Seven of the crew were saved, but the captain and eleven men are missing.

The Enterprise Sails for New York.

Norfolk, Va., July 14.—The old auxiliary frigate Enterprise, Commander Wise, which recently arrived from Annapolis, after coaling, sailed for New York. She has aboard 200 Massachusetts naval cadets, who sailed on her from Boston.

More Fever at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., July 14.—Two more cases of scarlet fever have developed in the cadet hospital. There is no change in the condition of the cases heretofore reported. Four other cadets were taken from camp to the hospital with fever symptoms.

Yellow Fever Patients Recover.

New York, July 14.—Oscar F. W. Lackey, the Swinburne Island yellow fever patient, has improved steadily. He takes nourishment freely. Dr. Doty considers that he is convalescent. The other patients have entirely recovered.

Brewery To Be Sold.

Toledo, O., July 14.—It was announced that the Grasser & Brand Brewery of this city is to pass into the hands of an Eastern syndicate on Jan. 1. The option was obtained a few days ago and the price to be given is $550,000.

Ex-Senator Gorman Is Much Better.

Magnolia, Mass., July 14.—Ex-Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, who was reported to be seriously ill, is much better. He appeared at the breakfast table of the Hesperus House and later was able to take a short walk.

THE CAMPAIGNING IS HARD

Names of Many Volunteers Are on the Sick List in the Philippines.

PROGRESS IS RETARDED.

First Nebraska Regiment Seems to Have Suffered the Most Severely From Sickness.

Less Than One-Third of Its Normal Strength Shown When It Returned to Manila—Third Artillery Suffers a Loss of 123 Killed and Wounded Before Latest Fighting.

San Francisco, July 14.—Advices received by the transport Newport from Manila, dated June 11, are as follows:

The volunteers are greatly debilitated in consequence of their hard campaigning through three months of tropic weather. Since the middle of May no volunteer regiment has had a sick list less than twenty per cent. Most of them at the present have twenty-five per cent. ill and a few of the regiments have less than one-third of their number on duty.

The Nebraska regiment has suffered the worst. It came in from San Fernandino a few days ago with fewer than two hundred men in the ranks.

The South Dakota followed yesterday with 275 men on duty.

The Montana and Kansas regiments, at San Fernandino have not more than two hundred and eighty available men each.

The morning after the Washington troops took Morong only 263 men responded to roll call.

The Washington men have been engaged since March 12 in preventing the Filipino armies of the north and south from forming a junction at Laguna de Bay, and then engaged at the same time with the enemy in the opposite direction. Twenty-four of the Nebraska officers are on the sick list, and the Montana, Washington and South Dakota regiments show twenty or more officers in the hospitals or sick in their quarters. These regiments have borne the brunt of the fighting. Their losses in killed and wounded ranged from 160 in the Montana regiment to 280 Nebraska men.

The loss of the Kansas regiment is second to that of Nebraska, while the Washington and South Dakota regiments follow closely, each with losses of about 200. The Oregon regiment suffered severely.

Of the regulars the Third artillery is the heaviest loser, its killed and wounded numbering 123.

Will Organize a Brigade of Cavalry

Washington, July 14.—A dispatch has been received from General Otis requesting that there be sent to the Philippines 2,500 horses, in order that a brigade of cavalry may be organized for use at the end of the rainy season. General Otis has tried the horses of Manila and nearby countries, but none of them seem to be available for cavalry. It is the intention of Secretary Alger to have the mounts carefully selected, and he thinks that animals from the Southern States, not too heavy, but tough and wiry, will be the best.

Sharp Fighting In Luzon.

Manila, July 14.—The army gunboat Napidan, towing cascoes containing a force of the 4th Cavalry under Capt. McGraw, shelled Muntinlupa on the lake, for an hour, after which the cavalry landed and forced 500 natives to retreat to their strongest trenches in the hills. Ten of the enemy were killed. Our loss was two wounded.

The smallness of the American force prevented a further attack upon the intrenchments.

A large force of the enemy is active at San Ildefonso.

To Be Mustered Out at San Francisco

Washington, July 14.—Secretary Alger has received a telegram from San Francisco containing the unanimous request of the Oregon regiment for muster out at San Francisco. The Oregon regiment had previously elected to be mustered out at Portland, but evidently came to the other decision en route. After consultation with the President it was decided to accede to the request. Travel pay and commutation of rations will be issued to the Oregon soldiers.

Cla[illegible]

Lima, Ohio, July 14.—The molding department of the Lima Locomotive and Machine Works, which has been shut down for several months on account of a strike, will make an effort to resume operations with molders from Cincinnati, Ind., several of whom have arrived in the city. Several of the striking men and the union men came together, but were separated before any one was hurt, but warrants have been issued for the arrest of the participants of the fight.

Cleveland Street Car Attacked.

Cleveland, July 14.—Rioting as a result of the recent street car strike continues. A Broadway car was attacked in Newburg. Half a dozen hoodlums, concealed in a gully, pelted the car with stones. The conductor fired into the crowd five times, but hit no one. An ineffectual attempt to capture the assailants was made.

Co[illegible] hletes at Brighton.

Brighton, Eng., July 14.—The American University athletes have arrived here.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

COMING EVENTS.

July 16—Rev. Martin Sindall, of New Market, will address the men's rally at the Y. M. C. A. Special music.

Hudson County's New Sheriff.

As had been anticipated for a week past Gov. Voorhees yesterday appointed Alex. McLean, of Jersey City, sheriff of Hudson county, to succeed the late Sheriff Heller. Mr. McLean's life has been devoted to newspaper work, though here and there he has filled unimportant political offices. He has the reputation of being a man of high character and intelligence, and will undoubtedly fill the important office of sheriff of Hudson county with great credit.

Sheriff McLean will appoint the September Grand Jury, and already there are rumors that the new Grand Jury is liable to make things very interesting.

It is said that Mr. McLean has assumed the shrievalty without pledges, and he will act with perfect freedom and with the single vow to serve the public faithfully.

For thirty years McLean has been a Legislative correspondent at Trenton. He is known to almost every politician of consequence in New Jersey, and stands high in the newspaper world. He was secretary of the Hudson County Board of Equalization of Taxes in the '70s, and since 1895 he has been a member of that Board. He has been a lifelong Republican.

COLONIAL BUILDING, GREATER AMERICA EXPOSITION.
The dominant feature of the Greater America exposition at Omaha is the novel exhibits of the resources, products, manufactures and characteristics of the peoples and lands that have fallen to the protection of the United States through the war with Spain. The Colonial building is one of the most interesting.

Meeting the Occasion.

The merchant who takes advantage of the tide of business at its flood is pretty sure to be carried on to fortune; but he must know how to meet the occasion and to grasp the opportunities, observes the Philadelphia Record. In the East Indies there is a species of grain collecting ant which stores up quantities of the native cereals for food. When, however, the terrific monsoon storms swirl over the land the garnered food is moistened by the heavy rains. Then the ants rise to the occasion. They watch for the first sunbeams, and when these appear the whole colony carries out the store from their little granaries to dry in the warmth of the sun. Likewise when the sun of prosperity shines above the business world the watchful and industrious merchant is prompt to take advantage of its profitable influences, and he uses various means, the chief of which is first-class newspaper advertising, to direct these influences toward his own business.

The Boston Hearld is of the opinion that in undertaking to subjugate the Filipinos we have assumed a very large contract. "It cannot escape attention," it says, "that the officers of the navy, whenever they talk on the subject, show little confidence in our ability to make effectual conquest of the islands in any short time, unless we employ a far greater force than the President contemplates sending, or, indeed, that he has authority to raise."

The special meeting today of the Newark Lawyers' Club to consider the case of Major Carl Lentz, promises to be the most spirited session the club will ever have held. Herculean efforts are being made by the friends of the Major to prevent his enemies from accomplishing their purpose of having charges preferred against him in the Supreme Court.

George Riley, of Newark, has been chosen as State Game and Fish Protector to succeed Charles A. Shriner, who was forced out of the position owing to his political antagonism of Governor Voorhees.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The Bernardsville News is wondering how Chas. McMichael, of that place, would fit in the County Clerk's chair. "Charley" is all right and would fit most anywhere, but it is good guessing that the present genial and popular incumbent of that seat will be the victim of the Democratic landslide in 1900.—Somerville Messenger.

Poor Dunellen has found that she has bought a gold brick. The trolley road, which was to bring unlimited blessings, has brought only woe, and the village under the Watchungs doesn't know whether the Plainfield or New Brunswick trolley men are to blame. Corporation sharps had better let Dunellen alone hereafter. She has her eyes open now.—New Brunswick Home News.

New Jersey capital and enterprise should not allow any of the schemes to tunnel the North River to flag through lack of any of the essentials to success. The State is deeply interested in the improvement of the means of communication with New York, and its citizens and land owners can well afford to aid in these enterprises. Nor should they confine their energies and their money to the tunnel schemes. It is feasible to bridge the North River, and such a structure would bring in returns sufficient to justify the outlay, besides the advantages it would give the State.—New York Tribune.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The opinion prevails in the State House at Trenton that Miss Elizabeth A. Allen is either a pedagogical Joan of Arc, or a gentile Don Quixote. Miss Allen is known either personally or by reputation to every school teacher in New Jersey. She is known personally by every Legislator who has sat under the gilded dome of the Stete House for the past four years. She is now known to that part of the public who are observant of public affairs. In fact, there is no woman in New Jersey who is so generally known as Miss Allen, "the teachers' friend and leader."

* * * * *

A story is going the rounds of a golf match between Rev. Dr. Sterret and Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court. The incident occurred at the Chevy Chase Golf Club, one of the prominent organizations of Washington, during a meeting between these two ardent golfers. The doctor discovered his ball teed up in tempting style for a fine brassie shot, and, with the utmost deliberation, he went through the preliminary "waggles," and with a supreme effort—missed the ball. For fully a minute he gazed at the tantalizing sphere without uttering a word. At length Justice Harlan remarked solemnly: "Doctor, that was the most profane silence I ever listened to."

Mrs. W. H. Terry has as her guest, Miss Ethel Moore, of Brooklyn.

Miss Pearl Dodwell left Thursday to visit friends in Phillipsburg.

PLAINS AND FAN[illegible]

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 14—The summer night dance and prize waltz contest held at Emery's Pavilion last evening was well attended. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all. The contest for $5 in gold for the best waltzers found six couples entered. This was finally reduced to three and then to only two couples, Michael Higgins and Miss Nellie Parkinson, of Plainfield, and Mr. Forman and lady, of New Brunswick. After a brief rest the two started again and the judges finally awarded the prize to Mr. Higgins and lady. Both couple had many friends present, and the crowd was about evenly divided over the decision of the judges.

The Literary Society of the Methodist church held one of their interesting weekly meetings in the church last evening.

John Schmidt, James Johnston and Nicholas Alberts are working on a large contract they have taken at Waverly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guests last evening of their daughter, Mrs. George Marsh.

The contract case of Gemandt against Conover in Judge Schicks court has been settled.

Miss Mamie Merceir, of Plainfield, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Merceir, yesterday.

Henry Lenz, of Brooklyn, is spending a week at the home of Mrs. Frank Hosinger,

Miss Minnie Squiers, of Rahway, spent Wednesday with Miss Susie

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—The choir of the First Baptist church will soon disband for the summer months.

—The members of St. Peter's German Lutheran church will hold a picnic at Mountainside Grove next week.

—If the weather is favorable the electric light work on West Front street will be completed this week or the first of next.

—The Central Pharmacy seems to have a great run on their chocolate ice cream soda. As a leader it bids fair to out run our fire horses.

—During the month of August a new roof will be put on the Church of the Holy Cross and other improvements will be made to the edifice.

—Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett the iron culverts at the corner of Park avenue and Second second street have been removed.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church will meet this evening, and a cordial invitation is extended to all persons interested.

—Architect F. L. Lancaster is drawing plans for a new residence that John VanHerwerden will build on South avenue, next to his present one.

—A break in the fire alarm wires in the West End yesterday afternoon caused the alarm to give one toot. Manager Runyon, of the telephone company, fixed the break.

—The auction sale of the estate of the late Mr. Pittis took place yesterday afternoon on the premises on Central avenue. There were a goodly number of bidders present, but the property was bought in by the heirs of the estate.

Parse.

James McNair, of Brooklyn, is visiting his friend, Richard Robison.

Miss Lizzie Stamets, of Westfield, has been visiting friends in town.

Mrs. H. C. Meyers and family spent yesterday at Boynton Beach.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., met in their rooms last evening.

Fred Schmidt spent Thursday with friends in New York.

Richard Malone is enjoying a two-weeks vacetion.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 14.—A horse belonging to Martin Snyder, the Elm street butcher, ran away on Broad street last evening, and ran down through the town, but no one was hurt. On Quimby street the horse ran into a tree and fell down.

The surveyors of highways of Westfield township met at the town rooms yesterday morning and decided to vacate that part of Elizabeth avenue, between Center and Locust streets, in Carwood.

Mrs. A. J. Braierd, of First street, fell down the back stairs at her home yesterday, and was badly bruised about the body. She is now recovering nicely, although uuable to be about.

Aaron Allen, a butcher, employed by J. J. Wahl & Sons, while cutting meat last evening, let the knife slip and almost severed the first finger on his right hand.

Miss Mamie Johnson, of Carlton place, entertained a number of friends last evening, the occasion being the fifteenth anniversary of her birth.

Half the World

Suffers from pains and aches when there is not the slightest reason, or excuse for such suffering. Pain and worry make age faster than years. Whatever makes work easier and worry less, smoooths back the wrinkles and lengthens life. A splendid help to this lad is sound and healthy feet. There is no person that can give their minds to business or pleasure when their bunions or corns ache and pain. Joseph Bird, machinist at Potter's, home 514 West Second street, says, "For over fifteen years I suffered untold agony from bunions and corns. Nothing or nobody done me any good until I was advised to see Mr. Brown, who by a quick, painless treatment made my feet sound and well. I went to his office, 145 West Second street, almost a cripple, and when I left I felt like dancing with joy, not a bit of pain or blood in the treatment to work. Now there is a pleasure, when before it was a torture." Mr. Brown's Plainfield visit will close July 22d.

PEOPLE COME AND GO.

PERSONAL MENTION OF INTEREST TO PRESS READERS.

Some Come to Enjoy Pleasures of Plainfield, Others Journey to Either Mountain or Shore for Recreation.

Mrs. VanDyne, of East Sixth street, has moved to East Millstone.

Miss Annie Negorsky, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Harry Dreier.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at L. W. The Sole Aim And Object of this sale is to reduce stock. To reduce stock quickly means price reductions, big price reductions. We have made these reductions, made them honestly, made them intelligently, made them with the single purpose of making this sale go down in history as a merchandising event of the utmost importance. We want to throng this store with satisfied buyers during the entire period of the sale. We want our public to feel that this is the supreme selling effort of a most successful season. Printed promises prove nothing. We ask you to fit each item to what we say about it; you will need no further proof of our earnestness in this matter.

A Clean Up in Silks.

No such silk offerings have been made hereabouts for many a long day. Prices cut so clean that you will be sure to quickly secure the bargains.

25c—Figured wash silks in good styles and patterns, reduced from 39c.
33c—Printed Liberty satins, reduced from 39c.
39c—Printed India silks, 33 inches wide, black and navy blue grounds, with neat white printing, reduced from 50c.

Wool and Cotton Dress Goods.

In no section of the store will the price reductions be more marked. It matters not how staple the lines may be, they will without reserve be sacrificed. A grand time to supply your dress goods needs at little cost.

29c—Black all wool henriettas, 45 in wide, reduced from 45c
25c—Black wool grenadines, 38 in wide, reduced from 39c.
12½c—Satin stripe, wool challies, reduced from 25c.

12c—Printed dimity, very fine quality, reduced from 15c.
6c—Printed Scotch dimity, reduced from 9c.
5c—Printed pique in a great variety of new patterns, reduced from 9c.

Silk Waists, Outing Skirts.

Rather have the money than the goods. You would rather have the goods at these prices. It's right in the very heart of the wearing season. You'll choose with satisfaction, but you must choose quickly.

25c—Percale waists in a variety of patterns, reduced from 50c
75c—Percale and Madras waists, all choice new shapes and patterns, reduced from 1.00.

Preußen.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Dieser Tage wurde das Jetzt fertiggestellte, einen Theil der Gesammtanlage der Charite-Neubauten bildende Sammlungsgebäude des pathologisch-anatomischen Instituts der Universität eröffnet. Dies Institut steht unter Leitung Rudolf Virchows, und in dem neuen Sammlungsgebäude wird die weltberühmte pathologisch-anatomische Sammlung Virchows untergebracht. In demselben Gebäude befindet sich auch der große Hörsaal. Die übrigen neuen Gebäude des pathologisch-anatomischen Instituts können erst nach einigen Jahren in Angriff genommen werden und die betreffenden Sammlungen bleiben vorläufig in dem alten Raum.—Eine interessante Verkehrsstatistik versendet das Polizeipräsidium. An den beiden Pfingstfeiertagen waren im Betriebe: 775 Omnibusse, 1742 Pferdebahnwagen, 82 Dampfwagen und 1396 Wagen der elektrischen Straßenbahn. Im Ganzen wurden 2,679,071 Personen befördert.

Potsdam. Der bekannte Berliner Schriftsteller Karl Homann, Mitglied des literarischen Bureaus des Ministeriums des Innern, ertrank in der Nähe von hier während einer Segelpartie. Homann wurde auch in dem bekannten politischen Prozeß Leckert-Lützow genannt. Das traurige Ende Homanns macht auf alle seine Bekannten und Freunde einen um so tieferen Eindruck, als die 17jährige Tochter des Verunglückten sich im vorigen Jahre erschossen hat und seine Frau vor Kurzem erst in einer Heilanstalt gestorben ist.

Spandau. Am amerikanischen Nationalfeiertage hat hier der Musketier Buchholz, welcher dem Lieutenant Dreßler, dirigirenden Assistenten des Feuerwerkslaboratoriums, als Bursche zugetheilt war, Selbstmord begangen, indem er sich die Pulsadern öffnete. Buchholz war im Jahre 1897 aus den Ver. Staaten nach seiner deutschen Heimath zurückgekehrt und als „unsicherer Kantonist" zwangsweise in die bunte Jacke gesteckt worden. Seitdem hatte sich seiner tiefe Melancholie bemächtigt.

Provinz Hannover.

Geestemünde. Die Reichsregierung hat der hiesigen Häringsfischereigesellschaft für ihre bisher erbauten fünf Dampfer eine Bauprämie von je 5000 Mark bewilligt.

Osnabrück. Das Schwurgericht verurtheilte den Bäcker Möllenkamp wegen Ermordung eines Dienstmädchens zum Tode.

Papenburg. Der Ausbau der Telephonleitungen von hier nach Meppen, Lingen und Rheine ist in vollem Gange. Da zugleich von Rheine aus mit dem Legen der Leitung vorgegangen wird, so dürfte in nicht so ferner Zeit die ersehnte Verbindung der Emshäfen Papenburg-Leer und Emden mit dem rheinisch-westfälischen Industriebezirk hergestellt sein.

Kassel. Das Standbild Philipps des Großmüthigen soll am 12. September, dem Tage, an dem der Landgraf aus langjähriger harter Gefangenschaft nach seiner Heimath zurückkehrte, enthüllt werden.

Braubach. Neulich Abends stürzte der Thurm und ein Theil des Langschiffs an dem Neubau der evangelischen Kirche ein. Man nimmt an, daß sich in Folge des starken Gewitterregens die Fundamente gesenkt haben.

Frankfurt. Die Gattin des Hauptmanns Freiherrn v. Dobeneck stürzte beim Schließen ihrer im zweiten Stock gelegenen Fenster in den Hof herab und war sofort todt.

Provinz Pommern.

Stettin. Im hiesigen Hafen versank der Schleppdampfer „Erich," der im Begriffe war, dem englischen Dampfer „North Star" Assistenz zu leisten. Er erhielt einen Stoß in die Mitte und sank sofort. Der Kapitän und der Bootsmann konnten sich so lange über Wasser halten, bis sie gerettet wurden. Der Maschinist hatte keine Zeit mehr, aus dem Maschinenraum herauszukommen; er versank mit dem Schiffe.—Bei den Reparaturarbeiten, welche an der über die Oder führenden Bahnbrücke stattfinden, brachen zwei Wippen. Zwei Zimmerleute und ein Brückenaufzieher wurden durch herabstürzende Balken schwer verletzt; ein Zimmermann ist seinen Verletzungen erlegen.

Gollnow. Als kürzlich drei Offiziere der Berliner Luftschifferabtheilung nach mehrstündiger Fahrt, welche sie hierher getrieben hatte, landen wollten, wurde ihr Luftschiff von einem plötzlichen Windstoße derart dirigirt, daß es direkt auf das Dach des Kreiskrankenhauses gerieth, nachdem die Gondel mehrfach gegen die Giebelwand des Gebäudes geschleudert worden war. Das Herunterholen der Ballonhülle nebst Gondel vollzog sich zwar schwierig, ging aber sonst ohne Unfall von Statten.

Provinz Posen.

Bromberg. Unter Theilnahme von 600 Personen aller Stände fand hier ein Festkommers für den aus dem Amte scheidenden Regierungspräsidenten v. ## PICTURES ALL IN BLACK

The Fad For Silhouette Portraits Is Being Revived.

By Annette Crawford.

Society is ever on the alert for some new form of diversion and entertainment, and in seeking for the new it is sometimes led to turn back and revive the old.

There is now a revival of the art of silhouette cutting, which was so much in vogue in the old days before the sun turned portrait painter, and it promises to speedily become the popular fad. The artist of the scissors is likely to be quite as much in evidence as the artist of the kodak has heretofore been, and the victims of the "black art" will doubtless become as numerous as have been those of the snap shot.

We may now look to see silhouette parties become the fashion, in which bright young women, with scissors and paper, will compete for prizes, while patient young men pose as the subjects. There will doubtless be no end of silhouette exhibitions.

It is not a bad sort of fad. There are in it the possibilities of much wholesome and intelligent entertainment as well as the means of improving the artistic taste and accomplishments of its devotees.

While silhouetting is one of the oldest forms of picture making, there are always about it a freshness and charm. Exhibits of this class of work are always novel and interesting. The origin of the art is lost in antiquity, though it has been designated by the name silhouette only since 1759.

At that time the name was applied to profile portraits in black or any uniform tint, being so called after Etienne de Silhouette, French minister of finance during the closing years of the reign of Louis XV, whose rigid economy, intended to avert national bankruptcy, caused his name to be applied to things cheap.

Following out the idea of mock economy, folks gave up sitting to the fashionable portrait painters and had likenesses taken by "a la Silhouette." The political nickname has clung to the profile portraits with which the nobles of King Louis' court tried to belittle his minister.

MRS. LEIGH HUNT'S SILHOUETTE OF HER HUSBAND.

Despite the ridicule attached to the name, silhouettes became quite popular throughout France, and there are many fine collections of these simple but often artistic old portraits still extant.

A few years before the beginning of the war of the Revolution silhouettes became very popular in this country, and this form of portraits were seen everywhere. Some of these have been preserved and are valuable relics of that period. In those days we were very kindly disposed toward the French and adopted with alacrity French customs and fads, and no doubt the penchant for silhouettes came from our early love of France.

The greatest genius of the "black art in portraiture" was doubtless Etienne Edouart, a Frenchman who had served as a soldier under Napoleon and who became famous as a profilist in England as well as in France. One day when in England he was shown some silhouettes. His friends, who proudly exhibited these pictures of themselves, were vexed with the scorn he expressed of them. Edouart took a pair of scissors and vowed that he could do better, and the result proved that he could. This was the beginning of his career as a profile artist. He possessed the true instinct of likeness, and his silhouettes, elaborate, minute and full of character, rise almost to the dignity of fine art.

Among the silhouettists who have attained celebrity was Mrs. Leigh Hunt, wife of the English poet, essayist and editor, who frequently cut in profile the portraits of her husband's most intimate friends—Byron, Moore, Lamb, Shelley and Keats. Some of these portraits are still preserved.

The art of silhouette cutting is not extremely difficult to acquire, though it takes patience and some skill. The primitive process was to trace the outline of the subject from a shadow cast by a candle on a sheet of white paper. This shadow outline is then reduced or enlarged by the use of a pantograph to any size the operator desires. From the model thus acquired the silhouette is cut from black paper or paper of any uniform dark tint and mounted on white cardboard or cut from white paper and placed on a black surface. The true silhouettist, however, does not resort to these devices, but depends only on an artistic eye and deft fingers.

POINTS OF BEAUTY.

CHARACTERISTICS FOR WHICH WOMEN SHOULD ALWAYS STRIVE.

Carriage of the Head an Important Point—Gymnasium Exercise a Great Helper—What to Avoid in Order to Obtain a Good Complexion.

A graceful carriage of the head and an erect figure are points of beauty which no woman can afford to overlook. Unlike certain other features, such as the shape of the face, the color of the hair, and the size of the hands and feet, these peculiarities are within the power of every woman to control as she pleases. One sometimes sees an otherwise beautiful young woman who goes along with her head bent forward in a manner suggesting a turtle looking out of its shell, and provoking the thought at once that she has lost and is searching for something. Nothing is less pleasing than an awkward carriage of the head. Every girl should cultivate the habit of holding up her chin. A flat back, a well-poised head, and a graceful way of walking make the difference between a girl who has style and her friend who is clumsy and awkward. One should not overlook the advantages of drill. It is only necessary to think of the soldier in the awkward squad, and compare him with the man who has undergone some months of rigid training, to be convinced that freedom and grace of movement are to be had by those who are willing to work for them.

When a girl can daily take exercise in a gymnasium, she may train her muscles so that they will obey her will; but even better than this indoor training is that which one has who walks a great deal in the open air, plays golf and tennis, or often rows a boat across a pond or river.

Another point of beauty, needless to say, is a good complexion. This, too, is within the reach of every girl who, first of all, endeavors to maintain a high standard of health. Pure blood has everything to do with a clear skin; therefore, one should be careful of her diet, avoiding unwholesome and indigestible food, but taking care to eat a due proportion of meat, not omitting a little fat every day, and regularly making fruit a part of her diet. Tea and coffee should be sparingly used by the young woman who would have a beautiful skin. Every day very thorough bathing and rubbing with a crash towel are essential, and the face once a day should be washed with hot water and a lather made of a delicate toilet soap. This should be thoroughly rubbed into the skin, cleansing the pores of the fine dust which clogs their lace-like texture. The face should be carefully rinsed, and wiped with a soft towel. The best time to do this is at night before retiring. Given sufficient exercise, good food, regular bathing and plenty of sleep, there is no reason why a woman should not preserve the freshness of her skin unimpaired from childhood to old age.

Not only the beauty of the skin, but also the gloss and abundance of the hair, the brightness of the eyes, and the sheen of the teeth, all are dependent on the circulation, which is promoted by healthful living.

Well-shaped hands and feet have always been regarded as distinctive marks of beauty. While one cannot regulate the size of these members, she can always have her hands and nails well cared for and her feet becomingly dressed. A woman who is well gloved and well shod makes a creditable appearance even if the rest of her dress be somewhat shabby. If one has not very much money to spend on her costume, let her not invest so much in her gown and wrap comparatively as she does in fine, well-fitting shoes, in gloves of good quality and color to suit her dress, and in a tasteful hat. The extremities give tone to the toilet. Soiled, ill-fitting or worn-out gloves, with yawning holes at the finger ends and buttons off, will ruin any costume, and detract from the impression of beauty which a woman should make upon the eye of the beholder.

Finger Nail Polish.

Those who like a quick polish which can be put on with a brush can try pure benzoin. In buying it state to the druggist the purpose for which you intend it and he will give you a clear liquid, with a small camel's-hair brush.

When manicuring apply lightly to the finger nails with a brush that is almost dry.

Should the benzoin be a little too thick to spread easily upon the nails, thin slightly with alcohol. This will produce a very brilliant polish which will not wear off; but care must be taken to apply very lightly.

Should a pink tint be desired ask your druggist to add a drop or two of red dye to the benzoin bottle.

Dancing Good Exercise.

Dancing is not a violent exercise as practiced to-day, yet it brings in play all the muscles. Ancient doctors recommended it as a cure for "spleen, vapors and melancholic affections," as well as agues, jaundice and rheumatism. It is a mild form of exercise, which, if indulged in moderately, cannot but do good as well as make one graceful.

Very True.

Why should women be classed as a little lower than the angels? From all knowledge of angels that we possess a single good, all-around woman is infinitely superior to a whole flock of them.

Wives in Tartary.

Among the Tartars if the wife is ill treated she complains to the magistrate, who, accompanied by the principal people, accompanies her to the house and pronounces a divorce.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 16—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—A friend in need.—Luke x, 30-37.

Friendship is a great boon to mankind. The value of true friendship is inestimable. It is a blessed thing to have a friend in whom we can absolutely trust, who knows us altogether, our failings and our weaknesses, as well as our points of strength, and who, in spite of all, is constant and unfailing, cheering us in adversity, comforting us in trouble, strengthening us in weakness, and not failing even to place before us our faults that we may be guarded against them. Such a friendship cannot be too highly prized, and such a friend should be sought by every man and woman. As early in life as possible the soul of every man and woman should be knit to the soul of another in an abiding friendship, as the souls of Jonathan and David. If it were so and human friendships were never neglected or betrayed, how many clouds would be lifted from the dark and dreary days of life!

A friend in need is illustrated in the topical reference by the good Samaritan. Though the relation between the Samaritan and the man who fell among thieves was not strictly what we call friendship, yet it does set forth the characteristics of a true friendship.

1. It was friendship in adversity. The good Samaritan was a friend in need, and only a friend in need is a friend indeed. To call a relation friendship that exists only when the sun shines and disappears with the coming of the clouds is a misnomer. Such a relation is not friendship. It is but a base imitation. "True friends wait to be summoned in the time of prosperity, but in trouble they come and offer their help."

2. It was a sympathizing friendship. The Samaritan was a sympathizing friend. He was touched to the heart by the needs of the man in trouble. The priest and Levite felt no such sympathy. They were not friends.

3. It was a helpful friendship. The Samaritan was practical in his sympathy. He relieved the man's wants and provided for his future welfare. A friend in need must be a practical friend.

4. It was a continued friendship. The future well being of the man in trouble was provided for, and undoubtedly the demands for such preparation were met, or would have been had the case been real. True friendship must be continued, constant, unchangeable.

Jesus Christ alone fulfills the requirements of an ideal, perfect Friend. He is a Friend that sticketh closer than a brother. He is a Friend in need, a sympathizing, helpful, constant, unchangeable Friend. No one should be or need be without the friendship of Christ. Life without Christ's friendship is like the sky without the sun.

Bible Readings.—I Sam. xviii, 1-4; Prov. xvii, 17; xviii, 24; xxii, 24, 25; xxvii, 6-10; xxv, 19; Zech. xiii, 1-6; Mark v, 19; John xv, 13-15; II Tim. i, 16-18; Jas. ii, 21-23; iv, 4; III John xiv.

The Value of Sensationalism.

The charge of sensationalism is not always the worst that may be urged. Sensationalism has its better side. The sensationalist may be a charlatan, and then he may be a prophet of God. Elijah was a sensationalist. There is no more dramatic incident in all history than the scene on Mount Carmel. John the Baptist was a sensationalist, and so was Paul. They were the voices of thunder from a cloudless sky. Moses was a sensationalist. His interviews with Pharaoh were a series of sensational demonstration. Such, too, was Joseph. Sanctified sensationalism is never a studied effect, but always the unusual. Earnestness breaks in upon the humdrum world and creates a sensation. Honorable sensation is an effect, but never a cause.—Presbyterian Journal.

Secret Faults.

Our "secret faults" may be hid from our own eyes as well as from the eyes of all others but God. He can, however, cleanse us from such faults in answer to prayer, whether we ever know exactly what those faults may be or not. We can be saved, cleansed, sanctified wholly—not only "up to what we know," but also up to what we do not know and may never know, unless God at some time may show us from how great "secret faults" and consequent perils He had delivered us.—Christian Standard.

It Never Fails.

All men are sinners. All some time become conscious of their sinfulness and crave supernatural help. All, in one or another way, look up to their more or less consciously realized Creator and Father. All appreciate in some measure the duty of attaining in conduct the highest ideal of which they are aware. And because of this inborn and ever present responsiveness the gospel never fails, when wisely and lovingly offered and received, to justify its appropriateness.—Congregationalist.

A Sinner's Shroud.

Man is much like a silkworm. He is a spinner and weaver by nature. A robe of righteousness is wrought out for him, but he will not have it; he will spin for himself, and, like the silkworm, he spins and spins, and he only spins himself a shroud. All the righteousness that a sinnner can make will only be a shroud in which to wrap up his own soul.—Spurgeon.

Today and Tomorrow.

One who does right today need not be troubled about doing right tomorrow. Every act done is a seed that will bear fruit, each after its kind. The man who is generous today will find it easier to be generous tomorrow. An act repeated often enough becomes a habit, and the fruit of habit is character.—Sunday School Times.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 16, "A Friend In Need"—Text, Luke x, 30-37.

"Go and do thou likewise."

On a journey in the country of an unfriendly people, in a locality notoriously dangerous on account of highwaymen, that danger emphasized by the sight of a man badly wounded and robbed of all valuables, most men would hurry along as fast as possible to a place of safety. Let the wounded man be one who would undoubtedly in hours of consciousness refuse to help or be helped by the traveler because of race antipathy and it is safe to say, few would risk their own safety to help the helpless one.

Here lies the power of the Christ spirit. Help is to be given not so much to friends who will appreciate the assistance, comfort is to be tendered less to those who will accept it gratefully, but help is to be given the needy one regardless of his evil disposition toward the giver. His need and our capacity, our opportunity, are to be the conditions for our giving aid.

The measure of our gift is not to be our convenience. We are to walk, if necessary, while we let our natural and avowed enemy ride, and this not on his own beast, but on ours. Our wine and oil and clothing are to dress his wounds and our purse to pay his sick expenses. Because he loves us or our religion? Not at all. Because he is good and worthy? He may not even thank you for your kindness. Why, then, should we do this? Because we are to be good and love Him who has given us beast and wine and oil and raiment and money and power to journey, because we are privileged to feel compassion, the blessedness of sorrow for another's misfortune. We are allowed to know and share the divine heart life, to be as He is and do as He does.

We are to have vacations this summer, to go to unaccustomed places, see new scenes and faces. How much of enjoyment lies in store for us! At the seashore, mountains, at the old farm, across the continent, in the city, perhaps in foreign lands, we shall see and hear so much to widen the horizon of our narrow life and so much to brighten the dullness of our daily existence. So much for self of pleasure and culture and profit! How we look forward to vacation time!

All this is right or may be right if only we do not forget that there are by the wayside in the most unexpected places blessings of exceeding profit, pleasure and culture passed unheedingly by the wise and gifted and honored. Custom and worldly prudence will say: "Only a wounded Jew. Pass on." Take heed to yourself. Here is the best place of all the journey to pour out wine and oil and money. Buy silks and jewels and pictures in the busy shops if you can afford to buy them. But heart culture, soul profit and eternal joy by the wayside where men faint and bleed and die. Buy this if it takes all your time and possessions.

Keep your eyes open on both sides of the highway lest you lose the sight of your opportunity and arrive at the inn alone, companionless as Levite and priest and as unneighborly.

How Do You Read Your Bible?

Occasionally, intermittently, haphazard, selecting the pleasing parts, the sweet promises, or do you read it systematically, regularly, devotionally, thoughtfully, memorizing passages, meditating on topics and seeking in it all to bring every power of being into obedience to its truth?

Some who have been Christians many years have never read the Bible through. It is a good scheme to read it through at least once in a lifetime. It is worth reading. It is a wonderful book and will repay study. Even the parts considered "dry" have springs of refreshing and patches of verdure. Think of a traveler to a foreign land going through it on foot for the first and only time with a good guidebook in his hand, but neglecting to read it. Oh, he can very likely get through if he never opens it, but he will miss much of the value of the journey. What good is a guidebook if you don't read it? Read it through, marking passages for future careful study. Have a notebook always at hand. Write down striking texts. Note what is particularly interesting, new or valuable to you. If perplexing questions rise, note them. Let passages of special beauty or comfort or sublimity be remembered for constant use devotionally. Read intelligently.

A Lesson In Finance.

Income, $1; expenses, 99 cents; result, affluence; income, $1; expenses, $1.01; result, poverty.

Study it well. Better deny yourself than to need and have others deny you. Study economy. Learn how many of the things you want you do not really need. Self denial is a Christian virtue greatly needing to be cultivated in these times. Keep within your income, and you will have more joy and peace with God and your fellow men.

Words.

Keep a watch on your words, my sisters,
For words are wonderful things.
They are sweet, like the bees' fresh honey;
Like the bees, they have terrible stings.
They can bless like the warm, glad sunshine
And brighten a lonely life.
They can cut in the strife of anger
Like an open two edged knife.

Let them pass through your lips unchallenged
If their errand is true and kind.
If they come to support the weary,
To comfort and help the blind.
If a bitter, revengeful spirit
Prompt the words, let them be unsaid.
They may flash through a brain like lightning
Or fall on a heart like lead.

Keep them back if they're cold or cruel,
Under bar and lock and seal.
The wounds they make, my sisters,
Are slow and hard to heal.
May Christ guard your lips, and ever,
From the time of your early youth,
May the words that you daily utter
Be the words of beautiful truth.

—Christian.

THEY BROKE EVEN

There Both Had "Kicks" to Make But Decided to Withdraw.

"Say, I've got a kick to make," roared the angry man in the loud check suit. "I've got two kicks to make!"

"What's the matter?" asked the hotel clerk.

"Some fellow in the room right under mine had a card party last night and the loud talking and singing kept me awake until after 2 o'clock. That's the first kick. You ought'nt to allow disorderly mobs of young men to make a nuisance of themselves in your hotel. I left word that I was to be called at 6 o'clock. I wasn't called at all, and I've missed my train. It's 9:30. That's the second kick. When I come to this town again I'll hunt up some other—"

"Say," interrupted a red-eyed young man, grumbling his way up to the clerk's desk, "I kick! What did you want to have the boy hammer at my door at 6 o'clock this morning for? I didn't leave any orders of that kind. He spoiled my nap. I haven't slept a wink, by George, since 6 o'clock! If You can't —"

"What's the number of your room?" asked the man in the check suit.

"It's 46."

"Mine's 56. That's the reason confound it, why I wasn't called on time this morning! The boy went to the wrong——"

"Are you the man who kept hammering the floor over my room and bowling that it was time for decent people to be in bed and all that sort of thing?"

"I am sir."

"And you got left this morning, did you?"

"I did, sir."

"Clerk, I take back my kick. I'm even with him."

"Say are you that chap who had that card party and broke up my night's rest?"

"I'm the chap that had that card party all right enough.

"And you've been tossing on your bed, trying to go to sleep, for the last three or four hours?"

"I have, by George!"

"Clerk, I withdraw both my kicks. I'm even with him and a little more.—Kennebec Journal.

Conversation Simplified.

"It's a fraud," exclaimed one of the men who had stopped to read their papers in the warm though unpretentious little place which serves both as railway waiting room and postoffice. "The whole business is a downright swindle."

"Of course it is," answered his neighbor, who was busily engaged in pronouncing under his breath all the words in an article on successful fertilizing.

"It's an outrage on a confiding public, and a backset to civilization."

"That's what it is," was the somewhat grudging response.

The indignant old gentleman became so excited that he had to go out and walk up and down the platform. As his friend glanced up from his paper to watch him depart he caught the eye of a traveling man who, pending train time, had nothing to do but watch people

"Excuse me for asking questions about things that are none of my affair," said the traveling man, "but are you a mind reader?"

"Not that I know of."

"You knew what your friend was talking about without his telling you."

"Well, not precisely."

"But you answered him as if you knew."

"Yes, but I wa'n't takin' any risk in that. I knowed he was makin' allusions to either a 'lection or a prize fight. An' whichever it was, them was my sentiments."

No Consolation.

"There's no use in being discouraged, Victor," said his young wife. "Remember that when William Cullen Bryant began to write he only got $2 apiece for his poems."

"Only $2!" exclaimed the struggling young literary genius, with bitter emphasis on the 'only.' If I could get $2 apiece for my poems, Arabella, I could make $40 a day."

Caution.

"Shall we shoot or hang him," asked the western cowboy. The methodical man of business paused to think.

"Let us not be hasty," he said, "for hurry begets criminal waste and extravagance. The first thing to do is to learn the price of rope and compare it with the cost of ammunition."—Pearson's Weekly.

Pa's Experience.

"Say, pa," queried Willie the other morning while preparing his geography lesson, "how many motions has the earth?"

"I don't know, Willie," replied the fond parent, as he bound a towel soaked with ice water about his throbbing brow, but they're numerous, quite numerous."—Chicago News.

Sympathized With Him.

"And still my warcry is," exclaimed the temperance orator, down with alcohol!"

"I know how to sympthize with you, old man," interrupted a man from the back seats, "I've been down with it myself more than once."

A Suitable Receptacle.

Mrs. Wise—What are you going to give Marguerite for a wedding present?

Mr. Wise—Judging by the character of her intended I should regard a tureen as the thing.

Reasons.

Little Harry—Pa, why do you call it North Carolina when it's away down South?

Pa—For the same reason that they call it South Dakota when it's away up North, I guess.

The Intricacies of English

Monsieur de France—You wind up ze clock to make him go?

English Tutor—Exactly.

Monsieur de France—Zen what for you wind up ze beesinss to make it stop?—Jewelers' Weekly.

Significant.

The Miser—Bridget, where in thunder are my collar buttons?

The Maid—Shure, an' yez had 'em in yer pocket whin yez wint to church yesterday.—Ex.

Cheap washing soaps and powders, too,
With alkali are strong;
The dire destruction which they do
Is sure to show ere long.
But Ivory Soap will never hurt
The fabric, howe'er tender;
It makes short work of stain and dirt,
But no work for the mender.

Mrs. Herbert Templin and family are spending the summer with her parents at Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Atterbury, of West Seventh street, are spending the summer at East Gloucester, Mass.

Had His Leg Amputated.

Two weeks ago William Cosgrove, the Californian, now confined at the hospital with a broken back, had his leg amputated. The leg was fractured and the physicians thought that with proper treatment it would knit. Time proved that it would not, hence the amputation. The operation was performed without the use of anæsthetics.

Discharged From Hospital.

Patrick Donnelly, coachman for Mason W. Tyler, was discharged from the hospital this morning cured. Sometime ago Mr. Donnelly received injuries by falling from a bicyle.

EXCELSIOR! EXCELSIOR!

Fireman Muir Climbs to the Top of a Tall Flagstaff.

A crowd gathered near the West End fire house last night and for some time watched Alex. Muir, a member of Hose 3, scale the flagstaff on the engine house. It became necessary to adjust one of the ropes attached to the halyards.

The pole is fully 75 feet from the roof. Without the least hesitation Fireman Muir made ready to climb the tall staff. Hand over hand he went, drawing his body up a few inches at a time. The staff is quite slender and it swayed and wavered from the weight of Muir's body. As the courageous young man climbed, agile as a monkey, his course was closely watched by the crowd of spectators. In less than five minutes he had reached the top. Then those from the street below—more than 100 feet—who had noted with bated breath his perilous ascent, saw the man reach the top and adjust the rope, there broke forth from the awe-struck crowd ripples of applause that finally swelled to enthusiastic shouts. After fixing the rope, Fireman Muir waved his hat to his admiring auditors and gracefully descended. Not satisfied with his first efforts the plucky climber made a second ascent to the amusement of the small boy and the plaudits of his lady friends.

entirely at the door of the Brunswick Traction Company, but with the Plainfield Street Railway Company, which had declined to give the Brunswick Traction Company as large a percentage as the latter company demanded for carrying passengers over its section of road.

Chairman Winges stated that the citizens of Dunellen had nothing to do with a third party, or what the two companies did about dividing up the fares. What they wanted and were bound to secure, if possible, was a fulfillment of the agreement made by the citizens of Dunellen through its representatives in the Common Council with the Brunswick Traction Company. The chairman then asked Supt. Rand of the Brunswick Traction Company if he could offer an explanation or throw any light upon the subject. Mr. Rand said the matter had gone beyond his power; that it had been submitted to the heads of the department—the president of the company. He was not present in an official capacity but simply as a spectator and could give no advice or offer any suggestion.

The resolution prepared by the committee was then read. In effect it was that that the chairman appoint a committee of three, with himself as chairman, to take such action regarding an effort to adjust the rates of fare with full power, and to request that an official of the Brunswick Traction Company be present at an adjourned meeting to be held in the borough hall Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. The chair named Councilman Snyder and Wilson Fredericks, who with himself will report on the matter.

It was also suggested that the Plainfield Advancement Association be consulted and its aid solicited.

After some informal talk by various indignant citizens on what they considered gross imposition, the meeting adjourned to next Wednesday evening, when it is expected that Congressman Daly will be present.

MAD RELATIVE PUTS UP A SPITE FENCE.

Trouble Between John G. Bantle and Gustavus Weissner.

FENCE IS NINE FEET HIGH

TWO MEN WERE BEST OF FRIENDS TILL LATELY.

Both Putting up New Buildings on Watchung Avenue, But Bantle Adds the High Fence to His Property Because He Says He Had Been Annoyed—Both Families Seem Contented Now.

John G. Bantle and Gustavus Weissner are relatives by the fact that the latter's brother married the former's wife's sister. They both live on Watchung avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets, and both own the property they occupy. Both families have always been on good terms, but, notwithstanding, yesterday Mr. Bantle erected a spite fence on the line of his property from the end of his building almost to the rear of the lot. The fence is about seventy feet long and nine feet high. Just how this fence happened to be erected is a story in itself.

Mr. Meissner conducts a laundry business and Mr. Bantle is a tailor. Mr. Meissner came to Plainfield three years ago and started in business. Later on E. D. Barrett desired to rent part of his shop on East Fifth street and wanted Mr. Meissner to take it. He did not care to rent there, but told Mr. Barrett that he knew a person in New York who would like to have it. He referred to Mr. Bantle, and it was arranged that he should take the store.

Everything went along smoothly until after Mr. Bantle began living with Mr. Meissner. The two families had lived together a short time when Mr. Bantle purchased a lot on Watchung avenue and made known his intention of putting up a building. At that time he was paying $15 a month, so he says, and when Mr. Meissner heard of his prosperity, he decided to charge him $40 a month, saying that he must have money to buy a lot and build. This did not suit Mr. Bantle and he made other arrangements.

In the meantime Mr. Meissner had purchased a lot adjoining the one purchased by Mr. Bantle, but the latter built first and had his foundation placed two and a half feet inside of the line, at the same time putting a bow window on the same side. When Mr. Meissner put up his building he did not adhere to the two and a half feet, but built directly on the line, much to the displeasure of his neighbor.

This did not seem to worry either party very much until recently, when Mr. Bantle claims that he has been annoyed by his neighbor to such an extent that he does not care to put up with it any longer.

Things reached a climax yesterday when the people employed by Mr. Bantle seemed to be annoyed by something that was done by the next-door neighbors, and Mr. Bantle decided to have no more trouble. He then purchased some lumber but hired two carpenters and had the fence erected. It is so high that Mr. Meissner nor his family can look over, and as a matter of fact they say they are glad the fence is there, because it will prevent the snow and wind from bothering them next winter.

They say that there are no hard feelings on their part and they do not want to bother their neighbors. On the other hand Mr. Bantle says that he does not want to be bothered with anyone, and he thinks that he has now safely guarded his interests. Both families seem to be contented now and no further trouble is anticipated.

PUBLIC DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

The Fund to Build it is Not Growing Very Fast.

The public drinking fountain fund is not increasing as rapidly as its promoters would wish. The people of Elizabeth are making rapid progress with their fund, which was started about the same time. Generous and philanthropic citizens are sending checks for sums as high as $25 to the treasurer of the fund. Are there not as many public-spirited people in Plainfield as Elizabeth?

Now that the Fourth of July is over it is hoped that the citizens will make the erection of this much-needed fountain the object of their contributions, and send as large sums as possible at once to Mrs. D. S. Miller, 442 Orchard place.

Smoothing Rough Spots.

The horse street roller is on Front street today making the rough places smooth where the street was torn up to allow for the electric light conduits. Patsy Christmas will complete the work on that street today.

TO VIEW SEWER BEDS.

STATE COMMISSIONERS INVITED TO VISIT THIS CITY.

An Invitation Extended by Street Commissioner Gavett—They Will be Entertained by James E. Martine.

Street Commissioner Gavett has sent a letter to the New Jersey State Sewerage Commission asking the members to visit the sewage disposal beds in this city, and investigate their condition and working in the hot weather. At this time of the year the beds are considered to be the most odious of any time of the year, and it is the desire of the city officials to have them examined when they are considered at their worst.

Several weeks ago the commission visited Plainfield and inspected the beds, but at that time they were not in a satisfactory condition. When the commission comes here James E. Martine will entertain the members of it, together with a number of city officias and local newspapermen, at his home, "Cedar Brook," on Watchung avenue.

BAGGAGE WAS DELAYED.

STOCK TRAIN MADE EXCITEMENT AT NORTH AVENUE STATION.

Came Through While 8:30 Express Was Standing at Station and Caused Much Excitement—Nearly Struck Baggage Truck.

Not all the baggage intended for the 8:30 New York express on the Jersey Central Railroad was placed on board this morning. The fact of it is, it came very near being distributed all over the surrounding country. Just before the express started to pull out of the North avenue station the warning shriek of a locomotive startled the passengers. It was an empty stock train on track No. 2, the west bound passenger track. The train was under such headway that the engineer could not stop it and so his locomotive let out a series of shrill shrieks that caused general excitement.

The baggage truck lay right across track No. 2. There were several trunks and hand bags on it. When the baggagemen saw the train also upon them, there was some pretty rrpid hustling. The truck and its contents were removed just in time to allow the heavy train to go rumbling past.

The trainmen on the express did some fast work in getting their passengers on board and out of the path of the approaching train. The passengers in the express heard the whistles and there was a general rush to the doors and windows to see what was happening. Luckily the westbound train went through without doing any damage save delaying the baggage. The express pulled out as the stock train was passing between it and the station.

Pension for Mrs. Wright

Gen. W. H. Sterling, of this city, has again shown himself to be a friend of the soldier, his widow and children. He has just received word that the widow of the late Benjamin Wright has been granted a pension of $8 per month, dating from October, 1898, which is well deserved and will be appreciated. As usual, Gen. Sterling accepted no fee, to which he is entitled.

To Ask for Improvements.

There is a desire on the part of several Councilmen that the North Avenue station should be made more comfortable for patrons of the road living in this city, and it is not unlikely that some steps will be taken in the near future asking the Central Railroad Company to make some improvements.

Combines Business With Pleasure

Wm. K. Crosby, of the firm of Crosby & Hill, of this city, sails for Europe today in the Cunard liner Campania, accompanied by Mrs. Crosby. This will be Mr. Crosby's twenty-eighth voyage across the Atlantic, and Mrs. Crosby's fifteenth. Mr. Crosby will combine business with recreation on this trip.

Entertained Sewing Circle.

Mrs. Andrew Cox, of Liberty street, entertained the members of the Mizpah Sewing Circle at her home last evening. There was a good attendance and an evening of sociability was enjoyed by all. During the evening a musical programme was presented, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

To Consider Trolley Application.

Next week Thursday evening the Common Council will meet in adjourned session and will consider the application of the trolley company for an extension through Arlington avenue, and will give people a chance to be heard for or against it. Bids for macadamizing will also be received at the meeting.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, has returned from his summer outing.

PISCATAWAY DEFIES STANDARD OIL CO.

Refuses to Grant Franchise Without Compensation.

FOR CONNECTING PIPELINE.

STANDARD WILL NOT PAY THE $100 ASKED FOR.

Wanted to Lay a Line Connecting the Trunk Pipe Lines Running From the Oil Regions to the Seaboard—They are Only a Mile Apart Near New Market—Matter Still in Abeyance.

Piscataway township has been trying to accomplish a pretty big feat this summer. It has tried to buck up against the Standard Oil Company and has, so far, been successful. The trouble was over a pipe line running through the township.

There are two pipe lines running through Piscataway township now. One belongs to the National Transit Company, which is owned by the Standard, and the other by the Tide Water Pipe Company. They run from the oil district in Pennsylvania to the seaboard and through them many thousands of gallons of crude petroleum are pumped daily.

Last April a representative of the National Transit Company came to the township committee of Piscataway and asked for a franchise granting the privilege of laying another pipe line connecting the two at a point near New Market. This connecting link was to be a little over a mile long and crossed four roads. These crossings necessitated a franchise. The rest of the line ran over a private right of way.

The franchise was introduced but that was as far as it ever got. The committeemen said to the company that it must pay the sum of of $100 for the necessary expenses made by the passing of the franchises and a little over. The Standard Oil representative wanted the franchise without cost, however, and refused to turn over the amount demanded. The proposed ordinance was allowed to lie on the table and there it remains to this day, and the connecting link is not yet built.

A prominent official of the township said the other day that the ordinance would never be passed until the Standard paid that $100. He thought, however, that the company would likely go ahead some night and put down the line without the permission and before an injunction could be served.

GOVERNOR VOORHEES AIDS CYCLING.

Through His Efforts Commissioners Visit All Parts of New Jersey.

One of the bills passed by the last Legislature of New Jersey, and which Gov. Voorhees readily signed, was that appropriating $150,000 to be distributed throughout the State for the improvement of public roads. The commission appointed by him was instructed to visit all parts of the State and go among wheelmen, who, he said were more fully acquainted with the good roads question than any other set of people and could furnish valueable information.

In some of the smaller boroughs of the State the residents are not yet aware of the new law. Even in Kearny the new law was unknown until a member of the commission visited there. The commission traversed the local roads and favored an allotment from the State to help improve them.

Since then the "good roads" fever has struck the town. A largely attended public meeting was held in the Town Hall and resolutions passed requesting the Common Council to appropriate a reasonable sum to be added to the State money for the improvement of the roads in general.

Enjoying Life in California

Mr. and Mrs. Maze Edwards, who are spending the summer in California, were guests at a recent banquet of Golden Gate Commandery, Knights Templar, at San Francisco, when Mr. Edward's brother, Col. William Edwards, was presented with two handsome jewels. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are enjoying themselves immensely, and will return to Plainfield the latter part of this month.

Silk Mill is Busy

The Watchung Silk Company has just purchased a new warper to meet the increasing demands in the business. It is also the intention of the company to invest in additional machinery at an early date. About fifteen operators are now employed and the company expect to employ about forty operators inside of a few months.

TROLLEY RAILWAYS ARE SPLITTING HAIRS.

Meantime the Public Pays Extra Fare.

BOARD OF TRADE TO ACT.

CITIZENS OF DUNELLEN ASK CO-OPERATION.

Representatives of the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company May Come Together and Try to Adjust Their Differences—Meeting Monday Evening.

At Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade it is expected that the committee appointed Thursday evening at the mass meeting of citizens of Dunellen, will be present. This committee, consisting of W. J. Winges, Wilson Fredericks and Councilman Snyder, was appointed for the purpose of taking such action as is considered necessary to compel the Brunswick Traction Company to carry passengers from Plainfield to Bound Brook for one rate of fare, and to suggest other improvements in the trolley service most conducive to the public interest.

H. C. Runyon, secretary of the Board of Trade, has received a letter from the above committee asking if it will be convenient for the committee to meet with the Board on the evening in question.

Secretary Runyon, on behalf of the Board of Trade, has kindly complied with the request of the committee from Dunellen and has issued an invitation for the committee to be present. It is expected that representatives of the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company will also be present at this meeting and offer some explanation of the troubles which have led up to the present complications.

It will be gratifying to the members of the Board of Trade as well as to the citizens of Plainfield and Dunellen if an adjustment of the difficulties which now exist can be made at an early date.

There is another movement which the Board of Trade has had in contemplation for some time, which is an effort to secure a through car between this city and New Brunswick. As the railroads are now operated it is necessary to change cars twice in going from this city to New Brunswick. This is by no means affording the public the service that is demanded and which is rightfully due the citizens who have given away valuable franchises.

It is to be hoped that at Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade the representatives of both the street railways will be present and come to some amicable settlement of their differences, which appear to exist in the question of what each company considers an equal division of the percentages for carry passengers over each other's road. The Plainfield Street Railway Company maintains that it is ready to meet the Brunswick Traction Company half way in the matter, but that the latter company's demands are exorbitant and not consistent with business principles.

On the other hand the Brunswick Traction Company claims that it was paying the Plainfield Street Railway Company 4 cents for carrying passengers over its lines, while the Plainfield company would not allow a similar rate for passengers carried by the Brunswick Traction Company.

Thus the mater stands. In the meantime the long suffering public is compelled to put its hands in its pockets and pay an extra fare when riding from Plainfield to Bound Brook, while these corporations are splitting hairs over their earnings.

A Camping Party

Former Judge W. A. Coddington, of East Second street, S. S. Squire, of Fairview avenue, and Edward White, of the Hotel Kensington, leave today for a two weeks' camping party at Moosehead, Me. They expect to spend their time hunting and fishing in the woods of Maine. Mayor N. B. Smalley will join them next week.

In Its Fifth Year.

The Plainfield Business College has run four years. During that time many students have received a training which has secured for them good positions. This school will continue in the same pleasant rooms, City Bank building. The year will open September 1st.

WHY CLERK HOWARD WANTS RENOMINATION

His Reasons For Thinking He Is Entitled To It.

THE COUNTY CLERKSHIP.

HOWARD'S POSITION IN COMING CAMPAIGN IS CLEARLY OUTLINED.

Says He Fears Most From Assemblyman George Squier, of Elizabeth—There Are Now Three Prominent Candidates in Line Representing Plainfield, Elizabeth and Rahway.

The withdrawal of City Clerk James T. MacMurray from the race for the Republican nomination for County Clerk reduces the number of active candidates for the nomination in Plainfield to one, Sheriff William T. Kirk. Rahway has the present incumbent, Clerk Howard, while the appreciative eye of Assemblyman George Squier, of Elizabeth, is known to be fixed on that $12,000 salary that lasts for five years sure.

The first one of these three principal candidates to come forward and state his ground definitely is Clerk Howard. In conversation at the county seat the other day he made some statements that, while they were not a formal announcement of his position, served to clearly outline his reasons for believing that he is entitled to the nomination.

In the first place, said Mr. Howard, every county in the State except Hudson, has been renominating their County Clerks for a second term. He thinks Union ought to do the same. Then Mr. Howard was the first Republican to be elected for many years. Since the time of his election the Republicans have been uniformly successful. The people of the county have found that he can conduct the necessary business in a satisfactory manner. Rahway hasn't had any office since he was nominated for the first term and he argues that it is pretty near time that the town was recognized.

Mr. Howard believes that he will be renominated. He thought, however, that his strongest rival was Assemblyman George Squier, of Elizabeth. Sheriff Kirk he did not fear very much. He is in the fight to stay, he says, and will keep it up until he is either nominated or defeated in the race for the position.

WILL GET MEDALS AT LAST.

State to Decorate Jersey Volunteers With a Bronze Ornament.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 15—Governor Voorhees said yesterday that the medals which the Legislature appropriated $5,000 to have struck off for the volunteer soldiers of the State who served in New Jersey regiments during the war with Spain would be furnished by August 1st, and sent to the various regimental commandants for distribution among the officers and men.

The Governor said that the presentation of the medals would not be attended by any display, as nearly all the regiments have been reorganized since the war and that the old organizations could not be got together. The Naval Reserve, it is understood, would also be presented with medals.

Free Delivery in Somerville.

Postoffice Inspector Benjamin B. Shopp recently visited Somerville for the purpose of completing such arrangements as might be necessary to establish the free delivery system. There are a number of conditions that the residents of the place will have to comply with before they can get free delivery, such as numbering their houses, street signs, well paved sidewalks and streets, etc. The residents are confident that they will secure free delivery at an early date.

'T will Be a Big Crowd.

The annual excursion of the Sunday-schools of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational churches, of this city, and the Presbyterian church, of Dunellen, to Asbury Park, will take place Thursday, July 20th. The train will leave Plainfield at 8 o'clock in the morning, and returning leave the Park at 5:45.

Local Banks Notified

As soon as the failure of the State Bank of Perth Amboy was know yesterday the two National Banks in this city were notified so that they were prepared not to accept any checks given on that bank.

A Democratic Mayor.

Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, has been acting Mayor during the absence of Mayor Smalley from town. Under these conditions the borough has been presided over by a Democrat.

OPPOSED TO CAKEWALK

COLORED CLERGYMEN PUT IN AN UNFAVORABLE LIGHT.

Their Names on Bills Advertising Such an Affair at Boynton Beach—Rev. Mr Jackson Calls it "Cursed and Immoral."

The colored ministers in Plainfield are much wrought up over the fact that a big poster bill has been printed advertising an excursion of colored people to Boynton Beach on July 19th, at which time a cakewalk will be one of the features of the day, and their names are printed on the bill as clergyman who approve of the event. Last winter several of the local colored churches passed resolutions severely denouncing cakewalks and like events, and now that the ministers are published as countenancing such an affair they are mnch concerned. In a letter to The Daily Press Rev. A. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, says: "If there is any one evil that ought to be damned, it is the cursed and immoral cakewalk."

CHIEFS WERE RAISED UP.

INSTALLATION CEREMONIES OF MIANTONOMOH TRIBE.

Ceremony Was Performed by Deputy Great Sachem Westphal and Staff—Followed by a General Good Time.

The chiefs of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men were raised up last evening in right and proper fashion and with all due ceremony by Deputy Great Sachem W. A. Westphal and staff. It was made the occasion for general rejoicing among the braves who turned out in goodly numbers.

The installation ceremonies occupied the first part of the evening. The raising up was done well and to the satisfaction of all. The chiefs installed were: Prophet, George Housman; sachem, Frank Sowden; senior sagamore, Howard Woolston; junior sagamore, Foster M. Johnson; first sannap, Joseph Neuman; second sannap, Charles Fulmer; first warrier, John Cashman; first brave, Charles McGinley; second brave, Charles Shirley; third brave, James Savord; fourth brave, William Smithers; guard of the wigwam, William James; guard of the forest, Frank VanPelt.

Following the raising up, there came an elaborate collation and speeches by the old and new chiefs and the guests.

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July picnic at Mountainside Grove made a partial report, showing the receipts up to the present time as $420, and some tickets still to be heard from. The total disbursements amount to $207.

THROWN FROM HIS WHEEL.

An Eleven Year Old Boy Run Down on Park Avenue.

George Higgins, 11 years old, of East Third street, was knocked from his wheel near the corner of Park avenue and Second street about 11:20 o'clock this morning, by a horse driven by Michael Powers, the coal merchant of South avenue. Through a misunderstanding as to which way the boy was going Mr. Powers accidentally collided with the boy's wheel. The lad was thrown to the street and slightly bruised about the head. He was assisted to Hepburn's drug store where his injuries, which were slight, were dressed by the druggist. The wheel ridden by the boy was but little injured.

New Manufacturing Concern.

A new manufactory is about to commence operations in Bound Brook, and will be known as the Franco-American Chamois Mfg. Co. The old jelly factory, on East Second street, has been leased through the agency of E. VanSyckel and is now being fitted up with the necessary machinery. Peter Kuntz, of Piscataway, is the president of the new company, which expects to make a success of the business, as there are but a very few manufacturing concerns of the kind in this country.

Action Withdrawn

The action of Ida Phillips, claimant, against Vincent L. Frazee, plaintiff in execution, was before Justice Abbott and a jury yesterday. Before the trial proceeded Murphy & Blatz, counsel for the plaintiff, withdrew the action. H. C. Runyon represented the claimant.

Safe Arrival at Queenstown.

A cablegram was received today announcing the safe arrival at Queenstown of the steamer Britannic, having on board among her passengers Rev. and Mrs. T. Logan Murphy and daughter Annie, of this city. All were well.

Assessors to Meet.

The tax assessors of Union county will meet at Elizabeth, Monday, July 17th, at which time the county tax rate will be determined.

Mrs. Alex. Mack, of Somerville, is visiting relatives in Plainfield today.

BANK IS LOOTED BY ITS CASHIER.

George M. Valentine is the Defaulting Official.

PERTH AMBOY HIT HARD.

THE SHORTAGE IS SAID TO BE ABOUT $125,000.

Jugglery With Checks Made it Easy to Get Away With the Funds—Cashier Speculated in Wall Street and Lost the Bank's Money—Gave Himself Up and is Now in County Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, July 14—Geo. M. Valentine, cashier of the Middlesex County Bank, of this place, which was closed yesterday, has surrendered himself, and is now in jail on account of a shortage in the bank's funds which has been variously estimated all the way to $165,000.

So panic-stricken did the residents of Perth Amboy become when it was learned that the Middlesex County Bank had failed to open for business as usual that crowds surrounded the Perth Amboy Savings Institution. What made the run on the savings bank appear all the more serious was the fact that the officers of the Middlesex County Bank and the officers of the Perth Amboy Savings Institution are identical, the business of both banks being transacted over the same counters.

Though it became necessary to call for the aid of the police for the purpose of maintaining order, U. B. Watson, the president of both banks, says that the funds of the Perth Amboy Savings Institution were not touched, that the $300,000 deposited to the account of the Savings Institution is absolutely safe, and that no matter how badly the Middlesex County Bank has been wrecked the savings bank will be able to meet all demands made upon it by the depositors. These words of assurance from the officers of the Savings Institution had the effect of checking the run on this bank during the afternoon.

Monday last Cashier George M. Valentine evidently concluded that he could no longer conceal the shortage at the Middlesex County Bank. On that morning he telephoned President Watson that he was detained, but he said that he would appear at noon. The bank had then opened for business and Mr. Watson, who was taking the absent cashier's place, discovered that there should have been some $7,900 in bills on hand to commence operations that morning. These he could not find in the vault.

Mr. Watson had been searching for the money for some time when Valentine called him up on the telephone. He asked Valentine where this money was, and was told that it had been placed in the cashier's private drawer. Mr. Watson remarked that was no place for it, but rang off the telephone and went to get it. A duplicate key to the drawer indicated was obtained and the drawer opened, but no money could be found. Robert N. Valentine, the cashier's father, was summoned, and he aided in the search for the missing money. It could not be found, and finally the work of checking was begun. Then it soon became evident that during the last few months the accounts had been juggled. The other trustees were summoned and the Banking Department was notified to send an examiner. Deputy Commissioner of Banking Johnson appeared in response.

A detailed investigation of matters by President Watson and Robert N. Valentine showed that the cashier's checks did not correspond; that the checks called for more money than the stubs recorded, and that while taking the stub as the basis of accounting, the bank's finances would figure out all right, the checks would show that the bank had been drawing heavily on its New York correspondent, the Park National Bank. The cashier, in fact, carried the accounts of the stub, and from them to the books correctly, but when the returns from the cashier's checks came he pocketed the differences between the stub and the check. Four or five months of this method of financiering depleted the bank's reserve moneys and brought it to the verge of ruin. Then the cashier evidently secured the ready cash on hand and left Perth Amboy.

President Watson is of the opinion that the cashier's defalcation will amount to at least $125,000. The cashier is said to have been moderate in his tastes and habits of life, but he frequently went to New York and is said to have speculated in stocks.

The capital stock of the Middlesex County Bank is $50,000, and the surplus $60,000. Valentine was under bonds to the amount of only $20,000.

Valentine comes of an old and aristocratic family of Middlesex county. He was born at Woodbridge, June 29th, 1866, and is the son of Robert N. Valentine, of that place.

INDIANS WANT TROUBLE.

A Band of Sioux Assume a War-Like Attitude in South Dakota.

OFFICERS HUNTING THEM

Fifty Indian Police Are Hot on the Trail of Swift Bear and His Hostile Followers.

The Indians Are Well Armed and Threaten to Start a War if They Are Molested—Pine Ridge Officers Believe There is Real Danger of a Serious Outbreak.

Pine Ridge, S. D., July 15.—Fifty Indian police from this agency have started in pursuit of Swift Bear and his band of warlike Sioux, who seem determined to start an Indian war. This is the band that defied Sheriff Demming and his posse on Buck Creek to arrest them for killing game out of season.

The Indians had their rifles, and said they would start a war in which all the Sioux nation would engage unless they were left to themselves. The Sheriff, knowing the determined spirit of this band, retreated and called for reenforcements. Several hundred police are in pursuit of the Indians, who are retreating into the Ruby Basin country of Wyoming.

The Pine Ridge officers believe there is real danger of an outbreak. These Inlians have been slaughtering big game in great quantities recently. Amos Demming, Sheriff of Converse county, and a posse left Lusk on Wednesday with warrants for the arrest of the Indians, and overtook them at Buck Creek. After hearing the warrants the Indians refused to go with the Sheriff. They drew a line on the ground and told him that if he crossed it there would be war.

Seeing that he was outnumbered, the Sheriff went to Edgemont to get help and papers for the arrest of the Indians in South Dakota, as they had crossed the line. Deputy Sheriff Geo. Miller of Edgemont went out with an increased force.

Sheriff Demmnig telegraphed the Indian Agent at Pine Ridge to have a force of Indian police to go out to intercept the Indians if they got away from the Edgemont and Wyoming posses. It is expected that the Indians will be overtaken somewhere near the agency, as they have crossed Cottonwood Creek, near Edgemont. The Indians traveled over sixty miles Friday. They went through the sheep herd of N. S. Tubbs and stole all the herder's bedding and food.

Boy Beheaded By the Cars.

Port Jervis, N. Y., July 15.—The body of a strange lad was found in the Erie yard at Port Jervis, the head having been severed by the cars. In his pocket was a sketch of himself, which said that his name was Richard Bissounette, of New York, aged 16 years, that his life was insured for $188 in the Prudential, the policy being in the possession of Mr. Labouch, of Oil City, Pa. Bissounette evidently fell from a freight train and was run over.

Sheriff Arrested.

Chicago, July 15.—A federal warrant has been issued for the arrest of Sheriff Coulson of La Salle County. Some time ago in the United Staes Court here, William R. Henning of Chicago was sentenced to the Ottawa jail for nine moths for keeping a bucket shop. It is alleged that Henning has been allowed by the Sheriff to go at will about the town of Ottumwa.

The Alton's Purchase.

Chicago, July 15.—Officials of the Chicago and Alton here acknowledge the purchase of the Chicago Terminal Company by the Alton syndicate. That means the Calumet belt line and the Grand Central station, where terminal facilities are leased to the Chigago Great Western, Wisconsin Central, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Suburban railway.

May be a Separate Negro Ticket.

Lexington, Ky., July 15.—R. O. C. Benjamin, editor of the negro newspaper, the Lexington Standard, is in Louisville to confer with R. S. Hammond, W. T. Woolfolk and Isaac Curtis of that city, Dr. Sam Morton of Mount Sterling, J. W. Daugherty of Nicholasville and A. L. Lovel of Lancaster, all prominent negro leaders, as to the advisability of putting out a negro Republican State ticket.

Tried to Poison His Sweetheart.

Muncie, Ind., July 15.—Angry because Miss Leona Franks had forsaken him while he was at the war to accept a rival, Edward Salmon attempted to poison his former sweetheart by putting paris green in a glass of water. She threw it away after taking a sip because of its queer taste. Salmon was arrested and confessed.

Traveling Man Missing.

Boston, July 15.—The police have been asked to find Edwin F. Pierce of Maine, a traveling salesman, who disappeared last fall. His brother has died at Goodwins Mills, Me., and has left him valuable property. Pierce is one of the best known traveling salesmen in New England.

England Orders Maple Sugar.

Altoona, Pa., July 15.—A firm in Somerset county, a district famous for the quantities of maple sugar it produces, has received an order for two carloads of maple sugar to be shipped to England. This is said to be the first foreign order for the Pennsylvania product.

Kaolin Discovered Near Bellefonte.

Altoona, Pa., July 15.—A deposit of exceptionally fine kaolin has been discovered near Bellefonte. A company capitalized at $50,000 and headed by ex-Gov. Daniel H. Hastings will build a plant for the manufacture of the better grades of porcelain ware.

SHOT AT WILD WEST SHOW

Spectators Accidentally Wounded by Indian Performers.

Rochester, N. Y., July 15.—During the performance at Summerville, on Lake Ontario, the Tuscarora Indians, who have been giving a "Wild West" entertained there, fired into the crowd that had assembled to watch them and wounded three persons. The injured are Joseph E. Marcille, seven shot wounds in right leg and two in left; Raymond Brotsch, 9 years old, seven shot wounds in right thigh; Miss Williamson, wounded in the body and limbs. The shooting was entirely accidental, the loaded cartridges becoming mixed by mistake with the regular blanks used at the performance. No arrests were made.

Shell Exploded Prematurely.

New York, July 15.—Two soldiers who were at work at the Sandy Hook proving grounds were injured by the premature bursting of a 4-inch Hotchkiss shell while it was being pressed home in the metal casting which holds shell and firing charge together in the form of fixed ammunition. One piece of the shell passed along the neck of Private Czolgos, abrading the skin, and another piece struck Private O'Neill in the forearm. O'Neill is seriously hurt and may lose his arm. Czolgos, although he went to the hospital, was only slightly hurt. A third man, Private Robinson, who was preparing the ammunition, was not injured, although pieces of the shell had struck all about him.

Herr Rose at White House.

Washington, July 15.—Herr Rose, the German ex-Consul-General to Samoa, who is passing through the city en route to Germany, paid his respects to the President. He was presented by Secretary Hay. Herr Ross says that the friction alleged to have existed in Samoa between the Germans on the one hand and the Americans and English on the other was very much exaggerated. But every vestige of friction, he says, disappeared with the appearance of the Commissioners. The arrangement which they made he thinks, promises to be perfectly satisfactory.

Message From the Portland.

Manchester, Mass., July 15.—A bottle containing a card with the name William Bratlin subscribed and a pencil message, "Ship is sinking; all will be drowned. Goodby. Sailor on steamship Portland," has been picked up by C. B. Rumsey of Buffalo, N. Y., who is staying here. The Portland is the packet which sank and was lost last November. No word was ever heard from the Portland. The steamship officers say they have no record of that name, but they admit that the message may be genuine.

Minister Strangely Disappears.

Rochester, July 15.—The hamlet of Bethany is greatly agitated over the mysterious disappearance of the Rev. William Hay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. His congregation is greatly alarmed, fearing that he has met with foul play. He left home on June 15, saying that he was going to Paisley, Ont., to attend to the estate of his father who died leaving considerable property. He drove to Batavia, purchased a ticket for Buffalo, and that is the last that has been seen or heard of him.

Fatally Injured By Dynamite.

Martinsville, Ind., July 15.—This morning while on the river in a boat a premature explosion of dynamite destroyed both of John Parker's eyes, blew both his hands off and otherwise injured him fatally. It is thought that Luke Northern, a young married man, was killed and blown into the river by the same charge. They were seen together an hour or two before the accident, and Northern is missing.

Union Iron Works of Buffalo.

Albany, July 15.—The Union Iron Works, of Buffalo, N. Y., has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. The amount of its capital stock is $350,000, of which $150,000 shall be cumulative 7 per cent. fully preferred stock, and the balance common stock. The company will begin business with the full amount of its capitalization.

Charged With Counterfeiting.

Pineville, Ky., July 15.—A. B. Anderson, who claims Atlanta, Ga., as his home, has been brought here by Chief Reeder, of Knoxville, Tenn., and lodged in jail. He is charged with having engaged in counterfeiting in Hancock, Tenn., and is said to have been a partner of Robertson, who is confined in jail on a charge of raising one dollar bills to tens.

Horses Killed By Live Wires.

Boston, July 15.—Several electric wires were wrenched from their supports on Atlantic avenue and fell to the ground. In their way were several horses which were thrown to the ground and killed by the shock. The street was filled with people, but fortunately no one was injured.

Forest Fire at York, Me.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 15.—Fire started in the woods at York Beach, Me., in the rear of the Induna Springs Hotel. Ten acres of woodland were burned, but owing to a change of wind and the valiant fighting of over 100 men the buildings in the neighborhood were saved.

Ruinous Tornado in Ohio.

Springfield, O., July 15.—A small tornado a quarter of a mile wide swept through the territory southwest of here. Buildings were unroofed and crops laid flat. The property loss is very heavy.

Notables to Be at Conference.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 15.—Ex-President Cleveland is expected to attend the Bible Conference to be held at the Assembly Grounds August 20. President McKinley will be here the same day, it is claimed.

The Explosion Was Fatal.

Warren, Ohio, July 15.—Harry Simmons, prominent in musical circles in this and other cities, died of lockjaw, resulting from an explosion of a blank cartridge in his hand.

To the Sick.

Indisputable Facts.

Disease, fermentation and decay are caused by microbes and germ life; when these organic pests are destroyed there can be no sickness.

Antiseptics are so called because they destroy microbes; surgeons always use antiseptics in performing dangerous operations.

Carbolic acid is a common antiseptic, but is poisonous if taken into the system strong enough to destroy the germs of disease.

Radam's Microbe Killer, composed of GASES, is an antiseptic, perfectly harmless to the human body, but doubly powerful in destroying disease if faithfully applied. Physicians frequently use Microbe Killer in treating Cancers, and recommend it for Catarrh, Tuberculosis, etc.; others know it to be invaluable in Bright's Disease and Bladder Troubles.

Fermentation of food in the stomach causes Dyspepsia, Sourness, etc.; Radam's Microbe Killer destroys the CAUSE and sweetens the stomach.

Impoverished blood is the home of germ life; when pure it is the fountain of life, the source of all health and vigor.

Radam's Microbe Killer is the only rational remedy for all diseases; its antiseptic power eradicates every disease from the human body.

These facts are incontrovertible, and we invite the fullest investigation by all interested people, professional or otherwise.

VOLUNTEERS WELCOMED.

Returning Troops Are Given a Magnificent Reception at San Francisco.

CHEERED TO THE ECHO.

Regimental and National Colors Are Greeted With the Most Enthusiastic Applause.

Troops March Through the Streets Headed by General Shafter and the Governor of Oregon—The Line of March Thronged With Enthusiastic Spectators.

San Francisco, July 15.—Troops from over the sea got a magnificent reception from the citizens here. The Oregon regiment to which honors were paid constitutes the advance guard of volunteers who are returning from the Philippines and the scenes at it marched from the water front to camp at the Presidio recalled those stirring scenes enacted at the departure of the troops in the course of the war with Spain. Both sides of Market street were thronged with spectators. The windows of all buildings along the line of march were filled with onlookers, who demonstrated their enthusiasm by waving their hands and flags and with cheers and hurrahs for the Oregonians. Carriages containing Gen. Shafter, the Governor of Oregon and the officers of Division Headquarters led the way and were followed by mounted troops of cavalry. Then came the regiment of Oregonians, preceded by its Colonel. Welcome shouts went up, to which response was made by field officers, who raised their hats.

But the most attention was paid to the men in line as they marched past in companies clad in faded blue shirts and canvas trousers. Cheer after cheer resounded as they passed, reaching the climax as the regimental and national colors appeared. To all of these demonstrations the returning soldiers made no response, but filed along with the military step of veterans who had witnessed more exciting if less pleasant scenes.

More Casualties in the Philippines.

Washington, July 15.—Major-Gen. Otis has cabled the War Department the following report of additional casualties:

"Wounded, 17th Infantry, at San Fernando, June 30, K, Corporal Christian Jensen, arm, slight; July 4, E, George W. King, thigh, severe; 11th, First-Lieut. Ira L. Reeves, cheek, hand and foot, moderate. 4th Cavalry: 5th—C., Frank Bouchard, hand, slight, at Pillalla; 11th Edward Reeves, foot, moderate; G, Aom Nall, abdomen, severe, near Santa Cruz.

Volunteers Still Pouring In.

Washington, July 15.—The following is Saturday's record of the enlistment of troops for the volnuteer regiments: 26th Infantry, 55; 27th, 69; 28th, 13; 30th, 43; 31st, 69; 32d, 15; 33rd, 10; 34th, 8; 35th, 6. Total for the day, 313; heretofore reported, 811. Grand total, 1,124. Col. Pettit's regiment, with station at Fort Thomas, Ky., continues to lead the list, while Col Bell's command, with rendezvous at Camp Meade, is a close second.

Insurance in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 15.—The Supreme court has overruled a motion for rehearing the cases of seventy-three fire insurance companies against which a writ of ouster was issued by the Court for violation of the Anti-Trust law. Attorneys for the companies have filed a motion for modification of the judgment to allow the companies to do business "upon such terms as the Court may deem just and proper in the premises."

Planned His Funeral.

Trenton, N. J., July 15.—Daniel W. Van Atta, supervisor of the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane, over a year ago became convinced that he was going to die on July 13. Accordingly he made all arrangements, even to selecting his shroud and coffin. True to his belief he was found dead in bed having suddenly expired.

His Injuries Proved Fatal.

Rushville, Ind., July 15.—John A. Readle, ex-member of the City Council, and a well-known table manufacturer, died from injuries received in a runaway. Readle's youth was spent in Cincinnati, where at the age of 16 he enlisted in the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Cavalry and saw two years' service.

Voluntary Increase in Wages.

Anderson, Ind., July 15.—The Union Traction Company, owning the Gas Belt Electric and the City Street Railway plants in Anderson, Elwood, Muncie, Marion, Orestes, Fairmount, Gas City, Summitville and Alexandria, has announced a voluntary advance in all wages averaging 10 per cent.

Hardwood Lumber Scarce.

Minneapolis, July 15.—The Wisconsin hardwood forests are gradually being exhausted and as a result the supply for the local markets is becoming less and less, and it is asserted on good authority that the local trade will in a few years have to depend almost entirely on the southern forests for a supply.

Physician Brutally Murdered.

Louisville, July 15.—The body of Dr. W. N. Alsop, formerly a prominent physician of this city, but who had for the past year or so been living at Shaw, Miss., arrived here, and with his body came a story of a most brutal murder.

Predicted His Death.

Chester, Pa., July 15.—"I will die today sometime after the dinner hour." William Brewington, only slightly ill, told his wife that Friday mornnig. He died at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

A Concession to Cubans.

Havana, July 15.—Governor-General Brooke has issued a decree allowing Cubans who, during the insurrection here, became American citizens, to regain their Cuban citizenship by registering in Havana or the cities in which they live. The news that such a decree would be issued has had a very good effect on the independent Cubans, who consider it an indication that the independence of the island will be recognized in a short time. Very few Cuban-Americans will take advantage of the decree. A majority of them express their desire to retain their American citizenship, especially those who hold property. The decree was drafted by Secretary Cabote, who submitted it to Gen. Brooke.

Three Cent Fares In Detroit.

Detroit, July 15.—"Three-cent fares" are announced on the fronts of Detroit street cars in places where amusement advertising signs are usually carried. This sudden voluntary reduction is the result of a decision of Gov. Pingree and Tom L. Johnson, to give the people an object lesson upon what they may look forward to if present plans for the sale of all the Detroit street railways to the "Detroit Municipal Railway Company" in behalf of the city win out.

The three-cent tickets sold at five for 15 cents are so worded that their use in full payment of fare can be withdrawn at any time.

Two Big Fleets May Clash.

St. Johns, N. F., July 15.—The French warships continue to persecute the settlers along the treaty coast. Ten colonial vesels have been driven out of Port-au-Port Harbor by them this week. The Colonial Government will urge Rear Admiral Bedford, on his arrival here on Sunday with the British fleet, to take steps to prevent the repetition of these outrages.

May be a Strike Soon.

New York, July 15.—In spite of the assertion of Clinton L. Rossiter, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, that the strike talk was due entirely to Wall Street manipulations, the surface indications in Brooklyn are that the men are in earnest, and that a strike is imminent at an early date.

Sickness Leads to Suicide.

Passaic, N. J., July 15.—The strike at the Botany mills here is ended. The strikers have gone back to work. The main body of the employes refused to strike, and the effort to form a union failed. The company refused to take back those of the strikers who were active in the recent riot.

Wants $20,000 Damages.

Newark, N. J., July 15.—T. Madison Condit, a Newark politician, has brought suit for $20,000 damages for slander against John Hart, a wholesale milk dealer. Condit says Hart accused him of stealing milk cans and has tried to have him dismissed from the railroad which employes him.

Strike in Passaic Ended.

Newark, N. J., July 15.—Edward McKenna, 43 years old, of No. 159 Van Buren street, shot himself in the left breast with a revolver, and is dying. McKenna had trouble with his eyes, and despondency over his condition drove him to suicide.

Seven More Lockjaw Victims.

New York, July 15.—Seven more deaths have occurred here as a result of lockjaw, making a total of twenty-four for the past five days.

Wealth-Making Bananas.

When we see a ragged European—Italian or Greek—selling bananas across a cheap-looking curbstone stand it seems absurd that anyone could make a vast fortune by dealing in the cheap fruit. Owners of banana groves, however, are often the masters of great wealth, all derived from their fruit possessions. This money has not been made exclusively through the sale of bananas. The leaves of the banana tree are used for packing, and so have a ready sale. The juice of the tree is strong in tannin, and makes a fine indelible ink or shoe blacking. A wax found on the under side of the leaves is a valuable article of commerce. Manila hemp is made from the stems, this hemp being used in making mats, plaited work and handkerchiefs of the finest texture. Bananas are also made into a flour, which has ready sale in some parts of the world. All the fruit shipped to America is cut green from the parent palm and is ripened by the dry warmth of gas jets in places of storage where the fruit is prepared for the market. The island of Jamaica produces enormous crops of this valuable fruit.

A Curious Timepiece.

The very ingeniously contrived meridian dial shown here formed part of St. Peter's Cathedral, Geneva, from 1760 till the renovation of the building in 1894, and has since been restored on the initative of the Society of Arts.

A CURIOUS TIMEPIECE.

The white spot in the centre of the disk's shadow not only indicates accurately solar noon when it is bisected by the central vertical line, but also means solar noon when it is centrally over the line of the figure-of-8 loop, which allows for the equation of time on each particular day.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

Making People Happy.
Pain of any kind causes a strain up on the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.
Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:
D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

THREE GIRLS DROWNED.

While at Play They Fall Into Housatonic River.

Derby, Conn., July 15.—Lizzie, Julia and Annie Kenney, four, ten and twelve years old respectively, were drowned while at play in the Housatonic River here. Two of the girls were sisters, the other a cousin.

While playing at the water's edge a bed frame floated to shore and the children climbed upon it. While playing about in the water the frame tilted and the three girls slid off into deep water. They screamed for aid, but before assistance arrived all three were drowned.

The bodies were recovered by volunteer divers. The children were found together in a death embrace at the bottom of the river.

The Injured Dry Dock.

Washington, July 15.—The Navy Department has received a telegram from Commodore Philip, commandant of the New York Navy Yard briefly announcing the serious injury sustained by Dry Dock No. 2 from a heavy storm of the night before. Admiral Endicott, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, will go to New York to inspect the injured dock. He thinks that it can be put in shape for use again in about ten months' time. Temporary repairs may be made in the meantime. Plans had already been drawn, and an appropriation of $30,000 had been secured, to reconstruct this dock.

Mr. Whitney's Fire Loss.

Roslyn, L. I., July 15.—The burning of the stables at the country estate of William C. Witney, at Wheatley Hills, illuminated the surrounding country. The report that a large number of the thoroughbred horses owned by Mr. Witney had perished is denied by the employes, the seven or eight animals lost being used for general work. The superintendent of the estate said that in the absence of Mr. Whitney he could not state the exact loss, but it is estimated that it will be under $25,000, covered by insurance.

Suspected of Being Murderers.

Washington, July 15.—Peter Mickens, a mulatto, and Abram Lee, a negro, have been arrested here on suspicion of being the murderers of Ralph Louis Ginsburg of Binghamton, N. Y., who was killed on July 4. Lee answers the description of Robert Wade, one of the men wanted, but Mickens is considerably older than Robert Russell, the other. The two gave the police and detectives a hard fight before surrendering, one of them jumping from a window thirty feet to the ground.

Witherbee's Mines Purchased.

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 15.—It is reported on good authority that the American Steel and Wire Company has purchased the iron mines and mining property of Witherbee, Sherman & Co., at Port Henry, Essex County. The price paid is said to have been $1,500,000. Hon. Frank S. Witherbee is now in Europe, having sailed about a week ago. It is said the negotiations were practically arranged before he left this country.

Took Sixteen Grains of Morphine.

Jackson, Miss., July 15.—J. A. Loeb, formerly a prominent merchant of Hazlehurst, attempted to commit suicide in his room at the Lawrence House by taking a sixteen-grain dose of morphine. Loeb had been despondent since December, when he filed a petition in bankruptcy. He served five years in the French army in Africa, and at one time was quite wealthy. He will die.

Couldn't Collect Damages.

Lansing, Mich., July 15.—The Supreme Court has decided that a railroad cannot be held responsible for failure to return the legs of a man run over. A widow brought suit against the company, alleging as a measure of damages that the railroad surgeon in the case cremated the legs of her late husband after an operation. The Court decided against her.

Burned His Way to Liberty.

Fairmont, W. Va., July 15.—Charles Eanes, who it is charged committed an assault on O. W. Nestor a few weeks ago, and has been confined in jail, succeeded in escaping by burning a hole in the floor. He left a note saying: "Useless to search for me; have gone to England; would have escaped days ago, but wanted to await the action of the grand jury."

New Haven's Shortstop Sold.

New Haven, July 15.—F. C. Parent, shortstop for the New Haven nine of the Connecticut State League, has been sold to the St. Louis club of the National League for $500. He will join the Perfectos at once. Parent is the leading base runner and fielder of the Connecticut League.

Diamond Thief Caught in Chicago.

Chicago, July 15.—Abe Gelula, for whom the New York police have been searching since January 21, has been arrested here. Gelula is charged with stealing diamonds valued at $8,000 from Michael Price, of No. 146 Park Row.

Crowninshield's Trip.

New York, July 15.—Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, sailed for Europe to inspect the English system of naval barracks as substituted for receiving ships.

Bombs in Barcelona.

Barcelona, July 15.—Four more bombs have been exploded in different parts of the city. No serious damage was done, but the excitement is intense. The authors of the outrages are unknown.

Nut Shell Caused Death.

Marietta, Ohio, July 15.—Rhea, the eighteen-months-old daughter of William Bolton, swallowed a piece of a hickory nut shell, which lodged in her windpipe and caused death in a few hours.

Lady Salisbury Growing Weaker.

London, July 15.—Lady Salisbury who suffered a stroke of paralysis on Thursday, is growing weaker and fears for her recovery are entertained

AN ARMY NURSE CORPS.

The War Department Has Issued an Order For Its Organization.

ALL MUST BE GRADUATES

The New Corps to be Placed Under the Direction of the Surgeon General of the Army.

War Department Not Likely to Enlist Any Colored Volunteers—A Number of Statues to Be Unveiled in Washington This Fall—Other Washington News.

Washington, July 15.—The War Department has just issued an order providing for the organization of an army nurse corps. It will be under the direction of the Surgeon-General of the Army and the immediate supervision of Dr. Anita Newcombe McGee, who rendered such distinguished service during the Spanish-American War. Under the new regulations, female nurses will be assigned to army hospitals and other places in the regular service. The nurses appointed must be graduates of training schools and have at least two years' experience in hospitals. These provisions, however, do not apply in the case of the immune nurses for yellow fever patients, or nurses who saw service in the late war. A nurse will receive $40 per month in the United States and $50 in the colonies. Ten dollars additional will be given to chief nurses who have seen five or more years' service, and $25 additional for ten years or more service. Provision is also made for a reserve corps of nurses to be ready for service whenever needed by the Department. This class of nurses are to receive no pay except when on duty.

Captain Victor M. Concas, who commanded the Infanta Maria Teresa in the battle of Santiago, has written an article which has just been translated by the Navy Deparment, bitterly arraigning those who precipitated his country into war. The arraignment is in connection with a description of the bravery of Don Joaquin Bustamente,

CAPTAIN CONCAS.

Cervera's chief of staff, who was badly wounded at El Caney and who died from the effects of the climate.

"The events of the unfortunate war with the United States," says Captain Concas, "are still too recent to make it necessary for us to recall them, especially as relates to the personnel of the navy, probably the only element of the whole Spanish nation which is not responsible for it, and if the smallest statesmen had not been at the head of our affairs we should never have engaged in this mad war, the results of which could not have been different from what they were.

It is not likely that the War Department will enlist any colored volunteers in the new Philippine regiments. Many urgent requests from leading colored men have been made to the Department to make one or two at least of the new regiments colored regiments. But the Department was not favorably impressed with the colored volunteers raised during the war with Spain. There is no disposition whatever to underrate the work of the celebrated Tenth Cavalry, as well as the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Infantry, but these are regulars, and it is claimed that the colored volunteer is not amenable to the same discipline as the colored regular.

There will be quite a number of statues unveiled in Washington this fall and this winter. Workmen are now erecting the pedestals for no less than four new bronze monuments. Two of these statues are being erected by the Government and two by private individuals or societies. The two by the Nation are those of Sherman and Logan, while a private citizen is putting up a bronze statue of Daniel Webster, which he is going to donate to the city. The fourth is the new monument erected by the Free Masons in memory of Albert Pike, the veteran Mason who died a few years ago.

Representative James S. Sherman, of Utica, N. Y., was in the city looking as cheerful and complacent as if he had never lost a race for the Speakership. He joked and laughed with his friends here, and to the newspaper men he said: "I have changed my mind since I was here last. I am a Hendersonman now." Mr. Sherman was extremely busy. He called at the White House and talked with the President and visited the War and Navy Departments and the Census Bureau.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn returns to the Department on July 25, and early in August Secretary Alger will leave for a long vacation.

A Lockjaw Death at Syracuse.

Syracuse, July 15.—Dominick Stanton, of No. 521 Jackson street, aged 12 years, died of lockjaw, having been injured in the left hand on July 4 with a toy pistol.

Taxing Corporations.

Col. E. L. Price, City Counsel for Newark, yesterday presented an exhaustive opinion to the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes that is of the utmost importance to the taxing facilities of that city, as well as offering a strong precedent for other municipalities to act upon. The effect of Col. Price's opinion is that pole and wire, pipe, subway and street car lines must be taxed as real estate at its true value. The decision equals in effect the much-talked of Ford law of New York, and is almost revolutionary in its effect as compared with previous taxing practices.

If honestly carried out such an interpretation of law will put the rich corporations, which have for years been escaping their just taxation, in the position that they deserve to be put in—paying taxes on the busis that other less valuable properties pay. The natural result will be, of course, the considerable reduction of taxes on the class of properties that are now and always has stood the brunt of public expenses.

Col. Price's opinion is founded upon a very thorough and careful study of the laws and court decisions of New Jersey, and what is true of Newark's privileges in this respect is applicable to every other municipality of the State. It remains to be seen, however, whether the legal advisers of other cities will follow in the lead of Col. Price, but it is to be hoped that they will.

Undoubtedly the corporations will make the hardest kind of a fight against the idea that they are subject to taxation within reasonable bounds, but a careful perusal of Col. Price's opinion shows that he has taken his position on very strong ground.

Dunellen's predicament over the use of transfers on the Brunswick Traction Company's cars connecting with the Plainfield Street Railway Company, the facts of which were clearly explained in yesterday's Press, is of considerable concern to Plainfield business men, too. And anything that the influential men of Plainfield can do to aid Dunellen people in securing the privileges that they were promised will have a healthy reaction in the business circles in this city. The trade of Dunellen naturally comes to Plainfield, but with the citizens of that place compelled to fork over an extra fare to the Brunswick Traction Company for a short ride from the dividing line between city and borough, where the Plainfield Street Railway Company's line terminates, to the centre of the borough, is a condition that undoubtedly deters Dunellen people from coming to Plainfield as often as they would if the promised transfers were in evidence.

The taxing officials of Indiana have decided to assess pipe lines on the basis of the earning capacity of these enterprises, which will mean a heavy increase over the former assessments. In New Jersey it was the former practice of local assessors to tax pipe lines $1,500 per mile of pipe line, but this year the assessment is $2,500 for the same distance. In Somerset county, where there are many miles of pipe lines, the revenues will be increased considerably from this source.

First we here that Roger Franklin Murray has retired from the race for one of the Republican Assembly nominations, and then we hear that he has retired only that he may keep in it, a contradiction that is possible in politics. Assuredly, the Hon. Mr. Murray keeps us guessing.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The Scotch Plains renovation scheme has taken the shape of a Citizens' League. Rev. Gideon M. Shott, the promoter, is the president. It has been decided to raise $1,000 for the cleansing. The first purpose is to suppress the liquor traffic, and the five road houses which bring the Plainfield overflow down Sundays. Mr. Shott declares that he is in earnest. He lived in New York city and professes to know whereof he speaks when he declares Scotch Plains to be wickeder than the Bowery in that city, and indeed, the wickedist place on earth. The watchword will be "The Sword of the Lord and of Gideon." This preacher is more modest than the Kaiser as verified in the recent song. —Somerville Democrat.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Music Hall is undergoing the annual cleaning and overhauling in anticipation of the opening of the season for 1899 and 1900 next month. The interior of the theatre is being thoroughly cleaned, and in many places being painted and improved so as to put it in first-class condition. The lobby entrance is also being painted in a neat manner, which adds much to the appearance of it. The house will open with George Thatcher's minstrels as an attraction. Mr. Thatcher's company will rehearse here for two weeks and will give one of the best minstrel performances on the road this season. Following that performance the Kennedy Players have been booked for a week, and after that Mr. Edwards has a long list of excellent attractions to present.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 15.—During the heavy shower of Wednesday night Miss Martha Smith, who has been visiting at the home of O. A. Douglass, sustained a severe shock of lightning when hurrying to the house. Miss Smith was carrying an umbrella, which was wrenched from her hand and she was considerably frightened. Fortunately she was near the house and some of the members of the family went to her assistance. She was more scared than hurt. Some of the members of Mr. Douglass' family who were near by when the flash of lightning was seen, say that it looked like a ball of fire. It was a startling occurrence and will not soon be forgotten by those who saw it.

Editor Day, of the Call, who pub lishes a very interesting weekly paper, is being congratulated on completing the seventh year of its existence. The Call is one of the business enterprises to which the citizens point to with pride. The writer also wishes to add his hearty congratulations to those already received by Editor Day. May the Call live to see its influence felt and its subscription list grow to double its present size.

The funeral of Albert Ayers, whose sudden death occurred Thursday morning, was held this afternoon from the house. There was a large attendance. Mr. Ayers had many friends in the community in which he lived and his death is deeply deplored.

Next Tuesday evening the Ladies' Orchestra and the Stringed Quartette of Plainfield will be entertained by Miss Emma Nelson at Cedar Cottage.

The sale of lands for delinquent taxes for 1897 will be advertised next week. Settlements must be made by Wednesday evening, July 19th.

The repair committee of the board of education has asked for bids to do the painting, carpenter work and grading on the school buildings.

A lawn party will be held on next Thursday evening by the ladies connected with the Epworth League of the Methodist church.

The friends of Charles Carpenter will be pleased to learn that he has nearly recovered from a severe illness, and is able to be out.

Webster Brown, of New York, has bought the Dickson farm on the other side of Green brook, and has taken up his residence there.

Mrs. O. A. Douglass has been entertaining her nephews, Masters Parkinson and Milton Smith, of New York.

Joseph Thomas, a recent graduate of Princeton, has connected himself with a medical college in Maine.

It is expected that the new house for Rev. A. I. Martine will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

A regular meeting of the Building and Loan Association will be held Monday evening.

Miss Ethel Garetson is visiting friends in Somerville.

Work has been commenced on Mrs. Terry's new house.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 15—The gutter along Park avenue is being cleaned out under the direction of the Township Committee. This, together with the new sidewalks, gives that side of the street quite a respectable appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Robison and daughter have returned from a ten days' driving trip through the State and part of Pennsylvania. A very pleasant part of the trip was spent at the Delaware Water Gap.

John H. L. Todd and George Goodwin, both of Fanwood, had a collision while driving on South avenue Thursday evening. Mr. Goodwin's horse was quite badly injured by the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover and family, of Bergen, will soon take up their residence in Fanwood again. This will be the third time Mr. Glover has been a resident of the borough.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the New Market Baptist church, will occupy the pulpit in the Baptist church tomorrow morning and evening.

The Township Committee met in their rooms last evening to finish revising the assessor's report.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held their regular weekly meeting in their rooms last evening.

John Wade has returned from a visit of several days with his aunt at Lyon's Farms.

Nicholas Alberts has taken a position with the trolley company as extra conductor.

Mrs. Edward Shaw, of Bound Brook, spent Friday in town with relatives.

Miss Cora Miller is spending several days with relatives in Newark.

There will be another dance at Emery's Pavilion this evening.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 15.—The people of Mountainside borough, who are opposed to the cross town line passing up the Springfield road, now say that it is because the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company have not kept their word in regard to the main line which was, according to the Mountainsiders, to pass through that borough. A large property owner on the road from Mountainside to Scotch Plains, said that the officials of the trolley company assured him that the line would run down from Scotch Plains to Schoonover's corner at Mountainside and thence down the Springfield road to Mountain avenue in Westfield.

P. Emmons, of Plainfield, is out one reaper and binder by an accident which occurred at the farm of Douglas Darby, near here in Fanwood township, Thursday. Mr. Darby had hired the reaper for the purpose of getting in his grain and while one of the men was oiling it up it took fire from some unknown cause and before the flames could be extinguished it was burned to the ground. The loss is about $170.

It is now an assured fact that there will be a fifteen mile road race here on Labor Day, September 4th. The race will be run under the supervision of William Embleton, who finished fourth in the Fourth of July race. The merchants will join in furnishing money with which to purchase prizes for the event.

W. G. Peckham has offered a lot on Mountain avenue to the Westfield Board of Education upon which to erect the required new schoolhouse. The price asked is $2,000.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at L. W. THE CROSBY & HILL UNITED STORES.

Plainfield, N. J.
Wilmington, Del.
Morristown, N. J.
Perth Amboy, N. J.

The Sole Aim And Object

of this sale is to reduce stock. To reduce stock quickly means price reductions, big price reductions. We have made these reductions, made them honestly, made them intelligently, made them with the single purpose of making this sale go down in history as a merchandising event of the utmost importance. We want to throng this store with satisfied buyers during the entire period of the sale. We want our public to feel that this is the supreme selling effort of a most successful season. Printed promises prove nothing. We ask you to fit each item to what we say about it; you will need no further proof of our earnestness in this matter.

A Clean Up in Silks.

No such silk offerings have been made hereabouts for many a long day. Prices cut so clean that you will be sure to quickly secure the bargains.

25c—Figured wash silks in good styles and patterns, reduced from 39c.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Der hier stattgehabte Vierte Kongreß für Volks- und Jugendspiele war von gegen 1000 Personen besucht.

Bartenstein. Vor Kurzem forderte das hiesige Bezirkskommando von einem Gemeindevorsteher des Kreises Preußisch-Eylau Bericht darüber, ob die Eltern einer Militärperson noch lebten. Darauf erging folgender Bescheid: „Die Eltern sind verstorben, hauptsächlich aber der Vater. Ob die Mutter noch lebt, kann diesseits nicht angegeben werden, eventuell ist dieselbe anzufragen."

Tilsit. Im hiesigen Mühlenteiche ertranken ein Barbiergehilfe und ein Lehrling. Der Unfall ist durch das Kentern eines Kahnes verursacht worden.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. Der hiesige Stadtrath Voigt wurde von den Stadtverordneten Rixdorfs einstimmig zum zweiten Bürgermeister gewählt.

Rheinprovinz.

Elberfeld. Der Stadtverordnete Bits in Ohlips wurde wegen Beleidigung des Bürgermeisters von Trommershausen zu einer Geldstrafe von 600 Mark verurtheilt.

Kleve. An der hiesigen Landwirthschaftsschule soll zum 1. Oktober eine Gemüse- und Obstbauschule unter Leitung eines besonders tüchtigen Obergärtners eingerichtet werden. Die Schule bezweckt die Ausbildung der Söhne von auch weniger bemittelten Landwirthen zu praktischen Gärtnern und Sachverständigen im Obst- und Gemüsebau für ländliche Bezirke.

Koblenz. Beim Spielen an dem Moselwerft wurde ein Mädchen von einem umfallenden Trottoirstein erschlagen. Das Kind war zum Besuch hier bei Verwandten.

Viersen. Der Ausstand in der Flachsspinnerei ist beendet. Die Arbeiter nahmen eine Lohnerhöhung von 5 bis 10 Prozent an. Bei der großen Nachfrage nach Arbeitskräften waren die Feiernden von allen Seiten stark umworben. Etwa 100 Arbeiter der Spinnerei haben während des Ausstandes außerhalb unserer Stadt Arbeit angenommen.

Provinz Sachsen.

Magdeburg. Die Stadtverordnetenversammlung hat 50,000 Mark für die Förderung der Heilstättenbewegung bewilligt.

Böllberg. Hier hat sich eine Genossenschaft mit beschränkter Haftung, die „Böllberger Hausgenossenschaft," gebildet. Sie hat sich zur Aufgabe gestellt, in eigenen Häusern gesunde und zweckmäßige Wohnungen, namentlich für den Arbeiterstand, zu billigen Preisen einzurichten. Der Geschäftsantheil für jeden Genossen beträgt 100 Mark, die Höchstzahl der Antheile 50.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Das Kessel- und Lagerhaus der großen Theerproduktenfabrik von Schmook bei Bahnhof Kleinmochbern ist niedergebrannt. Die Breslauer Feuerwehr und die Großmochberner Spritze verhüteten, heldenmüthig vorgehend, eine Explosion der großen Benzin- und Theerbehälter, wodurch Hunderte von Menschenleben gefährdet waren.

Grünberg. Das Dorf Schlabrendorf ist mit einigen zwanzig Gebäuden niedergebrannt. Vier Personen erlitten bei Rettungsversuchen schwere Brandwunden.

Tarnowitz. Die hiesige Bäckermeisterswittwe Gomulla erhielt vom Oberkommando der Schutztruppen die Mittheilung, daß ihr Sohn, der Reiter Gomulla, in Swakopmund in Südwestafrika beim Landen durch Umschlagen des Bootes in der Brandung ertrunken sei.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Kiel. Ein heftiger Wald- und Haidebrand wüthete dieser Tage auf dem Terrain des Lockstedter Truppenübungsplatzes. Da das Feuer bei starkem Nordoststurm sich schnell ausbreitete, wurden die im Lager übenden Artillerieabtheilungen alarmirt. Bei der herrschenden Dürre boten die Tannenbestände und das Haidekraut dem Feuer reiche Nahrung, so daß die Löschung schwierig wurde. Den Artilleriemannschaften gelang es nach mehrstündiger Arbeit, durch Aufwerfen von Gräben die Gluth zu dämpfen.

Uetersen. Hier ist eine Diphtheritis-Epidemie ausgebrochen, in Folge welcher das hiesige Lehrerseminar geschlossen werden mußte.

Provinz Westfalen.

Borken. Das in der Nähe von hier gelegene Venn—eine große Moor- und Haidefläche, gerieth in Brand. Erfahrungsgemäß kann ein solcher Brand monatelang dauern.

Herne. In Verbindung mit dem Kohlenbergwerk-Arbeiterstrike wurden drei Polen und ein Deutscher als Haupträdelsführer verhaftet.

Lüdinghausen. Hier fuhr ein Blitz unter eine tafelnde Hochzeitsgesellschaft. Einer der Hochzeitsgäste wurde getödtet, neun andere wurden gelähmt.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMAN.

Bust of Emma Willard to Be Placed in New York State Library.

Fitting recognition is to be made of the services of one whose life was devoted to the higher education of women in the placing of a bust of Emma Willard in the New York State library at Albany.

The bust is a gift to the state from the Emma Willard association, and the formal presentation and unveiling will take place on July 27. Mrs. Russell Sage, president of the association, will make the presentation speech. It will have the distinction of being the only bust of a woman at the state capitol.

The thought of having a statue of Mrs. Willard placed in the capitol of the state to whose educational interests she contributed so greatly was that of Mrs. Harriette A. Dillaye, the last of Mrs. Willard's teachers to be in active service. The request of the association to be allowed to place the bust in the library was preferred through Hon. Chauncey M. Depew and was graciously granted by the board of regents. The bust is the work of Miss Enid Yandell, the first woman to be made a member of the National Sculptors' society.

Unique in the world's history was the splendid welcome home which the city of Chicago recently gave to the women war nurses who went to the front in our conflict with Spain. The heroic women who served in hospital and camp were feasted and toasted at a great banquet given in their honor at the Palmer House, being highly eulogized by distinguished statesmen and soldiers for their courage, skill and endurance.

The first colored women to graduate from a Vermont college is Miss Annette Anderson, who delivered the valedictory address at the commencement exercises of Middlebury college.

Miss Hattie Smith of Bridgeport, Conn., has become a professional diver at seaside resorts, adopting this means to raise money to educate herself in music.

Progressive British women have a stanch and gallant champion in the Right Hon. Leonard Henry Courtney, who proposed and secured the amendment to the London local government bill whereby women are made eligible for election as aldermen.

Mrs. Mortimer L. Thorn, who owns the schooner yacht Studio, is the only woman sailing master who holds a license from the United States custom house.

Dr. Margaret Stanton of Syracuse has just been elected president of the Onondaga County Medical society, being the first woman to hold such a position.

The women of Maryland have presented Admiral Schley with a chest containing a handsome silver service. There was picturesqueness in the event, the presentation being made, in the presence of a large assembly of the elite of Maryland, under the wide spreading branches of a big oak at Nacirema, the beautiful country estate of General Felix Agnus in the Green Spring valley.

The Princess Engalitecheff of Chicago enjoys the distinction of being the only woman in that city who can successfully manage an automobile in the crowded streets.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Susan Le Roy Dresser to Vicomte Romain d'Osmoy of Normandy, France, has occasioned something of a flurry in Gotham's uppertendom. Miss Dresser is one of four sisters who are great favorites in New York society and who are always referred to as the "Dresser girls." The three others are married, one being the wife of George Vanderbilt.

A new field for woman's activity and one which is said not to be overcrowded is cameo cutting. Miss Agnes Doyle, a Chicago girl of artistic tastes, has engaged in this occupation and is becoming an expert.

Lieutenant Anna Lindberg of the Salvation Army in St. Louis has broken the record in selling papers, having disposed of 27,000 copies of The War Cry in 16 months.

A school for training nursery maids has been established in Boston.

The statesmen and political reformers who are "fighting the trusts" might get points from Miss Nellie M. Hower and Mrs. Mary L. Metzar of Akron, O., who for almost a year have stood in the way of the formation of a cereal trust. By injunction and other processes of law these woman have prevented extensive cereal food producing companies from entering into any combination.

A WOMAN MAYOR.

SHE PRESIDES OVER THE DESTINIES OF KENDRICK CITY, IDAHO.

Assumes the Perplexing Cares of a Political Office—Staggered by the Proposition at First, But Consented to Become a Candidate—Trials of the Campaign Were Many.

A bright faced girl presides over the destinies of Kendrick, Idaho, as Mayor. She did not, leading a host of offended femininity, assault the battlements of man and wrest from him municipal power; she was elected by the people—all the people—and no voters ever intrusted such power with so much confidence both in the ability and the intent of the recipient thereof to faithfully and honestly discharge the onerous duties pertaining to public office.

Search the world over and it is doubtful if a parallel case will be found. In the heyday of maidenhood, with the gayeties and the frivolities of the springtime of life spread out before her, Miss Jessie Parker, for such is the name of Kendrick's Mayor, eschews them all and assumes the perplexing cares connected with the administration of the affairs of a young Western municipality, with sidewalks to be laid, streets to be improved, buildings to be constructed, and frequent and bothersome meetings with men who present all sorts of schemes for city advancement, from sawmills to railroads. Trials and tribulations confront this maiden Mayor, but she has entered into the discharge of her duties with a vim.

MISS JESSIE PARKER.

Miss Parker is a very prepossessing young woman, with just enough dash to color her dignity. With twenty-two years to her credit, she bears all the freshness to which her age entitles her, and, above all, she possesses a keen intellect, with admirable faculties of discernment. All these attainments were weighed when Miss Parker was nominated. It must be borne in mind that in far off Idaho, where beautiful valleys beribbon the sun scorched sage bush plains and the jack rabbit and mining promoter hold high carnival, women are entitled not only to participate in politics but to vote, and while for a year they have exercised the franchise, outside of school positions none of them has held office. Miss Parker is the first.

Miss Parker talks very interestingly about her campaign and her plans for the future. "When the question of my candidacy was first broached," she said, talking with a mixture of the debonair of the college girl and the crafty satisfaction of the successful politician, "its very boldness staggered me. I really stammered my surprise, and awkwardly asked for time. But as I thought over the matter my self-possession returned. I reasoned it all out, and finally determined to allow my name to be used, but when the delegation of ladies and gentlemen waited on me for my answer I experienced much the feelings of the graduation girl when she faces her admirers to demonstrate her fitness for the honor about to be conferred upon her, and when they went outside and the air rang with cries of 'Hurrah for Miss Parker, our next Mayor!' and all that sort of thing, I shrank back in horror, and then I realized more than ever that I was only a girl, until the thought coursed through my feverish brain that after all woman's sphere did not embrace politics.

"How awful it all seemed, with young men and old charging through the streets crying 'Hurrah for Parker!' and then I imagined I could hear some of them in a fit of absent-mindedness demand in stentorian tones to know 'What is the matter with Parker?' and to hear proclaimed with equal vehemence that 'He's all right!' It was terrible. But after a time I became more calm, and even laughed at my fears. I was no longer a weak girl, but a woman, filled with all the aspirations that may fill the breast of any ambitious daughter of Idaho. Emboldened by the reaction, I made a vow to face it, and I did.

"As to my plans for the future, I have not yet had sufficient time to fully determine. I am only one of five, and while I expect to exert an influence with the Council, still my duties are limited. I will have a voice in all matters looking to the advancement and improvement of the city and will appoint policemen, &c., but I am without a vote, of course, excepting in case of a tie. However, the Council and myself are in harmony on the general policy of our administration and I anticipate no dissension. Should it come, however, I will exercise vigorously the prerogative given me by law.

"The disreputable element cannot run this city while I am in office. There is no question about that. Law and order will be maintained and all necessary improvements will be made, and that without placing too heavy a burden upon our people."

Miss Parker was elected as an independent on the first Tuesday in April and has taken hold in a manner that fully justifies all the claims of her supporters.

What to Wear at Sea.

The outfit of the modern girl aboard ship, as fashion prescribes it for this year, is exceedingly simple and very different from anything she has worn before. "Steamer shoes" are the great necessity. These are thick of sole and rubber soled, with rounded toes, very heavy and solid, made in tans or black. The rubber sole is that there may not be any slipping on a wet deck. Two styles of hats will be correct—the Cornish cap, a woollen affair very much like the Tam o' Shanter of several years ago, and the trim and chic Alphine hat, with two quills in it. The color of these depends upon the color of the suit that is worn, it being the proper thing for the hat to match the suit precisely.

A tailor-made suit, with a skirt that reaches only to the boot tops and allows full play for walking when the deck is on a decided angle, is the only costume of the day for steamers. With this are worn shirt waists, preferably of wool, and plaids generally, red being the most admired color. This looks remarkably well when worn with a dark blue skirt. Under this skirt the up-to-date girl seldom wears a petticoat. She may wear one very short white skirt if she pleases, but very few will this year. Instead bloomers of dark flannel or alpaca are to be worn.

White knit gloves of wool, somewhat like mittens, except that they have fingers, are the correct thing in hand wear. In the "steamer roll" are also taken along sweaters for use in cold weather.

Points About Cooking.

All dry materials should be sifted before measuring.

A cup holding just half a pint is the standard measuring cup.

A cup is all the cup will hold without running over—full to the brim. A scant cupful is within a fourth of an inch of the top.

A tablespoonful of flour, sugar or butter is a rounded tablespoonful.

A teaspoonful of salt, pepper and spice is a level teaspoonful.

A heaped spoonful is all the spoon will hold.

Half a spoonful is measured by dividing through the middle lengthwise.

To give an appetizing flavor to a broiled beefsteak rub a cut onion over the hot platter with the butter.

Three tablespoons of freshly made Japan tea, with a pinch of nutmeg, imparts an indescribable flavor to apple pie.

To improve sweetbreads and give them a fine flavor, soak them in mild lemon juice water an hour, and then boil twenty minutes in beef stock.

A Simple Device.

The woman of to-day, whether dwelling in town or country, realizes what flowers are in the decoration of a room. But cut flowers, charming though they are for room or table decoration, should not be the only form floral decoration takes in the house.

FOR FLOWERS.

The difficulty is to know how to have pots of flowers and plants so disposed that the maximum of effect is yielded at the minimum expenditure of money, trouble and inconvenience. With bamboo the difficulty is solved. Cutting holes in a large piece of bamboo, the interior may be filled with earth or flower pots introduced, and the vines and posies growing out and falling over the bamboo make a pretty effect.

Pork Cake.

Without butter, milk or eggs, a most delightful cake is made by this recipe. It will keep for two months, that is, if you will let it. Fat salt pork, entirely free from lean or rind, chopped so fine as to appear like lard, one pound; pour boiling water upon it, one pint; raisins, one pound; citron, one-fourth pound; sugar, two cupfuls; molasses, one cupful; soda, one teaspoonful rubbed fine and put in the molasses. Mix these all together and stir in enough flour to make the consistency of common cake mixtures, then stir in nutmeg and cloves, one ounce; cinnamon, two ounces; have all spices finely ground; bake all fruit cake slowly and try with broom straw; when nothing adheres, it is done.

When Making Cake.

In any and all cake where sweet milk and baking powder are called for, if half sweet and half sour are used with just enough soda to sweeten the sour and the same amount of baking powder, you will have a much nicer cake, as sweet milk and baking powder make a hard cake, and sour milk and soda make a soft cake; mixing them as the English do their drink, "'alf and 'alf," we find something just right.

Cleaning the Candlestick.

The safest method of cleaning either metal or china candlesticks is as follows: Pour boiling water over the grease spot—it will instantly disappear—then polish with dry cloths. A little ammonia in the water is a great help also. Silver or electro-plated candlesticks require cleaning twice a week with plate powder to be kept bright.

COURAGE OF A COWBOY.

He Swung Himself and His Horse Over a Yawning Chasm With a Rope.

"Speaking of the dare-devil characteristics of western cowboys," said an old plainsman, "I recall an adventure that might have proved fatal to myself and a man named Henry but for the great presence of mind displayed in an emergency by my cool-headed companion. The incident happened in Montana some years ago. We were traveling along a narrow trail on the border of the Grande Ronde river when we suddenly came to a landslide that was about twenty-five feet across and left no trail in the smooth, precipitous rock. The trail was so narrow that our horses could not turn back and, realizing that it would be folly to expect the animals to jump the chasm, it looked as though we were trapped. But directly above the twenty-five-foot break in the trail there was a huge rock which was split in the centre. Henry saw the crack in the rock and having a strong riata seventy feet long on his saddle, swung the rope over his head and then hurled it high in the air. Being an expert in the use of the riata, it went true to the mark and was soon firmly fixed in the crevice of the rock.

"While I was wondering what he was going to do with the rope he took in the slack and wound it around the horn of his saddle, which was very strong and supplied with double cinches. Then he urged his horse to the edge of the precipice.

"The faithful beast stood firm. He would not step over, but Henry again drew up the slack and pulled with all might. Inch by inch he drew the straining horse forward till his feet slipped and he swung over the yawning chasm. For a moment I held my breath and shut my eyes, expecting to hear the slender rope snap and its burden disappear into the raging river below.

"When I did open my eyes he had swung across the gap and, dismounting, he backed up the trail and tugged at the reins to aid the horse in gaining his feet. He pulled hard and the animal lunged up into the trail, with the chasm far behind.

"Safe on the other side, Henry urged me to make the perilous trip in the same way as he had done. For some time I couldn't muster up the necessary courage, but at last, when I realized that there was no other way of continuing the journey, I consented to swing myself across the chasm. After landing on the other side Henry returned for my horse and having swung the beast safety across the gap, we rode away and left the rope dangling for the use of the next wayfarer who chanced to come that way.

No Prisons Needed.

In Iceland there are no prisoners, and the inhabitants are so honest in their habits that such material defenses to property as locks, bolts and bars are not required. Yet its history for the past thousand years records no more than two thefts.

Of these two cases one was that of a native who was detected after stealing several sheep; but as he had done so to supply his family, who were suffering for want of food, when he had broken his arm, provisions were furnished to them and work was found for him when he was able to do it, and meanwhile he was placed under medical care; but the stigma attached to his crime was considered sufficient punishment.

The other theft was made by a German, who stole seventeen sheep. But as he was in comfortable circumstances and the robbery was malicious, the sentence passed upon him was that he should at once sell all his property.

$1,250,000 Per Pint.

Some of these growths, says a writer, who is describing his visit to a germ farm, are exceedingly expensive. Indeed, a rare bacillus seems to be as valuable in its way as a scarce orchid. I was shown, for instance, a species known as the bacillus indicus ruber, which is found only in the stomach of certain monkeys, and for a colony of which a ten-pound note was asked.

On the other hand, you can buy enough scarlet fever micrococci to infect a decent sized town for $2.50, while twice that sum will provide you with a choice collection of fine, healthy typhoid germs. Leprosy bacilli come expensive, though $25 per colony; while as much as $40 is asked for selected colonies of the bacillus of conjunctivitis or typhus. This would work out at something like $1,250,000 per pint.

Fast Trains.

The high-water mark of European railway progress will probably be touched in Europe by the continental services between the channel ports and Switzerland. There is no train in Europe to match the speed of the Nord de France between Paris and Amiens—81 miles in eighty-five minutes. The Basle express covers the distance between Basle and London, 595 miles, in fourteen hours and thirty-five minutes, a speed of over forty miles an hour, with two frontiers to be crossed and twenty-five miles of sea-crossing.

Transparent Stone.

A window made entirely of stone has been presented to a French cathedral. The stone is nephite—found in Siberia—and so beautifully transparent that when placed as it is it catches the sun's rays and reflects them into the interior of the cathedral.

Niagara's Channel

The truth of the adage about constant dripping wearing away a stone is strikingly illustrated in the fact that the Niagara River has in 36,000 years cut a channel 200 feet deep, 2,000 feet wide and seven miles long, through solid rock.

Many Deaf and Dumb

Seven out of every 10,000 inhabitants of the United States are deaf and dumb. The affliction is much less common among the negroes than among the whites.

Long-Lived Birds.

Among birds the swan lives to be the oldest, in extreme cases reaching 300 years; the falcon has been known to live over 162 years.

Africa has very nearly 700 languages, and this fact presents great difficulties to missionary effort.

AN ODD CHRISTENING.

But It Was Strictly According to Traditions of the Sea.

There lives a man in Detroit, intelligent, prosperous and happy, who does not know that he has a living relative in the world. He bears the deprivation philosophically, and seems to regard it as something of a distinction to be alone in the world.

"Nearly fifty years ago," he relates, "I was picked up by a slow sailing vessel some 600 miles from Liverpool. I was a lusty youngster of five, lashed to a mast, a pleasing assurance that the parents whom I barely recall loved me and had a care for my safety in the catastrophe that must have caused their own deaths. I was cold, hungry, thirsty and sleepy when taken aboard the old-time trader. My appearance was, of course, against me, and my clamor to be supplied with creature comforts did not please the gruff captain, who had a dense ignorance of children and their management. His first order was to give me the rope's end, but there was successful intercession, and I was cared for, while he growled at his hard luck.

"But the captain took sick and found more comfort in my prattle than in anything else provided for him. He took a great liking to me and called me his son. As soon as he was up he decided that I must be christened, one of the few things that he knew should be attended to in the case of children. Of course, there was no chaplain aboard, so the captain himself undertook the ceremony. He gathered the crew about and with a mixed knowledge of his duties he glared about him as he asked whether anyone knew just cause why I should not be christened.

"'If there is,' he roared, 'speak up like a man or forever hold your clapper.' Then he suddenly cracked a bottle of wine over my head and christened me."

Here the citizen laughed and added that he was nine when the captain died, and had made his own way ever since.

The Power of Imagination.

The fact that the throes of the imagination under great nervous excitement often produce a corresponding physical frenzy was illustrated recently in the case of a man who had gone to sleep with his artificial teeth in his mouth. Waking suddenly with a choking sensation he found his teeth had disappeared. He looked in the glass of water where they were usually deposited, did not see them there, and realized that they must be far down his throat. Choking and struggling, he hammered on the door of a friend sleeping in the house, who, seeing his critical condition, vainly endeavored to draw the teeth out of the sufferer's throat. He could feel the teeth, but had not the strength to extricate them. He ran for a blacksmith, who lived a few doors away, but the blacksmith's hand was too gig to put into the man's mouth.

A doctor had been sent for, but he was so long in coming that the victim of the accident seemed likely to die of suffocation before the physician arrived. A little girl of ten years was brought, under the impression that her small hand might reach the obstacle and withdraw it, but she got frightened and began to cry. The sufferer became black in the face, his throat swelled out and his friends expected every moment to be his last, when finally the doctor arrived. He heard the history of the case, saw that the teeth were not on the man's jaws nor in their nightly receptacle, felt the throat and chest of the sufferer, and cast his eyes seriously upon the floor. There he saw the whole set of teeth. He adjusted them in the jaws of the patient, told him to breathe freely, and every symptom of suffocation disappeared.

Tiny Pine Tree.

One of the most remarkable features of Japanese gardening is the way in which every plant and tree in a famous garden will be reproduced in miniature, by a system of dwarfing which has been handed down from many generations back. Every characteristic of a large tree will be preserved, the foliage, the color and the texture of the branches, and yet the minature copy will often be not more than from one to three feet high. Professor C. E. Bessey tells of a case in this country in which nature has eclipsed the art of the Japanese. While climbing Green Mountain, near Bowdler, Col., Professor Bessey found growing from a crevice in one of the rocks at the summit a small pine tree, about 5¼ inches high, and barely a quarter of an inch in diameter. It was unbranched and bore a single terminal tuft of leaves. The tiny tree had made a good fight for existence amid the inclemencies of its exposed situation, for when it was carefully examined twenty-five distinct annual rings were discovered. Such a case of natural dwarfing is almost unprecedented.

A Convenient Sewing Table.

Get two wooden boxes exactly similar in size and shape, about 12x18, and five or six inches in depth. Cover these with cretonne and line with plain cambric to match. Cover four legs about two inches square with cretonne, and fasten the boxes to them with screws. The legs can be of any length resired, and need not be planed, as they are to be covered. One box is fastened at the top of the legs and the other about a foot from the floor. Cretonne curtains can be shirred full and fastened around the upper box, two on each side, then draped and tied to each leg with ribbon bows just at the top of the lower box. Brass-headed furniture tacks to tack the covering give a finished appearance.

Badly Baited.

Mr. Krosser—It's no wonder that the rats have refused to touch the poison I bought at the druggist's.

Mrs. K.—I don't see why. I'm sure I followed the directions.

Mr. K.—Directions! Do they say to spread the stuff on that jelly cake you made?"

Wild Beasts of India.

Official statistics for British India alone show that about 21,000 people and 90,000 domestics animals are killed there every year by wild beasts.

BLACKBERRYING.

One morning papa says, "I know
A place where lots of berries grow.
If you'll get ready—you and Sue—
I'll take you both, and mamma, too."

And Sue and I got ready quick,
And took our pails so we could pick
The berries papa said were growing
As thick as hops where we were going.

And mamma took some lunch, for she Knows just how hungry we can be.
And by and by we all got there,
And blackberries were everywhere.

And then I picked and Sue picked, too,
And 'course we had to eat a few,
And those we saved were rather small
And didn't fill our pails at all.

But papa filled his pretty soon,
And mamma, too, and then 'twas noon,
And then we ate our lunch and then
Mamma and papa picked again.

They took our pails 'cause we were through,
And soon filled mine and sister's, too,
And then we all came home, and we
Will have a shortcake for our tea.

FUN WITH "DUTCH TEARS."

A Little Experiment of Interest Almost Any One Can Perform.

"It is a great wonder to me," said an old chemist in his laboratory the other day, "why more boys do not take up chemical experiments as an amusement. Why, I can do things with the common materials of every-day life which really seem to be more magical to the uninitiated than any of the wonders performed by magicians on the public stage.

"Now, there are those curious little bubbles of glass known variously as 'Prince Rupert's drops' and as 'Dutch tears.' Apparently they are merely little globules of glass with elongated tails, made by heating a small glass rod in a flame and allowing the molten drops to fall into water. After they have cooled you may pound the thick part with a hammer or mallet, yet you cannot break them. On the other hand, if you break a little piece off their tails, or touch any part of them with a quartz crystal, they will disappear into the surrounding atmosphere quicker than snow will melt on a hot fire. To the person who does not know the reason the performance is most astonishing.

"And yet it is all very simple. It is due to what is known as surface cohesion. Glass when heated to a molten state has naturally reached a very high temperature, and when the drops of melted glass are allowed to fall into the cold water the sudden change produces a stress all over the surface of the drop which is really terrific. This stress, however, must be considered as a whole. It is very strong when taken all together, but it is exactly as though a piece of very thin rubber was stretched over the surface of the glass. If you punctured the rubber its haste to resume its normal condition would pull it off the glass.

"So when you break off the tail of the drop or cut through the film of very hard glass with a crystal, its endeavor suddenly to resume its normal condition results in its own destruction, and it breaks up into particles, which are really finer than the finest sand. It seems like a wonderful performance, but it is no more wonderful than many another which any youngster could perform if he would study even the simplest forms of chemical action."

Pottering Versus Working.

A great deal of what is called working is nothing more than the veriest pottering. Things are not brought to pass. Success is not accomplished, and yet the persons engaged seem to be working, or at least think they are. The person who brings things to pass, who keeps steadily and regularly at it, with plod and pluck and push is the person who really works. There may be the place and time for the ephemeral dash, as well as for the patient holding on in quiet perseverance. Some people can be apparently busy in a half-peck measure, while to others there seem to be no limits to their compass of ability. Between the potterer and the worker there is all the difference in the world, in the results achieved and even in the character of the work performed. The highest ambition of all should be to be a worker. There is the most satisfaction in solid, straightforward work, rather than in pottering. It is more healthful, more effective, more gratifying and more to be desired, as well as admired in every way. It also secures better pay because of its accomplishments. The slow worker is not necessarily a potterer, however, slowness accompanied by a steady persistency, with some, brings about wonderful achievements. In fact "slow and sure" may sometimes secure greater results than "hurry and flurry."

Kittens Born With Hen's Feet.

George Wood, of New Woodstock, is the owner of several freaks that may bring him a small fortune from a dime museum. He has two cats, each of which presented to him recently five kittens having hen's feet. While otherwise perfectly formed, the kittens had feet attached to their bodies in a manner similar to those of the ordinary fowl. Mr. Wood cannot account for the phenomenon.

PRAIRIE DOG'S WELLS.

How the Frisky Animals Go to the Water Level for Their Drink.

"The most interesting thing I have seen in many a day," said Mr. Harvey Geer, of Lamont, Col., "was a prairie dog well. Did you ever see one? It isn't often that a chance occurs to explore the homes and haunts of these expeditious little inhabitants of the plains. A few miles from my town a large force of men have been at work making a deep cut for a short railroad up into the mines. A friend of mine is in charge of the job, and I went out to see him and the work that had been done. The first thing that attracted my attention when I got there was the fact that the cut was being made through an old alfalfa field, and the roots fringed the side of the cut and hung down fifteen to eighteen feet. Up at the surface of the ground were the stubbed green plants, and reaching down deep into the earth were the fat, businesslike roots, getting their living far below where ordinary plants forage for subsistence.

"But the most remarkable thing was the prairie dog wells that had been dug into. The cut went through a dog village, and being a deep one—some forty feet—it went below the town. There has always been a discussion about where the prairie dog gets his drink. Some say he goes eternally dry and does not know what it is to have an elegant thirst on him. Usually their towns are miles from any stream and in an arid country, where there is no surface water at any time sufficient for the needs of an animal requiring drink. The overland travelers back in the days of pioneering used to find the dog towns out on the prairie scores of miles from the streams. There was no dew, the air was dry as a bone, the buffalo grass would be parched brown, and there would be absolutely nothing to quench thirst. I remember a discussion begun thirty years ago in the American Naturalist by Dr. Sternberg, now Surgeon-General, on the subject, and he argued in favor of the well theory. But there near Lamont is ocular proof of the well theory. The nest holes of the dogs were five or six feet deep, but four or five holes went straight down as deep as the excavation had been made and evidently on into the water-carrying sand beneath. These holes appeared to be used by the whole colony commonly, and were a little larger than the holes used for their homes.

Novel Merry-Go-Round.

At a recent class picnic at Tomah, Wis., some of the boys discovered a fine merry-go-round in a tall pole standing near the picnic grounds.

A rope was attached to the top and the boys wound it about the pole by carrying it in a circle. One of the boys then grasped the rope as high up as possible and ran in a circle around the pole as far from it as the rope would allow until the centrifugal force raised him from the ground. This start and the unwinding of the rope caused him to make four or five revolutions at a distance of fifteen or twenty feet from the pole before his feet touched the ground. This performance was then repeated by all the other boys and was declared the most pleasing feature of the day.

Could Not Be Returned.

Six-year-old Tommie was sent by his eldest sister to the corner grocery to buy a pound of lump sugar. He played allies on his way to the store, and by the time he arrived there he had forgotten what kind of sugar he was sent for. So he took home a pound of the granulated article. His eldest sister sent him back to the store to get lump sugar. After the proprietor of the grocery shop had made the change for the little lad he engaged Tommie in conversation.

"Tommie," he said, "I understand there is a new member of your family?"

"Yes, sir," replied the kid, "I've got a little brother."

"Well, how do you like that, hey?" inquired the groceryman.

"Don't like it at all," said Tommie; "rather have a little sister."

"Then why don't you change him, Tommie?"

"Well, we would if we could; but I don't suppose we can. You see, we have used him four days now."

A valuable bird dog owned by a Grass Valley (Cal.) man was recently shown a parrot. He immediately "pointed," when polly marched up in front of him and said, "You're a rascal." The terrified dog turned tail and ran away, and is ruined for hunting, as he cannot now be induced to "point" at any sort of bird.

In the hottest climates the animals are found most to approach man, and those in such great zoological division possess the organization the most complex and the faculties most developed; while in the polar regions are found only beings occupying rank but little elevated in the zoological series.

BATTLE OVER GARBAGE.

Delicate Nostrils Don't Want it Dumped Under Them.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 15.—The Somerville Board of Health and the aristocratic residents of Northfield road have begun a war on the garbage men of the town and former Sheriff William Ross. It is charged that Ross, who owns a tract of lowland along Northfield road, has invited the garbage men to dump refuse upon it to fill in a depression.

John Schenck, a truckman, was arrested Wednesday night for dumping refuse on Ross's property. Other arrests of garbage men will be made today, and it is said, on the authority of the Board, that Ross will be arrested before night for aiding and abetting the garbage men in their work.

The arrest of Ross, it is believed, will precipitate a big legal battle. He is over 70 years of age and a born fighter, who will vigorously contest his right to fill in his own lands.

Look Out!

A new swindle is being worked. A woman book agent appears in town and goes from house to house leaving books for examination. The next day a man calls to see if the the books are wanted. A few days later the woman again appears, and on being told that the man has taken the sample books she weeps copiously, says the villain has been collecting her books all over town, pleads poverty and so on, and accepts the proffered compensation.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

CHAS E. FABER WINS AT PARK GOLF CLUB.

Made Best Score of Saturday Afternoon.

FOR M'CUTCHEN TROPHY.

MANY GOLFERS OUT ON THE PARK CLUB LINKS.

Some of the Usual Competitors for the Cup Were Off Their Usual Form and Did Not Record Their Scores—W. deL. Anderson Out Again and Was Second, Playing Without Handicap.

Memories of the week before and the threatening clouds over the mountain kept some of the golfers near the clubhouse of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon There was, however, a very satisfactory turnout of members on the course, and a number contested for the McCutchen and Buttfield cups.

The fair greens and putting greens were in good condition after the recent rains, although not quite as fast as two weeks ago. The high grass at the sides had just been mowed, and those who were unfortunate enough to get out the course had easier work than usual overcoming that hazard.

For the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen Cup, Charles E. Faber carried off the honors of the day. His fat handicap of 30, with careful playing, sent his net score down to 94, which was lowest for the day. W. de L. Anderson, who is considered the best player in the club, was out on the course for the first Saturday afternoon for several weeks. He was in excellent form. His first was completed in 52. Then he showed marked improvement and finished the last nine holes in 46, making a total of 98. Although Anderson is scratch, Faber's 94 was the only net score before him.

G. W. Faber played a steady game and finished third for the McCutchen Cup. He held his score down to the Bogey score on the opening of his first round, but was weak in putting as the round advanced and failed to go better than 52. His second round showed his weakness in putting, although his field shots with the brassie were remarkable.

The Townsend brothers, William and Morgan, went round together but they were not up to their usual form and did not finish when their scores began to get unpleasantly high. J.T. Scott and Dr. Endicott also played around, but did not take part in the contest for the trophy. Gifford W. Cooley, who was paired with Anderson, did not play in his usual good form. W. J. R. Thiers competed and showed fine form, particularly on his drives, but his shots were rather weak.

A veteran trio, composed of George T. Rogers, J. H. Howell and Samuel Townsend, played together and had a rather exciting time of it. Mr. Howell was, however, the only one of the three to record his score in the cup contest.

The scores for the McCutchen cup handed in were as follows:

| | Gross. | Handicap. | Net. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Chas. E. Faber..... | 125 | 30 | 94 |
| W. de L. Anderson.... | 98 | 0 | 68 |
| G. W. Faber ..... | 103 | 3 | 100 |
| J. H. Howell..... | 120 | 18 | 102 |
| Gifford W. Cooley..... | 115 | 9 | 106 |
| W. J. R. Thiers..... | 126 | 12 | 114 |

The usual Saturday afternoon tea was held at the clubhouse during the afternoon and proved as pleasing a feature of the club life as ever. Mrs. J. H. Howell and Mrs. George D. Hallock presided at the tea table. They were assisted by Miss Saidee May Howell.

There were two young women of the club who played during the day for the Buttfield Cup. Miss Sadiee Mae Howell completed her round in the morning in 70, which, with a handicap of 4, gave her a net score of 66. In the afternoon, Miss Daisy Elsberg played nine holes. In the first two, she holed out in ten strokes each. Her play improved as she advanced and she kept her gross score down to 83. Her handicap of 18 reduced her net score to 65, which was low score for the day in that competion.

Quick Recovery.

George A. Moncton, who was tricken with paralysis on the 5th of July, is so much improved as to be able to have the use of his limbs. He expects to visit his mother in Newark in a few days. Mr. Moncton was wounded twice in the right side at the battle of San Juan, and it is this side that was paralysed. His physician was Dr. Zeglio, and it was through the doctor's skill that the unfortunate man has recovered so nicely.

Opening of Babies' Camp.

The opening of the Babies' Camp on the mountain will take place tomorrow afternon. After 2 o'clock in the afternoon stages will be at the end of the Somerset street trolley to carry visitors to the camp.

NO POWER FOR TROLLEY.

BAD PREDICAMENT FOR BRUNSWICK TRACTION COMPANY.

Accident at the Milltown Power House Caused the Trouble—Schedule of Cars was Effectually Disarranged Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 17—Just when the trolley cars of the Brunswick Traction Company were in greatest demand yesterday afternoon, an accident occurred at the company's powerhouse at Milltown and every car stood still and remained so for an hour and a quarter until the damage could be repaired. The passengers that filled the cars of the company all over its lines were, of course, appropriately wild at the unexpected delay.

All the power for the Brunswick Company's system of lines comes from the Milltown power-house. There is but one engine there and barely enough dynamos to furnish the necessary power. A new engine and extra dynamos are being installed as rapidly as possible, but they are not ready for use yet.

The failure of the power yesterday afternoon was occasioned by the temporary disablement of the engine at the power-house. After much hustling the damage was repaired and the cars of the company ran again. The delay, however, disarranged the schedule and the cars did not run on time again all day.

The last car from this place to Dunellen was late and the car of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, that usually meets it, left before the Brunswick car appeared. Some dozen Plainfielders on board the car were consequently obliged to walk home from Dunellen.

TO MAKE AVENUE WIDE.

PROPERTY OWNERS WILLING TO DO THEIR SHARE.

City Will be Asked to Aid in the Project For a Fine Road to Oak Tree by the Way of Woodland Avenue.

A great effort is being made to get the Council interested in making improvements in Woodland avenue. A grand opportunity is afforded to make this one of the finest thoroughfares in this vicinity. The idea is to have the avenue macadamized and widened to eighty feet from LaGrande avenue to Oak Tree, thus making a fine speedway. This would give a wide avenue from the Central Railroad to the Lehigh Valley Railroad, making both roads accessible. Charles Hyde, one of the large property owners along the avenue, is much pleased with the improvement and offers to give the necessary land in front of his property to make it possible. A. P. Fisk will do likewise.

No doubt at an early date the attention of the Council will be called to the matter and efforts will be made to have that body act regarding it. The benefits to be derived from such an improvement cannot be too highly estimated and it would appear to be well worth the attention of the Council. There is a building boom on at Netherwood and a large number of houses are being erected in that locality. This improvement would tend to invite the attention of other wealthy people and thus a valuable section of the city would be built up.

HELD VICTIM'S HEAD UNDER WATER.

Novel Way in Which Tramps Robbed a Traveler.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 17—A man who gave his name as William Hargan complained Saturday night to the Westfield police that he had been robbed by a couple of tramps.

Hargan said that he was walking from Easton to Newark, looking for work as a moulder, and that he stopped to cook his supper beside the brook, near Garwood, at a place called the "Tramps' Kitchen." Two other men were there, and they became very friendly. Finally one of the men pushed him over into the brook and sat on his head, holding it under water, while the other man went through his pockets and took $3 in money and a silver watch.

When Hargan was released he was nearly unconscious, and when he fully recovered the men had gone. Search was made at all the popular tramp quarters, but the men could not be found.

Property to Be Improved.

There are good prospects that the property at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street, owned now by Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, of Park avenue, will soon be greatly improved, and a first-class grocery and meat market will be opened. Arrangements are now being perfected to close the deal, and a proposition has been made to the owner for the property.

HIS HAND STUCK FAST.

STRANGE EXPERIENCE OF PATRICK GRIFFEN WITH A PIPE.

He Picked it up on the Mountain Yesterday, but Found it Charged With Electricity, Which Gave Him a Shock.

Patrick Griffen, of North avenue, will in the future be very careful how he takes hold of a strange pipe, as his experience yesterday afternoon on the mountains has taught him a lesson. Mr. Griffen, in company with some friends, went to the mountains for a stroll, and while wandering about he discovered a pipe. Being a machinist and interested in all the branches of the trade, he took hold of the pipe. He suddenly received a shock and to his surprise he learned he could not let go.

He screamed and cried in several different languages. The attention of his friends was attracted and they hastened to learn the cause of their comrade's trouble. They caught hold of the other arm and tried to pull him away from the pipe. In doing so they also received a shock and it was all they could do to break away. Finally, the shock knocked Mr. Griffen down and he managed to get his hand off the pipe.

It was afterward learned that the pipe was charged with electricity that was used to pump water to one of the cottages on the mountain. Mr. Griffen is not any worse today as a result of his exeperience.

COURAGEOUS ACT.

Councilman Hetfield's Family Saved From a Serious Accident.

Councilman Hetfield was out riding yesterday afternoon. He had a two seated carriage and was accompanied by his wife, a lady friend and little daughter. About 7:30 last evening he drove up North avenue and stopped in front of a fruit store, leaving the horse in charge of the little girl, who occupied the front seat with him. The child picked up the lines and the horse made a short turn—so short, in fact, that the carriage tipped upon the side wheels and was in immediate danger of upsetting. The ladies screamed and the horse becoming frightened started to run.

The danger which threatened the occupants of the carriage was noticed by a number of men sitting in front of McVey's Hotel. One man, tall and of athletic build, was quick to act. He dashed into the street and in two strides was beside the runaway horse. Grasping the headstall firmly in his hand he threw his entire strength and weight upon it, and with a couple of well directed jerks brought the horse to a standstill. The courageous act was heartily applauded by those who witnessed it. The spectators realized that a serious accident had been averted by the man's nerve and presence of mind. The name of the brave man is John Keefe, of New Haven, Conn., superintendent of the Alluminum Works in this city and a boarder at McVey's Hotel.

WANTS FREE DELIVERY.

Cranford Looking for Up-to-date Postal Service.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 17—Postoffice Inspector Snow, of Jersey City, who is connected with the Philadelphia department of the United States postoffice of Washington, D C., recently visited this place and was shown around town by Postmaster John L. Derby.

Inspector Snow expressed himself as being well pleased with Cranford as a suburban town, and said the sidewalks at this place were in better condition than those of the average town of the same size as Cranford.

Inspector Snow examined the postoffice, and when informed of the receipts and other business, and after having looked over the town, said that he would recommend a free delivery system for Cranford.

Such a system, if awarded this place, will take in a territory of one and a half miles, the depot being the central point. Two letter carriers will be required, and 16 mail boxes. Inspector Snow suggested that a good word from Congressman Fowler in behalf of the town might be the means of bringing a free delivery system to this place.

Announcement of a Marriage.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Margaret Ball, daughter of William Ball, of 515 West Front street, and Albert T. Morgan, of Florida, which took place last Thursday evening at the home of Rev. W C Snodgrass, who performed the ceremony at the parsonage. Mrs. Morgan and her father were residents of Plainfield many years ago, but for twenty years resided in Florida, recently moving back to this city. The groom is a resident of Florida, and came to this city very recently to be married.

LEHIGH VALLEY STRIKE RUMORS.

Grievances of the Men Are Largely Local.

COMPANY IS INVESTIGATING.

OFFICIALS SAY THEY ARE NOT APPREHENSIVE OF TROUBLE.

It is Said That There is Great Unrest on the Road, Especially Among the Firemen, But the Officials Are Trying to Adjust Matters So That There Will Be No Strike—Two Views.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Mauch Chunk, July 17—A well-informed employe of the Lehigh Valley Railroad said yesterday of the strike rumors:

"There is a great unrest on our road, especially among the firemen, but we are far from a strike. We don't want a strike and the company is also anxious to avoid one. Our grievances are largely local—one thing on one division and an entirely different thing on another division. The officials of the company express themselves as willing to adjust every grievance that we have, and these meetings that are now being held at different places are largely for the purpose of formulating our troubles so that they may be presented to the company in an intelligent manner.

"The company has requested this. What the officials will de after they have heard the grievances remains to be seen."

NO SIGN OF STRIKE.

Lehigh Railroad Officials Have no Knowledge of Trouble.

Easton, Pa., July 17.—A Lehigh Valley Railroad official today declared that there was absolutely no truth in the statement that a strike is threatened on the road. He stated that he was in close touch with the Brotherhood men, and if they had grievances of any kind he was in a position to hear of them among the first.

He stated positively that no complaints of any kind had been presented to the superintendent of the Lehigh division where the dissatisfaction is alleged to exist, or to General Superintendent or President Waller. He further claimed that if the men had any grievances they would most likely present them for adjustment before going on strike.

THE ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION.

An Important Meeting Will be Held Tomorrow Evening.

An important meeting of the Plainfield Advancement Association will be held tomorrow night in Coward's Hall on East Front street. Mayor Smalley, president of the Association, urges every business man in the city to take an interest in the affairs of the organization and offer their personal aid if possible.

The membership book for the enrollment of the charter members of the Association will be opened, and it is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the chance to assist the work of upbuilding Plainfield. The initiation fee will be $1, with yearly dues at $3.

A number of important matters will be brought up for action—matters that are of vital interest to everyone whose interests are associated with Plainfield. Every business man should attend.

FRANCHISE FOR TROLLEY ROAD.

Line Between Somerville and South Amboy Will Soon Be Complete.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 17—The Town Committee of Sayreville Friday night passed on final reading the ordinance granting the New Brunswick Traction Company a franchise to lay a road from its present terminus, at the South River limit of the township, through the township in the direction of South Amboy. The committee has had the franchise under consideration for some weeks. The company will begin work at once.

An application for rights of way through South Amboy has been pending for some time. Favorable action upon this franchise is confidently expected and the company will then have a complete line from Somerville to South Amboy, via Bound Brook, New Brunswick and South River.

Young Colored Actors and Musicians.

The Charleston Orphan Concert Company will appear in Washington Hall this evening for the benefit of the Orphan' Home that they were educated in. They are said to be a very cleaver lot of little people, and will probably give an excellent performance.

AT THE SUMMER RESORTS

SOCIETY FINDS DIVERSION IN MUSICALES AND DANCES.

Pleasureable Events at Mountain Park Inn and the Hotel Hunterston Saturday Night — Cake-Walk a Feature.

While such of Plainfield society that is still at home finds little to occupy itself beside golf and other outdoor pleasures, the social life at the two local summer hotels, the Mountain Park Inn and the Hotel Hunterston, is at its height. Saturday evening saw charming affairs at both hostelries.

A concert and cake-walk was held at the Mountain Park Inn and was attended, besides the guests, by a number of young people from this city and borough. Miss Emma R. Steiner, the famous women orchestral director and composer, was present and gave a number of delightful selections on the piano. She is considered one of the most talented women in the musical world and Plainfield was unusually fortunate in being privileged to listen to her selections.

After the concert the young people spent most of the evening in dancing, while the cake-walk proved a pleasing means of entertainment.

Two weeks from last Saturday night a formal hop will be held at the Inn.

The Saturday evening dances at the Hotel Hunterston have proved very attractive features so far this season, and the one held in the spacious hotel parlor, Saturday evening, was no exception. There were nearly 200 present, including the hotel guests and a number of visitors from Plainfield, North Plainfield and Somerville.

The evening passed away very delightfully, Rogers' hotel orchestra playing the popular waltzes and two-steps in very satisfactory fashion. When the young people tired of dancing the broad piazzas, with a cooling breeze from the west, were a favorite resort

GOLF CLUB AS A WEAPON.

Joseph W. Reinhart's Gardener Assaults Coachman Leary and Cuts His Head.

Edward Coughlin, a gardener employed by Joseph W. Reinhart, of 512 Belvidere avenue, Netherwood, was arrested Saturday charged with assaulting Michael Leary, the coachman. The men got into a dispute Friday afternoon over some trifling matter and finally came to blows. Coughlin finally picked up a golf stick and dealt Leary a severe blow across the forehead, cutting a gash about three inches in length. The injured man had his wound dressed by Dr. Probasco. Saturday morning he went before Justice Mosher and swore out a warrant for his assistant's arrest. This morning the accused appeared before the Magistrate and through his attorney, William N. Runyon, waived examination and gave bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance before the Grand Jury, his bondsman being Mr. Reinhart, his employer. Counselor Walter L. Hetfield appeared for the complainant.

MIKE DONKO UP AGAIN.

Only Out of Jail a Few Days—Now Will Go Down Again.

Patrolman Myers found Michael Donko at the corner of East Fourth and Sycamore streets, Saturday evening, in an intoxicated condition. Donko has only been out of jail for a little while. He was in an unpleasant mood and defied the law, the city and its representative. So Myers felt constrained to lock him up.

This morning, City Judge Runyon disposed of Donko in a brief space of time. He had his choice between a fine of $20 or sixty days in jail. Circumstances will probably compel him to select the latter.

KICKED IN THE DASHBOARD.

Edward Hooley's Spirited Horse Made Things Very Lively.

A spirited horse belonging to Edward Hooley, of North Plainfield, and attached to a light carriage, became frightened when in front of the drug store of Horsley Barker on West Front street about 9 o'clock this morning. The animal reared and plunged and began to kick. Before the driver could curb the excited beast it had put its hind feet into the dashboard and completely ruined it. The driver was also slightly injured on the legs by the horse's hoofs. The damaged carriage was taken to French's carriage factory for repairs.

Operation Not Necessary.

Mrs. Frederick Schmidt, of Scotch Plains, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital last evening to be treated for appendicitis, but her condition is so much improved today that the physician in charge hardly thinks an operation necessary.

SERMON TO BUSINESSMEN

DR. LEWIS' HELPFUL DISCOURSE IN TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Without the Bible's Teaching the Social and Business World Would Suffer Immeasurably—Makes Confidence.

Despite the very warm weather of last evening a good-sized congregation assembled at Trinity Reformed church and listened to a powerful sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of this city. His remarks were appropriate to the business men especially, and his text, "The Law of the Lord is Perfect," was made the basis for a very interesting discourse.

He held that many thought that Christianity was good enough for women and children, but not for men. He then went on to prove what the business and social world owes to the law of God. He quoted six commandments and gave brief expositions of each one, and proved that without the law of God the world would be in darkness.

The social and business world, he said, would suffer immeasurably and everybody would lose confidence in one another. He spoke especially of the amount of faith that enters daily into all business transactions, and how people would take one another's word in various deals. "Honor Thy Father and Mother," "Thou Shalt Not Kill," "Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery," "Thou Shalt Not Steal," "Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor," and "Thou Shalt Not Covet," were the six commandments dwelt upon, and strong lessons were drawn from each. The congregation was deeply impressed with the sermon and thoroughly enjoyed the helpful words uttered.

FOR A FINE CITY PARK.

A CORRESPONDENT POINTS OUT A FAVORABLE SITE.

The Region Extending From Rahway Road to Berkley Avenue, in the Rear of Belvidere Avenue, is the Place.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—My notice has been drawn to various schemes for advertising Plainfield referred to in your columns. Plainfield has its many superior advantages as we all know. But there are few things it must have to command the attention of the New York public seeking suburban homes. The drives are good in many directions; but what we need is a definite objective point which could serve a center for all seeking recreation. The dusty highways don't serve this purpose. What we need is a park—one that will be worthy of the community. Such a place situated on the outskirts of the town would become a popular resort. The riding and driving public would here find a meeting place, and the trolley would bring needed recreation within her reach of the whole community. Such a place must necessarily have good drives, shaded walks, and that which Plainfield most needs—a lake. An available site for such a park is the beautiful, rolling, almost unknown region extending from Rahway road to Berkeley avenue in the rear of the residences on Belvidere avenue. Here there is grand variety of scenery, cool breezes and a natural water supply which could well be utilized. Already some drives have been laid out through this region. These give to the present visitor an idea of future possibilities.

The first objection to such a scheme will be the expense incurred. This, of course, would be considerable, but does not the community at present require such opportunity for social recreation? Ought we not to prepare for the development of Plainfield which is at hand? Would it not be a calamity to wait until prices advance and such opportunities be lost? A less accesible region in the same neighborhood has just been cut up into building lots.

During the past few years the city of New York has been expending thousands of dollars in buying up and improving large tracks in her suburban regions. Costly breathing spaces which should have been obtained generations ago have at last been laid out in the crowded districts. Here is our opportunity to make our city what it ought to be—the most desirable home for the New York business men. An Interested Citizen.

Band Leader Resigns.

For the second time in the history of the Queen City Band, Benjamin LaVere, the leader and organizer, has resigned. What will become of the band is not known, but it is about time Plainfield supported a first-class band that would give creditable concerts during the summer.

MILK CARRIED THE DIPHTHERIA BACILLI.

Board of Health Acted Promptly and Effectively.

AN ABSOLUTE QUARANTINE.

THE DISEASE PREVALENT IN THE MILK DEALER'S FAMILY.

Malady Carried Into Several Families in This City, But Not in a Malignant Form—Aid of the State Board of Health Was Secured By City Officials—There is No Danger Now.

Last week it was reported to the local Board of Health that there were several cases of diphtheria in this city. The Board immediately commenced an investigation of the cases and found that in each family where the disease prevailed the supply of milk was obtained from the same man.

The milkman in question resides out of the city, but it was soon learned that there was a case of diphtheria in the milkman's family and that undoubtedly the milk that he was serving had been filled with the contagious bacilli of the disease.

The Board served a notice on the milkman prohibiting serving milk within the city limits for the time being, and at the same time notified the State Board of Health. An inspector was sent from the latter Board and together with the local officials they went to work on the case in a vigorous manner.

It was concluded that undoubtedly the disease had been spread to the families in this city by the milk. The dairy in question was immediately put under an absolute quarantine by the State Inspectors, who had the authority to do this.

This effective work of the health officials nipped the epidemic in the bud, and now it is stated that there is no probability of anything serious coming from the diphtheria; in fact, when they first reported they were not in a malignant form and were easily controlled.

The prompt and good work of the Board of Health is the cause of much congratulation among city officials today who were aware of the quiet investigation that had been in progress.

NEED OF THE FOUNTAIN.

It is Greatly Missed By the Thirsty Public on Hot Days.

If there ever was a time when the Chistian Endeavor drinking fountain at the corner of Front and Somerset streets was in need, it is now. The fountain was taken down some time ago by Street Commissioner Gavett in order to connect the run-off pipe with the storm sewer, but evidently its reestablishment has been forgotten. The fountain is a great convenience to the thirsty public these warm days, and it ought to be put in working order at the earliest possible moment.

Clever Children.

All the people of Fishkill, were frantic over the Charleston Orphan Sensational Concert Company of little boys and girls last year. The press spoke in the highest terms and said the boys were "great." The Catholic priest was so much delighted at the little tots contesting in the competitive drill that he threw a dollar on the stage, followed by eight or more persons. The stage was soon strewn with silver thrown to the little children, being moved on the impulse of the minute by the comical actions of the children and their plantation melodies. No one in this city should miss seeing them at Washington Hall tonight.

Death of an Infant.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanMiddlesworth, of Somerset street, have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their infant daughter, Lillian Estelle, which occurred yesterday afternoon. From birth the child was not well nor strong and her death was not wholly unexpected. The child weighed two pounds at birth and as far as can be learned it held the record for the smallest baby that lived for any length of time.

Fractured His Arm.

William Mulford Darling, aged five years, is confined to his home on West Fifth street, the result of a fractured arm. The little fellow was playing on top of the fence at his home when he slipped and fell. The arm was fractured at the elbow. Dr. Tomlinson set the broken member which now seems to be knitting satisfactorily.

Real Estate Active.

The demand for real estate at Netherwood can be determined by the fact that one resident in that locality who, a short time ago, owned a number of lots, has only one piece of the property left.

TROLLEY MEN ON STRIKE.

The Long Expected Trouble Materializes on Brooklyn Surface Lines.

CARS ARE STILL RUNNING

Many Scenes of Disorder Are Witnessed Along the Lines Affected by the Big Strike.

Motormen and Conductors Taken From Their Cars and Roughly Handled—Police Kept Busy Dispersing Crowds—Women Plead With New Employes.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 17.—It has been conceded on all sides for the past three or for weeks that dissatisfaction existed among the employes of the Brooklyn Heights and Nassau trolley lines, and that to have the alleged grievances settled a strike was liable to be declared at any time. Efforts were made on several occasions to adjust the differences between the employers and the employes, but all these efforts were without success, and the matter finally came to a focus when all the employes on the Brooklyn trolley system were ordered by the head officials of the Knights of Labor to leave their several posts of duty at once, and the majority of them obeyed.

The Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor had been in conference all night with the delegates of the Brooklyn locals, and when it was announced that the various roads of the Brooklyn Heights system were to be tied up, some of the cars near the power house were run in immediately and and the strike was under way.

All the lines of the Nassau system were either tied up completely or run with great difficulty under police protection. Eleveated roads are still running.

Trouble began early. At Third avenue and Thirty-ninth street a mob, after blocking the road, held up the cars and ordered the passengers out. Frequent clashes at this point kept the police busy.

The first arrest was made near the power house at Fifty-eighth street and Third avenue. Motormen and conductors who attempted to run out cars were pulled from the platform and roughly handled. The police charged the strikers several times, finally taking one man into custody.

Chief Devery assumed command of the police force, remaining at headquarters, sending all orders from there. One thousand men were sent to Brooklyn from Manhattan, and the mounted squad and detailed officers were all ordered held in reserve. Seven of the mounted squad are being used by the Chief as couriers.

All vacations on the police force have been cancelled, and the men on leave in the different boroughs have been recalled. Officials of the Brooklyn Heights Company still claim that there will be no general tie-up. They say they will run their cars on schedule time.

At Rockaway and Liberty avenues women gathered and took up the cause of the strikers. They pleaded with the new men to leave their cars and have been successful in more than one instance. There was rioting on upper Fulton street in the East New York section, and one policeman was forced to use his revolver in fighting the crowd. The mob at Third avenue and Thirty-ninth street, after being dispersed by the police, returned and derailed a locomotive. Placing that and a car across the tracks blocked traffic.

Without the slightest hitch or excitement the strike was declared on at Coney Island and Ulmer Park. Union men at both terminals waited around the stations, and as fast as the cars arrived the motormen and conductors were told of the action of the meeting and promptly left their cars.

The old Nassau Railroad at West End, the Sea Beach, Culver and Brighton Beach sheds were jammed with cars left deserted by the motormen and conductors.

At Ulmer Park or Unionville, where the Rapid Transit Company has one of its largest sheds, strikers' representatives were waiting for each car as it arrived from Brooklyn. These were boarded and the men told of the strike. The Bath Beach, Bensonhurst and Fifth avenue cars which stopped there were immediately abandoned by their crews, while the through cars to Coney Island were allowed to go through to their destination. These were left at Coney Island.

Police Captain Kenny, who is in charge of the Coney Island Precinct, had all his reserves around the stations and prevented the strikers from gathering in a crowd near any of them. Strict orders to keep the men moving were enforced.

"I do not anticipate any trouble," said the Captain, "but of course we are ready for it."

The Rapid Transit officials say that if the strike continues they will restore the old steam railway system and run their locomotives and trains over the trolley tracks. The old Culver route will be used and traffic handled without serious inconvenience.

Since the strike was declared the men who have taken the strikers' places have been kept busy dodging stones, bricks and other missiles, and the police have had their hands full dispersing crowds and quelling small riots that have constantly been taking place along the affected lines. A number of motormen and conductors have been taken from the cars and so roughly handled that they refused to take any further chances and gave up in despair.

The principal cause of the difficulty is that the employes demand that the time tables shall be arranged on all lines so as to comply with the ten-hour law work day and that the prevailing rate of wages shall be $2.00 for each full day's work, and trips overtime be paid at 20 cents per hour; also that two-thirds of the cars shall be full-day runs. These demands were refused.

A crowd gathered and set fire to a lot of tar barrels on the tracks on Park avenue, which prevented the running of cars for some time. At the Ridgewood car barns the police were driven back by a demonstrative crowd, and it became necessary to call for reinforcements in order to clear a way for cars to pass in and out of the barns.

A conference has been called to consider the advisibility of calling for military protection.

Grand Master Workman Parsons says that unless the strikers' demands are compled with at once the entire trolley syste mof Brooklyn will be tied up and completely paralyzed. It is stated that the motormen of the Metropolitan line of New York are ready to go out in aid of the Brooklyn strikers.

President Rossiter, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, says "everything is lovely," that his company's cars are running and that he considers his employes loyal.

The employes of the Brooklyn Elevated road may go out in sympathy with the trolley men, and it is considered as not at all improbable that both the surface and elevated systems will be tied up unless a settlement of the difficulty is reached very soon.

In one of the riots that took place a motorman was hit in the head with a brick and seriously if not fatally injured. The police have made about forty arrests. A considerable number of these are in connection with the stoning of President Rossiter's private car.

Wage Reduction Without Notice.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 17.—The wages of the employes of the Consolidated Fruit Jar Works here have been reduced. The employes got no warning and did not know their pay had been reduced until they opened their envelopes and found they were 10 per cent. short. The question of striking is being debated by them. There are about 300 employes.

Railroad Strike is Probable.

Boston, July 17.—The labor troubles on the Boston and Maine and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad systems have reached a stage where a general strike seems probable unless the management of the roads recede from their present position. The strike would involve from 12,000 to 15,000 employes, and if successful would result in a complete tie-up of both systems.

Woman Burned to Death.

Richview, Ill., July 17.—The body of Mrs. C. Meyers, a wealthy widow, living near Irvington, was found in the ruins of her barn, a charred mass of flesh and bones. It was thought that her barn caught fire, and that in an attempt to save her horses she fell and was burned to death. Soon afterward a neighbor of Mrs. Meyers went to Irvington and had a warrant issued for a negro who was working for her, charging him with killing her and then burning her body in the barn to hide his crime. The negro was caught and given a preliminary examination. If he is found guilty he will probably be lynched.

Artillery Soldier Held for Murder.

Newport News, Va., July 17.—An artilleryman named Louis August, a member of Battery G, Fourth Artillery, has been arrested charged with the murder of Minnie Fargo, who was suffocated in Phoebus on Friday night. It is charged that August's initials appeared on the silk handkerchief with which the woman was strangled. He belonged to one of the Pennsylvania regiments which took part in the late war, and calls Shamokin his home. When mustered out he enlisted in the regular army.

Building and Loan Co. in Trouble.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 17.—Henry L. Gray, State Supervisor of Building and Loan Asociations, has closed the Phoenix Building and Loan Association of this city, appointing Graham C. Lacy and Harry M. Tootle receivers. The association has been doing very little business for several months, and no objection was made to the appointment of the receivers. The assets are about $700,000. A large number of law suits are threatened, and this hastened the action taken.

Denial by William K. Vanderbilt.

Milwaukee, July 17.—William K. Vanderbilt has wired the Milwaukee Journal saying there is absoultely no truth in the report that the New York Central, which he controls, and its allied companies, are planning to gain control of other lines of railroad in order to make a through line from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

War Costly to Owners.

Havana, July 17.—The steamer Purisima Cancepcion, sunk by the United States auxiliary cruiser Hist off Manzanillo, has been raised, and she will be put into condition to resume running on the south coast, between Santiago and Batabano. Her owners say it will cost $100,000 before she will be able to carry passengers.

Dewey's Claims for Bounty.

Washington, July 17.—Admiral Geo. Dewey has filed in the Court of Claims through his attorney his claim for naval bounty growing out of the battle of Manila Bay on May 1, 1898. This is the first of this class of claims filed in this court, and it is anticipated that there will be between 4,000 and 5,000 of them altogether.

New Paltz School Trouble Ended.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 17.—Dr. Frank S. Capen has resigned as principal of the New Paltz Normal School in compliance with the request of the local Board of Managers. By his resignation Dr. Capen has brought to an end a controvery which has existed for several years. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Dewey Sails for Treste.

Port Said, July 17.—After a strict quarantine, the United Staies cruiser Olympia sailed for Trieste, where she will have free pratique. After a short stay there she will proceed direct to New York.

Spaniards Steal at Home.

Madrid, July 17.—El Liberal announces the discovery of a deficit of 2,700,000 pesetas ($530,750) in the accounts of the Northern Railway Company, due to embezzlements.

TROOPS SAIL FOR MANILA

The Transport City of Para Leave San Francisco For the Philippines.

INFANTRY AND CAVALRY

871 Men and Eighteen Officers Go to Aid General Otis in Subduing Aguinaldo and His Followers.

The Glacier Arrives at Manila With a Supply of Beef—Lincoln Making Great Preparations for the Reception of the First Nebraska Volunteers on Their Return.

Lincoln, Neb., July 17.—Enthusiastic preparations continue for the reception of the First Nebraska Volunteers on their return home. The regiment will reach San Francisco on July 28. There has been considerable criticism of the character of the speeches at the mass meeting to talk over the reception. There were three speeches on th programme, Gen. Manderson, Gen. Vifquain and G. M. Lambertson being the talkers, besides C. O. Whedon, the Chairman of the local committee, who outlined the general plan, and Mayor Winnett, who, as the Chief Executive of the city, pledged the citizens to a hearty co-operation. The speeches of Lambertson and Gen. Manderson took on a decided political tinge and both took occasion to defend expansion and holding of the Philippines and to condemn opposition to this policy.

During Gen. Manderson's speech there was a decided expression of displeasure, hisses being heard once or twice. Gen. Vifquain in his talk administered a rebuke to the injection of partisan politics into such a meeting and took issue with the declarations of Manderson and Lambertson

New Field Guns For Philippines.

Washington, July 17.—The War Department has recently concluded an exhaustive series of experiments at Sandy Hook with high explosives and light field guns that promise to mark a material advance in the artillery branch of the service. The recommendations of the Board are in shape to be presented to the Secretary of War, and if adopted will result in arming the troops in the Philippines with the most advanced type of light field guns in the world. The Board has decided on a type of field gun which can fire fifteen aimed shots a minute, which can be operated by one man and which its full crew can take to pieces in thirteen seconds for loading on muleback for transportation wherever needed. It is three-inch calibre, can carry solid shot, schrapnel or a bursting charge of high explosive which will kill by concussion in a radius of 200 feet.

Troops Sail From San Francisco.

Washington, July 17.—The following despatch from San Francisco, announcing the departure of the City of Para, has been received at the War Department:

"Transport City of Para sailed with Major Augur and two troops Fourth Cavalry, four officers, 179 men; headquarters, band and four companies Twenty-fourth Infantry, 14 officers, 542 men; Company B, engineers, three officers, 150 men; 180 rounds calibre 30 ammunition per man. With troops six assistant surgeons, ten acting assistant surgeons, nineteen men Hospital Corps, one officer and twenty-one men Signal Corps; sixty-six assigned men Twenty-fourth, and seven Twenty-fifth Infantry. Passengers, Gen. Schwan and aide; Col. Carpenter, Eighteenth, and Bisbee, Thirteenth; Major Lee, Ninth; Captain Batchelor, Twenty-fourth Infantry.

"SHAFTER, Major-General."

Volunteers Sail From Manila.

Washington, July 17.—The War Department has received the following cablegram:

Manila, July 15.

"Twenty inches of rain in July, attended by typhoons, made landing of transports impossible at Negros. Impossible to unload Sixth Infanty until last day or two. California now loading. Colorados leave on Warren. Idahos, North Dakotas and Wyomings next week as soon as transports can be coaled. "OTIS."

The refrigerator ship Glacier, from New York, arrived at Manila with a large supply of beef on board.

Recruits For Volunteers.

Lexington, Ky., July 17.—The Thirty-first Regiment being recruited at Fort Thomas for service in the Philippines, no whas 257 men enlisted. It is estimated that the regiment will be complete within three weeks.

No More Corporal Punishment.

Hudson, N. Y., July 17.—At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the House of Refuge for women here, a resolution was unanimously adopted forbidding all corporal punishment in any form. It is the purpose of the new board to work in conformity with the Controller, the State Board of Charities and the Civil Service Commission, and all the State departments.

Two New National Banks.

Washington, July 17.—The First National Bank of Perth Amboy, N. J., capital $100,000, and the Cement National Bank of Siegfried, Pa., capital $50,000 have been authorized to begin business by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Paris Salvors Make $355,000.

London, July 17.—It is said that salvors of the Paris will get $375,000, or half the value of the steamer. As the expenses are reported to be about $20,000, it was apparently a profitable job.

Natural Gas Near Saratoga.

Saratoga, July 17.—At the country place of A. Lawson Trask, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a vein of natural gas has been developed at the depth of 500 feet.

HIS LEG WAS BLOWN OFF.

Serious Result of the Explosion of a Soda Fountain.

Nyack, N. Y., July 17.—By the explosion of a soda fountain tank in the confectionary and bakery of L. A. Robertson in this place John Perrie, an employe, had his left leg blown off and his right leg was badly broken at the knee. Perrie was in the basement of the building charging the tank with gas from a larger one and got on higher pressure than it would stand.

The explosion was heard three blocks away and sounded like the bursting of a large cannon. A crowd of people rushed to the scene, and found Perrie lying on the floor in great agony, while his left leg lay in another part of the room. He was attended by Drs. Maynard and Gillis, who soon after sent him down to St. Francis Hospital, Jersey City, where he is now in a critical condition. When the tank exploded it flew through a window twelve feet distant, tearing away part of the brick wall, and landed in the yard several feet from the building. Perrie is about 40 years old. He has been in the employ of Mr. Robertson six years as a candymaker.

Riotous Glassblowers Arrested.

Bridgton, N. J., July 17.—Fifteen striking glassworkers have been arrested charged with complicity in Thursday's riot. Leaders of the Glassblowers' Union deprecate Thursday's disturbance, and have assisted the authorities in procuring evidence against the rioters. The men will, however, receive the support of the union, and every effort will be made to secure their acquittal. Warrants are out for other strikers, and Mayor Applegate declares that he will use all the means in his power to put a stop to lawless acts.

French Shore Question.

St. Johns, N. F., July 17.—British warships are gathering for the naval demonstration here this week. The cruisers Comus and Columbine are already here, the Alert and the Buzzard are due from the French shore this afternoon, and Admiral Bedford, with five ships, will arrive this evening, making nine war vessels in all. The Colonial Government has summoned here Inspector O'Reilly, in charge of the anti-French bait service, for a conference with the Admiral.

Cattle Trust in Danger.

Austin, Tex., July 17.—The big cattle syndicate under formation to control the cattle market of Texas is finding trouble. Charles Loving, promoter of the scheme, has started for New York to try to obtain all the financial assistance promised when the plan was originated for a $500,000,000 corporation. As the report spread that the organization of the syndicate would violate the Texas anti-trust law, all the New York capitalists fought shy of the proposition. This has caused much delay.

Lockjaw at Cortland, N. Y.

Cortland, N. Y., July 17.—Leo Howard, ten years old, has died as a result of a Fourth of July accident. The wadding of a blank cartridge was shot into his left hand on that day, and lockjaw resulted. The physicians used anti-toxin, and the treatment seemed to be successful, but the improvement in the lad's condition was only temporary.

Andrews Safe in Mid-Ocean.

Antwerp, July 17.—The Dutch steamer Bremerhaven, Captain Ninnes, from New York on June 29, which has arrived here, reports that she spoke the boat Doree on July 1, in latitude 40 north, longitude 63 west, and that the boat was making fair way. Capt. Andrews, the navigator, was well, and refused assitance.

Steamship's Narrow Escape.

St. Johns, N. F., July 17.—The Furness line steamer Manchester Port, Captain Williams, from Montreal July 8 for Manchester with cattle and grain, has put in here with her bows stove, having been in collision with an iceberg in the Straits of Belle Isle. The vessel's forepart is badly wrecked, and she had a narrow escape from foundering.

Victim's Jaws are Firmly Set.

Newburg, N. Y., July 17.—George M. Kripner, twenty-four years old, had his right arm lacerated in a machine on June 27, and Saturday lockjaw developed, his jaws being firmly set. The physicians are using serum treatment, injecting it into the arm above the wound. Kripner shows slight improvement under the treatment.

Three Arrests for Bay Shore Murder.

Bay Shore, L. I., July 17.—Richard Johnson, George Holmes and A. Postle Jones, all colored, have been arrested here by Deputy Sheriff Frank Call, charged with the murder of John Bunn, colored, whose body was found near the railroad station on the morning of July 5.

Alabama Miners Fight.

Birmingham, Ala., July 17.—An unconfirmed report has reached here that four men were killed and several wounded in a fight between strikers and negros at Ishkooda, a mining town near here. The Sheriff and a posse have left for the scene.

Fast Time on Down Grade.

Norwood, Mass., July 17.—"Joe" Downey, of Jamaica Plains, a sixteen-year-old lad, rode a mile on a bicycle, paced by a motor tandem, in 1m. 17 1-5s. The ride was made on a public highway, the mile being straightaway and slightly down hill.

Pennsylvania Navel Reserves Home.

Philadelphia, July 17.—The United States ship Prairie with the Pennsylvania naval reserves on board, has returned from its cruise, arriving at League Island. While the reserves were away they practiced firing with six-inch guns.

William Lindsay to Speak.

Louisville, Ky., July 17.—Senator William Lindsay of Kentucky has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address at the National Bar Association meeting in Buffalo, N. Y., on August 29. Senator Lindsay is one of the State's foremost orators.

The ticket agent at one of the Connecticut stations of the New York and New England railroad states: "I suffered for years with my stomach. At times I've been so bad that I couldn't walk a block after eating my dinner without spitting out particles of food, and I've been troubled a great deal with rheumatic gout. Parts of my feet would be so sore that a slight pressure would make me wince with pain. At the suggestion of a friend I commenced taking a RIPANS TABULE after each meal, and in two weeks they did wonders for me—positively wonders. My food stays down now, and the pain in my feet has gone away. In me the Tabules are sure of one friend for life."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

Making People Happy.
Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.
Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:
D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs. Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

SENT TO INSANE HOSPITAL

A Commission in Lunacy Declares Mrs. Henrietta Shaw Insane.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 17.—Mrs. Henrietta Shaw, an old lady with a silvery voice and sweet face, has been sent to the Binghamton State Hospital for preaching that Christ is now on earth. She drove in from a neighboring country village, and pulling up in front of the public square with a bunch of flowers in her hand, began to harrangue a crowd which quickly assembled, telling them that the Saviour was now on earth and living among them. She then started a religious song, but at this point two men appeared and escorted her to the Court House, the crowd following. They declared that she was insane, and a commission in lunacy was at once appointed. They found her insane and she was committed to the hospital.

In Jail for Playing Soltair.

Louisville, Ky., July 17.—Frank Hamilton, a veterinary surgeon from New York, allowed the innocent game of solitaire to cause him to be sent to jail for thirty days and to be fined $50. Hamilton was before Judge Wilson of the police court on some trivial charge, and when his name was called was engaged in solving the momentous problems of the game. "Frank Hamilton," shouted the crier of the tribunal. Hamilton did not answer. The name was called again, and the accused looked up angrily, saying, "Oh, don't bother me." Judge Wilson took this to be contempt of court in the highest degree and passed severe judgment on Hamilton.

Mentor Sues for His Pay.

Pittsburg, July 17.—Fred'k Dietrich an aattorney of Boston, who is the son of an engineer on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, and lives in New Brighton, Pa., has entered suit in the local courts against Samuel Watson, an attorney of Pittsburg to recover $500. The plaintiff alleges that while a student at Harvard College, Mr. Watson commissioned him to take care of his son, Harry Watson, and to keep him from drinking, for which Mr. Watson agreed to pay Mr. Dietrich $500. The latter alleges that he took good care of young Watson, but on demanding his money the elder Watson refused to pay it.

Treasury Assistant Cheif Dead.

Washington, July 17—Word has been received here of the death in Pittsfield, Mass., of Colonel Charles H. Brown, Assistant Chief of the Division of Loans and Currency of the Treasury Department. He saw active service in the Civil War and reached the grade of Brevet Lieutenant Colonel. For several years prior to 1893 Colonel Brown was superintendent of the Craig Paper Mills in Pittsfield, where paper is made exclusively for Treasury and bank notes and certificates.

Choked to Daath on Beefsteak.

Orange, N. J., July 17.—Joseph Devlin of No. 9 Oak street, East Orange, was eating breakfast with his family when he suddenly choked and grew black in the face. His wife pounded him on the back, while another member of the family telephoned for Dr. Stephen G. Lee. Before the doctor arrived Devlin was dead. Dr. Lee made an examination, and said that Devlin had choked to death on a piece of beefsteak.

Kentucky Democrats Disagree.

Louisville, Ky., July 17.—At a meeting of the "Jo Blackburn Democratic Club" steps were taken looking to the nomination of a Democratic ticket in opposition to the one headed by William Goebel for Governor. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the action of the recent State convention, and appointing a committee to co-operate with dissenting Democrats in other parts of the State.

Threw Pepper in Her Eyes.

Boston, July 17.—Mrs. Lewis, of 104 West Cedar street, was robbed by a thief who threw cayenne pepper in her face and blinded her. Mrs. Lewis had been to a store, and was just going up the steps to her front door when the robber ran up to her and pushed her, threw the red pepper in her eyes and snatched her pocketbook from her. He ran up the street and escaped.

Carnegie's Gift to East Liverpool.

Pittsburg, July 17—Andrew Carnegie has cabled his Pittsburg representative that he has donated $50,000 toward the erection of a public library building at East Liverpool, Ohio. When a boy Andrew Carnegie lived two years in the town with his uncle, Senator William Morse, hence his gift to the Pottery City. The usual stipulations that the city donate the site are appended.

Kennedy May Recover.

New London, Conn., July 17.—Davidson Kennedy, of Philadelphia, who was hit by a golf ball on the Quaganaporet links Saturday, was unconscious until yesterday, and several physicians were with him constantly. Sunday he gradually recovered consciousness. While his condition is serious, the doctors think he will recover.

Kansas's Great Prosperity.

Topeka, Kan., July 17.—Bank Commissioner Breidenthal shows by a statement that the deposits in State and private banks in Kansas have increased more than half a million dollars in four months. Returns show all taxable property to be valued at $330,000,000, an increase in one year of $2,500,000.

A Daughter of Eve.

Mother—Why didn't you scream when he kissed you?

The Girl—His mustache was in the way, and when it was all over I saw that screaming wouldn't better the situation.

The University of Cairo.

A university in Cairo is said to have 11,000 students, more than attend any other two universities in the world.

Cuban Tobacco.

Before the war Cuba contributed about one-twelfth of all the tobacco used in the world.

PINGREE'S PLAN DEFEATED

Municipal Ownership of Detroit Street Railway System is Broken Up.

NO SHOW FOR SUCCESS.

Chief of Detective Department Instructed to Investigate Transactions of Certain Aldermen.

Tom L. Johnson Writes Pingree a Letter Acknowledging Defeat of Proposed Plan—No Hope of Securing Enough Votes to Pass Ordinance Over Mayor's Veto.

Detroit, Michigan, July 17.—It is conceded on all sides that the Pingree-Johnson Plan for the purchase of the street railways is defeated. There is now no possibility of mustering enough votes of Aldermen to pass the desired ordinance over the Mayor's veto. Several of the Aldermen who voted for the security franchise have now decided that the risk of failure to pay for the roads out of three-cent fare receipts is too great to incur with reasonable safety. Another attempt in the same direction will doubtless be made at some future time.

The Evening News says: "Acting on certain information the Police Commissioners have instructed Capt. McDonnell, Chief of the Detective Department, to investigate the transactions of some of the Aldermen for the past few days. What the evidence is can only be conjectured. It is known, however, that, as far as the police are concerned, the finger of suspicion is pointed to six Aldermen as having received a bribe for their votes on the street car ordinance last Tuesday.

Before leaving the city Tom L. Johnson handed a letter to Gov. Pingree, in part as follows:

"We are satisfied that it is not feasible to consummate under existing conditions the plan of transferring the street railway property to your company. We face squarely the proposition which the opponents of the plan put forward, that our franchises are running out, and that when they do expire we shall have an expensive plant on our hands when the opponents of the plan say they can compel us to sell at an enormous sacrifice unless we are willing to accept a new franchise at their terms. We must so manage the railways in the meantime so as, if possible, to prevent the losses threatened. In bringing our negotiations to an end we thank you heartily for the courtesy and fairness which you have shown to us throughout."

The Pingree people have as yet formulated no plans for a future attempt to carry out the idea of municipal ownership. Gov. Pingree is furious over his defeat.

Populists Favor Bryan.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 17.—Robert Schilling, Chairman of the State Central Committee of the People's Party and the Wisconsin member of the National Committee, is of the opinion that the People's Party will fuse with the Democrats in 1900 if William J. Bryan is nominated by the National Democratic Convention. Mr. Schilling said: "If there should be any prospect of the Democratic party failing to nominate Mr. Bryan, I am positive our party will insist on a separate nomination, and will fight tooth and nail for his election."

The Deaf Mute Divorce Case.

Newburg, July 17.—Judge Herschberg has decided that Henry Jansen Haight shall pay $125 per month alimony and $350 counsel fees in the suit brought against him for divorce by his wife, Mary L. Haight. This is the famous deaf-mute divorce case in which Col. Ingersoll's office appeared for plaintiff and former Judge Augustus Van Wyck for defendant. Mr. Haight is supposed to be worth $1,000,000, and is believed to be living in New Jersey. Mrs. Haight is living in New York with one of her two daughters.

Sentenced to Attend Sunday School.

Chicago, July 17.—Justice Levere, of Evanston, imposed a sentence of "six months' attendance at Sunday school" upon "Sonny" Dixon, when the young colored boy, with three companions, was arraigned for stealing Dr. Herbert Fisk's green apples. Marshall Cannon, Harry Johnston and Joe Herens were with Dixon when he partook of the forbidden apples. The boys were discharged after "Sonny" had promised faithfully that he would attend Sunday school.

Wanted for Stealing a Letter.

Montreal, July 17.—A warrant has been sworn out against George F. Bell, the man who alleges that he stole the Carranza letter. The warrant charges Bell with the theft of the letter. Bell has not yet been arrested, but it is expected he will be. A Sunday newspaper editor caused the warrant to be issued.

Steamship Merrimac Goes Ashore.

Quebec, July 17.—A gulf service report from Jeath Point, Anticosti Island, says that the steamship Merrimac, (Br.), from Bristol for Montreal, went ashore at Gulf Cliff Bay. A thick fog prevailed at the time. The steamship Savoy has left English Bay for the scene of the wreck.

Pig Iron Reaches $20 a Ton.

Reading, July 17.—For the first time since the present boom began pig iron has reached $20 a ton in the Schuylkill Valley. The Reading Iron Company's furnaces are unable to turn out all that its mills consume, and the erection of another anthracite blast furnace is projected.

Extradition Warrant for Mrs. Rich.

Washington, July 17.—The State Department has issued the formal warrant for the surrender of Mrs. Rich to the Mexican authorities, and the papers were forwarded to the Mexican Embassy, temporarily at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

July 18—Opening of the Badlies' Camp.
July 18—Meeting of Plainfield Advancement Association.

Sunday Bicycle Racing.

That horse racing with its betting ring has been abolished and prohibited in New Jersey by legislative laws no one but the sporting men who profited by betting on the races will regret. But up comes another equally as bad practice in Sunday bicycle racing for a purse of $1,000, next Sunday on the Vailsburg race track, in Essex county, near Newark. If there is no law to prohibit such public racing on God's holy day, we hope to see one enacted by next winter's Legislature. If horse racing was lowering to the morals of a State and a community on week days, surely Sunday bicycle racing is equally as bad, if not worse.

Dunellen's interest and desire to secure a complete transfer system on the trolley cars between Plainfield and that place is of considerable importance to the business men of this city. Every facility for cheaper transit between Plainfield and the suburban towns means a proportionate increase in the volume of local business.

Governor Voorhees promises that the New Jersey Veterans of the Spanish-American War, who never got near enough to fighting to smell powder, shall soon have the honor medals which the State appropriated $5,000 to purchase. 'Tis better late than never.

The presentation to Rear-Admiral Sampson of the sword voted him by the last Legislature is not likely to take place before fall. The blade is being made in Germany, a fact which seems somewhat unfitting in the nature of patriotism.

Municipal ownership of the water plant is what Plainfield needs. The Common Council cannot hurry too fast in consummating the purchase of the business now conducted for private profit with immense returns.

At the meeting of the Union county assessors today we presume that they will resolve to assess at the "true value," which is, indeed, a very elastic definition of what is just and right in the matter of taxation.

The sight of Piscataway township successfully defying the Standard Oil Company is worthy of a niche in the history of modern life. In this fact Piscataway's position stands out like a lone star.

The Babies' Camp opens this week. Now is the time to make your subscriptions to The Daily Press fund for this worthy object come in at the opportune time.

Notwithstanding that these are dog days, The Daily Press is dishing up some interesting political morsels for Union county statesmen every few days.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Newark lawyers and court attendants liked Judge Vail, of Union county, who took Judge Fort's place in the special sessions last week. The ex-State Senator and present Common Pleas Judge of Union is not only a good lawyer and upright judge, but a man of solid common sense and independence of character.—Newark Call.

The Plainfield Press makes out that the superintendent of the Methodist Sunday-school is a Mormon. It says that on Tuesday "Miss Embleton became the wife of Wellington Morehouse." Horrors! Is that an onslaught, politically? A good many people think Morehouse would make a good Assemblyman, and so we hasten to say that he is no Latter Day Saint. He was not married Tuesday, and he has been married some twenty-five years.—Westfield Republican.

There are newspapers which speak the honest convictions of their editors regardless of party and, if need be, have the courage to openly oppose the election of frauds and unprincipal men who may perchance be the candidate of their own party. It is a hopeful sign of the times that such newspaper are on the increase. The time has passed when men possessing a proper sense of honor, and of their duty to the public, will stultify themselves by advocating men or measures which they deem unworthy of confidence of support.—Bridgeton Patriot.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The prayers of the anglers for better fishing at the Asbury Park pier have availed naught, and now artificial means are to be employed to attract the finny denizens of the deep. Mr. Bradley, at the request of the fishermen, has placed an order for some bunker oil, or the oil extracted from mossbunkers, the food of the bluefish, and this will be spread on the pier, in the hope that it will attract the bluefish. The experiment is to be tried in a few days.

* * * * *

Saturday was St. Swithin's Day. But do not be afraid. Every year it becomes necessary to explain that July 15th is St. Swithin's Day, and that if it rains then it will rain for the next forty days; whereas, if it does not rain on St. Swithin's Day, there will be no rain for the next forty days. The people who believe this, of whom there are more in England than there are here, have comforting ways of holding their faith. If the prophecy is for dry weather and then rain comes, they say that it must have rained a little bit in the night of St. Swithin's Day, when it was not noticed. And if the prognostication is of rain and there comes a dry day, the process is reversed, and the true believer says that there must have been a little unnoticed rain on the seemingly dry day. But the most careful observations taken at the observatory at Greenwich through many years discountenance St. Swithin altogether.

This fish story is vouched for by David Conkling, of Jersey City. Conkling was recently visiting relatives near New Market. One morning he got up early and mounted his wheel started to get a whif of fresh air. As he approached the big pond at that place he saw a slight disturbance in the water. Though the sun had been up scarcely two hours he noticed that the fish were at play. Conkling found the commotion in the water was caused by the fish who as the sportsman say were "breaking water," or in other words leaping out of the water, as is customary with fish in the early morning hours. Conkling is of a resourceful nature and an idea came to him. He must have one of those fish which he suspected were bass. Quickly dismounting from his wheel and laying it to one side he began to look about. He heard the bullfrogs croak and he set about catching one. Then divesting himself of shoes and stockings, he proceeded to put into execution his idea. Taking both strings from his russet shoes, Conkling tied them together. This gave him a fish line. Next he fastened to the fish line the frog's hind legs. Then he improvised a sinker by tieing his pocket knife to the line. Thus equipped, Conkling threw in. In less time than it takes to tell it he says a big, black bass had made a grab for the frog, stuggling to free himself, and literally swallowed it whole. Conkling had some difficulty in pulling in his catch and came with in an ace of losing it but finally he succeeded in landing the bass. In attempting to repeat the trick another fish snatched the bate. The shoe-string-fish line, however, was too weak to stand the strain of a second pull and snapped close to the pocket knife that was being used as a sinker. However, Conkling felt satisfied with his first efforts and slipping on his shoes remounted his wheel and road back to his friends house. Conkling maintains that the bass weighed exactly 4 1-4 pounds. It was eaten by the family for breakfast.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John Vetterlein and family, of Newark, have been visiting borough relatives.

Arthur Heath, of this city, is entertaining his cousin, Chas. Armstrong, of Brooklyn.

Lawyer Irving L. Brady, of the borough, has returned from a sojourn at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Charles VanMiddlesworth, of Somerset street, is greatly improved from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dreier, of West Front street, are entertaining Mrs. Dreier's sister, of New York.

Mrs. Henry Williams, of Perth Amboy, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Compton Vail, of this city, has returned home.

Councilman George T. Rogers and family, of Washington Park, are home again after spending a short time out of town in recreation.

The marriage of Miss Florence Melick, of Elizabeth, and Frank D. Everett, of Cranford, is announced to take place at Elizabeth July 26th.

Councilman Frank H. Smith and wife, of Madison avenue, have returned from Westerly, R. I., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Smith's father, who died recently.

D. W. Littell, Jr., of West Eighth street, is slowly improving from a painful affection of his eyes, and he hopes at an early date to leave the New York Hospital, where he is now confined.

Carroll L. Runyon, of East Ninth street, and A. Willis West, of Crescent avenue, were members of the crew of the sloop yacht, Laura G., that took part in the regatta of the Bergen Point Yacht Club Saturday afternoon.

Chas. Westphal, formerly of South Second street, but now of Brooklyn, who recently sustained an injury to his hand while working in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, has about recovered the use of his hand and expects soon to go to work again.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure.

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 17.—The committee appointed last Thursday evening at the mass meeting to take action in regard to the imposition of the Brunswick Traction Company in charging an excess of fare, will meet with the Board of Trade of Plainfield this evening. It is hoped that some arrangement will be entered into to effect an adjustment of the troubles.

W. S. Frederick, district clerk of the borough, has given notice that sealed bids will be received for the janitorship of the schools by the month from August 1st. Specifications as to duties can be seen by calling on the clerk. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, which will be opened at the next Board meeting.

The lecture at the Methodist church Thursday evening was well attended. Rev. Dr. Geo. Wilding handled his subject in masterly manner. An interesting part of the entertainment was the singing of the Misses Ethel and Mabel Jamieson and Miss Mabel Apgar.

Miss Lillian Suydam, who has been visiting Miss Loretta Clawson, and was a bridemaid at her sister's marriage last Wednesday evening, has returned to her home in Franklin Park. While here Miss Suydam made a number of pleasant acquaintances.

The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold a lawn festival on the grounds surrounding the home of A. O. Douglass Friday evening. If it rains that evening the festival will be held the following night.

There was a pleasant informal gathering at the home of James McElvare a few evenings ago. Mr. McElvare lives on Washington street and is the happy possessor of a graphophone, which has all the latest songs, etc.

The Call calls attention to the untidy condition of the plot of land adjoining the public hall. The grass is so high as to be conspicuous to passersby and should be cut. Where is the street commissioner?

John W. Wagner, a veteran of the Civil War, and a resident of the borough, boasts that he served in the rebellion four years, one month and four days.

George Churchill, of Asbury Park, who has been visiting his brother for a few days, took a flying trip to Jersey City Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oakely and Mayor Swackhamer have been visiting in New Brunswick.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the Baptist church, has been sojourning at Ocean Grove.

Mrs. Frank Green, of Brooklyn, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Louis Titsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Randolph have returned from a visit with friends in Newark.

Mrs. A. I. Martine has been entertaining friends from Long Island.

A. B. Rinos has been entertaining his father from New Brunswick.

NEW MARKET

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 17.—Mrs. Ferdinand Schmidt was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, last evening to undergo an operation for apendicitis. Mrs. Schmidt has been ailing for about a week, but has not been seriously ill until Saturday evening when she was taken much worse. Dr. Tomlinson, of Plainfield, was called in yesterday afternoon and pronounced her illness as a bad case of appendicitus and advised an operation at once.

The afternoon trolley cars yesterday were kept busy handling the large crowds of visitors which were brought to town. Before the advent of the trolley Scotch Plains presented rather a deserted look Sundays but now it seems as though there were more people on the streets of the village on that day than eny other day in the week.

W. S. Emery's pleasure garden seems to be a very successful venture for Mr. Emery, if one is to judge from the attendance at the dances being held semi-weekly. Saturday evening another large crowd were present to enjoy the tripping of the light fantastic toe to the strains of Drake's orchestra from Elizabeth.

Charles Meyers, while out on his wheel Friday evening, was thrown by Mr. O'Melia's large dog which ran out from behind the wagon he was following. Mr. Myers was badly shaken up and it will be several days before he can ride his wheel again.

There is some talk of arranging a bicycle race between Arthur Chapin, of this place, and Charles Dodd, of Elizabeth. As both are speedy riders a fine race would be assured if it can be arranged.

The threatening weather of yesterday failed to keep a great many of the wheelman at home, consequently the heavy showers of the early afternoon found a number of them stalled in town.

George Ogden, who recently opened a bicycle repair shop on Westfield avenue, is kept busy attending to the many wants of the riders of the silent steeds in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith and family, of Lincoln, were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark.

Mrs. Lee, of Port Richmond, who has been spending two weeks with her sister Mrs. Billings, of Bartle avenue, has returned home.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the New Market Baptist church, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church yesterday morning and evening.

Miss Janet Cady, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Schick for a short time, returned to her home in Trenton Saturday.

Miss Mary Westcott, has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives and friends in Waltham and Boston, Mass.

Arthur Haskard is enjoying a short vacation which he will spend with his brother in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emery are visiting Mr. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Emery.

Mrs. George Stiliger has been entertaining her consin from Minnesota for a week.

Dr. and Mrs. James H. Parks have been entertaining friends from Brooklyn.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 17—W. S. Webb, while playing baseball on the Broad street grounds Saturday afternoon, was run into by a base runner and knocked down. When he was picked up it was found that one side of his collar bone was broken and the other dislocated. A doctor was called and he set the broken bones and young Webb is now doing as nicely as can be expected.

The Board of Education will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Prospect street school building when it is expected something will be done for hurrying along the plans for the furnishing of additional school facilities for the town.

The Cranford Athletic Club was defeated by the South Orange Field Club baseball team on the Cranford grounds Saturday afternoon by a score of 16 to 15. The game was of the rankest kind, but a large attendance saw it to the end.

—Patrick Donnelly, of West Seventh street, who was discharged from the hospital a few days ago, where he was treated for an injury to his knee, is still confined to his home not having fully recovered the use of his knee.

THE CROSBY & HILL UNITED STORES.
Plainfield, N. J.
Wilmington, Del.
Morristown, N. J.
Perth Amboy, N. J.

The Sole Aim And Object

of this sale is to reduce stock. To reduce stock quickly means price reductions, big price reductions. We have made these reductions, made them honestly, made them intelligently, made them with the single purpose of making this sale go down in history as a merchandising event of the utmost importance. We want to throng this store with satisfied buyers during the entire period of the sale. We want our public to feel that this is the supreme selling effort of a most successful season. Printed promises prove nothing. We ask you to fit each item to what we say about it; you will need no further proof of our earnestness in this matter.

A Clean Up in Silks.

No such silk offerings have been made hereabouts for many a long day. Prices cut so clean that you will be sure to quickly secure the bargains.

25c—Figured wash silks in good styles and patterns, reduced from 39c.
33c—Printed Liberty satins, reduced from 39c.
39c—Printed India silks, 33 inches wide, black and navy blue grounds, with neat white printing, reduced from 50c.

Wool and Cotton Dress Goods.

In no section of the store will the price reductions be more marked. It matters not how staple the lines may be, they will without reserve be sacrificed. A grand time to supply your dress goods needs at little cost.

29c—Black all wool henriettas, 45 in wide, reduced from 45c
25c—Black wool grenadines, 38 in wide, reduced from 39c.
12½c—Satin stripe, wool challies, reduced from 25c.

6c—Printed Scotch dimity, reduced from 9c.
5c—Printed pique in a great variety of new patterns, reduced from 9c.

Silk Waists, Outing Skirts.

Rather have the money than the goods. You would rather have the goods at these prices. It's right in the very heart of the wearing season. You'll choose with satisfaction, but you must choose quickly.

25c—Percale waists in a variety of patterns, reduced from 50c
75c—Percale and Madras waists, all choice new shapes and patterns, reduced from 1.00.
1.50—White pique and dimity waists, reduced from 2.00.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Hier wurden von dem zuständigen Gerichtshof Redakteur Beyer von der hiesigen „Arbeiterzeitung" und Redakteur Jacobey vom Berliner „Vorwärts" zu je zwei Monaten, und der Steinhauer Lienike zu einem Monat Gefängniß verurtheilt. Die Genannten waren schuldig befunden worden, bei Besprechung des bekannten Löbtauer Prozesses die Redakteure des sächsischen „Amtsblattes" beleidigt zu haben.—Die hier abgehaltene Tagung des deutschen Gastwirthsverbandes, der an 21,000 Mitglieder zählt, war von einigen hundert Bevollmächtigten der einzelnen Gastwirthsvereine besucht.

Großenhain. Ein religiös wahnsinniges Brüderpaar, Wagner, ermordete im Dorfe Medingen den Landgendarm Schindler und verletzte einen Schutzmann und einen Krankenwärter schwer.

Leipzig. Der in städtischem Dienst stehende Sportelkassier Max Haase erschien neulich früh gegen 6 Uhr in seinem Bureau, schloß den Geldschrank auf, raffte alles Erreichbare—etwa 15,000 Mark—in ein Taschentuch zusammen und brannte damit durch. Unbemerkt hatte ihn eine beim Reinmachen beschäftigte Frau beobachtet, welche alsbald Mittheilung machte, so daß die Verfolgung rasch begann. Haase war nach Meuselwitz im Altenburgischen gefahren, von dort aus telegraphirte er an einen Bekannten, daß er ihn Nachmittags auf dem Bayerischen Bahnhof in—Leipzig erwarten solle. Das geschah denn auch; natürlich waren auch Kriminalbeamte zur Stelle, als Haase, das Taschentuch hochhaltend, aus dem Koupe stieg. Haase hatte in den letzten Tagen übermäßig getrunken, und man glaubt, daß er im Delirium gehandelt hat.

Markneukirchen. Der seit Kurzem wegen bedeutender Unterschlagungen im Amt flüchtig gewordene Bahnhofsinspektor Ulbricht ist in der Umgegend verhaftet worden.

Thüringische Staaten.

Sonneberg. Der fränkische Sängerbund, der die drei fränkischen Kreise und theilweise auch die Oberpfalz und Thüringen umfaßt, hielt hier unter dem Vorsitz seines ersten Präsidenten, des königlichen Justizrathes Beckh (Nürnberg), seine diesjährige Bundesversammlung ab.

Weimar. Neulich Nachts brannte das Schlossereigebäude der Waggonfabrik Weimar, Aktiengesellschaft, nieder. Die Schlosserei wird sofort in einen der neu erbauten großen Montagesäle verlegt, wodurch der Betrieb dieses Zweiges nur kurze Zeit gestört ist. Der sonstige Betrieb wird von dem Unfall nicht betroffen. Gebäude und Inhalt sind durch die Versicherung voll gedeckt.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Auf Hans von Bülows Grabe auf dem Ahlsdorfer Friedhofe wurde, verschönt durch eine musikalische Feier und eine inhaltreiche Ansprache des Vorsitzenden des Bülow-Denkmal-Komites, des Bürgerschaftspräsidenten Hinrichsen, das aus den Sammlungen des Komites errichtete Bülow-Denkmal enthüllt. Das ursprünglich wohl für einen Platz in der Stadt geplante Denkmal mußte in Folge der nicht eben reich fließenden Spenden (die letzte Liste, die veröffentlicht ward, ergab nur etwa 15,000 Mark) kleiner und als Grabmonument ausgeführt werden.

Bremen. Der Norddeutsche Lloyd hat Auftrag für den Bau eines Passagier- und Frachtdampfers von 10,000 Tonnen gegeben, welcher für die Linie Bremen-New York bestimmt ist. Das Fahrzeug wird auf der Schiffswerfte Tecklenberg in Geestemünde gebaut werden. Für die ostasiatische Linie des Lloyd sind zwei Dampfer von je 5000 Tonnen bestellt worden; dieselben werden von der Furneß Company in West Hartlepool in der englischen Grafschaft Durham erbaut werden.—Ein heftiger Brand in der Jutespinnerei und -Weberei zerstörte das gesammte Garnlager; die Maschinen wurden gerettet, und deshalb wird der Betrieb nicht gestört.

Lübeck. Die Pferde eines Lastwagens gingen in der Dankwartsgrube durch. Der Kutscher wurde vom Bock geschleudert, kam aber sonst glücklich davon. Ein Tischler Schacht sprang den Pferden, um weiteres Unglück abzuwenden, muthig in die Zügel. Der Bedauernswerthe kam zu Fall, erlitt einen Beinbruch und schwere innere Verletzungen.

Oldenburg.

Atens. Der hier kürzlich verstorbene Kaufmann Wilhelm Müller hat sein gesammtes hinterlassenes Vermögen der Gemeinde Atens vermacht.

Elsfleth. Beim Baden im hiesigen Hafen ertrunken ist der Gehilfe des Barbiers Barkowsky. Derselbe wollte den Hafen durchschwimmen und versank plötzlich vor den Augen Mitbadender in den Fluthen.

Fedderwardersiel. Der Fischerverein „Nordstrand" veranstaltet alljährlich für Fischerboote ein Wettfahren. In diesem Jahre errang der Fischer Lahrmann den ersten Preis. Er legte die Strecke von 3000 Meter hin und zurück in 58½ Minuten zurück.

YOUNG WOMAN BLACKSMITH

Works at the Forge to Complete Her Course In Marine Architecture.

By Elizabeth Lyon.

Women blacksmiths are not unknown in the world, but it is extremely uncommon to find a young lady of education and refinement toiling industriously day after day at the anvil and forge.

This is what Miss Lydia Gould Weld does, and the shop where she works is connected with the Masachusetts Institute of Technology, where she is studying to be a naval architect, a field of activity in which the new woman has not hitherto entered. The course in marine architecture requires a practical knowledge of blacksmithing as well as other branches of mechanics, and Miss Weld was not in the slightest degree dismayed when assigned to duty in the smithy.

The working hours in the shop are from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and the work is quite as exacting and arduous as in any blacksmith shop. On the first day of her apprenticeship Miss Weld appeared promptly on time and began her work at the forge with spirit and vigor. The superintendent handed her a long leather apron, and, rolling up her sleeve above the elbow, she displayed a shapely and muscular arm. She says she acquired the muscle playing golf and declares that blacksmithing is no harder than golf playing.

Miss Weld took to the work with surprising aptness and declares that she thoroughly enjoys it, and should necessity ever require she would willingly earn her living at the anvil. As with all apprentices, Miss Weld was first instructed in the art of building the fire of the forge. In this she showed more adeptness than the young men, possibly because it is somewhat of a domestic operation. Then with equal tact she learned the mysteries of cherry red, bright red and welding heats and how to keep the fire compact so that the heat will be distributed evenly to the iron. As this is half the battle in the science of welding, the young woman got along famously, her fires being regarded as the best in the shop.

Then came the art of fashioning from the redhot iron the bolts, staples, hooks, hinges and all sorts of devices that come from Vulcan's workshop. In this work she has proved fully as expert as the young men and wields the hammer with quite as much force and skill as any of them.

She apparently does not mind the blisters and bruises from handling the hammers and rough iron nor the burns that come from the flying sparks, but without cries or gloves she goes on bravely hammering away.

Miss Weld is a Bostonian and a graduate of a fashionable female seminary at Bryn Mawr. She is an attractive girl of medium height, with bright blue eyes, brown hair and a merry laugh, which does not match at all with the popular idea of the erudite woman. Her favorite study is mathematics, in which she is remarkably proficient.

She began her studies at the Institute of Technology last year, having taken the course in drafting, her work in this line receiving especial praise.

Miss Weld made her choice of the profession of marine architecture a few years ago, when a yachting party, of which she was one, put into Bristol, R. I., to repair a broken shaft. In looking over the shops and yards of the Herreshoffs, while the work was being done, the desire to be master of that craft took possession of her and grew to a serious purpose, in which she was encouraged by her family and friends. To this end she is studiously devoting her energies, thoroughly acquainting herself not only with the theory of shipbuilding, but seeking to master the mechanical details.

Realizing that to become a successful marine architect she must know all about machinery and the principle of its construction and operation, she has begun in a practical way in the blacksmith shop, from which she will soon pass to the machine shop and acquire the practical knowledge of hydraulic and electrical mechanics which are essential to success in her chosen profession.

Household Talks

A FEW POINTS.

Some Advice For the Tidy Housekeeper to Follow.

After the dust has been beaten out carpets may be brightened by scattering upon them cornmeal mixed with salt and then sweeping it off. Mix salt and meal in equal proportions. Carpets should be thoroughly beaten on the wrong side first and then on the right side, after which spots may be removed by the use of ox gall or ammonia and water. Kerosene stains in carpets may be removed by sprinkling buckwheat flour over the spot. If one sprinkling is not enough, repeat. To preserve brooms dip them for a minute or two in a kettle of boiling suds once a week, and they will last much longer, making them tough and pliable. A carpet lasts much longer swept with a broom cared for in this manner.

Two pounds of alum dissolved in a gallon of boiling water, applied with a brush while nearly boiling hot to every joint and crevice in closets, bedsteads, pantry shelves, etc., will completely destroy all house insects, such as red and black ants, cockroaches, spiders and cinchbugs. If in whitewashing a ceiling plenty of alum is added to whitewash, it will keep off insects. Paint, mortar and whitewash may be taken off of windows with sharp, hot vinegar; if fresh, cold vinegar will do.

To free the pantry and closets from insects, try the following: Dissolve two pounds of alum in four quarts of hot water. Let it remain until alum is dissolved. With a brush apply boiling hot to joints and crevices in closets, on shelves, etc. Where croton bugs intrude, brush all cracks in floors. Keep boiling hot while using.

Burnt Leather Designs.

Society girls are taking up the burnt leather fad. They are making all sorts of things for their friends and themselves out of soft skins and fancy woods.

BURNT LEATHER WORK.

A simple electrical needle does the work, but the designs are many of them intricate and beautiful.

At a recent electrical exhibition were some exquisite samples of this art. Among them were a bodice, cuffs, collar and girdle to match of sheepskin; a head of Rembrandt, a dainty panel of a dancing-girl, burnt on white hollywood, and a life-sized lion, realistic and startling.

Moths and Flies.

The only way to baffle moths and buffalo bugs is to leave them nothing to eat. But naptha is death if it comes in contact with them. This must be carefully used. The rooms must be well ventilated after it has been sprinkled from the can. Use liberally.

To rid the house of flies have a window garden of geraniums and calceolarias, and the flies will not trouble you.

The use of plenty of salt is a good preventive for moths.

Here is a preventive for moths which is also a good sachet. Take one ounce of tonquin beans, carraway seed, cloves, mace and cinnamon, well ground; add six ounces of florentine orris root; mix well and put in bags among your clothes.

Pennyroyal is the best safeguard against moths.

Turpentine put very plentifully about the edge of carpets will keep away moths.

Daily Hints For the Table.

A dainty and refreshing dessert is made as follows: Put a quart of rich cream in a large bowl; stir a pound of powdered sugar through it, flavor it very slightly with extract of vanila, and with a cream whip beat it to a stiff froth; put it in a freezer and freeze it for ice cream; when frozen put a layer of it in the bottom of a scalloped pyramid mould, smooth it and cover with a layer of fine large raspberries; repeat this process until the mould is filled; then cover it and pack it in chipped ice. Sprinkle rock salt over about every third layer of ice; pack tight, cover over with a piece of old carpet or flannel cloth and stand in a cool place; when ready to serve lift the mould from the ice; let it stand in a warm place about five minutes, then take off the cover and turn the confection into a glass dish; ornament the top with a panachee of white and raspberry-colored whipped cream.

Sculptured Glass.

Sculptured glass is a new and charming fad. It is a revival of a very ancient art once practised by the Italians. The pieces of crystal, plates, vases, etc., are made of a layer of opal glass superimposed on a layer of dark plum-colored glass, and the design is cut out of the opal glass, the artist attaining the necessary light and shade, as well as the perspective, by the depth to which he cuts through the layers of crystal. The effect is rich and suggestive of the pate-sur-pate work of Solon.

SIGHED FOR GUM.

How the American Soldiers Suffered in Santiago.

"There has been a great deal written about the troubles our army had in Cuba in consequence of the scarcity of tobacco," remarked an officer of the regular army, "and every word of it was true, but I have not seen anything about the difficulties the men who used chewing gum had when their supply ran out. It is wonderful how many soldiers chew gum. The popular opinion is that chewing gum is used only by girls and boys and occasionally by a few women folks. I had that opinion myself until after I arrived in Cuba, but soon ascertained that I was seriously mistaken.

"Many tobacco chewers resort to gum as a substitute for tobacco and the habit grows on them so that they look for it, especially after meals, as the tobacco chewer hankers after his weed. The theory is that it aids digestion. But whether that is so or not, I was in a position to find out how many there were who use chewing gum, for being in the commissary department such demands came to us, and I assure you they were numerous and pressing.

"I am a tobacco chewer myself, and while I do not smoke much, I find great comfort from an occasional cigar and then hit the pipe also. The absence of tobacco from a man who is accustomed to use it in any form is a great deprivation. But though we ran out now and then, it was only for a few days that we were actually out of it entirely, on account of the non-arrival of the supply we had ordered.

"We had not ordered any chewing gum, however, and were unable to furnish it, numerous as were the applications for it. The kind of men who asked for chewing gum were, as a rule, the most intelligent of the volunteers. The regulars had not been able to advance beyond tobacco and seldom asked for it, even when tobacco was rather scarce.

"The chewing gum man makes no defense for the habit. He says he acknowledges he has the habit and has no desire to break it off; that he thinks it more of a benefit than a disadvantage and that if a man must chew something it is better that he should chew gum than tobacco. It was many years before the government regarded tobacco as a necessary in connection with the ration for the soldier or sailor, and while arrangements were made to issue it to those who desire it it is issued at the expense of the man who receives it, who is required to pay cash on delivery, though an account is kept with officers. The government charges the recipient the cost of it, which includes in many instances the cost of its transportation; so that, while Uncle Sam in a measure furnishes tobacco, it is done at the expense of the man who uses it.

"If a chewing gum attachment is made to the ration it will be used in the same way, the chewing gum man paying the bill. The commissary department furnishes tobacco as an accommodation only, and does not bond itself to have a supply on hand under all circumstances, though practically it is always in stock."

Spain's Young Farragut.

When, in February last, the now wrecked and stranded but then powerful Spanish cruiser Vizcaya paid a visit to New York, the naval authorities took the most careful precautions to insure her safety. The Maine, it will be remembered, had been blown up only a few days before her arrival. The commander of the Vizcaya, Capt. Eulate, protested against these precautions, declaring in the strongest terms that he was willing to trust his ship unguarded in this harbor. To the reporters who visited him on the ship he recalled the many years of peace and amity that had existed between the two nations, and then, struck by inspiration, he ordered to the quarter-deck a young midshipman; and, pointing to him, asked the reporters how two nations could ever be other than friends when each had raised a Farragut. One was already immortalized, he said; the other had yet to show by deeds of valor that the real Farragut blood was in him.

Capt. Eulate, becoming enthusiastic as the picturesqueness of the situation developed, went on to explain that his young midshipman was Sanchez Farragut, who was born in Minorca, off the coast of Spain, whence the great American Admiral's progenitors had come. He had no doubt that this young man was of the real Farragut stock. The Vizcaya sailed away and in the excitement of the war that followed Mr. Midshipman Farragut was all but forgotten. Following the destruction of Admiral Cervera's squadron and the capture of so many prisoners, the few who remembered the Farragut incident looked in vain for a line about the fate of young Farragut. Weeks passed and the great naval battle bade fair to pass into history without the mystery being solved, until one who remembered the incident on the deck of the Vizcaya in New York harbor wrote an inquiry to Admiral Cervera at the Naval Academy of Annapolis.

The incident doubtless interested the admiral, for he took pains to make inquiries. The result was that he replied, through the medium of Lieut. Commander E. K. Moore, assistant to the superintendent of the naval academy, that upon the arrival of the Vizcaya at Havana, to which port the warship went after leaving New York, young Farragut was taken ill. Later he was sent to the naval hospital at Havana, and the Vizcaya sailed for the Cape Verde Islands to join Admiral Cervera's squadron and Farragut was left behind. To the best of the admiral's knowledge and belief Lieut. Moore wrote, Farragut was sent back to Spain. At all events, he did not rejoin his ship, and consequently was not in the battle of Santiago.—New York Sun.

How the Boys Returned the Joke

A funny man at Hutchinson, Kan., sent some of the boys of the Twenty-first Kansas Regiment a box containing a lot of trash, while they were in Camp at the Praesidio in Frisco just before leaving for Manila. This was the Hutchinson man's idea of a joke. But the boys got back at him. A soldier can send a letter, the postage to be paid by the receiver. Each day for several weeks the funny fellow received a grist of letters from the soldiers, thanking him for the box and promising that all the boys would write again next day, and he had to put up all the postage.

TOMCAT AGAINST COYOTE.

How an Undaunted Feline Won a Battle for His Life.

A Boise man passing over the sagebrush plains near Meridian was treated to an exhibition that was as strange as it was interesting. It was a battle between a cat and a coyote.

Plainly the night's prowling over the prarie had netted the coyote nothing in the way of a good square feed. When first seen he was steadily gliding about, his nose to the ground, searching, as they always are, for something to appease his insatiable appetite. He was surveying the surroundings from a slight knoll, when there appeared on the scene a great tomcat—a burly fellow, who also seemed on a quest for breakfast, some toothsome morsel, as a cottontail or a young grouse.

When tom hove in sight the coyote smiled a satisfied smile. Tom had not at first seen the coyote; in fact was not aware that a foe was near until the first charge, when the coyote sprang at him. But, quick as a flash, he parried the first thrust and then squared for action.

The coyote plunged into the battle, intent on bearing down his antagonist with brute force alone, and this probably saved the day for Tom. This time Tom got in a left swinging blow on the coyote's jaw, letting first blood; then jabbed with his right, bringing the coyote to a stand. The coyote went to his corner under a sagebush, bleeding.

In the second round the coyote sprang into the fight much as in the first and with about the same result to him. The cat uppercut him as he rushed in, then, swinging, mauled him with left and right until the air was full of brown-gray hair. The round was furious throughout, with honors clearly for Tom.

The coyote might have been counted out if the gophers that watched the fight had been counting. He deliberated long before coming in for the third round, but his belly ruled his mind, and to the scratch he came slowly this time.

Tom was ready, and rushed the fight. He crowded the coyote and backed him over the knoll, planting a left or right whenever or wherever he pleased.

Finally, after much sparring, Tom got in the deadly knockout blow. The fight was his but he took no mean advantage. When the coyote was down he stood over him, giving him more than the limit of time for him to come up, but canis latranis had enough.

He slunk away to his sagebush, and felis domeseica, his back still up, with his head over his shoulder to see that he was not made the victim of treachery, sidled off to continue his hunt for a nice young cottontail.

Hard Luck.

"Talk about hard-luck stories," said a reformed Western gambler, "I think I can discount anything you ever heard in that line. It was in the early days of Leadvile, just about this time of year, and I tell you it does get cold up in the hills along about now.

"Well, I was broke, didn't have a copper, and had strolled into a gambling house to get a warm-up. There were several games going on, and when I had thawed out a little, I walked over to the faro layout, where I went broke the night before. As I said, it was a very cold night, and, feeling a great draught at my feet, I happened to glance down at the floor to see where it came from, and there by the side of my right foot was lying what I thought to be a quarter.

"I had been watching the game closely, making imaginary plays. I'll play 25 cents open on the ace,' I said to the dealer, and in a moment more it won.

"The dealer handed me two white chips. I played again, and again won, and before the end of the deal I had a nice stack of chips. It seemed to me I couldn't lose a deal, and in half an hour I had a couple of hundred dollars' worth of chips before me.

"I concluded to cash in, and stacked my chips, pushing them toward the dealer. He counted them, and looking up at me, said: 'where's that quarter you made your first bet on?' I had forgotten all about it. I looked on the floor; the quarter was gone. Then I lit a match, and saw that what I supposed to be a quarter was simply a wet spot. It was originally a bit of ice, but the heat from my boot melted it. Of course, the dealer promptly refused to cash the chips."

Soaring Birds.

Very few people realize at what tremendous heights birds sometimes traverse the air. Of course, most of the common British songsters, the thrushes and warblers, do not as a rule rise higher than the tree-tops except when migrating; then they fly at an average height of 200 feet or 300 feet—higher or lower, according to the prevailing currents. Herons and wild ducks, geese and swans when travelling long distances fly at greater heights, often as much as 2,000 feet. But it is the hawk, and more particularly the vulture tribe, that constantly wing the air at far greater limits than these. The common buzzard spies for carrion suspended a mile above the earth, and the great condor of the Andes has been watched through a powerful telescope floating at the amazing height of 27,000 feet, over five miles, above the sea level.

Paid for Doing Good Work.

The Swedes have a custom which might profitably be copied by other nations. In the mines of that country the workmen have their tools sharpened by a special blacksmith and he is paid, not by the number of tools sharpened, but by the number of yards bored by the miners whose implements he has sharpened during the month. Thus, when the smith is skilful and does his best he makes more money than he does when his work is not well done and there is a decided gain all around.

She Had Not Been Disappointed.

"Hetty, you and that young man were up entirely too late last night."

"We sat up to see the meteors, mama."

"There were no meteors to be seen, child. The sky was densely overcast with clouds the whole night."

"Was it? Why,--I--I--."

WHAT MAKES A GENTLEMAN.

The Young Man Should Be Guided By His Own Best Instincts.

"Common sense rules in dress and manners, the same as in any phase of our lives; this our young men should learn and understand," writes Edward Bok of "What Makes a Gentleman," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "A man's manners are not exterior; they emanate from within, from himself. Experience and observation are the only teachers he can seek and use. Etiquette books are useless to him. A young man's progress and favor in the eyes of others does not depend upon his being ostentatiously 'correct' in manner, movement and speech. His strongest and most lasting hold upon the respect and confidence of people comes from something deeper. He must not be boorish, nor slovenly, heeding the feelings of others. It is his duty to carry himself well according to his best instincts, and not by rule as laid down in etiquette books. So with a young man's dress. At twenty we do not expect our young men to devote so much time to their clothes that they shall be correctly dressed upon every occasion. Such useless knowledge is, at that time of life, acquired at the expense of far more important matters. The taste for good dressing, and its knowledge, so far as it is necessary, comes to all of us as we progress. The right sort of a young man dresses in the neatest and best manner he can, and as well as his income permits. That is always good dressing. To over-dress one's station in the world is always poor taste and invariably makes a bad impression. I never yet saw a young man who either hired or borrowed an evening suit for a special occasion who did not loudly proclaim the self-evident fact. When a young man wears clothes beyond his means he invariably shows it, and he never fails to make a fool of himself. This rule is invariable. It is not what a man wears, but how he wears it, that tells the story."

A Cross With One Cut.

A Feathered Fire Alarm.

The reasoning faculty is present to a remarkable degree in the crow. A neighbor in Pennsylvania had a tame crow that demonstrated this most conclusively.

The neighbor had three children, and one evening their mother went to a neighbor's house, locking her children and the crow in. That crow always stayed up until the children were put to bed, and this evening, while the children were romping with him, the kerosene lamp was knocked off the table. The spilled oil took fire, and soon the house was in a fair way to be burned down with all in it, and but for the crow it would have been. The crow, as soon as the flames spread, flew up the chimney, and perching on the roof, set up such a yelling as only a crow can give when so disposed. The unusual noise was heard by the neighbors, and they went out to see what was the occasion of it. Flames were then bursting from the windows, but the crow kept his place on the roof, yelling furiously. The children were rescued just in time, they having run into the kitchen, where they were found huddled together. But for the timely warning given by the crow, though, they would have perished in the flames, as the fire was so far advanced that the house was soon consumed.

The Millionaire and His Clerk.

Girard, the infidel millionaire of Philadelphia, one Saturday ordered all his clerks to come on the morrow to his wharf and unload a newly arrived ship. One young man replied, quietly: "Mr. Girard, I can't work on Sunday."

"You know our rules?"

"Yes, I know. I have a mother to support, but I can't work on Sundays."

"Well, step up to the desk and the cashier will settle with you."

For three weeks the young man could find no work, but one day a banker came to Girard to ask if he could recommend a man for cashier in a new bank. This discharged young man was at once named as a suitable person.

"But," said the banker, "you dismissed him."

"Yes, because he would not work on Sundays. A man who would lose his place for conscience's sake would make a trustworthy cashier."

And he was appointed.

Cow Music.

A little four-year-old was taken on a visit to grandmamma in the country. There, for the first time, says the Watchman, he had a near view of a cow. He would stand and look on while the man milked, and ask all manner of questions. In this way he learned that the long crooked branches on the cow's head were called horns. Now the little fellow knew of only one kind of horn, and a few days after obtaining his information, hearing a strange kind of bellowing noise in the yard, he ran out to ascertain its cause. In a few minutes he returned, with wonder and delight depicted on his countenance, exclaiming: "Mamma, mamma! Oh, do come out here! The cow's blowing her horns!"

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held Thursday, July 6th, 1899, at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

Roll-call showed all members present—18.

The minutes of the previous meeting, were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS ETC.

From James W. Fink, County Road Inspector, as follows:

Westfield, July 5, 1899.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, N. J.

Gentlemen—The undersigned would respectfully submit to your Hon. body the following report of repairs on county roads:

On Westfield or North avenue 23,645 lineal feet of road have been repaired with 1½ inch stone; 10,447 lineal feet of road top dressed with fine stone; 53,903 lineal feet of gutters cleaned.

On South avenue and through Westfield on the county road 15,303 lineal feet of road have been top dressed with fine stone.

On Central avenue 5,455 lineal feet of road have been repaired with 1½ inch stone; 3,835 feet top dressed with fine stone; 14,310 feet of gutters cleaned, making a total of 5½ miles of 1½ inch; 5¾ miles top dressed with fine stone; 12¾ miles of gutters cleaned. The total cost of this work is $10,864 27.

The work of repairing county roads is now in progress on St. George's avenue.

(Signed)
Very respectfully submitted,
James W. Fink,
Inspector.

On motion of Freeholder Farrell, received and placed on file.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Wahl:

"Resolved," That a committee of five (5) be appointed to build an iron beam, brick arch bridge on Central avenue in the Borough of New Providence, not exceeding in cost $450.00.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Wahl, Robison, Cady, Swain and Scudder.

By Freeholder Farrell:

"Resolved, That the Committee on County Roads be directed to call upon the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad Co. to pay to the County Collector such sum of money as may in their opinion be required to pay the expenses of widening Westfield and North avenues from Orchard street in the city of Elizabeth, to the Cranford township line.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Adams:

"Resolved, That the committee appointed to repair the bridge over the Rahway river at Vreeland's mill at Cranford be authorized to expend a sum not exceeding $1,600, to build a new plate girder steel bridge with railings and plank flooring at the above mentioned place, the committee being of the unanimous opinion that a new bridge is necessary."

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Adams:

"Resolved, That the committee on bridge on South Avenue at Cranford be authorized to expend a sum not exceeding $900 for the building of a new iron beam and brick arch bridge complete with a railing, on said South Avenue near Garwood."

Freeholder Roll moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Swain:

"Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to visit Summit and report upon the advisability of building a new bridge over Avenue, near the estate of John Dish, the present bridge being too small to carry off the water after a heavy rain."

On motion of Freeholder Farrell the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Swain, Cady and Wahl.

The Board on motion, took a recess of five minutes for the preparation of bills.

Roll call after recess showed all members present—18.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To Sophia J. Lawson, Catherine L. Lawson, Florence B. Lawson and Clinton F. Lawson:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of date hereof, in the cause wherein Estella A. Lawson, is complainant and you are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the Seventh day of August, next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed for partition of certain lands in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, of which Samuel Q. Lawson died seized, and you Sophia J. Lawson, are made defendant because you claim to have a right of dower in said lands, and you, Catherine L. Lawson, Florence B. Lawson and Clinton F. Lawson, are made defendants because you are the children of Samuel Q. Lawson deceased, and are therefore tenants in common therein.

THE SUNRISE WINDOW.

When morning taps at the window,
She wakens an eager throng,
That rushes pell-mell to the casement,
To join in her golden song;
To gaze on the path through the meadow,
That leads from the gates of day,
Where the sunrise land lies over
The mountains and far away.

Oh! sweet is the land of sunrise,
With ledges of treasure rare!
The joys of the days beginning,
And the rainbow's ends are there.

And eager our hearts to gather
That marvellous store untold,
When morning taps at the window,
Singing her song of gold.
When morning sings at the window,
And wakens our countless band,
We rush to the highest casement,
For a look into sunrise land.
And a part of her priceless splendor
Perhaps we may hope to win,
If we open our sunrise window
And let sweet morning in.

HUMAN NATURE LIKES PETS.

This Is Especially True of Human Nature That Goes Into Camp.

They call them mascots in the language of the camp. The word is the cover for the expression of the soldiers' affections. The brawny Missourian, carrying about in the hollow of his arm a half-grown rabbit and occasionally touching it with a caress so delicate that the shy creature forgets to shrink, hasn't any thought of luck to come from the possession. He has found something which affords a vent for the sympathetic and emotional of his nature. You can't take a young American volunteer away from home and social surroundings and make of him in a week a machine to fight and kill. It is human nature for the regiment to have pets, and the fresher from home the command the more in number and extravagant in character the pets, by misn

SUNDAY'S BALL GAMES.

At Weehawken: St. Louis, 10; New York 2.

The Clinton Avenue athletic team and the Klondike nine came together Saturday afternoon on the old golf grounds. The Klondikes have been heretofore invincible, but they met their Waterloo by a score of 20 to 10. McHugh and Apgar was the battery for the victorious team.

GOLF.

On Saturday last there were special features at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds, but a number of private matches were played among the few members who have not gone away for the summer. The absence of so many members makes it exceedingly quiet about the clubhouse and grounds. It affords an excellent opportunity, however, for novices to learn the game and many are taking advantage of it. There were a goodly number of people at the clubhouse on Saturday, and while there were no features the many natural advantages were enjoyed, and in the evening a number remained for dinner.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The hat manufacturers of Orange Valley report an unusually large rush for the fall trade.

Over 600 signatures have been secured to a petition for a free delivery system in West Orange.

The young man drowned in the Hackensack river Friday was Charles Kowosh. He was employed in Walsh's brick yard and boasted that he could swim across the river. He sank in midstream.

The people of Englewood are again talking up the division of Bergen county which, if carried to a successful issue, would make Englewood the county seat. The Hackensack river would be the dividing line.

The Board of Trustees of the Orange Free Library has decided to purchase ninety feet of land adjoining the present building as a site for the Memorial Library which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whipple Stickler will build in honor of their son, the late Dr. Joseph William Stickler.

The wages of the employes of the Consolidated Fruit Jar Works have been reduced. The employes got no warning and did not know their pay had been reduced until they opened their envelopes and found they were 10 per cent short. The question of striking was debated by them today. There are about 300 employes.

The midnight car from Milltown for New Brunswick on the Brunswick Traction Company's line was derailed near Milltown by the bursting of a wheel yesterday. Passengers were shaken up. Miss Dora Becker, eighteen years old, of No. 84 John street, was thrown out of the car and her shoulder was dislocated. It is feared she is injured internally. Charles Hopkins, the motorman, stuck to the brake and prevented a more serious accident, keeping the car from going over the high embankment.

DRUNK SINCE THE FOURTH.

Found By the Wayside Unable to Navigate in an Orderly Manner.

Sheridan Jones, a colored individual, celebrated the Fourth of July with a grand and glorious jag. He has been drunk ever since, so the police say. Until this morning he managed to keep out of the way of the police.

This morning Roundsman Frederickson found him on Somerset street, near the city line, unable to navigate. He was locked up and will be tried as soon as he recovers sufficiently.

Memorial Monument to Be Erected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, July 17—A handsome memorial fountain will shortly be erected here somewhere in the neighborhood of the railway station. The site has not as yet been definitely decided on. The monument has been purchased with the surplus funds subscribed for the monument erected two years ago to the memory of Dr. J. Daly, Rahway's late Mayor.

JERSEY BANKS SATISFIED

NO ORGANIZED OPPOSITION TO CHECK-TAXING RULE.

The Belief Expressed By Many That the Practice Will Soon Be Adopted in Other Cities—Views of Bankers.

Ever since the New York Clearing House adopted the rule of charging a small percentage upon the collection of out-of-town checks, says the New York Times, there has been more or less said and done about the combination of banking institutions in other cities to do a clearance business on their own account for the purpose of drawing off some of the capital from the metropolis. The Philadelphia banks began the active soliciting of business that had formerly come to New York. They have succeeded, up to the present, in the two or more months in which the New York Clearance House rule has been in operation, in getting about $10,000,000 of collections from out-of-town banks, all of which formerly found its way to New York.

There was also some talk of forming a combination of the banks of New Jersey. It was learned Saturday night, from bankers of Jersey City and Paterson, that there is not much prospect of the success of the reported effort.

The report that the New Jersey banks contemplated this action grew out of a circular sent out by some of the bankers of the State protesting against the action of the New York Clearing House. This movement, it was said, was started by B. W. Spencer, president of the People's Bank and Trust Company, of Passaic. President Spencer and a great many other bankers of north New Jersey to a conference, which considered the action of the New York Clearing House, and sent a protest against charging for the collection of out-of-town checks. The protest had apparently no effect.

It was the expectation of many Jersey bankers that some more positive action would be taken in opposition to the new rule of the Clearing House in New York. The Jersey City banks, who are not, however, deeply interested in the matter, as that city, as well as Hoboken and Bayonne, is treated as part of the New York Clearing House system, received an intimation some weeks ago that such a combination was contemplated. This was the last of the matter, as far as can be learned.

The bankers of New Jersey now seem to be of the opinion that the rule is proving to be a good one. J. D, Carscallen, president, and R. S. Ross, cashier, of the Third National bank, of Jersey City, said yesterday that the policy would prove advantageous to New York, and could not possibly do any permanent injury. President W. Hogencamp, of the Second National Bank, of Jersey City, declared the policy so sound that the banks of Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities are seriously considering the adoption of the same rule.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Quick End of a Westfield Resident From Heart Failure Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 17—Sitting on the front porch of his residence on Elmer street yesterday about 4 o'clock Julius Scheele, one of the foremen at the C. & C. Works, threw up his hands and with the words, "What is this?" fell over dead. He had been talking to Jacob Daub, of New York, his brother-in-law, who was visiting him.

Dr. J. B. Harrison was called and pronounced the case that of heart failure. Mr. Scheele came from New York to Westfield about five years ago and had lived during that time on Elmer street where he died. He was 37 years of age and leaves a wife and three children. He was a member of Enterprise Lodge, I. O. O F., of New York, and carried insurance in the New York Life Insurance Company. The funeral services will be held this evening at the home, and interment will take place tomorrow morning at Cypress Hill cemetery, Brooklyn.

—The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tonight.

—Frank E. Vail has sold his elegant house and lot 248 East Ninth street, to to Clarence Varion, of East Fifth street, and Mr. Varion will take possession of the property August 1st.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store.

Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

GOOD FISHING OFF JERSEY.

Sea Bass in Great Schools, But Pound Nets Make Bluefish Scarce.

Fishing was good every day last week along the Jersey coast. Off Cape May the anglers have had excellent sport with sea bass. It has not been unusual for parties of two or three, with a good guide, to hook from fifty to a hundred big sea bass in three or four hours.

Weakfish have also been taken in the outside waters, but bluefish have been scarce, owing it is thought, to the big pound nets along Five and and Seven Mile Beacoes, which swallow up great schools of fish almost every day.

Local and visiting anglers are complaining greatly of these onslaughts on the food fishes by the pound nets, and they fear that outside fishing will sooner or later be almost destroyed if restrictions are not put on the seines.

VALENTINE TO FOREGO TRIAL.

Part of the Loss of the Middlesex County Bank Will Fall on Depositors.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswich, July 17—It is virtually decided that George M. Valentine, the defaulting cashier of the Middlesex County Bank, of Perth Amboy, will plead non vult and take his sentence, without trial, some time this week.

The exact plan to be carried out is not known yet, because it is necessary for Valentine's counsel, United States District Attorney J. Kearney Rice, of this city, and Prosecutor John S. Voorhees to come to an agreement.

Both Mr. Rice and Mr. Voorhees were at the seashore over Sunday with their families. It is understood that Mr. Voorhees will be willing to allow Valentine to plead to an allegation without waiting for the September Grand Jury to consider his case.

Increase in Tax Rate Expected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 17.—The Union County Board of Assessors will hold its annual meeting to fix the valuations and tax rate for the county today at the Court House. The session met at 10 o'clock and will last all day. It is expected the county rate will be several points higher for the coming year because of the numerous improvements contemplated during the year.

FRIENDS WITH MANKIND.

Animals in the Yellowstone Park Now Have No Fear of Man.

The slaughter of birds has almost entirely removed one of the delightful accompaniments of life in the rural east—the music of the feathered songsters. Apropos of this, it may be said that one of the most pleasant features of the drive through the Yellowstone National Park is the apparent intimacy between man and the animal and bird life in the park. Thanks to the wise and stringent regulations, no shooting is allowed within its boundaries.

"The result," says an English tourist, "is positively charming. Hundreds of little chipmunks, with their gaudy striped backs, scampered impudently about or peered at the passing coach from the roadside. The squirrel did not bolt for the nearest tree, but nodded a welcome. All bird life treated us likewise. Even the lordly eagle hovered near, and the wild turkey stalked unconcernedly through the rank grass. We were fortunate enough to see a fine specimen of the wolf tribe. He stood, a beautiful creature, and watched us out of sight, showing only curiosity, not fear. Another time we perceived a doe and fawn grazing by the road. Not until we were within a few feet did they seek the shelter of the woods, yet not to fly. They simply moved aside. Here at least mankind was regarded as a friend—one who could be trusted. The only animal who ran away was a brown bear. He turned tail at the sight of a coaching party, yet it was quite a common thing for bears to approach close to the hotels at evening to feed on the refuse thrown out. It was an after-dinner relaxation for the guests to watch them feeding. They munched and disputed the choicest morsels, for the most part indifferent to the company. Only when we became inquisitive and approaching too near did they retire; and these animals were perfectly free and unfettered in their movements. It may read like a fairy tale, but it is solid fact."

STORAGE BATTERIES FOR TROLLEY LINES.

Will be Utilized to Keep Voltage Even.

ON BOUND BROOK LINE.

NEW HEADQUARTERS BUILDING AT BOUND BROOK.

New York and Philadelphia Traction Company Will Establish Storage Batteries to Regulate Current for Bound Brook-Dunellen Line—Has Been Source of Trouble—New Building to Store Cars.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, July 18—The New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, in whose name the Bound Brook-Dunellen line of the Brunswick Traction Company is being run, is about to try an experiment which, it is hoped, will regulate and improve the power supply.

A substantial brick building has been erected on East Main street and is almost ready for occupancy. This will be the car house, waiting room and sub-power house of the New York and Philadelphia Company. There has been great trouble ever since the opening of the line to Dunellen in the irregularity of the voltage of the power. Sometimes it was too high, again it was not high enough.

The upper floor of the new building is to be devoted to storage batteries. The current that comes over the feed wire from the power house of Milltown, will be received. When the voltage is higher than needed, the current will be used to charge the batteries. When the voltage runs down, then the batteries will discharge the superflous current and bring the voltage up to the required amount.

The cars on the Bound Brook-Dunellen line are now stabled at night on the switch at Main street. The new building will have a switch inside, capable of holding three cars. The waiting rooms of the allied traction companies, now across the street, will be moved into the new quarters as soon as possible.

ORPHANS WHO ENTERTAIN.

A Clever Performance Given by the Colored Youngsters.

A small army of orphaned colored children were in possession of Washington Hall last evening and gave a very creditable concert. The concert was given by the Charleston Orphan Sensational Concert Company, composed of children from the Jenkins Orphan Asylum at Charleston, S. C.

There was an orchestra composed of the boys, that played very well. Then some of the members of the orchestra rendered solos on their chosen instruments. There were two quartettes that gave a rather novel kind of contest, seeing which could sing the better. Some of the small children went through drills and all the company united in plantation melodies and other songs.

The concert will be repeated this evening at Washington Hall, beginning at 9 o'clock. An open air concert by the band will be held at 8:30 o'clock. Reserved seats can be obtained from all the drug stores on West Front street near the hall.

HIS LAMP STONE COLD.

That is Why Willie Sweeney Was Ordered to Appear in City Court.

Willie Sweeney and Patrolman Myers had an interview last evening. The officer said that the light on Sweeney's wheel was out. Sweeney admitted the fact but claimed that he put it out dismounting. The officer investigated as to the temperature of the lamp and claimed that it was stone cold. He ordered Sweeney to appear in City Court this morning.

No report was made to City Judge Runyon about the arrest. The first he knew of it was when he was informed of the fact by the reporters. Then Sweeney came to see the Judge. As there wasn't any complaint recorded, the Judge did not see as he had anything to do with the case.

Patrolman Taken Ill

Patrolman Florence McCarthy was taken violently ill while patroling his beat on West Front street last evening. A physician was summoned and he was carried to his home. Nothing serious is expected.

Break Caused It.

The single blast of the Plainfield fire alarm whistle this morning at 9:15 o'clock was caused by a break in the line in the West End. The strong wind was responsible for the action.

BUGGY WHEEL CAME OFF

CAUSED A RUNAWAY WITH RATHER SERIOUS RESULTS.

Christopher Herlick and His Daughter Thrown Out by the Frantic Actions of the Horse While Frightened.

Christopher Herlick and daughter Kate, of Springdale, four miles from here in Somerset county, are suffering severely as the result of a severe runaway in which they were concerned Sunday. They were driving to Dunellen to visit friends when one of the front wheels on the buggy came off on the road leading from Springdale to Washington Valley. The front of the buggy dropped on the horse's heels, and the animal commenced to kick and plunge in a terrific manner.

Miss Herlick was thrown into the road and her scalp cut in a severe manner. Her father was not as fortunate, however, for he became entangled in the lines and was dragged for a considerable distance over the rough road with the horse going at breakneck speed. The clothing was almost torn completely off his body. His leg was cut, one of his arms badly sprained and his body generally bruised. He was picked up unconscious.

Dr. West, of Bound Brook, called. He found it necessary to take twenty stitches in Herlick's injured leg, as well as several stitches in his daughter's scalp. The horse was caught further down the road by John C. Cooper.

CRUISE OF THE RESERVES

STATE'S JACK TARS TO START ON THEIR OUTING TOMORROW.

The Prairie Will Take Two Battalions Away and Will Not Return Until July 27th—Good Time for the Boys.

Arrangements are being made by the officers of the Battalions of the East and West Naval Reserves of New Jersey for a week's cruise on board the auxiliary cruiser Prairie, which has been placed by the Navy Department at the disposal of the Naval Reserves of the different States. The cruise is scheduled to start tomorrow morning, when the Prairie will anchor off Fifteenth street, Hoboken, and the citizen tars will be taken aboard by a steam launch from the old sloop of war Portsmouth, the training ship of this Battalion of the East, which is moored in the basin at the foot of Fourth street, Hoboken.

The Prarie is in command of Commander Mackenzie, who has a skeleton crew, which does all hard work on board of the ship.

The Naval Reserves will be assigned to different stations as seamen, and in the engine rooms, but will not be compelled to coal ship and do other unpleasant duties falling to the lot of the regular crew.

The Prairie belonged to the Morgan Line before the Spanish War, and has since been fitted out with accommodations for officers and men in the Raval Reserves, and is said to be an ideal ship for reserve cruises.

The prairie will proceed to Sandy Hook after leaving Hoboken, and will steam along the eastern end of Long Island, where the boys will have a chance to engage in target practice. The ship will nominally be in command of Commander Irving, of the Battalion of the East, although Commander McKenzie will generally supervise affairs, and the guns will be manned by members of the Naval Reserves. It is the intention now to cruise along the New England coast, returning to Hoboken Thursday, July 27.

The State will provide all the supplies consumed on the trip. It is expected that fully two hundred members of the two New Jersey battalions will take advantage of the opportunity offered to enjoy a cruise on a regular warship.

COLORED G. O. P. TO ORGANIZE.

An Attempt to Get Dusky Voters Into a Club.

The colored Republican workers of this city are going to organize again. There have been organizations in the past but they haven't survived, and a new attempt is now to be made to get the dusky voters in unison. Tom Martin, warden of the city jail, is one of the leading movers in this new attempt. A meeting has been called for Thursday evening at 124 West Second street to which every good Republican voter of color is earnestly requested to be present.

Steam Roller Off Duty.

The steam roller is off duty today. It had trouble with its store. They are not of the kind that puncture but some of the bolts came loose and had to be replaced. The roller is now at the machine shop of Fulmer on Sycamore street being repaired.

BOARD OF TRADE HAS TAKEN A HAND.

In the Fight Against Trolley Roads' Imposition.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS TALK.

PLAINFIELD STREET RAILROAD IS PLACED IN A RIDICULOUS LIGHT.

Representative of the Brunswick Traction Company Says His Road Would Like to Come Into Plainfield—Is Willing to Do Anything to Give Satisfactory Service to Citizens of This City and Dunellen

A ray of sunshine is appearing in the trolley clouds. It begins to look as though the much abused public may have their grievances with the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company adjusted satisfactorily in the near future.

The efforts that are being made by the citizens of Dunellen and this city to compel the Brunswick Traction Company to carry its passengers at one rate of fare from this city to Bound Brook, instead of leaving them at the Plainfield boundry line, it is believed are so shaping themselves as to bring about the desired results.

When the citizens of Dunellen called a mass-meeting last week to protest against the method in vogue by the Brunswick Traction Company in exacting an extra fare of the passengers returning from Plainfield, they took the initiative that at once interested the citizens of Plainfield, who were quick to realize that their interests were mutual in respect to the evil that existed.

With this end in view the Board of Trade took up the question and gave the citizens of Dunellen to understand that they were aware of the injustice that was being done them. They also felt that by the existing state of affairs the business interests of Plainfield were effected.

Therefore, when the Board granted permission for the committee—Messrs. Winges, Fredericks and Snyder—appointed by the citizens of Dunellen to meet with them at last evening's regular meeting they took a step in the right direction. The above committee was present when President Lounsbury called the meeting to order, as was also Dr. J. T. Fritts, vice-president of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. Supt. Adelman and Mr. Radell, the secretary and one of the directors of the Brunswick Traction Company. There were also present a large number of the members of the Board of Trade. The meeting was the most interesting of any held by the Board in some months. There was any quantity of talk and some pretty strong language used, especially by the representatives from Dunellen.

Chas. W. Runyon was one of the first speakers after the president had stated the principal object of the meeting. He said that it was useless to have any argumeht as to what agreement the two trolley companies had between them. What the people of Plainfield wanted was to bring the citizens from Dunellen as cheaply as possible—this city wanted their trade. Mr. Runyon said he would like to hear from the representative of the Traction Company.

Mr. Radell said his company was willing to do what was fair in the matter. The Brunswick Traction Company was now carrying the Plainfield Street Railway Company's passengers one way but did not propose to carry them both ways for nothing. His company was willing to give the Plainfield Street Railway Company one cent a passenger for each passenger carried on a transfer if they would give his company the same amount. All efforts he said, to make satisfactory arrangements with the Plainfield Company had been futile. They were living up to their franchise but were not willing to do all the carrying for nothing.

Dr. Fritts claimed that Dunellen had no one to blame but her own citizens and not the Plainfield Street Railway Company. His company had made an application to go through the streets of Dunellen, but owing to certain exactions and restrictions made by the citizens of the borough had to abandon their efforts. "Why," said he, "we were even ordered to remove the ties and rails from the streets, because we wouldn't macadamize their streets. The Brunswick Traction Company then came on and secured a franchise giving Dunellen all she asked for—macadamized streets, etc. The citizens of Dunellen, through their Common Council, had granted the Brunswick Traction Company a franchise with the understanding that they should carry passengers to the Plainfield line from

MURDERER IS CAUGHT.

After Four Years William Darling Is Run Down.

KILLED HARRY DUNHAM.

CRIME WAS COMMITTED IN COLD BLOOD AT NEW MARKET.

Darling was Living in McConnellsbury, Pa., Under the of Ralph E. J. Walton —Married Last June —Fought Fiercely but Overcome — Confessed He was Wanted.

A dispatch from McConnellsburg, Pa., says that William Darling, formerly a resident of this place, who killed Harry Dunham in cold-blood at New Market four years ago this month, was arrested in Thompson township, Fulton county, yesterday by Sheriff Sheets and District Attorney Daniels, after a fierce struggle. Darling was living under the name of Ralph E. J. Walton. He is wanted by the authorities of Middlesex county for one of the most deliberate and cold-blooded murders ever committed in New Jersey.

Darling was living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Darling, of Prospect avenue, this city, four years ago. He was a great devotee to bicycle riding, and one afternoon he dressed up in his bicycle clothes and told his mother that he was going out for a short spin. He rode to New Market, where he visited a hotel. There he met Harry Dunham, who formerly lived in this section and with whom Darling had gone to school in his younger days. Dunham was then residing in Hornellsville, N. Y., but was visiting relatives in New Market. The two men greeted each other pleasantly, shook hands, and one of them proposed renewing acquaintance over a glass of beer in the hotel.

After chatting for a few minutes at the bar, they concluded to play a game of pool. After playing several games they fell to joking with one another. What passed between them seemed of the most trivial nature.

Suddenly Darling, without the slightest provocation, drew a revolver from his hip pocket and fired twice at Dunham. The bullets took effect in the head, and Dunham dropped to the floor and expired in a few minutes. There were few people around the hotel and those that were were frightened out of their wits by the murder. Holding his smoking revolver in his hands Darling backed out of the hotel and jumped on his bicycle, standing at the door, and rode off in the direction of South Plainfield. No one attempted to follow him until he had had quarter of an hour the start. Then a posse of men gave chase in the direction he had been seen to speed away on his bicycle. But it was a fruitless chase. No one in this section has seen him since that day, and up till he was arrested yesterday he had succeeded in eluding the Middlesex county authorities.

During all these four years, however, the authorities have been prosecuting a quiet search for the murderer. Recently they secured traces of a man they supposed to be him in Pennsylvania. Yesterday they received assurances that the "Ralph E. J. Walton" was none other than William Darling. He had been making his home in Fulton county for over three years. Last June he was married to a Miss Gordon and was apparently living perfectly respectable and happy. When captured he threatened to kill himself, and afterwards confessed that he was the man wanted. Prosecutor Voorhees will make application for his extradition immediately, as he was indicted for murder in Middlesex county soon after he committed the crime.

Darling always had the reputation of being wild when he lived in Plainfield. He was concerned in numerous escapades of an unsavory kind. He is an expert telegraph operator and has spent much time in the western States.

Darling was married to a Miss Mundy in this city several years ago, but deserted her. He was never divorced and is therefore guilty of not only murder but bigamy.

METUCHEN WANTS ANOTHER TROLLEY.

Would Like a Connecting Line to Plainfield.

COMPANIES DON'T WANT IT.

BRUNSWICK AND PLAINFIELD COMPANIES WILL NOT BUILD.

Metuchen People are Quite Anxious to Have a Trolley Line to This City —Representative of a Syndicate Was There Last Fall Getting Consents —The Company Never Materialized.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Metuchen, July 18—The advent of the lines of the Brunswick Traction Company has awakened the good folk of Metuchen to the very material advantages of rapid transit. Now they want more of it and would view with particular satisfaction a trolley line connecting this place with Plainfield. The people can see very plainly the advantages of such a connection, but to the trolley corporations, it does not seem to be so apparent.

The Pennsylvania Railroad and later the trolley, have made easy access to New Brunswick from here. It is well known, however, that the Plainfield stores are far superior to those of New Brunswick and the Metuhcen purchasers avail themselves of every opportunity to visit the former. It was hoped when the Brunswick Traction Company reached Metuchen that its lines would be extended right through to Plainfield. It would open up a section now devoid of any means of transit aside from that supplied by horses and also bring Plainfield and this place much nearer, a state of affairs greatly to be wished for.

The officials of the Brunswick Company state, however, that the line would be of little value to them and not worth the cost and trouble that its building would necessitate. They don't want it, they say.

Last fall Metuchen experienced a revival of the interest in the wished for line. A man, claiming to be the representative of a syndicate of capitalists, visited the scene and announced that this syndicate was preparing to build a line from Metuchen to Plainfield. He secured the necessary right of way from the end of the Brunswick Company's line out through Oak Tree by way of the back road. Everybody was interested in the project and a speedy completion of the line was hoped for. Up to the present time, however, nothing more has been heard from the syndicate.

The matter of an extension to Metuchen was broached to the officials of the Plainfield Street Railway but they did not look on the line with favor. They had no use for it, they explained.

Those who are intimate with the workings of the trolley systems say that an independent line between Plainfield and Metuchen would not pay under present circumstances. If such a line is to be built, it must be part of one of the great systems and run in connection with the other lines. So the people of Metuchen will have to wait until one of the big corporations will consent to extend its lines over the territory in question.

MILLER VIOLATED HIS PAROLE.

Deserted His Family After Swearing to Support Them.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 18.—Mrs. Howard Miller reported to the authorities Saturday that her husband had taken his tools and clothes and left town.

Miller was summoned last Thursday to appear before Justice Collins on complaint of his wife that he was intending the desert her and the family. Miller, however, denied the charge, and stated under oath that he had no such intention, and promised the Justice most faithfully to care for his family. The Justice let Miller go on parole, while he further investigated the case. Miller, it would appear, lost no time after being released, but took his tools and clothes and left town as quickly as he could.

Trolley Building in Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 18.—The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railroad Company now have their large gang of men busy carting ties and rails to Summit avenue and South avenue and work of laying the rails will begin at once on these streets. The poles for the over head wires are already being placed in position. An official of the company said to a Press reporter yesterday that cars would be running between Plainfield and Cranford by the first of September and maybe sooner.

Dr. Anderson, of this city, is spending his vacation at Belmar with friends.

THE LEHIGH MAY MOVE.

MAY TRANSFER YARDS AND SHOPS TO ELIZABETHPORT.

Secretary of the Board of Trade Authority for the Statement—The Central Has Started Its Work—Other Business.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 18.—Captain James McMaster, secretary of the Board of Trade, is authority for the statement that the Lehigh Valley Railroad will move its yards, shops and freight transfer station from Jersey City to Elizabethport. It has a route surveyed from Waverly and Newark Bay to Seventh street in the Port, and wants to get through the city to connect with its line at Woodbridge Junction, so as to have a more direct route from New York to South Jersey as well as to make a bid for the heavy freight turned out from the factory centre, which the Central now practically controls.

It is said that there are still other reasons for wanting to get out of Jersey City. There has been more or less friction with the authorities there over grade crossings and tax rates. The Lehigh owes a big tract of salt meadow land near the New Jersey Jockey Club ground, which is not over a mile from its Waverly line, and well adapted for freightyards and carshops. The Board of Trade is doing all it can to bring it here, and real estate in the 'Port has taken a rise and a building boom is on.

The Central has begun excavating for its shops at the 'Port, and it is estimated that when the Lehigh, Central and the new Singer Manufacturing Company's plant are in operation they will add 14,000 to the population of this city. This means a great deal to the residents. There is not a vacant house in the 'Port and not over half a dozen in the whole city.

METUCHEN MAN BEATEN

BADLY INJURED BY ROUGHS NEAR AVON PARK.

Left Home With Horse and Carriage —Drank Too Much Coming Over— Lost His Rig—He Got Into Trouble.

Alfred Dines drove to Plainfield yesterday afternoon from his home in Metuchen. He was then sober and in his right mind. His health was good. When he reached Plainfield several hours later, he was afoot and a sad spectacle to gaze upon. His face was cut and swollen and both eyes nearly closed.

He called upon Mayor George W. Rockfellow and told the story of his troubles. He had partaken, he said, of the good things of life while en route to this city. Passing the grounds of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, he decided to try for a job there. He started for the clubhouse, he said, when he met some Hungarians employed in the neighborhood. His ideas of their number differed variously from seven to seventy, he wasn't certain exactly how many.

There were words passed and the crowd set upon the Metuchen man and did not leave him until he was almost a wreck. Dines had not a clear remembrance of what became of his rig. Hd had left it somewhere, he guessed. His wrath went out against his assailants, however, and he swore great vengence upon them. He left here with the intention of looking up some friends in New Brooklyn from whom he might borrow a gun and return to clean out his assailants.

Funeral of an Infant.

The funeral services of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanMiddlesworth, of Somerset street, were held from the house at 5 o'clock last evening, and was quite largely attended by relatives and intimate friends. The service was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. Interment was in North Plainfield cemetery.

Princeton Young Men Will Enlist.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Princeton, July 18.—Ten of Princeton's young men went to Philadelphia yesterday to enlist in the Twenty-second United States Infantry for a period of three years. They will go to San Francisco after enlisting and await transportation to the Philippines.

Town Clock Has Stopped.

The town clock has come to grief again. Something is the matter. It's wheels are now at a standstill, while the hands point to 7:26 o'clock. Moraller will doubtless look after it today, so that the commuters who figure on their trains by that clock will not get left.

Verdict for Defendant.

In the action of Rosalie Clements against Anna Gwynett for the possession premises, tried yesterday afternoon before Justice Nash and a jury. A verdict for the defendant was rendered. W. S. Angleman for plaintiff; S. S. Swackhamer for defendant.

$200,000 DROP IN THE TAXABLE VALUATION.

Plainfield Real Estate Gets a Lower Assessment

OTHER ASSESSORS OBJECT.

EXCITING SESSION OF THE COUNTY BOARD YESTERDAY.

A Resolution Was Offered to Increase Plainfield's Valuation $300,000, But the Local Assesors Explained That Last Year's Assessment Was Too High—Taxable Valuations Are Fixed by Wards.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 18—The annual meeting of the assessors of the various cities and towns of Union county was held yesterday, and quite a sensation caused by the drop of $200,000 in the taxable valuations fixed by the Board of Assessors of Plainfield. The announcement of this reduction in the taxable valuations in the Eldorado of the East caused a great storm of protests from other assessors because every other part of the county showed increased valuations and it was considered that Plainfield had grown as much or more than any of the other places and therefore should also have shown an increase.

Assessor Hughes, of Elizabeth, offered a resolution making the valuation of Plainfield $300,000 more than submitted by the local Board of Assessors, and this immediately stirred up a hot fight, in which the Plainfield officials took to explaining matters. They stated that the valuation last year was greater than it should have been, and that the lowering of the amount this year was to get it back to an equitable basis.

It was finally decided to raise Plainfield's valuation back to the amount named last year, which is $8,000,000. The local Board of Assessors had decided to make it $7,810,000.

The county tax rate will be 56 cents on the $100, an increase of five points over last year. The school tax will be 28 cents on the $100, the same as last year.

The valuations by wards are as follows in Plainfield and neighboring towns:

Plainfield: First ward—Real estate, $1,476,325; personal, $350,725; liabilites, $73,230; poll, 705; total, $1,753,800. Second ward—Real estate, $1,994,440; personal, $292,585; liabilities, $63,925; poll, 759; total, $2,223,100. Third ward—Real estate, $1,869,975; personal, $220,300; liabilities, $29,475; poll, 626; total, $2,060,800. Fourth ward—Real estate, $1,541,000; personal, $269,300; liabilities, $27,200; poll, 1,309; total, $1,773,100.

Fanwood—Real estate, $434,000; personal, $192,600; liabilities, $16,600; poll, 267; total, $610,000.

Fanwood Borough—Real estate, $198,000; personal, $34,000; liabilities, $15,000; poll, 47; total, $217,000.

Westfield—Real estate, $1,659,950; personal, $137,650; liabilities, $59,600; poll, 728; total, $1,728,000.

The gains reported in the county were not large. Cranford, Fanwood, Westfield and some of the other townships reported increased valuations.

A DISASTROUS COLLISION.

David Angerbauer Came in Contact With W. O. Worth's Rig.

David Angerbauer has a broken bicycle. The damages are the result of a collision this morning on East Second street near fire department headquarters. He was riding on that thoroughfare toward Park avenue when he met the carriage of W. O. Worth, of Rockview avenue. Angerbauer was on the right side of the road, so was Mr. Worth's carriage. Worth's coachman attempted to pass a vehicle in front of him and turned directly in the path of the approaching wheelman. Angerbauer struck between the shafts and the wheel. His wheel was wrecked and his arm and leg injured.

ONE FATAL DIPHTHERIA CASE.

A Young Daughter of Mrs. Geo. Leland Succumbs to the Disease.

Although the Board of Health acted very promptly and effectively to stop the spread of diphtheria through the milk supply, as was told in yesterday's Daily Press, one case has resulted fatally. Marjory Leland, the six-year-old daughter of Mrs. George Leland, of Essex street, died eerly this morning. She was ill for two weeks with the dread disease and then passed quietly away.

His First Miss.

Last Wednesday evening was the first time that Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, has missed an appointed meeting in his church since he has been its pastor. The severe storm made it impossible to hold a meeting.

THE CARS ARE RUNNING.

Strike Situation in Brooklyn is Not of a Particularly Encouraging Nature.

POLICE CHARGE CROWD

Engineers on Brooklyn "L" Road are Likely to go on Strike for a Better Rate of Wages.

Nearly All of the Cars That Are Running Operated Under Police Protection—Cars Are Pelted With Stones on Fifth Avenue—No Great Damage Done.

Brooklyn, New York, July 18.—The most threatening situation that has arisen since the beginning of the Brooklyn Trolley strike was reported from Fifth Avenue, between Eighteenth and Twenty-third streets, in this borough. So menacing were the men and boys who assembled there to hoot the new motormen and throw stones at the cars that a squad of mounted policemen charged twice into the crowd. A reinforcement of twenty-five policemen for this danger point was summoned.

A committee from the Brooklyn strikers conferred with a committee of the Metropolitan Traction Company's employes at General Master Workman Parsons's office in East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Mr. Parsons was present.

When the conference adjourned all information as to the result was refused, but the announcement was made that the deliberations and conclusions would be reported to a meeting of the Executice Committee of the Manhattan Association.

Two claims as far apart as the Poles, were made by President Rossiter, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit System, and James Pines, District Master Workman, of the Knights of Labor. "There is no strike," Rossiter declared. "There are one thousand more men out than when the strike started, and more will follow," declared Pines.

The State Board of Arbitration, composed of James J. Gilbert, of Syracuse; William H. H. Webster, of Buffalo, and Francis B. Delehanty, of New York, met in Mr. Delehanty's office in the St. Paul building, Broadway and Ann street, and discussed the strike situation.

They were awaiting a communication from President Vreeland, of the Metropolitan Traction Company, appointing a time and place for a conference between him and the State Board.

A member of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration said that he had been advised that, unless President Vreeland acceded to the demands of the men, a strike would be ordered on the Metropolitan Traction Company's lines. A score or more of employes whose opinions were obtained declared, however, that a strike was scarcely possible.

All Rapid Transit cars in Brooklyn were run with policemen on board as guards, and there were several conflicts with crowds who had thrown obstructions on the tracks.

General Master Workman Parsons declared that 1,000 additional trolley employes in Brooklyn would go out "inside of twenty-four hours.

Brooklyn Road Hires Men.

Philadelphia, July 18.—Agents of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company have engaged 300 experienced motormen and conductors in this city to take the places of their striking employes. Many of them were formerly in the employ of the Union Traction Company of this city and lost their places as a result of the big strike on that system a few years ago.

At that time they claimed their places were taken by Brooklyn motormen and conductors. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit agents had advertised in the morning papers and their headquarters was opened but a short time before the place was overrun with applicants.

Only 300 were wanted, and after these had been selected no others were accepted. There were over 500 men waiting in and about the office.

Another Strike Begun.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 18.—The conductors and motormen of the Big Consolidated Street Railway system, who were on strike last month, have again gone out.

Eight hundred men are affected. They claim the company has not lived up to the agreement made which ended the former strike.

The decision to declare another strike was reached after a meeting of the men which lasted practically throughout the night. During the early hours not a car was running on any of the Big Consolidated lines, fifteen in number. The officials of the company have asked for police protection and say they will attempt to start cars on one or two lines very soon. Large crowds are congregated at all of the barns of the company, but so far as reported no violence has yet occurred.

Crawled Into a Cistern.

Mansfield, Ohio, July 18.—Mrs. Louis Wagner suicided by crawling into a little cistern in her wash house. She was 59 years old and leaves a husband and four grown daughters.

American Killed Abroad.

Berne, Switzerland, July 18.—Eugene Staub, of Baltimore, Md., in descending from the Royal Hut, near Pontresina, in the Engadine Valley, fell over a precipice and was killed.

Killed in a Wreck.

Brazil, Ind., July 18.—James Pow, aged 23, of this city, who was on his way to Plattsburg, Ala., was killed in a railroad wreck at Slaughtersville, Kentucky.

Bishop of Limerick Is Dead.

Limerick, July 18.—The Right Rev. Charles Graves, D. D., D. C. L., Bishop of Limerick, is dead. He was 87 years old.

REPORT OF DEATHS IN CUBA

General Brooke Sends a List to the War Department.

Washington, July 18.—The following despatches from Gen. Brooke, at Havana, have been received at the War Department.

"Havana, July 16.
"No deaths 14th. BROOKE."

"Havana, July 16.
"Death report 15th, Puerto Principe: M. J. Tracy, veterinary, 8th Cavalry, died 14th, yellow fever. Santiago: F. L. Johnson, M, 5th Infantry, died 12th, supposed yellow fever.
BROOKE."

Found Dead Man in a Boat.

Rockland, Me., July 18.—Two sailor's, who went to the rescue of a sinking fishing sloop in the harbor, found the dead body of a man aboard. Letters in his clothes revealed that his name was G. A. Harvey of North Bucksport. He had been dead fully twelve hours. He was ashore on Friday with a little boy, and tried to sell his boat. The boy has not since been heard from. A pocketbook, containing 25 cents was found in Harvey's pockets.

Electrical Storm in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., July 18.—Quite a severe electrical storm passed over Louisville. Rain poured down in torrents and much damage was done to the telephone and telegraph wires. Hundreds of telegraph instruments were burned out and a number of trees were struck by lightning. During the morning and early afternoon the weather was almost unbearable. The thermometer reached the 100 mark for the first time this year. After the rain the temperature dropped rapidly.

Man Pays Debts of Two Churches.

East Orange, N. J., July 18.—The announcement was made at service in St. Paul's Episcopal Church here, that the church had been entirely freed from its debt of $5,000 through the generosity of T. Pearsall Campbell of Roseville. Mr. Campbell is a son-in-law of Mrs. Wilde, a member of the parish, and this is the second church he has recently freed from debt, his former gift having been to an Episcopal church in Newark.

Killed By a Live Wire.

New Orleans, La., July 18.—Henry R. Goodwin of New York was killed here by a live electric wire. Goodwin came here from New York two weeks ago to attend to the work of repairing the electric wires of the Carrollton Railroad Company. While at work fixing the trolley poles a live electric wire came in contact with his neck causing instant death. He was 33 years old and leaves a daughter in New York city.

Five Shot in Another Feud.

London, Ky., July 18.—A report has reached here of the outbreak of another feudl in Clay County by which five men lost their lives. The dead are said to be: Robert Philpot, Ed. W. Fisher, Aaron Morris, Jim Griffin and Hugh Griffin. These fatalities resulted from a pitched battle fought near Little Goose Creek, three miles from Manchester. The fight was the result of a feud of long standing.

1,800 Men on Strike in Chicago.

Chicago, July 18.—Sixteen hundred members of the Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders' Union have struck here. They ask for an eight-hour day, thirty cents an hour and a half holiday on Saturdays in the summer. Two hundred and fifty men employed by the Chicago Furnace Company as ore shovelers also struck for more pay.

Priest Fell From Car and Expired.

Philadelphia, July 18.—As a result of a fall from a street car, the Rev. P. Aloysius Jordan, S. J., assistant rector of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, died here. Father Jordan lost his balance while getting off a car and fell, striking his head on the asphalt street. He was rendered unconscious, and he never rallied from the fall.

Jack Downey Won Easily.

New York, July 18.—Jack Downey disposed of Jerome Quigley in the easiest fashion imaginable in the ring of the Coney Island Sporting Club. It was Downey's fight from the start. In the eleventh round he had Quigley in such a bad way that the referee mercifully stopped the bout. Downey was cheered loudly.

Fourth of July Caused 141 Deaths.

Chicago, July 18.—The Tribune prints revised figures gathered from correspondents throughout the country, showing a loss of 141 lives resulting from the last Fourth of July. Some of these died on July 4; others from injuries received then. Lockjaw has caused the death of 83 out of the 141.

Hail and Rain in Nebraska.

Bartley, Neb., July 18.—A hail and rain storm here destroyed every stalk of corn or spear of wheat for miles around. The whole country is flooded and thousands of dollars' worth of property is destroyed.

Boy Fatally Hit by Lightning.

Linton, Ind., July 18.—A. Moulden, aged 16, was killed by lightning while under the shelter of a tree in a cornfield. The barn of David B. Taylor was struck by lightning and totally destroyed.

Tobacco Plant as a Floral Emblem.

"There is one flower," says a writer in a London paper, "which has apparently been overlooked by Americans in their search for a suitable floral emblem, which I think is worthy of their attention. I refer to that of the tobacco plant (nicotiana) in its many varieties. It is handsome; the plant is, I believe, indigenous to America, and its importance as the solace of the human race is indisputable.

Coal vs. Man.

An interesting calculation has been made, which shows that a pound of good coal equals the work of one man for one day. One square mile of a seam of coal only 4 feet deep would exceed the work of 1,000,000 men for 20 years.

WANT TO TELL IT.

Many Enthusiastic Plainfield Citizens Want to Make It Public.

There is something in it.
When people want to talk about it.
Publicity of a good thing is good for the people.
Gratitude promotes publicity.
Enthusiastic citizens are talking.
Telling neighbors—telling friends.
Removing the stumbling block of doubt.
And so the work goes on.
Home endorsement is giving confidence.
Thousands are learning to appreciate it.

Here is a West Front street citizen who does.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says:—"My kidneys gave me more or less trouble for five years. I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across the back and hips. Any hard work always increased the pain. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could get no relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine and got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation, and from my experience, Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine, and I have faith in them. I advise others who suffer from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trail."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cts a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Treasury Commissioners Say Charges of Incompetency are Not Sustained

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

Some Think the Tea Examiner is Incompetent While Others Are Positive of His Capability.

Decision of the Commissioners That He Rigidly Enforces the Tea Act—Suggestions Made Concerning the Method of Selecting Witnesses in the Hearing of Protests.

Washington, July 18.—The following statement has been made public: "The Treasury Commission engaged in investigations at the Appraiser's Stores, New York, has submitted a report to the Secretary of the Treasury upon the subject of charges against the examiner of tea, Isaac McGay. The commission finds that widely divergent views are expressed by importers and others in the tea trade concerning the competency and efficiency of the examiner. A number declare that McGay is grossly incompetent; others are quite as positive that he is well qualified for the position, and still others express the opinion that while the examiner has made mistakes, in instances having rejected teas which were entitled to admission and in other instances admitting teas which should have been rejected, the fault is really in the law itself. Importers of the class last mentioned assert that apparent inconsistencies in the decisions of the examiner are not due to incompetency, but rather to the fact that under the 'act to prevent the importation of impure and unwholesome tea,' it is required that the comparison of each importation be made with the standard adopted by the Government Board of Tea Experts, and 'as to quality,' a matter about which the best experts differ.

"The Commission reports that under the operation of the Tea act, which requires tests 'as to purity, quality and fitness for consumption,' teas which are low grade, but are pure and wholesome, have been refused admission solely because they did not equal the standard in point of cup quality—strength and flavor. In the opinion of the commission there has been a rigid enforcement of the Tea act in New York. It is concluded that Examiner McGay is honest and qualified by experience 'to determine whether or not a tea is pure and wholesome and fit for consumption, although he has unquestionably made mistakes in passing upon the relative excellence of tea—errors which are likely to be repeated by him, and are not to be altogether avoided even by the selection of the best experts in the country to serve as examiner. The Commission reports that it is impossible to obtain uniformity in decisions as to the relative strength and flavor of tea, because determinations upon these points differ widely with individual preferences. The question is presented by importers whether or not the word 'quality,' considered with 'purity and fitness for consumption,' is synonymous with wholesomeness. If no teas should be excluded when they are equally pure and fit for consumption, as the Government standard and many importers contend that that is the intent of the Tea act, then the tests for quality should be discontinued. Suggestions are made concerning the method of selecting witnesses in the hearing of protests."

Col. W. P. Johnston Dead.

Lexington, Va., July 18.—Col. William Preston Johnston, President of Tulane University, New Orleans, died at the home of his son-in-law, the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker. Col. Johnston went to Virginia Hot Springs the latter part of June, and about a week ago came here very ill, hopeful that this climate would restore his health. His condition became serious Saturday. He was cheerful up to the hour of his death, and his mind was perfectly clear. He died in the same bed in which he was born sixty-seven years ago.

Silk Weaver Commits Suicide.

Jersey City, N. J., July 18.—Francis Lomeyne, fifty years of age, a French silk weaver living at 423 Union Street, Union Hill, N. J., shot himself through the heart with a revolver. He was found dead by his friend Joseph Rousset of 213 Franklin street, Union Hill. The dead man had no relatives in this country.

Adams Express Employe Drowned.

Rahway, N. J., July 18.—Daniel McNamara, an employe of the Adams Express Company at the company's pier in Jersey City, was drowned at Boynton Beach. While in bathing McNamara was taken with a cramp. Two of his companions went to his rescue, but he slipped from them and sank. His body has been recovered.

O'Dea Returns to Badgers.

Milwaukee, July 18.—Andy O'Dea, the rowing coach, has returned to the University of Wisconsin. He has signed a three-year contract to coach the "Badger" oarsmen at a salary of $2,000 a year. McConville, who coached the crew for the recent Poughkeepsie race, may go to Columbia to be associate coach to Dr. Peet.

Woman Attacked by a Dog.

Newark, July 18.—Mrs. Catharine E. Daly, sixty years old, was attacked at New and Norfolk streets by a large Newfoundland dog and knocked down. Her left arm was broken, her forehead cut and one of her teeth knocked out. The dog did not bite Mrs. Daly.

Bubonic Plague on Ships.

Tacoma, July 18.—The officers of the Olympia bring word that the City of Pekin is quarantined at Nagaski and the American Maru at Yokohama, both of San Francisco-Oriental lines, with cases of the bubonic plague aboard.

A 15,000 MILE RACE

The Bark St. Catherine Beats Her Two Rivals in a Voyage.

Philadelphia, July 18.—A race of 15,000 miles, for a prize of $1,000, terminated at the Delaware Breakwater on the arrival of the ships I. F. Chapman and W. F. Babcock and the bark St. Catharine from the Hawaiian Islands. All three are American built and American owned vessels, and are commanded by American Skippers. It was while the three vessels were taking cargoes of sugar to Honolulu that their masters arranged the race.

Allowance was made for the difference of time in the departure of the vessels, but notwithstanding over two weeks elapsed between the departure of the first, the Babcock, and the last, the St. Catharine, all three vessels arrived within a few hours of each other, with the St. Catharine a winner.

No Complaint From Employes.

New Haven, Conn., July 18.—A prominent officer of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad voiced the official sentiment of the railroad relative to the alleged threatened strike of employes as reported from Boston in a plainly stated interview: He said: "I think I'm safe in stating that the railroad has received from its employes no complaint whatever relative to the points said to be held by the possible strikers as grievances. Whenever the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad receives any complaint from its employes it is prompt and careful in listening to it."

They Were Glad to Return.

Tifton, Ind., July 18.—Windfall glass factory was compelled to shut down last week because enough natural gas could not be obtained to operate it. Elmer Lawson, Elmer Hawkins and 10 other glass workers went East to hunt work. They returned from Trenton, N. J., where they had an exciting experience with strikers. A mob stoned the street car, and a number of the men were injured in the rough treatment that followed. After several days' imprisonment in the union men's headquarters the Windfall boys accepted railroad tickets as an inducement to return home.

"Old-Home Week."

Concord, N. H., July 18.—Plans for the "Old Home Week," Gov. Frank Rollins's new anniversary, which is to be observed through the State August 28 to September 1, are progressing favorably, and those interested are anticipating a general return of New Hampshire's sons and daughters to their former places of residence, in connection with the event. Gov. Rollins states that the idea has aroused widespread interest throughout the country, and similar plans seem likely to be adopted by other States.

Fire at Fort Duchesne.

Price, Utah, July 18.—The second fire within a week has occurred at Fort Duchesne when the quartermaster's stables and contents were entirely consumed. Nineteen mules were burned to death. An officer says both fires were incendiary and some believe they are the work of old Sowewic and his band of White River Utes, who are trying to destroy the cavalry equipments of the soldiers so they cannot follow them.

To Build Electric Ferryboats.

Philadelphia, July 18.—Plans are rapidly maturing for applying electric power, instead of steam, to the ferryboats which run between this city and Camden. Designs for a ferryboat of this type are now in preparation. Some of the advantages claimed are less heat and jar, quicker time to be made and greatly increased passenger and truck facilities through the space gained which is now occupied by the boilers, fire-engines and fire-rooms.

Princess Louise's Protector Appeals.

Vienna, July 18.—Ex-Lieut. Mattachich, the former friend and "protector" of Princess Louise of Coburg, daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, has appealed against the sentence of six years' imprisonment passed upon him by the military court for counterfeiting the signature of Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria, to obtain money with which to settle some gambling debts. The appeal will be heard behind closed doors.

Tragedy at a Christening.

Troy, N. Y., July 18.—At a christening in the Italian quarter of the city one of the party, Dominick Germain, was shot and killed by Nicholas Vincenzo. The christening was followed by a celebration at which beer flowed freely. Nearly all the party became intoxicated, and a fight occurred in which the fatal shot was fired. The murderer escaped.

Sank in Quicksand.

Washington, Ind., July 18.—Isaac Frank, the eighteen-year-old son of Gus Frank, a wealthy retired merchant of Petersburg, twelve miles south of here, got into some quicksand while wading in the shallow water that covered a sandbar and was drowned. The unfortunate young man graduated last spring from the public high school.

To Watch for Filibusters.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 18.—The United States District Attorney here has again been warned from Washington to watch for filibustering expeditions from the Florida coast against Honduras, Nicaragua and other Central American countries.

To Be British Consul at Mexico.

London, July 18.—The Birmingham Post says that British Vice-Consul Jerome, who was in charge of the American interests at Havana during the late war, has been appointed Consul at Mexico City.

Fatal Boating Accident.

Lowville, N. Y., July 18.—Frank Ammond and Charles D. Van Dressen, aged thirty-five and forty years, respectively, were drowned in Pleasant Lake.

Young Man Burned.

Boston, July 18.—John Kelly, nineteen years of age, of Roxbury, was burned to death in the loft of a barn on Minder street

I very well remember the evening I arrived at Madison. My cousin Bertha was to meet me there, coming up from Milwaukee. She was not used to traveling and had, when she arrived, what she called a sick headache. I induced her to swallow a RIPANS TABULE and in half an hour she was well enough to join me at supper at the hotel. I heard no more of the headache, but next day Bertha bought some RIPANS TABULES for herself and I know that she has not had one of those attacks for nearly a year now.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

P. H. BROWN'S Plainfield Visit

Will Close
JULY 22d, 1899,
Making People Happy.

Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs. Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

GOLD FROM KLONDIKE

Two Steamers Will Bring Dust to the Value of $7,000,000.

Victoria, B. C., July 18.—The manager of the Dawson branch of a Victoria firm, writing from that city says, "From reliable sources we have learned that the steamships Roanoke and Garonne will take from St. Michael to Seattle and San Francisco $7,000,000, or a little more. The Canadian Bank of Commerce shipped $1,500,000 to each place, the Alaska Commercial Company a little over $500,000 and the North American Trading and Transportation Company $500,000.

"We are informed by the Bank of Commerce managers that they had in sight here at one time this spring $4,000,000. The bank people declare that the total output this year from the spring clean-ups and summer work will not be less than $18,000,000, and will probably reach $20,000,000."

The Roanoke is reported to have entered the Sound.

Rudyard Kipling Bitten.

London, July 18.—Rudyard Kipling was severely bitten in the left hand by a dog that had shown some evidence of rabies, and the author's friends are much worried over the fact that dydrophobia may result. Mr. Kipling, himself, is considerably worried over the matter.

Pastor Embraced and Robbed.

Wilmington, Del., July 18.—The Rev. William Brooks Johnson, pastor of a colored church at Flushing and another in Sixty-third street, New York, complains that Mrs. Ida Tillison, of No. 216 West Thirtieth street, New York, robbed him of $200. While riding on a trolley car near Shellpot he was seized with cramps, and he says the woman put her arm around him and took the money. The police refused to arrest the woman. Johnston is en route to Washington to obtain a pension. He is eighty-two and the woman twenty-seven.

Murderer's Sentence Stands.

Albany, N. Y., July 18.—Gov. Roosevelt has refused to interfere in the case of Michael McDonald who is to be killed by electricity at Sing Sing prison some day in the week beginning July 30 for the murder of Stephen Titus at Eastman's abattoir in New York city a year ago last May. Both men were employed there. Titus was a timekeeper. There was a dispute between the men as to the number of hours McDonald had worked, which was ended by McDonald firing five shots at Titus.

Ingalls Denies It.

Cincinnati, July 18.—The following telegram has been received from M. E. Ingalls, in response to a query as to the truth of the report that he was about to leave the Big Four Railroad Company to become the arbitrator for the Vanderbilt-Morgan interests.

"Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., July 17.—There is not a word of truth in the report. (Signed) M. E. INGALLS."

Five Dead in Their Search for Gold

Seattle, July 18.—The schooner General Siglin, which has reached here from Cook Inlet, brings news of the drowning of a gold-seeking party in Cook Inlet. Among the five victims was A. B. Johnson, of Malone, N. Y. On June 4, while going up Turn-Again-Arm, one of the most dangerous bodies of water in Alaska, a tidal wave struck them and all perished.

Acting Ambassador Presented.

Washington, July 18.—The German Ambassador, Dr. Von Holleben, this morning presented to the President Mr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, who will act as the representative of the German Empire in the absence of Dr. Von Holleben on a three months' vacation.

Want Sloan to Come Home.

London, July 18.—Tod Sloan, the American jockey, was reported to the stewards for disobedience at the post after he had won twice in one afternoon. It is said his popularity here is on the wane, and his friends want him to return to the United States.

Shamrock Tries a Spin.

Cowes, July 18.—The Shamrock, with Sir Thomas Lipton and Mr. Fife, her designer, on board, has been given another spin. The challenger showed herself extremely quick in stays. The Britannia was also out, but the boats were cruising in different waters.

Italian Steamer Disabled.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, July 18.—The Italian steamer Centro America, from Montevideo, June 30, for Genoa, with 620 passengers, has been towed here, a distance of 300 miles, having been disabled by the loss of her propeller.

Canal Investigation.

Albany, July 18.—The report of the special counsel appointed by the Governor to review the testimony taken by the Canal Investigating Commission will be made public Thursday.

Under a Traction Engine.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 18.—George W. Winfree, a wealthy planter, was crushed to death by a traction engine near here.

Declare That the Philippines Situation is Not Fully Understood in the United States.

The Correspondents Hold a Meeting and Inform General Otis of a Message to be Sent to Hong Kong—The General Takes Exception to Some Portions of Dispatch.

Manila, July 12, via Hongkong, July 18.—The conditions of the censorship have been steadily growing worse since the beginning of the insurrection and have finally reached a climax. A meeting was held a month ago of all the staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed at Manila and a telegram was drafted presenting the situation according to the consensus of the best opolnions and submitted to Gen. Otis. The General was angry. He summoned the correspondents and threatened to try them all by court-martial on a charge of conspiracy. He said that the telegram accused him of lying. This the correspondents disavowed, and modified the language of the message, but Gen. Otis refused to pass the telegram, which is now sent to Hongkong for transmission. Gen. Otis offered to improve the conditions of the censorship and appoint a new censor, but the correspondents explained that their complaint was against the system, not against the censor.

Gen. Otis asked the correspondents to submit the change in the system which they deemed essential. The correspondents asked permission to report, first, all of the facts, and, second, all of the phases of the situation, both of which had theretofore been impossible. Gen. Otis nominally granted the desired reforms. He modified his concessions, however, so that there was slight advantage from the changes. The activity at the front delayed a settlement of the matter and Gen. Otis' illness caused a further delay. A final meeting of the correspondents was held and Gen. Otis was informed that the following message would be sent to Hongkong:

"The entire staff of correspondents of American newspapers at Manila, unite in the following statement: 'We believe that owing to the official despatches from Manila made public in Washington the people of the United States have received an incorrect impression of the situation in the Philippines, and that these despatches present an ulta-optimistic view which is not shared by the general officers in the field. We believe that these despatches incorrectly represent the existing conditions among the Filipinos in respect to internal dissensions and demoralization resultant from the American campaign and the brigand like character of their army. It is believed that these despatches err in the declaration that "the situation is well in hand," and in the assumption that the insurrection will be speedily ended without a greatly increased force.

"'We think that the tenacity of the Filipino purpose is underestimated, and that the statements that the volunteers are willing to serve further are unfounded. The censorship has compelled us to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontroverted statements of facts on the plea, quoting Gen. Otis, that "they would alarm the people at home" and "have the people of the United States by the ears."

"'Our specifications are: The prohibition of hospital reports, the numbers of heat prostrations in the field, the suppression of full reports of field operations in case of their failure, the prohibition of complete reports of the situation and a systematic minimization of naval operations."

Gen. Otis particularly resented the parts of the despatch having reference to the volunteers and the naval operations. The correspondents cited many proofs of their allegations. It is impossible to describe the censorship by cable. Many grounds of complaints had become intolerable. It remains to be seen what relief the modifications will develop.

Collision in New Haven Yards.

New Haven, July 18.—The Colonial Express and the Air Line accomodation, came together in a head-on collision in the yards near the Union Depot in this city. A misplaced switch caused the collision. The pilot of locomotive No. 251, attached to the Colonial Express, was smashed. The only person among the hundreds of passengers who was injured was W. C. Ticknor, express messenger on the accommodation train. His forehead was slightly cut.

Eight-Hour Law Overruled.

Denver, Col., July 18.—The State Supreme Court has handed down a decision declaring the eight-hour law, the enforcement of which was the cause of the great smelter strike, unconstitutional. The decision, it is believed, practically settles the strike, as the men can now return to work under the old order of things, and at such compensation and hours of labor as they see fit. The court's principal objection to the new law is that it is an infringement of individual rights.

Alleged Boy Robbers.

Xenia, Ohio, July 18.—Judah Brawer, 11, and Joseph Ladd, 10, are being held at the City Prison on the charge of housebreaking and petit larceny. The boys confess to having broken into several houses here and elsewhere. A search by the officers disclosed several revolvers and other Wild West implements under the home of the Ladd boy.

Was Not Dead.

Gallipolis, Ohio, July 18.—Charles McCarley, a member of Company A, Fifth United States Infantry, who was reported to have been killed in the Spanish-American conflict at Santiago, Cuba, writes home that he is still alive.

July 18—Meeting of Plainfield Advancement Association.
July 23—Rev. James A. Cubberly will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p. m. Miss Raybert will sing and there will be instrumental music.

Trolley Transfer Trouble.

From all the information tnat can be secured concerning the differences between the Ptainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company, which is preventing the issue of transfers both ways between Dunellen and this city, it appears that the attitude of the Plainfield Street Railway Company is one inimical to the best interests and unjust to the community from whom they have obtained privileges of great value. The officials of the local company, accepting their verbal statements in relation to the matter as an indication, seem to take grim pleasure in the fact that the people of Dunellen are in trouble over their trolley facilities. This feeling with the Plainfield Street Railway Company overrides other more serious considerations because the company was not allowed to operate in Dunellen, while the Brunswick Traction Company, a competitor, is—but only after the borough had obtained much better terms from the latter corporation for the privileges granted.

Judging from all appearances it is a case of "sour grapes" with the Plainfield Street Railway Company. In the parlance of the day they are "getting even" with Dunellen for having refused them a franchise. But their discrimination in the matter of transfers, or rather their refusal to enter into any equitable arrangement with the Brunswick Traction Company, is not hurting Dunellen alone; it is injuring Plainfield for whom the Plainfield Street Railway Co. professes much love and consideration. Therefore the transfer arrangement is of much concern to this city and its business interests, and in taking up the difficulty and trying to adjust it satisfactorily the Board of Trade has acted within the bounds of good business sense.

What is fair for the Brunswick Traction Company would seem fair for the Plainfield Street Railway Company in the matter of transfers, and as the former company seem willing to make arrangements of most any kind it ought not be so difficult to fix up the differences to the satisfaction of all.

The Plainfield company dwell at considerable length on conditions under which they secured their franchise, but they seem to lose sight of the public at the present time. An institution that exists because its only asset is the one which the public confers should be prompted somewhat to act as the interests of the public warrant. The company does not pretend to say that the present transfer arrangement is right; it simply holds to a technicality and says in effect: "The public be damned. We are in this business to make all the money we can irrespective of what the people want."

That idea, of course, prompts nearly all corporations of that sort, but it is one which in this particular case ought to be disabused in short order.

Good returns from advertising are secured in the same manner as other profitable results are attained in any line of human effort—that is, by keeping at it, says the Philadelphia Record. Sporadic trials of the advertising columns of even the best newspapers bring only intermittent gains. A hoop which wabbles in its rotations over the ground does not, of course, follow a straight line, and the tradesman will discover by observation and experience that in the matter of advertising he must be as regular and systematic as in the management of other departments of his establishment if he be anxious to keep on the direct road to success.

The city of Newark has just received nearly $80,000 as the annual tax levied by the city on the trolley roads there who operate under a franchise that allows the municipality four per cent. of the gross receipts. This is the same kind of an agreement that Plainfield now holds with the Plainfield Street Railway Company to take effect when the company's receipts reach a total of $80,000. The experience of Newark has been very satisfactory in this connection, and Plainfield's ought to be the same.

Discussing the growing power of trusts and the demonstrated impotency of attempted State control, the Buffalo Courier says: "If congress is honest with the people, a remedy for this menacing evil must be found. The control, the regulation and the responsibility of excessive combinations of capital are as much the business of the nation as they are of the States.

The New York Tribune credits Robert Davis, the Hudson county Democrat leader, as the most powerful Democrat in New Jersey today and the practical boss of the party.

Aguinaldo still remains a hard proposition for the United States.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The colored Methodist ministers in conference at Plainfield have denounced cakewalks as immoral. Whether their charge be true or not, the cakewalk, as managed in these parts, is degrading to the colored race and a source of pain to most colored people. The amusement, if it ever was an amusement, usually lacks the saving grace of being funny, and if the colored ministerial brethren can stamp it out, nobody need weep.—Passaic News.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A legal light of prominence is authority for the statement that any person who is arrested and placed in the city jail can secure damages for confinement in such a place, in view of the fact that the Board of Health has condemned the building.

A Pitman Grove woman went to one of the vacant restaurants a few days ago to get a bed which she had placed there for safe keeping during the winter, and was much startled to find a large opossum tucked away in its folds.

While George Williams and George Wagner, of Woodbury, were driving along the Westville pike Thursday night, they saw what at first they thought was a large puppy dog along the woods. When they got nearer they discovered that it was a young bear, and followed it into the woods some distance. Fearing the mother might be lingering around they left it. A hunt was made the next day by armed men, but nothing but tracks were seen.

One of the strangest streams in the world is in East Africa. It flows in the direction of the sea, but never reaches it. Just north of the equator, and when only a few miles from the Indian Ocean, it flows into a desert, when it suddenly and completely disappears.

War correspondents were employed as far back as the time of Edward II. Scribes, specially commissioned, were sent up with the English army which invaded Scotland at that time. But, incredible as it may sound, not one of the London newspapers was specially represented at the battle of Waterloo.

Silicion carbide crystals or "carborundum," as it is called, is to a great extent to replace diamonds in the production of finely graduated scales. Small, flat hexagonal crystals are chosen, from one-half to one milli-meter in size. They are mounted in a steel holder by means of a drop of shellac. It is stated that the lines are much more even than those produced by a diamond. They have been examined and magnified fifty times and found to be still sharply defined.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tone up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

Going! Going! G—

Not gone—but going. We refer to our Shirt Waists. The stock grows smaller and beautifully less. The prices are selling them. It is our fixed policy to sell every waist during its own particular season. Profit is a secondary matter now. Prices on all waists have been cut deep and still deeper; late as the season is our sale of waists is phenomenal. Splendid styles, large variety and low prices. If you need any, select them at once.

Wash Goods of every description at greatly lessened prices. What is true of Shirt Waists is equally true of wash goods—they must be sold this season, and they are selling cheaply enough to be bought and kept until next season.

The Bottom Out.

The bottom has literally fallen out of the prices of Crash Suits, Crash Skirts, Duck Skirts, Pique Skirts and all other ready made garments, and all this while the stock is still fairly well assorted.

In regard to White Goods.

We have not cut prices on white goods, no necessity for so doing. Our prices for white goods are always low, and we show an almost infinite variety of goods. Special values in White Lawns and Corded Piques we can always give you for the asking.

Table Linens.

Some people would call it plunging to buy Table Linens in such quantities as we have been buying lately. Be that as it may we are always ready to plunge if goods are offered us cheap enough. This we know—we are able to give such values in both Bleached and Unbleached Linens, as are rarely offered the buying public. An extra heavy half bleached damask at 39c yd., is a straw showing which way the wind blows.

A Fair Question.

Do you make your sheets and Pillow Cases? Or do you buy them ready made? In either case we are ready to serve you. We have always a full line of double width Standard Sheetings, and splendid sheets full size, 3/4 size and single bed size; Pillow Cases, Bolster Cases, Etc. All are torn, neatly hemmed, clean and ready for immediate use.

A word to the Men.

We have a complete gent's furnishing department, splendidly stocked, splendidly kept, splendidly managed and obligingly waited on. Light weight gauze, medium weight gauze and Summer weight cashmere Underwear. Neglige Shirts 50c to $1 25. Neckwear. Suspenders, Socks, Jewelry, Etc., and what is probably the best 50c white Laundered Shirt in the country.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 18.—At the mass meeting to be held tomorrow evening some startling disclosures may be made. Senator Wm. C. Daly, of Hudson county, is to be present. The Senator was present at the birthday dinner given by W. J. Winges, when Mr. Radel, of the Brunswick Traction Company, was present and is alleged made certain concessions to get the franchise for his trolley through Dunellen. Senator Daly is expected to tell what he knows about the deal as regards transfers, etc.

Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Plainfield, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church in this place last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Martine being absent from town.

Mrs. A. D. Pope and Mrs. Edward Hand, of North Plainfield, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Flemington, have returned home.

About twenty members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church enjoyed a bicyle run to Westfield Saturday evening.

Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, preached for Rev. Mr. Fletcher last Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Wilcox and daughter Margaret, are visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. John Wherley, of Somerville, has been visiting Mayor and Mrs. Swackhamer.

Theodore Apgar has just completed a neat summer cottage on the New Market road.

Charles Adams has returned from a two weeks visit with friends on Staten Island.

Miss Jennie Smalley has returned from a visit with friends in Piscataway.

Mr. and Mrs. Rarick spent Saturday and Sunday at Freehold with friends.

Lynden and Raymond Apgar spent Sunday with friends in Phillipsburg.

Furman Gise, the well-known mason, is confined to the house by illness.

Henry Garretson made a flying trip to Woodbridge yesterday.

Mrs. Edward Teal has been visiting friends in Easton.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 18—Wilbur Miller, who was recently bitten by a large St. Bernard dog belonging to Mrs. Hoffman, of Terrill road, intends bringing an action for damages sustained. The amount to be asked for is $200.

Scotch Plains had a good chance to use its new cages last night about 10 o'clock. Louis Paoli, of Plainfield, who was slightly under the weather, aroused the whole neighborhood in the centre of the village with his shouts and curses in broken English and Italian. He was finally quieted and led away, and the people who had gathered were left to wonder what the cages were intended for.

Miss Beekman, of Plainfield, entertained her Sunday-school class Monday with a trolley ride to the village and a picnic on the mountains.

Ernest Marsh leaves today upon a weeks cruise with the "Prarie," the boat assigned for the annual cruise of the N. J. Naval Reserves.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rogers and daughter, Miss Stella, have been the guest of Mrs. Roger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Ryno.

Miss Hattie Wilcox and her friend, Miss Hoyt, both of Brooklyn, have been visiting Miss Wilcox's mother.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company held their regular monthly meeting in their rooms last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dout, of Brooklyn, are spending two months with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gere.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Frazee, of Fanwood, visited friends in Westfield Monday evening.

Miss Hannah Hayes led the young people's meeting in the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Irving Querean, of New York, has been spending a few days with friends in town.

Miss Kittie Buckley spent Monday with friends in Netherwood.

Mrs. Henry Meyers visited friends in New York Monday.

George Frentz, has gone to Catskills, N. Y., on a visit.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 18.—J. T. Lawrence, well-known in this town and at one time a resident here, died at the New York Hospital Saturday. The funeral services were held from the First Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, New York, yesterday. Rev. N. W. Cadwell, the pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, helped to conduct the services. As soon as the word of the death of Mr. Lawrence reached Westfield Messrs George W. Peck, C. W. Smith, J. B. Green and Edwin Hodges visited the deathbed so as to properly identify the body for Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum, of which the dead man was a prominent member.

Rev. W. S. Barrows, who was at one time the rector of St. Paul's church, in this town, will be the guest of the present rector, Rev. Charles Fiske, next Sunday, and will occupy the pulpit of that church. Mr. Barrows is the head master of De Veaux Collegiate School at Niagara Falls.

William Ross, of fire headquarters, started yesterday on his annual summer vacation, and during his absence Edward Vail will fill his place.

Dr. Augustin Stahl, a naturalist of note, who resides at Bayamon, Porto Rico, accompanied by his wife, are guests of Hon. H. K. Carroll, special commissioner to Porto Rico.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Next month the borough marshals will secure their annual vacation.

—The First Baptist church choir will disband August 1st for the balance of the summer.

—The last connection to the Park avenue storm sewer was made yesterday on Front street.

—"No safety in wading in unknown waters" nor is there safety in experimenting with doubtful goods—come to Peck's.

—On Sunday last a trolley car on the Netherwood branch jumped the track and traffic was delayed for sometime.

—Geo. F. Brown, of Somerset street, has repaired the awning at the Park Golf Clubhouse which was wrecked in a recent storm.

—People with time to read will find at Woodhull & Martins a new and up-to-date line of popular paper covered novels at department store prices.

—The members of the Calvary Baptist church expect to occupy the main room of their new edifice in a few weeks. The finishing touches are now being made.

—Some of the trolley cars used on the Somerset street trolley look as though they were with Noah in the ark. The company seem to think that "any old thing will do for the borough."

—If you don't get another chance to take a day off this summer you should by all means get off Thursday and go to the shore with the Sunday-schools of the First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist, Congregational and Dunellen Presbyterian churches. Arrangements are completed for a fine day.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Bound Brook for 5 cents, which they are doing. They did not say anything about bringing them back."

The doctor said, rather ironically, "that he did not think the Plainfield Street Railway Company or Mr. Radell should now be blamed for something the citizens of Dunellen didn't ask for."

This statement of Dr. Fritts led Thomas W. F. Scanlon, of West Dunellen, to jump to his feet and say that the citizens of Dunellen had nothing to do with the affairs of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. It was with the Brunswick Traction Company that they were going to deal and right severely, too, if the citizens did not receive fair treatment. However, Mr. Scanlon said, he felt the citizens of Plainfield had interests identical with the citizens of Dunellen in this fight, as the traffic of the Brunswick Traction Company was of vital interests to this city from a business standpoint. Mr. Scanlon intimated that at the mass meeting in Dunellen tomorrow night some things would be unearthed regarding how the franchise of the Brunswick Traction Company was secured.

President Lounsbury said the present state of affairs ought not to exist. Both trolley companies should be interested in giving the public good service. He said he had no doubt the Plainfield company felt happy in seeing the Dunellen people in the fix from which they are now trying to extricate themselves. But in justice to the interest of the public and all concerned this controversy about dividing fares should be settled at once. As it is, the trolley companies were making fools of the citizens of Plainfield and Dunellen. He urged the importance of the companies coming together and settling the existing difficulty.

Dr. Fritts said the Plainfield company was willing to assume the old arrangement and run cars as far as the railroad station in Dunellen.

This magnanimous (?) offer brought forth a storm of disapproval on the part of the representatives from Dunellen and their sympathizers in this city.

Much further discussion was had between various members of the Board and those from Dunellen, in which the Plainfield Street Railway was denounced in unmeasured terms for what one man considered as its small and grasping propensities.

Some warm talk was indulged in between Mr. Radell and Supt. Adleman relative to the earnings of their respective companies, since the Brunswick Traction Co's road was built. The discussion was finally brought to a close by Mr. Radell stating that the Brunswick Traction Company was anxious to get into Plainfield and if the city would give them a franchise his road would be only too happy to carry passengers for a five-cent-fare. As to the school tickets Mr. Radell said he did not think the Plainfield company was using the citizens right.

"Just let us in here and we'll use you square. Now I am willing to leave it to this Board of Trade to suggest something and will meet the Plainfield company half way. We're here to do business and not split hairs." (Applause.)

Secretary H. C. Runyon said he was one of the attorneys for the Plainfield Street Railway Company when that company sought to secure a franchise from Dunellen and he did not think that the borough had treated the Plainfield company quite fairly at that time. However, the people of Plainfield were interesred in Dunellen—she wants them to come here to trade and will do what she can to see that her citizens are carried home as cheaply as they were brought here. The Brunswick Traction Company, he said, was certainly a feeder to the Plainfield Company and a very important one at that and should therefore co-operate with it for the welfare of all concerned. As to fares the companies ought to be willing to each give transfers.

Dr. Fritts said he had no authority to act for his company in the matter, but that he would submit to the board of directors the proposition which had been suggested, viz: The Plainfield Street Railroad Company to pay to the Brunswick Traction Company four cents for every passenger carried beyond its lines and the Brunswick Traction Company to pay to the Plainfield Street Railroad Company a like amount for every passenger carried over its line on a transfer.

Mr. Radell said he was willing to make such an agreement then and there if Dr. Fritts would agree to do the same. But the doctor maintained that neither himself or Supt. Adleman had any authority to make any such agreement without the sanction of the directors.

Dr. Fritt's good natured statement that he would do what he could to adjust the existing difficulties and present the suggestions offered at the next meeting of the company, served to dispell the gathering clouds and caused a better feeling to exisit among the Dunellenites.

After some little discussion regarding excursion rates the board adjourned.

Mrs. Denton, of Plainfield avenue, has recovered from a recent illness.

Dr. A. S. Fritts, of Hawley, Pa., has been visiting his father on Park avenue.

W. L. Smalley, Sr., of Craig place, is much improved from his recent illness, and is able to be about once more.

William Ball, of West Front street, who recently moved here from Florida, has partially concluded to return to his former home in the fall.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Mecklenburg.

Schwerin. In der hiesigen Domkirche fand dieser Tage eine imposante Feier zur Erinnerung an die Einführung der Reformation in Mecklenburg vor 350 Jahren statt.

Rostock. Neulich Abends warf hier der Arbeitsmann Frischgesell, dessen Frau jüngsthin gestorben ist, seine drei Kinder, zwei Knaben im Alter von einem und sieben Jahren und ein Mädchen von drei Jahren, bei der Neptunwerft in die Warnow und sprang selbst nach. Der Mörder und zwei Kinder ertranken. Der älteste Knabe, der sich an einen Pfahl festklammerte, wurde später gerettet. Frischgesell hatte seine 13jährige Tochter vorher weggeschickt.

Braunschweig.

Braunschweig. Hier hat ein Kaufmann aus Saarbrücken, Namens Buchwald, erst sein Kind und dann sich selbst erschossen.

Helmstedt. Hier ging ein Wolkenbruch nieder, der dem Heu und den Früchten großen Schaden that und die Hampe'sche Spinnerei total verwüstete.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die von Rechtsanwalt Dr. Osann in der zweiten Kammer beantragte Junggesellen-Steuer ist angenommen worden, und die Herren Hagestolze müssen jetzt entweder unter den Töchtern des Landes Umschau halten oder den vorerwähnten Beitrag zum Staatshaushalt zahlen.

Gustavsburg. Dieser Tage kam auf der Maschinenbau-Aktiengesellschaft der 19jährige Arbeiter Belimann aus Berlin beim Ausladen zwischen zwei Waggons, wobei er schwere Verletzungen an Leib und Brust davontrug, denen er nach wenigen Stunden erlag.

Heppenheim. Hier erschlug der Blitz bei einem heftigen Gewitter den Sohn des Landwirthes Schmuttermeier und den Fuhrmann Eberhardt.

Mainz. Ein Theil der rheinhessischen Pfalz wurde von starkem Hagelschlage getroffen. Die Ernte ist zum Theil vernichtet, der Schaden enorm.—Das städtische Gaswerk hat im abgelaufenen Geschäftsjahre ein glänzendes Ergebniß geliefert. Der Ueberschuß beläuft sich auf 397,642 Mark gegen 297,000 Mark im Jahre 1897—98.

Worms. In einzelnen Kreisen wurde in Folge der Ueberhandnahme der Schädlinge das Schwefeln der Weinberge obligatorisch eingeführt, bei Säumigen wird das Schwefeln durch die Gemeinde auf Kosten der Weinbergbesitzer ausgeführt.

Bayern.

München. Neulich Abends, als der mit einem Luftschiffer und drei Passagieren besetzte Fesselballon der Sportausstellung hoch in der Luft schwebte, versagte die elektrisch betriebene Einholwinde bei plötzlich eingetretener Gewitterböe in Folge Kurzschlusses der Maschine, so daß die Einholung durch Mannschaften des 1. schweren Reiterregiments unter Kommando von Luftschiffer-Offizieren mit Beihilfe des Publikums geschehen mußte.—Dieser Tage hat sich hier ein 12jähriges Mädchen aus Liebesgram ertränkt.

Amberg. Ein Postanweisungsschwindler, der bisherige Postadjunkt Josef Schmucker in Regensburg wurde von dem hiesigen Schwurgerichte zu sechs Jahren Zuchthaus und zehn Jahren Ehrverlust, sein Bruder, der Spängler Georg Schmucker, zu drei Jahren Gefängniß und fünf Jahren Ehrverlust verurtheilt.

Bamberg. Bei Pontonsübungen an der Pegnitz ertrank der Ulan Feldmann, ein geborener Pfälzer.

Berchtesgaden. Die drei jüngeren kaiserlichen Prinzen mit der Prinzessin Viktoria Louise trafen dieser Tage zum Sommeraufenthalt hier ein. Unter den zahlreichen Gepäckstücken der kaiserlichen Kinder und ihrer Erzieher befanden sich nicht weniger als neun Klaviere.

Ingolstadt. Unter dem Titel „Ingolstädter Anzeiger" erscheint hier eine neue Zeitung.

Nürnberg. Freifrau Faber in Stein spendete anläßlich der Enthüllung des Denkmals ihres Mannes 120,000 Mark für Wohlthätigkeitszwecke.—Der beim städtischen Vieh- und Schlachthofe wegen des Verbindungsgeleises angestellte Bahnwärter Ostermayer wurde neulich unter der umgefallenen schweren, zum Vieh- und Schlachthofe führenden eisernen Thüre todt aufgefunden. Da in der Nähe ein Stemmeisen lag, vermuthet man, daß der Wärter irgend eine Arbeit am Thorflügel vornehmen wollte, wobei dieser umfiel.

Passau. Vom hiesigen Landgericht wurde kürzlich eine Frau, die in einer Lokalzeitung ein Inserat mit Unterzeichnung des Namens einer anderen Frau boshafter Weise hatte einrücken lassen, wegen Urkundenfälschung zu drei Tagen Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Schillingsfürst. Auf dem hier stattgehabten Bezirksfeuerwehrtag wurde 19 Mitgliedern der hiesigen Freiwilligen Feuerwehr das Ehrenzeichen für 25jährige Dienstzeit verliehen.

ACCESSORIES.

Guimpes, Belts and Hats to Accompany Costumes.

Decollete bodices, worn over different guimpes, are very pretty for summer and useful as well, for the guimpe may be changed according to the weather, a lined silk one being used when the air is cool, while one of mousseline de soie or embroidered nainsook may be worn for warm days. The guimpe is usually lighter than the rest of the gown.

Velvet belts, with medallions and other designs embroidered in angles, are new and effective, and, unlike the elastic belts of jet and steel beads, do not make the waist look larger. Velvet collars to match the belts are often worn. Black velvet is the prettiest, but colored velvet is also seen. The lower edge of the collar is finished with a bead fringe.

Round hats and toques are worn with elaborate toilets, but nevertheless picturesque large hats are newer, and, although they do not monopolize favor, they enjoy a large share of it. Long strings of illusion are a becoming addition to many of these hats. The strings are attached at the back and brought around to the front, tying under the chin or else below the ear in what carping masculine critics describe as a hangman's knot. A novel idea is to pass the strings through a costly ring in tying them, but a brooch pinned in afterward will have the same effect.

STRAW HAT.

A picture is given of a hat of cream brown straw. In front is a large bow of tulle to match, continuing around the crown in two torsades. A bunch of pink pompon roses is placed in the middle of the bow, and another bunch is raised above it. Beneath the brim, at each side of the front, are coques of tulle, and two black velvet strings come from the back and tie in front. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION NOTES.

Costumes For Afternoon Dances and Garden Parties.

In Paris afternoon dancing parties are becoming more and more fashionable. They are for very young people, as a rule, and, although the rooms are lighted artificially, daylight being excluded as far as possible, the entertainment is not like a ball. The mammas or other relatives who accompany the young girls, to play propriety, wear street costume, including the hat or bonnet, and until lately the dancers appeared in high necked gowns, evening dress being, very properly, deemed appropriate for evening only. Now, however, an innovation is creeping in, and thin, low cut gowns are being adopted by the majority of the young girl guests, although this is not in the best taste.

For garden parties thin costumes are always chosen, and the occasion offers opportunity for gayety of color and the legitimate exercise of fanciful taste, picturesqueness of effect being the special aim.

TAFFETA GOWN.

The cut shows a gown of violet and white glace taffeta with white spots. The skirt closes at the side, where it folds over, the edge being finished with a band of violet silk, above which is a continuous application of guipure. The full bodice is shirred under two bands of guipure and has a guipure yoke, framed in a bertha of white silk incrusted with guipure and headed by a violet silk ruche. The collar is also bordered with a violet ruche, and the belt is of violet silk. The sleeves are corded between the shoulder and elbow. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Punster.

"Can February March?" asked the punster, with a sickly smile.

"Perhaps not," replied the quiet man, "but April May."

June know this ought to be stopped? July awake nights. August chronicler, to arrive at this conclusion?

WOMEN'S REALM

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonable Toilettes.

The popularity of the ruffled skirt made from taffeta, either black, gray or beige color, seems to increase as the season advances and it bids fair to take first place for year with waists of various sorts.

The model shown is in a soft shade of gray and is worn with a fancy waist of figured silk, showing bits of pale corn color in conjunction with mousseline de soie of the same tender yellow. The foundation skirt is circular and fits snugly about the hips. The frills, which are five inches in width, are each cut bias and edged with velvet ribbon stitched on.

The fancy waist is made over a fitted lining which closes at the centre front, but is itself fitted by shoulder seams and smooth under arm gores and closes below the left side, the basque being separate and seamed to the waist proper. The full mousseline is faced to yoke depth at the back and stitched to the right front but hooks over into place at the left shoulder and beneath the left rever. At the neck is a soft collar of the same, supplemented by a frill. The revers are each faced with gray and are trimmed with tiny ribbon frills which match the mousseline in shade.

To make this waist for a lady of medium size five yards of material twenty-two inches wide will be required. To cut the skirt fifteen yards of the same width will be required, the ruffles alone calling for eight yards.

Girl's Costume.

This stylish dress of white organdy is made up over blue lawn linings, the effect being particularly dainty and childlike. Valenciennes lace edging and insertion forms the pretty and inexpensive decoration.

The yoke is made from finely tucked organdie that is sold all ready tucked for this purpose, and is a great help in the development of children's dresses. The full blouse front and gathered back are arranged over a perfectly fitted lining, the yoke being applied at the top. The closing is made invisible in the center back. Graduated frills form bretelles over the shoulders, a band of insertion heading the gathers, and a corresponding band divides the full front from the yoke and extends over the bretelles. The fitting sleeves are banded with four rows of the insertion at equal distances apart, a puff of the organdy being set on at the top and a frill of lace falling from the wrists.

The gored skirt which is a special feature of children's styles this season, is finished at the foot with a straight frill 3 inches in depth, edged with insertion and narrow lace, two bands of insertion encircling the skirt. The fullness at the back is collected in gathers and the skirt is sewed to the lower edge of the waist, the bands over the shoulders extending with pointed ends several inches over the top of skirt in front and back.

In can be made up without the lining to wear over colored slips, as is the fashion in organdies and other plain or figured thin materials. To make this frock for a child of ten years will require 3½ yards of 30-inch material.

POPULAR NAMES OF WARS.

The Conquered Nation Almost Invariably Comes First—Many Cases.

The conflict between the United States and Spain has passed into history as the "Spanish-American" war. At first glance there is nothing strange is this fact. Nobody has ever found out the real source of the names of the millions of objects and events Ordinarily it might almost seem the names were given by accident or chance. The matter of naming wars, however, seems to follow a set rule. Examination reveals the fact that in almost every case the designation of a war by a certain popularly accepted name shows at once the victor and the vanquished, and that in such cases the first name, if two be given, or the one name, if there be only one, is the name of the conquered nation. The two that will at once occur to anyone's memory are the "Franco-Prussian" war, in which the French were defeated, and our own "Spanish-American" war.

But—there are others. In the Trojan war, so-called, the Trojans were defeated by the Greeks and Troy was besieged and captured. The Macedonian wars were gained by the Romans. In the two Punic wars (Punicas: Phoenician; Carthaginian, because Carthage was a Phoenician colony) the Carthaginians were defeated and Carthage was seized by the Romans. In modern times the "Napoleonic" wars, so called, ended in the destruction of the armies of Napoleon and the capture and imprisonment of the emperor. The "Indian" war of 1841 resulted in the establishment by Great Britain of its power over the Indian empire. The "Crimean" war was significant of the defeat of Russia by the allied armies (1856). The "Austro-Italian" war (1859-1860) ended with the defeat of Austria and the independence of Italy. In the "Schleswig-Holstein" war (1864) the Danes were defeated and forced to cede Holstein and Schleswig to the victorious Austro-Prussian coalition. It was of this war about a very complicated situation that Disraeli said, when asked to explain it, that only two men, of whom he was one, in the whole United Kingdom had ever understood what it was all about; the other man was dead, and he had forgotten. Next comes the "Austro-Prussian" war, in which Prussia, by winning the decisive battle of Sadowa, defeated the Austrians. Then we have the "Franco-Prussian" war, ending at Sedan (1870) with the annihilation of the French. The "China-Japan" war, in which the Japanese were conquerors; the "Graeco-Turkish" war, resulting in victory to the Turks, and our own "Spanish-American" war completes the series, and seems to sustain the contention that wars are named from the conquered and not from the conquerors.

Humor Lurks in Ignorance.

Some of the answers handed in on examination are extremely funny, especially for library and clerical positions. One young woman who aspired to hand out books at the public library opined that Chicago's literary lion, Hobart Chatfield Chatfield-Taylor, wrote The Vicar of Wakefield, while Mr. Canterbury wrote Canterbury Tales. This refreshing young person also stated that Mark Twain was the pseudonym of Marc Antony. Her knowledge was not confined to literature alone, for she gave the interesting information that Richard Wagner was a "street car magnate." The three greatest epics she pronounced to be The Psalm of Life, Old Oaken Bucket, and Owen Meredith's Lucile. Being asked to write a short account of herself, the young woman declared that "I am merely a drop in the great ocean of humanity." One of the examiners unfeelingly remarked that "if she stays in that hot library long she'll find herself merely a grease spot."

A man who wanted the position of examiner himself, gave it as his unbiased judgments that "prohibit" may be spelled either "prohibed" or "prohippet," according to "whether you prefer Webstur or uther awthortes."

The World's Table.

When we sit down to the great feast with mankind we are enjoying many things that have delighted fair women and brave men in the past, things that have been on the tables of the cities great in history and in story. There are some things which have been added through the incentive of the rewards offered by those Eastern monarchs who were frequently desirous of new dishes, as that Roman one was for a new pleasure. Many of these things are owed to travelers who brought them from far places. Many have been lifted from the huts and wigwams of savages to the table of the world. Men have curiously watched animals eat, that they might learn the probable effects of foods on themselves. Much, so far as Europe is concerned, is owed to the Arabs; something to the Crusaders, armies have brought back new foods, as that of Alexander the Great and those of the Romans. To the wealth of ancient agriculture modern research has added much. Nearly every country has added something, and nearly every sea. Every part of nature has made its contribution.

Too Inquisitive.

Tommy—Did you do much fighting during the war, pa?

Papa—I did my share of it, Tommy.

Tommy—Did you make the enemy run?"

Papa—You're right, I did, Tommy.

Tommy—Did they catch you, pa?

MODERN FIELD ARTILLERY.

Guns Nowadays Capable of Firing Eighteen and Twenty Shots an Hour.

Field artillery has passed through a complete evolution during the last few years. Increase in rapidity of firing has become an essential condition of the existence of the modern field-piece. All military authorities agree upon the necessity of being able to produce at a given moment terrible effects in the shortest possible time. The difficulty in the problem consisted in avoiding a waste of munitions.

Upon this subject Lieut. Poncet has published in the "Revue d'Artillerie" an interesting article which has been partially inspired by the works of Gen. Langlois upon field artillery. Up to the end of the sixteenth century little attention had been paid to rapid firing. The artillery, moreover, was heavy and clumsy. At the battle of Granson, in 1475, according to Meyer in his "Technology of Firearms," the pieces of Charles the Bold were charged and pointed against the Swiss at the beginning of the combat. The firing began in volleys, but the aim was too high, and this caused the loss of the battle, because there was no time to recharge the pieces. At that period the average artillery fire was about thirty shots a day for each piece. The heating of the pieces also proved to be an obstacle.

Attempts at increasing the rapidity of artillery fire go back as far as the seventeenth century, when the Germans employed the first breech-loading cannon. More serious results were obtained in the time of Frederick II., when the field artillery was made very much lighter. Up to the end of the eighteenth century, with the return of the heavy pieces of artillery of Grebeauval, as well as in the wars of the revolution and of the empire, the maximum rapidity of the fire in battle was from one to two shots a minute for each piece.

Moreover, in the time of smooth-bore guns, the cannonade which preceded the battle was never intended to crush the enemy. It covered the deploying of the troops and presented a chance to gain time without serious loss to the enemy. During the greater portion of the action the artillery fire was almost continuous, but always extremely slow. At the decisive moment, marked by the employment of shrapnel or grapeshot, the artillery discharges were carried on with extraordinary violence, and reached a rapidity of 2½ and even 5 shots a minute for each piece, as, for instance, at Wagram and Friedland, when the batteries opened the breach for the infantry by their grape and canister fire.

With rifled cannon the action was rarely decisive at long range. At an ordinary distance the effect produced was satisfactory, but it was never crushing. For example, at Sadowa, two lines of artillery fought for five hours without either being knocked out. During the Franco-German war the rapidity of fire of the French guns reached one shot a minute with the 12-pound pieces and two shots a minute with the 3 and 4 pound pieces, and the same for shrapnel fire. The rapidity of the German breech-loading guns was very little superior to that of the French.

Since 1871 the progress of field artillery has been considerably increased. In the first advance the range was increased. In the second the destructive power of the projectile was developed by a methodical fragmentation, and in the third and last step this same power has been augmented still more by the general use of the tir fusant, which extends by 500 to 3,000 metres, and even more, the crushing effects of the old shrapnel fire.

It is undeniable that to crush an enemy it is only necessary to increase the offensive power of artillery fire, and to do that the maximum of rapidity is required. "Artillery," says Gen. Langlois, "by its fire ought to be just like an old-time charge of cavalry with this difference, that it is a charge that nothing can stop and which smashes down everything before it." The means employed to that end consist in diminishing the recoil, in accelerating the return of the piece in battery, and in facilitating the pointing, the charging and the firing of the gun. Thanks to the combination of these different advantages, the guns recently made show an increase in rapidity of firing.

The fieldpiece of 1896 adopted by the German Government is made to fire regularly five shots a minute; but that is a limited speed to avoid waste. In reality, the piece is capable of firing double and even treble that number of shots in a minute.

Consequently, the average rapidity of rapid fire field artillery is ten or twelve shots a minute, supposing that the pointing of the piece can be done with the desired accuracy. If only an approximate aim is taken, a rapidity of from eighteen to twenty shots a minute can be easily reached. But it is a good thing to avoid this extreme rapidity; for, as Scharnhorst said at the beginning of the century. "One single shot well aimed is worth several badly aimed or not aimed at all, for if the gun is not pointed what is the use of firing?"

WITH SONGS OF WAR!

BY H. VILLIERS BARNETT.

With songs of War I'll woo thee!
I'll plant the starry banner high.
And sound the wild alarm;
I'll marshal mighty hosts to try.
Conclusion with the enemy.
And Guard thy nest from harm!
I'll post the wary sentinel.
And plot the Ambuscade;
I'll picture how a hero fell.
I'll paint red battle, and I'll tell
How Victories are made.
With songs of War I'll woo thee!

With songs of War I'll woo thee!
I'll sing the march in storm and dust;
The clarion summons heard at dawn
The shock, the shout, the deadly thrust
The gloom, the glory, and the lust,
And the desperate hope forlorn.
The cold dead on the cruel field
I'll sing, and pillaged towns that burn:
How the grim foe was made to yield,
And how the victor's wounds were healed,
And the joy of his return!
With songs of War I'll woo thee.

A Spanish Custom.

The custom is universal in Madrid of closing one of the two outer doors of the house when a person dies. This door is closed for a novena, or period of nine days.

Journalism by Weight.

There are more funny things going on in this big world than ever its people dreamed of. But somehow they never get into books. Now, for instance, in Australia, a country that follows American customs very closely, the people have a great desire for American newspapers. Every steamer that arrives from this country brings its full quota of American journals, which are immediately put on sale. One day I was in Adelaide, South Australia, and I went into a store to buy the Sunday edition of a New York paper. The dealer took one, placed it on the scales, which he scanned very carefully and then said 18 pence (36 cents).

"That costs about one eighth as much in New York," I said.

"Cawn't 'elp that," answered the dealer. "These 'ere papers is massive. They contain lots of good paper, and we got to sell 'em by weight."

"Have you any cheaper?" I asked.

"Yes," he said again. "I've got some cheaper; this one is only 10d; it weighs much less; it has no pictures, you see," and he picked up a Chicago journal of a mid-week date.

"But I want a New York Sunday newspaper," I persisted.

"Well, those will cost you from 18d to 20d (36 to 40 cents) each, according to weight, but I can sell you a Kansas City Sunday paper for 6d (12 cents) if you must have a cheap Sunday edition."

Then I found that the dealer would sell separate sections of a Sunday edition if the customer didn't want the whole, and while I was in the store three men came in and bought different parts of a journal, paying as much as four cents a section. Of course, when the "want ad." part was put on the scales and sold to the fourth customer he didn't know how interesting New York news was until he got home.

Care of the Eyelashes.

The ancients made a art of the cultivation of the eyelashes. It was recognized that, besides adding to the expression of the eyes, the lashes preserved them from the dust, cold, wind and too glaring light, all of which tend to irritate and often inflame the eye. It is therefore not a vanity to endeavor to obtain them and then preserve them from falling out.

A little pure vaseline applied to the eyelashes every night will aid their growth and strengthen them.

THE CHINESE PEDDLER.

Little Ones Have to Depend on Him For Their Toys.

Few, indeed would be their playthings if the Chinese children had to depend on toy stores for them. As it is, the peddler is a familiar sight in every Chinese city, and when the children hear the gong of a toy seller it is a signal for a rush to the front gates to catch him before he gets by.

At a call these men slip the pole from their shoulders and set their baskets on the ground, and there is always a group of children ready to gather around them.

A display of toys carried by one of these toy sellers includes many things familiar to Americans, though the shapes seem odd and fantastic. Clay fruits, dolls of all kinds, pewter jewelry, earrings and hair ornaments, firecrackers of strange shapes which will hardly ever go off, toy pipes, little bowls and chopsticks, small carved idols, little horses, dogs, camels and elephants all covered with rabbit fur, and wagons with music boxes under the seats that grind out a tune as you pull them along.

Other things seem stranger still, for the kites, made in the shape of birds, fish, serpents, dragons and even inanimate objects like bells and houses, will have wind harps fastened on their backs to make them sing while in the air, and will have eyes set loose in their heads, so that when the wind blows the eyes will turn around and look as if they were winking at you. There are long glass trumpets, to be blown like bugles, that give out a beautiful, clear note. Little shuttlecocks made out of a couple of cash bound together with red leather and with a bunch of feathers fastened in the holes in the cash, which the children keep in the air by bumping with their heads and striking with their feet. Molds for making clay money, whistling tops that spin on a string held between two sticks; small whistles to fasten on the tails of pet pigeons to whistle as they fly.

The Principle of Inertia.

By applying the principle of inertia we may produce a number of interesting tricks that will amuse and perhaps instruct some of the big folks as well as the children. One trick requires an old broomstick, sawed off at the broom end. Two paper rings about twelve inches in diameter are made by pasting together strips of writing paper an inch wide. Two sharp table knives or razors should be held by two persons, each holding one on the same level with the sharp edge upward. Over these the paper rings are to be passed and the broomstick suspended by the paper rings. The performer then takes a strong stick and strikes the broomstick a sharp, strong blow in the middle, and it breaks instantly, without tearing the paper rings or causing them to cut on the razors.

Or this can be done by sticking a needle in each end of the broomstick and resting the needles on the edges of glass goblets stood on chairs. In either case the blow struck in the middle breaks the stick without moving the supports. A pile of checkers may be put on the table and by one blow with the edge of a knife the center or even the bottom one may be removed without disturbing the others.

How to Make a Paper Fish Swim.

Cut out of ordinary paper a fish. In the center of the body must be a circular opening, communicating with the tail by a narrow canal. Place water in an oblong vessel and lay the fish carefully on the water, so that its under side will be thoroughly wetted, though its upper surface remains dry.

Pour delicately one or two drops of oil within the circular opening. The oil will strive to spread itself over the surface of the water, but by doing so it can only travel along the little canal that leads to the tail. By a reactive effect the fish will be impelled in a direction opposite to that in which the oil will go. The movement will last quite long.

A Grateful Cat.

A Boston family had a cat of which they thought a great deal. The cat was sick, and in spite of careful nursing, catnip tea and all they could do, the cat grew worse, and they had to call the doctor. The doctor soon put pussy on her feet again.

Not long after this doctor was called again to see a member of the same family. No sooner had the doctor entered the room than the cat appeared, took a seat beside the doctor and did not stir until the physician had left. Every day the doctor returned, and every day the cat sprung to greet him with every appearance of delight.

Race Between Swallow and Dragon Fly.

A swallow is considered one of the swiftest of flying birds, yet a dragon-fly can escape with the greatest ease from his pursuer, so swiftly does this insect fly. A naturalist tells of an exciting chase he saw between a swallow and a dragon-fly. The insect flew with incredible speed, and wheeled and dodged with such ease that the swallow, despite its utmost efforts, completely failed to overtake and capture it.

Artificial legs and arms were in use in Egypt as early as B. C. 700. They were made by the priests, who were the physicians at that early time.

THE BLACK WOLF.

Its Mean Traits—Different Ways in Which Hunters Catch Them.

Some little readers have probably heard about the small boy who thought it rare fun to frighten his friends by crying "Wolf! Wolf!" as though he were being pursued. They lived in a wild part of the country where wolves were frequently seen, but in time they grew used to Johnnie's little joke, so that one day when he cried "Wolf! Wolf!" in frantic tones they paid no attention to him. Alas! that day a wolf really did sneak out of the woods—a hungry wolf—and poor little Johnnie furnished him a very satisfactory meal. There is a deep meaning attached to this fable, which you had best ask your mother to explain.

Well, the Black Wolf, is a fierce looking fellow indeed. We have heard so many stories about wolves attacking travelers and their horses that we have thought them full of ferocity and courage, when in fact they are the most cowardly of all our animals. Unless pressed by extreme hunger they never attack animals larger than themselves, and then only in packs. A cur dog, as a rule, can drive the largest wolf on the plains. Lean, gaunt, and hungry looking, they are the essence of meanness and treachery. Their long, bushy tails are carried straight out behind, but when the animal is frightened, he puts his tail between his legs just like the common dog.

There are men who make it a business to go wolf hunting in order to secure their "pelts," or hides. The bait they use is the carcass of some animal, elk, deer, or coon, which they impregnate with poison, and leave in a place which will do the most good. In the morning sometimes as many as fifty dead wolves will be found scattered about the carcass whose flesh they had so ravenously devoured. A wolf skin is worth about one dollar and a half, so that it pays a hunter very well to "catch" a number of these mean animals.

They are sometimes hunted on horseback with hounds, but they can run with such speed when frightened, that no ordinary dog can keep up with them. Among the pack are one or more greyhounds, who bring the wolf to bay and allow the other dogs to come up.

The "Capture of Havana."

Draw on board or cardboard a design like the following, only much larger. Cut out six small boats of cardboard, with a "turn over" at the bottom so they will sit upright. Place two boats on each spot marked "port" and take one dice and throw three times—each time moving a different boat. If you throw more than a three-spot you cannot move, but have another turn. If you stop on spots marked "sandbar" you are aground and lose next turn. If stop on "Spanish Fleet" you go back to "port." If stopped on this spot twice, even if by different boats, one must be forfeited; if you stop on "mine" you forfeit a boat. The idea is to get boats safely into Havana harbor, and the one getting in first wins. A boat cannot move to a spot occupied by another boat. The thrower loses that turn. One, two or three people can play this game.

Tommy's Arbor-Day Speech.

Miss Smith had invited all the people in the neighborhood to attend the Arbor day exercises, writes M. E. S. in Youth's Companion. She had said to the children:

"We will plant good trees, and if we take good care of them, we can make this bare schoolyard so beautiful that in four or five years it will seem like a different place.

"And just think how pleasant it will be for the children who will go to school here ten years from now," she added, "or twenty years—or thirty!"

With this idea in mind the children had worked with a will, and when Arbor day came the holes were all dug, and rich earth had been brought to fill in around the roots. At 2:30 each pupil was in his place, ready with the song or speech or recitation which he was to give before planting his tree.

Miss Smith led the visitors from place to place, and everything went on just as had been arranged till they came to little Tommy West.

When Miss Smith saw his excited face and the trembling of the hand that held the pine tree, she was sure he had forgotten his verses, and she was just about to prompt him when he started out on his own hook:

"This is a pine tree," he gasped, clutching at it as if for support. "And—and I hope it will grow up into a forest and—and be a comfort to my ancestors!"

A Double Compliment.

There is a little 5-year-old girl in Chicago who evidently appreciates her mother partly because she is her mother and partly because of self-appreciation. "Mamma," she said the other morning, "guess what Mabel's mamma said about you at the party last night." "I don't know, I'm sure. What was it, dear?" asked her mother. "Why," was the reply, "she said you was the sweetest little girl's mother in Chicago."

GOLF.

There is great rivalry at golf between Drs. B. VanD. Hedges and F. C. Ard, and whenever the opportunity offers these two experts can be found on the Hillside links contesting for honors. The scores usually are very close, sometimes being the same. Both are confident that they can beat the other, but there is little vantage on either side.

Among the young women who have recently taken up the game of golf on the Park Golf Club links is Miss May Coleman, daughter of Major Coleman, of the Hunterston. Although but a novice, as yet, Miss Coleman shows an aptitude for the game that is remarkable. At driving, particularly, she gives promise of soon becoming quite proficient. Her friends are watching her progress in the game with much interest.

There is one hole on the course of the Park Golf Club that is rightly named. It is the sixth hole and they call it "Desperation." It is only 274 yards long, but there are enough hazards there to satisfy the most exacting. There are two nice ditches that lay there gaping to take in any stray drive. A fair drive lands the ball in the first ditch, while a phenomenal drive winds up in the second. Then there are bushes and trees on either side waiting for a pulled or sliced drive, whichever it happens to be. Bogey does it in 5 strokes, but it often takes the players many more.

ROD AND GUN.

Albert Eaton and W. A. Schorb returned home yesterday after having been the guests of the William A. Mason Fishing Association, of Jersey City. They came home loaded down with fine specimens of the finny tribe, which were captured on a fishing trip on the "Three Sisters" to the banks off Sandy Hook Sunday.

'TWAS ALL A HOAX.

Story About Pugilist Jeffries Caused Much Excitement Around City Hotel.

Jim Jeffries, the champion pugilist, was reported to have been in Plainfield last night. He was said to be stopping at the City Hotel. The story of the noted pugilist's arrival spread as rapidly as a prairie fire. The City Hotel was the objective point of many of the sporting fraternity, the colored element being in the majority. But there was nothing in the rumor. It was purely a hoax. The story eminated in the fertile mind of a well known joker, who had noticed a tall man of athletic build, dressed in dark clothing who suggested the prize fighter's physique.

But that was all. In a spirit of fun the joker had said to a friend, "That's Jeffries, the man who licked Bob Fitzsimmons." Then the news spread.

The victim of the hoax, a well known traveling salesman for a coffee house, was unconscious of the excitement his presence had caused.

Later, when he learned that he had been taken for a prize fighter, he was madder than a wet hen. Clerk Rogers, with commendable tact, finally after much persuasion succeeded in convincing his guest that it was all a joke.

The traveling man in question does not in the least resemble Mr. Jeffries save in size. Neither is he possessed of any pugnacious proclivities.

The Kissing Bug.

The "kissing bug" has reached Plainfield. A peculiar specimen of an insect was captured a day or two ago and is now on exhibition in a glass show case at Weinberger's clothing store on West Front street. The bug is a ferocious looking thing and resembles not a little a large sized wasp.

Was Not a Witness.

Freeholder Mobus, of North Plainfield, called at The Press office yesterday and stated that he did not appear as a witness in the case tried at Somerville last week wherein a fence on the mountain caused the trouble. Mr. Mobus says that he knows nothing whatever about the case.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

GUESTS PICTURED ADS.

SUCCESSFUL TABLEAUX AT THE HOTEL HUNTERSTON.

Were Held in the Hotel Ballroom Last Evening—Names of Pictures and the Participants -- The Committee.

The young people at the Hotel Hunterston entertained the other guests and friends from Plainfield last evening with an exhibition of "living advertisements." The tableaux were shown on a temporary stage erected at one end of the large ballroom. Huge lanterns were used to illuminate the stage. The effect was excellent, and the audience, numbering nearly a hundred, was enthusiastic in its appreciation of the success of the affair.

Mrs. Albert E. Gallant and Miss Louise Kane, of New York, were the moving spirits in the arrangement of the entertainment and they found Joseph Naylor Jones, of New York, the stage manager and master of ceremonies, a very efficient coworker.

The tableaux and the participants were as follows: "Londonderry Lithia Water," F. Lloyd Kane, New York, Mrs. A. E. Gallant, New York; "Packer's Tar Soap," the Hunterston mascot; "Knox Hats," Miss Dessie Morris, Washington, Miss Garre, Brooklyn, Miss Katherine Long, Washington; "Woodbury's Facial Soap," Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson, Plainfield; "Baker's Cocoa," Miss Louise Kane, New York; solo by Louis Rodney Berg, of the Waldorf Astoria, New York; "Diamond Dyes," Miss Garre, Brooklyn; "Bell Search Company," Miss Katherine Long, Brooklyn; "Rubifoam," Robert Furman, New York; duet by Master and Miss Rogers; "Ralston Breakfast Food," Dick Waring, Plainfield, Miss Juanita Humphrey, Washington; "Dr. Scott's Electric Hairbrush," Dr. Albert E. A Woman's Life in Utah.

No Morman woman will talk from her heart to a stranger notably and essentially when that person is a Gentile, (in Mormondom, every one who is not a Morman is a Gentile), for she knows by sad experience that this would but increase her sufferings. Of all the sacrifices that have ever been exacted of the single, loving heart of true wife and mother, in the name of religion, none can equal those of polygamy, which these women were taught would practiced through all eternity, as it was "the celestial order of heaven," an eternal law. Under its baneful influence a wife lived in the same house with her husband, surrounded by their children, a lonely, disconsolate woman. The confidence and respect that should have united their hearts, made one their interests, is first defiled and then destroyed. She early learns to be silent and observing. After their evening meal, if she sees her husband make as careful and elaborate a toilet as their circumstances permit, she dares not ask him where he is going. But that fear that ever abides in the heart of every Mormon wife eats, canker-like, at her vitality.

She may try to drive these thoughts away; she may say to herself, "No, whatever other men may do, however they may deceive their wives, my husband will be honest and true. He will not deceive me." Up almost to the hour that she is expected to go to the "Endowment House" and place the hand of the second wife in that of her husband, she gives her hungry soul this soothing balm. But ultimately, she must awaken to the fact that no man can practice polygamy without becoming a hypocrite. Many of these women believe, or try to believe, that polygamy is a revelation from God, and consequently must be obeyed. But if any Gentile woman will try to think how she would feel if her husband were to tell her that he is soon to bring into their home a second wife, to usurp her place in the family circle, share her husband's affections, come between her and the man who had been her all in all for so many years, that woman will have arrived at a full, perfect, exact comprehension of what a Mormon woman suffers.

Back Alleys.

This scheme of a back alley has never been adopted in New York. It is known in Boston and is not uncommon in Philadelphia. The advantages of the plan are obvious, but it is urged that a city or a quarter so arranged is more difficult to police. As for the space required, if the passageways and front entrances with their approaches be reckoned up for all the houses in a block, it wil perhaps be found that an alley through the centre of the block would be a saving. On the other hand, the arrangement which has been made in some parts of London, by which all the ground in the heart of the block, upon which the back windows look, is turned into one continuous garden—the adoption of this admirable scheme would bar out the back alley, as also our American system of doing the washing in the house. London has its washing, and therefore its drying, done far away in the country, out of reach of the "blacks."—Harper's Magazine.

Babylon Exploration.

Interesting results are expected from the expedition to explore the ruins of Babylon sent out by the German Oriental society. The ruins lie about two day's journey from Bagdad, and cover an enormous area. The part to be especially excavated is the site of the palace in which Alexander the Great died. The Turkish Government has given its consent, and it is expected that the work will require about five years.

MOUNTAIN HOME FOR SICK BABIES.

Opening of the King's Daughters Worthy Charity.

WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

CHARMING LITTLE FRAME COTTAGE ON THE FIRST MOUNTAIN.

Many Visited Yesterday Afternoon When Formal Opening Took Place—Daily Press Was Largely Instrumental in Raising Funds For the Building and Its Maintenance—Description of the House.

The baby camp on the mountain is once more a reality. The neat little cottage where suffering small children found health and strength in the invigorating mountain air, which fell a prey to the forest fires last winter, has been succeeded by a new structure, equally as neat and convenient. Yesterday afternoon saw the opening of this worthy charity in the interests of which the City Union of King's Daughters has labored so faithfully. Nearly a hundred people drove or walked to the camp and admired the new camp, in the raising of the funds for which The Daily Press took such a prominent part.

When the news came last winter, telling of the destruction of the old camp, the King's Daughters felt rather discouraged. This spring, however, they announced their intention of making another attempt. They wanted $1,000 to build the new camp, pay its running expenses for the year and meet such incidental expenses as might arise. The Daily Press took a hand. A subscription list was started in the columns of this paper and some $250 has since been turned over to the treasurer of the City Union through the agency of The Press. About $300 has been subscribed through other agencies.

Just two weeks ago today work on the new camp was begun. A new site was chosen, a mile to the westward of the old one and close to the old lookout on the brow of the first ridge of the Watchung Mountains. The little cottage stands on the southern side of the road in a grove of great trees, close to the spring. The outlook from rear piazza is a grand one.

The cottage is a simple clap-boarded structure, with a peak shingle roof. A rustic porch faces Johnston's Drive. Over it is a sign, "Baby Camp," and flanked on either side by the King's Daughters' cross. Another porch of a similar character is in the rear and from it a wonderful view of all the surrounding country is visible.

The building was designed by Herman Hansen, the builder, and Miss Edith B. Little, chairman of the committee from the City Union. Hansen had charge of the erection of the cottage and accomplished the work in short order. The house was ready for occupancy Saturday. Monday the furniture and fittings were taken up to the cottage and the place put in order.

The cottage itself is 26 feet long and 16 feet wide. There are two rooms, a living room, 16 feet by 18 feet, where the children will spend their time when in the cottage, and a kitchen, 8 feet by 16 feet, where the babies' food will be prepared.

The living room is now tastefully arranged with tables, chairs, bric-a-brac and pictures, while three cribs await the arrival of the little ones. Two cots are also to be added. In the kitchen there is an oil stove and various other modus operandi that is necessary.

The growth of underbrush close to the camp has been cleared away and a fair looking lawn made. A good path leads to the spring close by, which has been cleaned out and handily arranged. This is the result of the efforts of Gus Feiring in behalf of the camp. A flag staff, rising from a heap of stones, supports an American flag. Both of these were donated by George F. Brown, of Somerset street.

Mr. Harding, the foreman for Builder Hanson, was particularly useful in assisting the committee. He constructed the rustic seats that have been placed about the yard and the rustic railings to the porches.

The great flag on the staff and countless smaller ones fastened to the porch railings gave the place quite a gala appearance yesterday afternoon. The guests were received in the main room by the committee from the City Union. They were Miss Edith B. Little, chairman; Miss Ella Blish, Miss Emma Gillem, Miss Katheryn Glen, Mrs. Edward Caldwell and Mrs. Frank Bowley. The city nurse, Miss Octavia Setzer, was also present and met many of the guests. Lemonade and wafers were served during the af-

STRANGERS TALK OF A POISONING.

They Tell the Middlesex Coroner of Their Suspicions.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 19.—A man and a woman, both strangers, told Coroner Moke yesterday, they wished him to investigate an alleged poisoning case. They said that some time ago a married woman went to board at the house of a widower in Jamesburg. She went there because her husband was going out of town to get work. Soon she was taken ill with a complaint that the physician diagnosed as appendicitis or peritonitis. She died, and was buried on the physician's certificate.

The Coroner's visitors expressed the belief that she had been murdered by poison. They would not disclose their names, the name of the deceased woman, nor the name of the man with whom she boarded, nor even the name of the physician.

Coroner Moke is making a search of the vital statistics of Jamesburg, with a view to finding who the woman was and who was her physician. He thinks his callers were cranks.

The National Disease Worry.

The break down in American life comes from worry, and worry has almost come to be a National disease. The true secret of health and life and success is cheerfulness, but you can't be happy or cheerful with an aching corn or painful bunions. W. S. Stevens, real estate, Front street, Dunellen, says: "For years I was in misery. Big toe joints and bunions so swollen and painful. After a painless treatment by Specialist Brown the pains left my feet and the bunions and big toe joints are now reduced in size." R. H. Rushton, painter, 434 West Fifth street; Derick Mattis, 86 Fairview avenue; W. W. Stratton, 339 Park avenue, all say that Mr. Brown has completely and perfectly cured their ingrowing toe nails, corns and bunions and enlarged great toe joints. Mr. Stratton, who is the popular and well-known manager of Boynton Beach, also states that for years he was a great sufferer from a complicated nervous trouble, but since his feet were cured his general health has greatly improved. Owing to home office engagements, Mr. Brown's Plainfield visit will close next Saturday evening, July 22d. Office 145 West Second street, Plainfield.

Bicycle Stolen.

A few days ago Edgar Brokaw's youngest son left his wheel in front of his brother's piano store on East Front street. While he was absent someone stole the bicycle and a vigorous hunt has failed to disclose its identity.

To Consider the Trolley.

A very important meeting of the Common Council will be held held tomorrow evening at which time there will be a consideration of the trolley extension through Arlington avenue.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS HAS BEEN NAMED.

The Plainfield Advancement Association is Wide Awake.

MANY NAMES ENROLLED.

PRESIDENT SMALLEY SUGGESTS HOLDING A CLAM BAKE.

That the Citizens May Come Together and Learn of the Importance of the Association's Work—All Business Men to be Invited—Mass Meeting in City Park in Aid of Monument Association.

There was not as large an attendance last night at the regular meeting of the Plainfield Advancement Association as usual, owing presumably to the fact that a number of the members are out of town. President Smalley presided and in the absence of Secretary Martine, Frank Rowley acted as secrecretary pro tem.

Elston M. French, as chairman of the committee on organization, reported that the committee had selected the following gentlemen as members of the board of directors: Plainfield—First ward, W. A. Coddington; Second ward, C H. Hand; Third ward, J. A. Smith; Fourth ward, W. H. Moore. North Plainfield—First district, B. A. Hegeman, Jr.; Second district, Andrew E. Kenney. On motion the gentlemen named were unanimously elected.

Mr. French, from the railroad committee, reported progress. He said that the committee had had two interviews with officials of the Lehigh Valley road, who had given the committee to understand that it wished to come to Plainfield. It was expected that the officials would visit this city in the near future and look over the proposed route.

Judge Runyon offered a motion, which was adopted, that the secretary be directed to notify the newly elected board of directors of their election, when the president can call a meeting of the directors and have a full list of all committees named.

President Smalley called attention to the Monument Association and asked what was being done in the matter. He thought it might be a good idea to have a mass meeting in the city park in the near future—on some Saturday, when good speakers could be secured to invoke an interest in the project.

The President also suggested that it might be a good idea to hold a clam bake as soon as feasibe for the purpose of getting the business men of the city together and enlisting their interests in the Association. It was the more easy he thought to reach a man's stomach through his heart than in any other way, and he felt that if the citizens could be gotten together at a clam bake it would prove of vast benefit to the Association. Upon motion of Judge Runyon a committee consisting of William N. Runyon, W. F. Williams and Elston M. French was named to make arrangements for holding a picnic or clam bake.

It was the sense of the members that the clam bake or field day, as some choose to call it, be held early in August, the date to be named later.

Frank Rowley was requested to fill the position of treasurer pro tem during the absence of Treasurer Coward.

President Smalley called attention to the time set for the regular meetings of the Association, which are on the third Tuesday of each month. He said that he wished to impress upon the minds of all members the importance of being in attendance. The work of the Association was of the greatest importance to every citizen of Plainfield, and where there was union there was strength.

Before adjourning a large number enrolled themselves as members of the Association.

MUST REPAIR THE STREET.

Street Railway Company Did Not Do Work Well Enough.

When the Street Railway Company, at various times, dug up West Front street to put in new ties and afterward periodically for other purposes, the pavement was fairly well replaced, but it has become uneven and generally unsatisfactory, so the company has been requested by the Street Commissioner to have it put in proper order.

Dogs Must be Muzzled

Mayor Smalley, of the borough, is about to issue an edict concerning dogs in his community. They will have to be muzzled or else they will be numbered among the missing.

CARRYING THE MAIL ON TROLLEY CARS.

Postal Authorities Making the Preliminary Inevestigation.

IT MEANS RAPID SERVICE.

NEW JERSEY'S NUMEROUS LINES AFFORD FINE FACILITIES.

Shore Mails From This Section Would Receive Quicker and Better Delivery to All Points—No Changes Expected Immediately—Opening of New Lines Will Inaugurate the Postal System.

The United States Postal Department is making investigations of trolley facilities and connections in Middlesex, Somerset and Union counties, with a view to bettering the mail service to shore points by using the trolley in conjunction with steam railroad lines.

It is not expected that any changes will be made immediately, but the granting of a franchise to the Brunswick Traction Company for the line from South Amboy to Sayreville, connecting with the line already built through South River, New Brunswick, Bound Brook and Somerville, and connecting with Metuchen and Plainfield, has attracted attention to the possibility of using the trolley for local mail service. When the South Amboy line is built it will furnish direct connection with the Central Railroad's and the New York and Long Branch Railroad's short lines at South Amboy.

Owing to the greater frequency with which cars are run on the trolley lines, and the directness of connection, local mails for Shore points, it is said, can be handled much more quickly and get to their destinations more promptly by being sent by trolley to South Amboy, and there transferred to the steam lines. At present New Brunswick shore mails are sent to South Amboy on the Raritan River Railroad, but only two trains run a day, and other mails are compelled to go by way of New York or Philadelphia to reach shore points.

There is every reason to believe that just as soon as the missing link between Sayreville and South Amboy is supplied local mails for the shore from Somerville, Bound Brook, New Brunswick and Middlesex county points will be sent by trolley to South Amboy. Several postoffice officials have examined the system and express themselves as satisfied with its possibilities.

THE CRANFORD CARNIVAL.

There Will be Fifty-three Boats at Least in the Parade.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, July 19—At a meeting of the Cranford Boating Association, held at the Electic Club rooms at this place, it was unanimously decided to hold a Venetian carnival on the Rahway river at this place Saturday evening, August 10. The general carnival committee consists of C. J. McIntire, J. I. Crane, W. W. Buckley, W. B. Clark, D. Smock, George B. Jones, E. B. Farrand, C. Reimer, J. M. P. Josephs, Townsip Clerk Samuel T. Marshall, D. H. Hopkins, Albert Hibson, H. Vanderpool, Louis E. Hendrickson, M. Iseman, G A. Morrison, District Clerk J. N. Brundage, C. R Williams and E. Beadle, Jr. Fifty-three boats were pledged by owners to appear in the carnival beautifully decorated.

The expense of the carnival will be borne by private subscription. The carnival this year will surpass all others which have made Cranford famous.

To Go Awheel

The bicycling division of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will pay a fraternal visit to Pioneer Council, of Bound Brook, this evening. The Juniors will gather at their rooms and then go to Bound Brook awheel, where the Bound Brook Juniors will entertain them in proper fashion.

Death of Fred Speer.

Fred Speer, son-in-law of Frederick VanLiew, of LaGrande avenue, died at his home in Somerville yesterday, after a long illness with consumption. Mr Speer was a very examplary young man and none knew him but to love him and speak well of him. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

Lawn Party for Little People.

Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman gave a lawn party yesterday afternoon to her young son, Warren. There were about forty of his youthful friends present. The tables were laid on the lawn, where the children partook of their supper. Most of the time was spent in playing games.

To Have a Smoker.

Protective Conclave, No. 505, Order of Heptasophs, will meet this evening and have a "smoker" after the regular routine business is transacted.

LEHIGH MAY COME HERE ON A LOOP

A New and Feasible Scheme is Now Proposed.

MEETS WITH GREAT FAVOR.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS WILL GO OVER THE ROUTE.

The Loop Will Leave the Main Line Near Picton and After Passing Through This City Will Swing Back to the Main Line at Either Oak Tree or South Plainfield—For Passenger Trains.

The project of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company tapping Plainfield in order to compete for local traffic with the Central Railroad of New Jersey is being quietly but vigorously prosecuted by the officials of the former company, assisted by a committee from the Plainfield Advancement Association.

Plans have been prepared for the Lehigh Valley to touch Plainfield in an entirely different way from any proposed previously. Heretofore the project has been for the road to build a branch from South Plainfield to Plainfield, a distance of three miles, and to run local trains between the two points to connect with the main line.

The idea under consideration at present, however, is to build a loop so that Plainfield can be made the stopping place for all the principal passenger trains on the road. According to the plans prepared the eastern end of the loop would leave the main line in the vicinity of Picton and then run through the country from there to the eastern end of this city, then turning to the south and tapping the main line again at either Oak Tree or South Plainfield.

The committee of local business have had a conference with the officials of the Lehigh and they have expressed a desire to get into Plainfield over the route now proposed. It is expected that President Alfred Walter, of Philadelphia, will be the guest of General Passenger Lee, who resides in this city, within a short time and that he, together with some of the other officials, will personally go over the route of the proposed loop.

DEATH OF MRS. ALLEN.

Occurred Last Evening at the Age of Seventy-seven Years.

In the death of Mrs. Charlotte W. Allen, aged 77 years, which occurred last evening at her home on Grandview avenue, one of Plainfield's oldest residents has passed away. Mrs. Allen was the widow of the late Gideon Allen, who for many years was prominently identified in the baking and confectionery business.

Mrs. Allen was the daughter of the late Deacon Henry Hetfield, of Scotch Plains, and a sister of Carman R. Hetfield, the multo-millionaire, of Brooklyn, who is one of the principal owners of the New York Biscuit Company. She was taken ill last March, but not until July 4th was her condition considered serious. She had heart trouble and suffered a great deal. During the past few weeks she was given constant attendance to relieve her sufferings.

Mrs. Allen was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist church, where she was a faithful and regular attendant. She was a staunch Christian and died in the faith. She was in well-to-do circumstances. Four children survive her. John and Howard Allen, of Grandview avenue; Mrs. Eugene Moore, of Warrenville, and Mrs. F. O. Smith, of West Front street. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Died at the Hospital.

The death of Miss Margaret Monks, aged forty years, of 448 West Second street, occurred last evening at the hospital. Death was due to acute inflammation of the kidneys following an operation performed Monday. Miss Monks resided with her mother and was her only support. She also leaves a sister who is married. Announcement of the funeral will be made tomorrow.

A Day at the Seashore.

The prospects are that tomorrow will be an ideal one for a day at the seashore and a grand opportunity is offered to Plainfielders to go with the Sunday schools of the First Presbyterian, Congregational, Park Avenue Baptist and Dunellen Presbyterian churches. These are good people to go with and there is no doubt but what they will have a good time.

Cornelius Schenck, Jr., son of Rev. Dr. C. Schenck, of West End Park, is 9 years old today, and his heart was made glad by the gift from his parents of a bicycle.

NO STRIKE ON LEHIGH.

EIGHT OF TEN GRIEVANCES HAVE BEEN ADJUSTED.

General Manager Wilbur Met the Employes and Found That There Was No Serious Thought of a Strike.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 19—There is not the least possibility of a strike on Lehigh Valley Railroad, and the rumors that have come from Easton are made out of whole cloth. A member of the board on adjustment told a reporter this morning that the conference with Col. Rollin H. Wilbur, the general manager, had a most satisfactory conclusion, and that at no time was there thought of a strike in the minds of the board members.

On the road there are a number of men representing the different brotherhoods, who form what is known as the board of adjustment and who, when, called upon, consider grievances and present them to the company's officials for settlement. This committee is empowered to make negotiations which are binding upon the men, but cannot declare a strike without first polling the various divisions of the orders, and counting the blank ballots and finding the sentiments of the men to be favorable to such action.

The Board met Col. Wilbur yesterday, and the conference was concluded last night. Ten grievances were presented for discussion, and of the ten, eight were granted by Col. Wilbur after some little discussion. The other two were not denied, but the company will require a few days for inquiry before giving its answer. Even if these are not granted they are no cause for a strike, as they are not of general importance, and refer only to a small complaint on this, the Wyoming, and one other division.

NAVAL RESERVES' CRUISE.

Will Spend a Week at Target Practice and Then Go to Sea.

The Battalion of the East and two divisions of the Battalion of the West, New Jersey Naval Reserves, left today on the converted cruiser Prairie for their annual cruise.

The Western divisions arrived in Hoboken last night and took up quarters on the training ship Portsmouth. The Eastern Battalion reported on the Portsmouth at 8 o'clock and all then boarded the Prairie at Fifteenth street.

A week will be spent in target practice at the eastern end of Long Island. A sea cruise will occupy the remainder of the time until the return to Hoboken July 27th.

PAVING WORK IS STOPPED.

Elizabeth Property Owners Object to the Contractor's Ways.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 19—Property owners on South Park street appealed to the Mayor and City Council to stop the paving on South Park street, alleging it was not properly done. The Mayor and Street Commissioner stopped the work yesterday.

When property owners saw how the work was being done they spoke to the contractor, and he pushed one of the largest property owners, John F. Dolan, off the street. This was the signal for a tumult, and only the arrival of Mayor Mack prevented trouble. He made a speech which quieted the crowd.

Death Due to Consumption.

Albert Schmiedel, aged 36 years, died early this morning after a long illness with consumption. He has been a resident of this city for two years, having come here from his native place, Batavia, N. Y. He resided with Mrs. Dean, of Somerset place. In answer to a telegram his brother arrived here at midnight and was with him when he died. Mr. Schmiedel was unmarried. During his residence here he was employed by Marsh & Ayres, painters and paper hangers. His body will be sent to Batavia for interment.

Cut Bicycle Tire.

A wheelman from Finderne passed through Plainfield Monday afternoon and left his bicycle standing in the City Hotel sheds. When he returned for it, he found that some miscreant had cut a gash four inches long in the side of his rear tire. The wheelman expressed his wheel home and took the trolley. Before he left, however, he expressed the wish to meet the man who cut the tire.

Red Men to be Jolly.

Panghcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, Independent Order of Red Men, will hold an entertainment this evening at their hall when a baker's dozen of chiefs will be raised up. An interesting literary and musical programme has been arranged and refreshments will be served. The entertainment will be for the members only and their wives.

CHIEF GRANT CAUSED ARREST OF DARLING.

Received Tip as to His Whereabouts a Month Ago.

MURDERER TALKED MUCH.

WAS INTOXICATED WHEN HE GAVE HIMSELF AWAY.

Suspicious Talk Heard by a Man Who Immediately Notified Chief Grant of the Circumstances—Latter Had Considerable Difficulty in Interesting the Officials of Pennsylvania in the Case.

The sensation which followed the announcement in yesterday's Daily Press of the capture of William Darling, the murderer of Harry Dunham, in Thompson township, Fulton county, Pa., Monday, led to many inquiries as to how the capture was made and what were the circumstances in connection with the arrest. At first everyone was led to doubt the truthfulness of the report, but later on there seemed to be no doubt but what Darling had been captured.

The Daily Press is able to present some interesting facts in the case which discloses just how Darling was caught. It was about a month ago that Captain Grant, of this city, received a letter from some unknown person residing at McConnellsburg, Pa., telling him that William Darling, of Plainfield, was living in Thompson township, and that from what could be learned he was wanted for some heinous crime. This party stated that while Darling was in a state of intoxication he had disclosed certain things which led him to believe that something was wrong about the man. Darling told that he had a sister living in Plainfield and that from her he was receiving $20 a month. He also told that he did not dare return to Plainfield because he was wanted for forgery. All these things were told by Darling while under the influence of liquor, and it was this that led Captain Grant's informant to write to this city. The Captain at once secured a capias and sent it to his informant asking him to cause the arrest of Darling, but he received word in return that the informant could not act in the matter, but referred the Captain to Sheriff Sheets, of McConnellsburg, and Capt. Grant communicated with the Sheriff. He wrote several letters and did not receive a single reply.

In the meantime Lawyer Skinner, of Pea Coal Tannery, Pa., communicated with Captain Grant about the matter and asked him why he did not write to Sheriff Sheets. The Captain replied that he had but could get no reply. This letter was taken by Lawyer Skinner's wife to the Sheriff, who became somewhat disgruntled at the seeming unnecessary activity. He then wrote the Captain telling him that he would attend the case as soon as possible, but that inasmuch as so much publicity had been given the case he doubted whether Darling could be caught safely. In all letters that Captain Grant sent to the Sheriff he warned him to be well prepared when he arrested Darling as he was a very dangerous person. Yeterday morning the Captain received a telegram informing him of the arrest of Darling.

Thus it can be seen that Captain Grant is entitled to a great deal of credit for his earnest and persistent efforts in the case. Although it might be said that the case was a little out of his jurisdiction, he still had the right to evidence a proper amount of zeal and energy and make every effort to capture this fugitive from justice. Prosecutor Willard Voorhees, of New Brunswick, feels a little bit chafed over the action taken by Plainfield officials, but he must give credit where due, for probably Middlesex county officials would never have learned of the whereabouts of Darling on their own efforts.

This morning at 1:17 o'clock Roundsman John Flynn left for McConnellsburg, where he expects to be in time for Court to open. He goes for the purpose of identifying Darling. The Roundsman is well acquainted with Darling and says that he could pick him out of fifty men. The two have known each other from boyhood.

Captain Grant was in New Brunswick yesterday afternoon holding a conference with Prosecutor Voorhees as to what course to pursue, etc. If Roundsman Flynn identifies Darling arrangements will be made at once to secure extradiction papers and Darling will be brought to New Brunswick. It is highly important that action be taken at once for they will hold a man but five days arrested under such circumstances.

According to the reports from the place where Darling has been living he is considered a dangerous man. He has lived there long enough for the people to learn about him and nearly everyone that knows him has a fear of him.

AFFAIRS IN PHILIPPINES.

Civil Governments in Manila and Cavite Provinces Are Successful.

OTHER ISLANDS QUIET.

An Encouraging Report Sent to the State Department by Colonel Charles Denby.

Municipal Governments Established in Seven Important Towns—Filipinos Constantly Deserting and Bringing in Arms—Some of the Natives Terrorized.

Washington, July 19.—The State Department has received from the Philippine Commission an important despatch conveying these facts:

By the cooperation of the military and the Commission, municipal Governments have been established in seven important towns in provinces of Manila and Cavite. These are working admirably, and one good effect of them is that considerable numbers of the natives are constantly deserting and coming in, some of them with arms. The system will soon be extended to other towns which are asking for it. Continued success in this direction will mean the beginning of the end. The Commissioners state that the general situation is as described in the message of Gen. Otis of June 26, except that a number of ports in the southern part of Luzon, in Leyte and other islands to the south have since then been opened to trade. Despatches from Dr. Schurman on his return from his trip through the southern part of the archipelago were of the same purport. A disposition to accept American sovereignty and to welcome our trops was everywhere manifested.

The report of Gen. Otis of June 26, referred to by Commissioner Denby in the above despatch, states that as a consequence of the rainy season little inland campaigning was now possible in Luzon. "We occupy," said Gen. Otis, "a large portion of the Tagalo country. The lines stretch from Imus on the south to San Fernando on the north, nearly sixty miles, and eastward into the Laguna province. The Filipino armies have suffered great losses and are scattered. The only large force which holds together is about 4,000 in Tarlac province and northern Pampanga.

"The most of the people are terrorized by the Filipino soldiers, but desire peace and American protection. They no longer flee from our troops, unless forced by the enemy, but gladly welcome them. There has been no recent burning of towns. The population within our lines has become dense, taking up land cultivation extenisvely. They are kept out of Manila as much as possible, as the city population was becoming too great to be cared for.

"The only hope of the Filipino leaders is in aid from the United States. They proclaim the near over throw of the present Administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States."

Gen. Otis speaks of the general desire of the volunteers to reenlist. He has provided for the enlistment of two regiments which have been authorized, and has permission to organize a third regiment.

The Administration takes comfort in the indorsement that has come from official sources within the past few days of the character of the news sent by Gen. Otis. In a despatch to the State Department Col. Charles Denby, who, since the departure for the United States of Dr. Schurman, has been the Chairman of the Philippine Commission, refers to negotiations which are being conducted with leading Filipinos with a view to the establishment of peace. No official despatch has been received by the Government saying Aguinaldo has made overtures for peace, and the message from Col. Denby shows that that slippery chieftain is entirely ignored in the present negotiations, the character of which the Administration deems it wise not to disclose.

Natives Are in Revolt.

Manila, July 19.—The natives of the province of Albay, South Camarines and North Camarines are endeavoring to throw off the domination of the Tagals. It is reported that there has been fighting between the people of the provinces named and small bands of Tagals.

Horses Sent to Manila.

Chattanooga, July 19.—Two hundred horses and fifty wagons have been shipped from Camp Thomas to San Francisco. They will be taken to Manila.

Three Killed in a Wreck.

Columbus, Ohio, July 19.—In a collision between a freight and a passenger train on the Norfolk and Western Railroad at Haverhill, O., three persons were killed and four others severely injured.

COMBINE OF IRON MILLS

Concern in Reading and Lebanon Employ 4,000 Men.

Lebanon, Pa., July 19.—A big combination of iron mills of this city and Reading has been formed and will be controlled by a new corporation to be known as the American Iron and Steel Company. Negotiations for the combination have just been completed.

The plants included in the deal are the Pennsylvania Bolt and Nut Company, the Lebanon Iron Company, the East Lebanon Iron Company, all of this city, and the Bolt and Nut Works of J. H. Sternbergh & Sons of Reading, and the National Bolt, Nut and Rivet Works of Reading.

The five plants employ about 4,000 men, and their combined annual product of finished bar iron alone is more than 140,000 tons. The new company will assume control on September 1, by which time it is believed other companies in this locality will be absorbed.

Faster Time to Omaha.

Omaha, July 19.—Though less than six months ago the entire railroad world was watching the records of the fast mail trains to Omaha from Chicago, little attention has been paid to the subject since the first week of the famous race, for which the prize was a $1,000,000 mail contract. While the public interst has subsided to a considerable degree in the marvellous work of these two trains of the Northwestern and Burlington lines, the trains continue to make the same extraordinary speed daily that attracted such wide attention for seven days. One result of the great efforts made by the Northwestern as a competitor for the business, has been that the Government has divided the business, and now both roads receive about half of the through mail.

Two Men Burned By Lime.

Tonawanda, N. Y., July 19.—B. T. Rogers, Red Genowski and John Utnamer went down the channel of Calkins' limekiln to loosen the lime. While they were there the whole structure suddenly gave way and the lime spurted all over the men, who had to wade through the boiling mass to get out. Their clothes were destroyed, and the men were terribly burned. They were removed to their homes later and are now lying in a critical condition.

Shamrock Is Speedy.

Southampton, July 19.—There was much excitement on the Solent over the Britannia-Shamrock race. The Shamrock won easily, arriving at the finish line at 3.46.00 o'clock. The Britannia finished the course thirteen minutes behind.

Both yachts were admirably handled, but the Shamrock had a clear advantage throughout. She gained on every tack to windward.

Wonderful Machine Gun.

Washington, July 19.—The Navy Department has received the first half of an order for 100 new machine guns of a new type, the most powerful in the possession of any government. They are one-pounders, carrying an explosive shell, and can fire 250 shots a minute. They are cooled by a water jacket, and it is said that they can put fifty shots into the head of a barrel at half a mile in a quarter of a minute.

Immigrants On Pacific Coast.

San Francisco, July 19.—The report of the local immigration commission for the fiscal year ending June 30 shows that 3,726 males and 1,040 females were landed during the year. Of the arrivals 1,667 were Japanese, 1,464 English, 101 Germans, 153 Mexicans, 22 Coreans, 11 Filipinos, 150 Irish 72 Spanish and 138 Portuguese. They brought with them a total of $337,754.

$3,000,000 In Gold.

Seattle, Wash., July 19.—Three million dollars in gold dust and drafts representing gold dust, the product of the mines of the Klondike, was brought by the steamship Roanoke, which reached her from St. Michael. She was the first boat this season to bring a large amount of gold from Dawson.

Insane From Cold.

Louisville, Ky., July 19.—Thomas N. Noles, who left New Albany fifteen months ago to take the position of chief engineer in a steamship of the Alaska Navigation Company, plying in the Yukon River, has returned to his home a maniac. Insanity was caused by suffering from cold in the northwest.

Pingree Is Still Wrathy.

Detroit, Mich., July 19.—Governor Pingree is declaring political vengeance on the Aldermen who are responsible for the defeat of his "municipal ownership" scheme and says he will see to it that none of them shall be reelected. He says he still has hopes that the matter will come out all right.

Fell From the Roof.

New York, July 19.—Patrick Daly, 40 years old, of No. 583 Tenth avenue, fell from the roof of No. 467 Ninth avenue and was instantly killed. It is supposed that he went on the roof to sleep.

Proposals for Macadamizing.

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Common Council at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at eight o'clock p. m., on Thursday, the 20th day of July, 1899, for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the macadamizing contemplated in the agreement between The Plainfield Street Railroad Company and the inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, dated January 3d, 1899, and as provided for in the specifications on file in the office of the Street Commissioner, said macadamizing to be from curb to curb, that is to say, thirty-six feet wide, to a depth of six inches at the centre of the street and a depth of three inches at the curbs. The streets to be macadamized are East Second street, east of Richmond street, and Richmond street, from East Second street to Putnam avenue.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of said prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

Separate proposals must be submitted for each street, endorsed, "Proposals for Macadamizing."

WRECKED WITH DYNAMITE

Portion of the Elevated Road Blown Up by Unknown Parties in Brooklyn.

STRIKE LOOKS SERIOUS.

Train Dispatcher Receives News of the Explosion in Time to Stop Trains From Both Ways.

A Consignment of Non-Union Men Arrive to Take Strikers' Places—Affected Lines are Being Operated But Traffic is Considerably Obstructed at Some Points.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 19.—At 2 o'clock this morning a dynamite bomb was exploded under the switch tower of the Union Depot at Fifth avenue and Thirty-sixth street. The explosion was of sufficient force to wreck a considerable portion of the elevated road and put a stop to all traffic over the line. The prompt action of the operator in informing the dispatcher at the Brooklyn Bridge of the occurrence stopped the trains from both ways and saved at least one train from being wrecked. Officers are searching for the dynamiters.

Two wrecking crews were immediately sent to the scene of the explosion to place the track in shape to resume traffic as soon as possible. It is believed that the wrecked structure will be at least temporarily repaired by this evening. The force of the explosion was so great as to shake every building within a mile, and the office of the Greenwood Cemetery was partially wrecked. Scraps of iron were thrown in all directions and seriously damaged many buildings in the immediate vicinity.

It is not known whether strikers are responsible for the explosion or not.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 19.—To prevent the engineers on the Brooklyn "L" roads from joining the motormen in the strike the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company has made a big concession. The pay of the engineers, on the authority of President Rossiter, will not be reduced from $3.50 per day to $2.25, the wages for motormen when electricity is substituted for steam on the Elevated.

This concession reveals the gravity of the situation and how greatly the company fears that the engineers will also strike.

Only a short time ago it was announced that the pay of the engineers was to be cut, and this has been the principal grievance of the Brotherhood.

Just before President Rossiter started on a general tour over the surface roads system in his private car, a correspondent put this question to him:

"Do you intend to reduce the salaries of the "L" road engineers after the roads are equipped with electricity?"

"No," was the answer; "their wages will not be reduced. They will be retained and paid the same rate as locomotive engineers."

Speaking of the strike generally, he said in his usual sanguine style:

"We have the wheat and the strikers have the chaff. We shall keep the wheat and they can have the chaff.

President Rossiter was asked what the company had lost so far by the strike.

"I cannot say," he replied, "but it is not less than $25,000."

The first detachment of motormen and conductors from out of town, the men whose aid the trolley officials have sought as a means of solving the strike difficulties has arrived from Philadelphia.

There were sixty-five motormen and conductors in the party. They were met by representatives of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and immediately transported to Broklyn, to begin work as soon as possible upon the cars of the tied-up lines.

Barricades were placed in many thoroughfares through which cars were to run, rails were torn up in an astonishing number of places, and a new means of obstruction was invented.

This was done by stringing small wire across the trolley tracks at such a height that they would strike the motormen in the face or the upper part of the body, the intention being to throw them off their cars and put them "out of business."

Cars were run during the night on several of the affected lines but traffic was badly interrupted by the strikers placing obstructions on the track and crowds throwing sticks, and other missiles at the cars.

At Fifth avenue and Sixth street, apparently by preconcerted arrangement, a mob charged a car, knocked down a policeman and beat and kicked a non-union motorman and conductor into insensibility. One was so badly hurt he may die.

Cleveland Strike Spreading.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 19.—The second day of the renewed strike on the Big Consolidated Street Railway System opened quietly. The tracks were not obstructed as had been the custom during the previous strike, and the company began running cars at rather irregular intervals over the Euclid avenue, Wade Park avenue, Cedar and Wilson avenue crosstown lines. The linemen of the company held a meeting and decided to join the strikers.

The linemen are thirty in number. They do the repairing of trolley wires and are an important factor in operating a street railway. During the last strike no attempt was made to get them to strike, and they were kept busy in repairing the lines. Just what the company will do is not known. Linemen are scarce. All the linemen who are out are members of the Cleveland Electrical Workers' Union. An effort, it is said, will be made to bring out the power house employes.

DEFALCATION IS $208,000.

Experts Say Cashier Valentine Took This Amount.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 19.—One of the experts at work on the books of the wrecked Middlesex County Bank, at Perth Amboy, has stated that so far as the examination has proceeded the amount of Cashier George M. Valentine's defalcation amounts to $208,000.

The depositors are criticising the management of the bank harshly for receiving deposits after they knew they were the victims of an embezzler.

It is hinted that criminal action may be begun against the bank officials for allowing this.

The temporary receiver of the bank, Cashier James McGuire, is now in full charge. Until his appointment is made permanent at a hearing before the Chancellor on Monday next the State bank examiners will not proceed with their examination.

Mr. McGuire said that it would be several weeks before the depositors would receive any of their money. It is now thought that they will receive at least fifty per cent. but not over seventy-five.

Valentine Gets Six Years.

New Brunswick, July 19.—George M. Valentine, the defaulting cashier of the Middlesex County Bank at Perth Amboy, has been sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the New Jersey State Penitentiary by Judge Woodbridge Strong in the Middlesex County Court. Judge Strong said that under the law he could sentence Valentnie to undergo seven years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2,000 for each of the two offences, but that, taking his family into consideration, he would sentence him to six years' imprisonment under each charge, the two terms of imprisonment, however, to be concurrent, thus making Valentine's term of imprisonment six years. When Valentine arose to receive his sentence the color left his face, he shuddered and almost collapsed, and when he resumed his seat he burst into tears.

The Yosemite at Cavite.

Washington, July 19.—Rear Admiral Watson has reported to the Navy Department that the auxiliary cruiser Yosemite had arrived safely at Cavite. The Yosemite proceeded from New York to the Philippines by the European route. She carried Captain Richard D. Leary, the first Governor of the Island of Guam, and the officers and men of the marine detachment to be stationed at San Luis d'Apra on that island.

Confessed Counterfeiting.

Evansville, Ind., July 19.—Frank E. Cody, Sam Towns and George Smith were arrested in this city charged with counterfeiting. They admitted making dimes, quarters and dollars and said they threw their molds into Pigeon Creek. The men will be taken to Indianapolis. This makes nine arrests in this city in the last week for counterfeiting.

Republican Leaguers Meet.

Anderson, Ind., July 19.—The Indiana League of Republican Club Managers held a meeting in this city and took preliminary steps for the next annual convention, which will be held in this city. It was decided to invite Senators Beveridge and Fairbanks and President McKinley to be present.

$75,000 Fire Near Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., July 19.—The casting plant at the big Addyston pipe and steel foundries at Fern Bank, O., a suburb of this city, was completely gutted by fire. Everything except the standing cranes and the walls was completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Steam Yacht Avenel Ashore.

Salem, Mass., July 19.—The steam yacht Avenel is ashore on Eagle Island Bar, in this harbor. The Avenel is 125 feet long. She is owned by Mr. Spaulding of the firm of Nash, Spaulding & Co., sugar refiners, of Boston. She went on in a fog.

Husband Is 15, Wife 17.

Stamford, Conn., July 19.—Some surprise is felt at New Canaan over the announcement of the marriage of a fifteen-year-old boy and a girl not yet seventeen. The bride is Pearl Irene Pack, and the bridegroom's name is Johnson. The groom's mother is only thirty years old.

Returned Soldier Killed.

Akron, Ohio, July 19.—The mangled remains of Patrick Malone were found on the Erie tracks here. He was 23 years old and had just returned to this city from San Francisco, where he was mustered out of service a week ago. He was dressed in his army uniform when killed.

Noted Writer of Stories Is Dead.

Natick, Mass., July 19.—Horatio Alger, Jr., died here. He was the author of numerous stories for boys and achieved marked success in that field of literature. Among his most widely read stories were those of the "Ragged Dick" series.

Cut His Throat on a Stick.

Evansville, Ind., July 19.—The seven-year-old son of James Perkins fell from a hay loft and his neck struck a sharp stick protruding from the earth. His throat was cut from ear to ear and the boy died of his injuries in about three hours.

Deadly Cloudburst.

Trinidad, Colo., July 19.—Bernard S. Tamberia, Vito Rafino and Benito E. Bartola and a Mexican of the name of Sipe were caught in a canyon near Blossburg by a cloudburst, and all but Bartola drowned.

A Babe Scalded.

New Egypt, N. J., July 19.—Frances, the two-year-old daughter of Joseph Emery, a farmer living near here, was so badly scalded that she died in great agony within an hour. She fell into a pan of water.

Lockjaw Killed Him.

Ft. Wayne, July 19.—Clifford Felts, son of Superintendent of the County Asylum died of lockjaw. He injured himself in the hand while shooting crackers on July 4 and his death is the result.

Pain of any kind causes a strain up on the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

HOUSE WAS SMALL ARSENAL

Police Discovered Rifle and Revolver Cartridges in Havana.

Havana, July 19.—The police raided the house of Francisco Moreno, capturing thirty cartridges, twenty boxes of revolver cartridges, five carbines and one revolver.

Father Santos, a Spanish priest, has complained to the Spanish consul here that, while passing through the town of Jovellanos, he was arrested and thrown in prison, where he was detained several hours without any known cause.

The Diario de la Marina complains that despite the amnesty, Garcia, the former guerilla, charged with killing a Cuban fisherman at Santa Clara, is still in jail.

The amended lists of insurgents to whom United States gratuity is due are about completed and payment will probably commence on Saturday.

Kidnapped Boy in Third Artillery.

Fremont, Neb., July 19.—Word has been received here that Edward W. Austin, a former resident of this county, now a member of the Sixth Artillery in the Philippines, was Edward F. Sullivan, son of a prominent Trinidad, Col., citizen and that he had been kidnapped when a three-year-old baby, probably by a woman and her husband who came to this county about 1878 from Colorado bringing with them this boy, supposed to be their son. In 1891 the man died and his wife a few weeks later. The man changed his name to Austin when fourteen and went to Honolulu where he enlisted in the Sixth Artillery. While in the Philippines he learned the facts of the Sullivan boy having been stolen and became convinced that he was the missing boy. His father still lives in Trinidad.

Gathering of the Silver Men.

Chicago, July 19.—Willis J. Abbott of New York was the first of a committee from the New York silver men to arrive here for the big Democratic conference tomorrow night. Mr. Abbott said that a great majority of the rank and file of the party in New York was in favor of the 16 to 1 issue and of W. J. Bryan for President "Croker, Hill and Murphy, the leaders," he declared, "are opposed to free silver and Bryan but they do not represent the sentiment of a majority of the voters."

Payment of Santo Domingo Duties.

Washington, July 19.—The State Department has received a report from Consul-General Maxwell, dated Santo Domingo, June 24, to the effect that the Dominican Congress has passed an act making the import duties payable in United States gold or in the current money of the republic at the rate of $6 for $1 gold. Formerly the rate was $2 for $1. The act took effect on July 1, 1899.

Was a Pennsylvania Man.

Reading, Penn., July 19.—Dr. F. M. Endlich, whose death at Tucson, Ariz., has been reported here, was a son of the late John Endlich, at one time a United States Consul to Switzerland. Dr. Endlich was a brother of G. A. Endlich, at present additional law Judge of the Berks County (Penn.) Court. He was a highly educated and brilliant man.

Twenty-five Firemen Fell in Ruins.

Milwaukee, July 19.—Fire destroyed the Grace Hotel, a four-story brick structure at Park and Reed streets. About twenty-five firemen were injured, and five may die. It was the most serious fire of the kind since the Davidson Theatre was destroyed, at which time about a dozen firemen lost their lives. The pecuniary loss will be small.

The Alaska Boundary Dispute.

Washington, July 19.—Despatches from Ambassador Choate in regard to the Alaska boundary negotiations were laid before the Cabinet by the Secretary of State. Cabinet officers declined to give details of the contents of these messages, but admitted that the situation had not improved.

Veteran Railroad Man Dead.

Peterborough, Ont., July 19.—C. J. Pusey, President and Manager of the Irondale, Bangor & Ottawa Railway, died here. He was a native of Chester, Pa., and had been in railway work all his life. He was formerly General Manager of the Sodus Point & Southern Railway.

Engineer Killed, Fireman Injured.

Baltimore, July 19.—Engineer Jesse W. Resau was killed and Fireman J. M. Shade was seriously injured by the derailing of the locomotive attached to train No. 991 on the Curtis Bay Branch of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails.

Wheeler Accepts Presidency.

San Francisco, July 19.—At a meeting of the Board of Regents of the University of California, to-day, Professor Benjamin Ide Wheeler accepted the presidency of the university, the regents granting every request and condition by him.

Heat Causes a Train Wreck.

Glasgow, Mont., July 19.—A Great Northern work train was wrecked and five of the railroad's employes badly hurt. The accident was due to the great heat, which had expanded several tight rails and caused them to spread.

Poverty in the Klondike.

Seattle, July 19.—James E. Kelly, who has just arrived from the Klondike, estimates that there are now at St. Michaels between 200 and 300 stranded prospectors who do not know where their next meal is coming from.

Cecil Rhodes Welcomed.

Cape Town, July 19.—Dr. Cecil Rhodes, formerly Premier of Cape Colony, has arrived here. He was welcomed by a reception Committee, composed of influential citizens, and enthusiastically cheered.

Twenty-one New Cases of Fever.

Washington, July 19.—Major Fred O'Reilly, Chief Surgeon at Havana, reports twenty-one new cases of yellow fever.

CARNEGIE'S BIG CONTRACT.

The Most Extensive Undertaking Ever Entered Into In This Country.

OVER $60,000,000 A YEAR.

Carnegies to Furnish a Car Company 1,000 Tons of Steel Per Day for a Period of Ten Years.

In Point of Money Consideration the Contract Amounts to $600,000,000—First Consignment to be Delivered on August 10—New Plant For Turning Out Work.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—Announcement has been made here of a contract between the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, and the Schoen Pressed Steel Car Company of this city to run for ten years. During that time the Carnegie company is to furnish the car company with 1,000 tons of steel plate daily, amounting in value to over $60,000,000 a year, $600,000,000 for the ten years. This is said to be the largest single contract ever made in this country, and it is the basis of an agreement between the Carnegie company and the Pressed Steel Car Company binding the Carnegie company to keep out of a field occupied by the other almost if not quite exclusively.

It was reported some time ago that the Carnegies would make steel cars, but now they have finished a plant that will turn out the requisite amount of plate for the Schoens. The first consignment will be delivered on Aug. 10.

Esterhazy Tells His Story.

Paris, July 19.—Ex-Major Esterhazy has written a letter to the Martin, in which he says he wrote the bordereau by order of Col. Sandherr, as constituting material proof of Dreyfus's guilt, which had been morally proved. The French spies at Berlin had proved that information had been supplied to Germany, but it was impossible to summon them as witnesses. All of the Ministers of War knew the facts, and Col. Schwartzkoppen's information clearly convicted Dreyfus. Generals Mercier, Gonse and Boisdeffre, he declares, knew of the fabrication of the bordeau. He concludes by appealing for a new trial and also demands the trial of his former chiefs.

Soldiers' Death in Cuba.

Washington, July 19.—The following message from Havana has been received at the War Department:

"Death report 16th, Quemados: Farrier William Neary, B, 7th Cavalry, typhoid, died 15th. Puerto Principe: Sergeant William Lappin, F, 15th Infantry, died Ciego de Avila, 14th, pernicious malarial fever, unassigned recruit John Fitz, 15th Infantry, died 4th, yellow fever.

"BROOKE, Commanding."

Four Men Burned by Explosion.

Scranton, Pa., July 19.—The grocery store of George W. Norris at Carbondale was destroyed by fire. While Peter Rivenberg, Barry Rowlson, John Bergen and William Myers were fighting the fire at the front of the store a tank of oil exploded with terrific force, and the four men were hurled to some distance and badly burned. They were also cut by the flying glass. They were removed to the Emergency Hosptial for treatment.

Entire Family Drowned.

Tekamah, Neb., July 19.—The Hon. H. Wade Gillis of this place has received information of the drowning of the whole family of A. M. Blade, a farmer. There were eight children, with their parents. The ten lost their lives while traveling from Nebraska overland to Minnesota. They had camped on Turkey River, in the southern part of the State. A cloudburst washed their camp away.

Felled by Masked Robbers.

San Francisco, July 19.—Masked robbers beat and shot James Ravegno, a gardener, leaving him in a critical condition. They entered the store of David Lecari, at San Bruno road and Fifteenth avenue, and ordered all present to throw up their hands. Instead of obeying Ravegno grappled with one of the robbers and a rough and tumble fight ensued. After shooting Ravegno the masked men fled.

Tod Sloan Suspended.

London, July 19.—As the result of Starter Coventry reporting Tod Sloan for disobedience at Sandown Park upon the occasion of the start for the Warren Nursery Stakes, in which race Sloan rode Lord William Beresford's Pedometer, the American jockey has been suspended until Aug. 5.

Death in Newburg From Lockjaw.

Newburg, N. Y., July 19.—George M. Kripner, the 24-year-old employe of the Crawshaw Carpet Company who was hurt on June 27, and whose wounds were healing nicely up to five days ago, when lockjaw set in, is dead. Antitoxin serum was used, but without avail.

A. A. Libby, of Chicago, Dead.

Chicago, July 19.—A despatch from Los Angeles announces the death of Arthur A. Libby, senior member of the old packing firm of Libby, McNeill & Libby of this city. He went to California six years ago, owing to failing health, which was never restored.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

COMING EVENTS.

July 23—Rev. James A. Cubberly will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p. m. Miss Raybert will sing and there will be instrumental music.

Not a Tax Dodger.

The Elizabeth Journal calls Plainfield "a tax dodger"—referring, of course, to the proceedings before the County Board of Assessors in Elizabeth Monday when there was a crazy outbreak against the valuations fixed by the Board of Assessors of this city.

In the valuations fixed by the local Board of Assessors there was an apparent decrease of $189,200 as compared to the valuations submitted from Plainfield last year. There was a just cause for this decrease, and had the Board of Assessors passed over it they would have been perpetrating a a wrong upon the city. The plain facts are these:

In making up the assessed valuations of property in Plainfield one year ago an error of $143,000 crept into the figures of the Second ward. This error was not detected in time, and as consequence Plainfield was compelled to pay a county and State school tax on $143,000 which should not have existed.

Right here it is opportune to explain that the county and State school tax that Plainfield pays is levied on the basis of the valuation reported to the County Board of Assessors. But it is a fact that every year the city valuations are scaled down several thousand dollars by the Commissioners of Appeals, and it is on this latter sum that property owners pay rather than on what the Board of Assessors fix. Thus, where the Commissioners of Appeal scale down the assessments to the extent of several thousand dollars, that difference is paid by the city to the county without getting one cent of return when the collections are made.

In addition to rectifying the error of $143,000 made last year, and in accordance with the reductions made by the Commissioners of Appeals last year, the Board of Assessors this year made their valuations on the basis of paying a county and State school tax that would not be fixed on a sum much greater than the city would actually have to collect from.

Notwithstanding this condition of affairs, which should commend itself in fairness to the County Assessors when the explanations were made by the local representatives, the majority of the Assessors from other sections doggedly insisted, without reason, in raising Plainfield's valuation. Chairman Eckerson stated that "it would give Plainfield a black eye to have it go out that it is depreciating in taxable valuation." That is merely sentimental; taxation is a business proposition, and as such ought to be fixed on a business basis. Assuredly, the County Board displayed but little fairness in stubbornly raising Plainfield's valuation in face of the actual conditions that prevail.

Suppose that race tracks flourished in New Jersey now and Valentine, the Perth Amboy bank wrecker, had lost $250,000 of other people's money "playing the races." Would attention have been directed so much to Valentine as a hue and cry raised against the tracks, which might have caused his downfall? We think there would have been a whole world of moralizing about the iniquities of race track gambling. However, the fact is that Valentine lost the money he had control of in Wall street, in a species of gambling a little more respectable but just as bad as that of "playing the races." But do we hear any sermonizing or moralizing with Wall street the butt of all criticism. No! There is a deal of truth in judging the world of today by Zaza's statement that "money is so respectable."

The very least punishment that George Valentine, the Perth Amboy bank wrecker, should have received at the hands of Middlesex county, was the full extent of the law—seven years in State Prison and a $2,000 fine. Instead he got off with six years, the prosecution and the defense conduting the negotiations for such a disposal of the case in secret conference. Leniency seems to be typical of Middlesex county justice at all times, but it is too often placed on the wrong criminal. Valentine deserves as long a sentence as could be given him. By good behavior he will get out of prison in a little over four years. This will mean that he will make legal amends for stealing about $250,000 at the rate of $34,000 a year.

The spirit of colonization and trading which received so great an impetus from the accounts of the New World given by Sir Walter Raleigh and other adventurous voyagers during the reign of Queen Elizabeth has expanded into the mighty commerce of the world as carried on in these days, says the Philadelphia Record. In like manner the small beginning of systematic advertising a century ago has developed into the interesting and extensive methods now employed with profitable results by enterprising merchants, who are careful to select the proper newspaper agency through which to exploit their wares.

Public convenience and accommodation demands that the Plainfield Street Railway Company shall enter into a fair agreement with the Brunswick Traction Company for a complete system of transfers between Dunellen and Plainfield.

THE CELEBRATED HEINE FOUNTAIN.

The Heinrich Heine fountain, which was designed for Dusseldorf, the poet's birthplace, and declined by that city because of race prejudice and Heine's unpopularity with the Germans, has been erected on an inconspicuous site in New York. It has long been the property of the Arion Society, which paid $35,000 for it. The figure of Lorelei, which is shown on the left of the illustration, surmounts the fountain.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

An amusing sight was witnessed at the North Avenue station last evening when one of the hack horses laid down in the roadway to take a nap. The animal had evidently been standing in one place for some time and was very tired. He laid down with all possible ease and was just about to go to sleep when some young men came along and assisted him to his feet. No damage resulted.

* * * * *

It is reported that the Plainfield Street Railway Company recently proposed, for the consideration of the privilege of laying double tracks from North and Watchung avenues to Front and Somerset streets, to stand the expense of putting down a permanent pavement for that entire distance, but those in authority decided no. On the other hand the Council gave the company the privilege of extending their turnout on Watchung avenue and taking up a whole block, for which the city receives nothing more than the macadamizing of that block.

Comforting Thoughts.

A friend of mine who had been in Eastern lands told me he saw a shepherd who wanted his flock to cross a river. He went into the water himself and called them, but no, they would not follow him into the water. What did he do? Why, he girded up his loins, and lifted a little lamb under each arm, and plunged right into the stream, and crossed it without even looking back. When he lifted the lambs the old sheep looked up into his face and began to bleat for them; but when he plunged into the water the dams plunged after him, and then the whole flock followed. When they got to the other side he put down the lambs, and they were quickly joined by their mothers, and there was a happy meeting. Our great Divine Shepherd does this. Your child which He has taken from the earth is but removed to the green pastures of Canaan, and the Shepherd means to draw your heart after it, to teach you to "set your affections on things above."—Moody.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

Among the guests registered at the Clifton House, Patchogue, L. I., are Silas Yerkes, Margaret Yerkes and Alfred Underhill of Plainfield.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about ¼ as much as coffee 15 and 25c.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

Going! Going! G—

Not gone—but going. We refer to our Shirt Waists. The stock grows smaller and beautifully less. The prices are selling them. It is our fixed policy to sell every waist during its own particular season. Profit is a secondary matter now. Prices on all waists have been cut deep and still deeper; late as the season is our sale of waists is phenomenal. Splendid styles, large variety and low prices. If you need any, select them at once.

Wash Goods of every description at greatly lessened prices. What is true of Shirt Waists is equally true of wash goods—they must be sold this season, and they are selling cheaply enough to be bought and kept until next season.

The Bottom Out.

The bottom has literally fallen out of the prices of Crash Suits, Crash Skirts, Duck Skirts, Pique Skirts and all other ready made garments, and all this while the stock is still fairly well assorted.

In regard to White Goods.

We have not cut prices on white goods, no necessity for so doing. Our prices for white goods are always low, and we show an almost infinite variety of goods. Special values in White Lawns and Corded Piques we can always give you for the asking.

Table Linens.

Some people would call it plunging to buy Table Linens in such quantities as we have been buying lately. Be that as it may we are always ready to plunge if goods are offered us cheap enough. This we know—we are able to give such values in both Bleached and Unbleached Linens, as are rarely offered the buying public. An extra heavy half bleached damask at 39c yd., is a straw showing which way the wind blows.

A Fair Question.

Do you make your sheets and Pillow Cases? Or do you buy them ready made? In either case we are ready to serve you. We have always a full line of double width Standard Sheetings, and splendid sheets full size, ¾ size and single bed size; Pillow Cases, Bolster Cases, Etc. All are torn, neatly hemmed, clean and ready for immediate use.

A word to the Men.

We have a complete gent's furnishing department, splendidly stocked, splendidly kept, splendidly managed and obligingly waited on. Light weight gauze, medium weight gauze and Summer weight cashmere Underwear. Neglige Shirts 50c to $1 25. Neckwear. Suspenders, Socks, Jewelry, Etc., and what is probably the best 50c white Laundered Shirt in the country.

Travelers Comforts.

A good, strong, well finished Trunk is a great comfort to the traveler. Our Trunks are carefully selected from several of the best factories in the country, and are remarkably made and carefully finished, well bound, well lined, good locks, etc. Dress Suit Cases and Traveling Bags of all kinds. Trunk Straps and Shawl Straps.

DOWN STAIRS.

The inevitable rise in the price of

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 19—Some complaint is heard from those who use the trolley that the employes, when the car stops at the terminus, are in too great a hurry to prepare the car for the return trip. The connecting rod is pulled off the wire immediately and the car is thrown in darkness much to the annoyance of the patrons of the road who are obliged to take the uncertain step to the ground in darkness.

The old barn on the late Jacob Cole's place on Front street, which has been a landmark for a number of years, has been torn down and a new structure is being erected upon the old site. Edward Verity is doing the work.

Charles N. Flanders has been troubled so much by people using his property as a short cut to reach the trolley, that he found it necessary to post no trespassing signs on his property.

Mrs. F. W. Westcott and daughter, of Fanwood, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore who are spending the summer at Atlantic Highlands.

Miss Wagoner, who has been spending a week with her cousins, the Misses Cook's, has returned to her home in Madison.

Rev. Mr. Lewis, who is occupying Mr. Woodruff's pulpit during his vacation, is spending the week with friends in town.

Several of the boys in town are practicing for the Jr. O. U. A. M. races which are to be held at Waverly, Labor Day.

Weather permitting there will be an outdoor dance at Klofs pavilion at Mountainside this evening.

Miss Caroline Wright, of Fanwood, has returned from a pleasant visit with Morristown friends.

There will be a dance and prize cake walk at Emery's Pleasure Garden tomorrow evening.

George Bullman, of Brooklyn, has been spending a few days with his friend, George Allen.

Miss Tillie Keuhn has been entertaining her cousins from Brooklyn for a few days.

Miss Pauline Buckley, of Plainfield, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John H. Coles.

The trustees of the Public Library, met in the Library rooms last evening.

John Benner, of "The Cottage," is out with a handsome new team.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Ensheim. Dieser Tage brach in der Spulenfabrik des vormaligen Reichstagsabgeordneten Adt Großfeuer aus, das die ganze Fabrik zerstörte. Nur die Maschinen konnten gerettet werden.

St. Ingbert. Hier sind 50 Personen nach dem Genuß von Wurst erkrankt. Bürgermeister Heinrich, der ebenfalls erkrankt war, ist seinen Leiden erlegen.

Zweibrücken. Unser weit über die Grenzen unserer Stadt und der Pfalz bekannter Mitbürger, Julius Dingler, der langjährige Theilhaber der Dingler'schen Maschinenfabrik, ist im Alter von 65 Jahren gestorben. Nach gründlichen Fachstudien trat er im Jahre 1858 nach dem Tode seines Vaters, Christian Dingler, als Theilhaber in die Maschinenfabrik ein und wirkte hier unermüdlich bis zu der im Jahre 1897 erfolgten Umwandlung der Firma in eine Aktiengesellschaft. Allezeit war er ein treuer und entschiedener Anhänger des nationalen und liberalen Gedankens.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Auf seinem hier stattgehabten Kongreß hat der Verein deutscher Rosenfreunde beschlossen, ein Vereins-Rosarium in Sangerhausen zu schaffen. Das Rosarium soll eine Musteranlage für Deutschland werden. Für Vorarbeiten wurden 1500 Mark bewilligt; 300 Mark wurden als Preis ausgesetzt für ein sicheres und billiges Mittel gegen Rosenrost. Als nächstjähriger Versammlungsort wurde Trier gewählt.

Friedrichshafen. Die Luftschifffahrt des Grafen Zeppelin wird voraussichtlich nicht vor Mitte August vor sich gehen, da der Bau des Luftschiffes noch einige Zeit in Anspruch nimmt. Mit der Errichtung des schwimmenden Schuppens, der das Luftschiff vor dem Aufstieg bergen soll, hat man bereits begonnen. Der Schuppen, ein Holzhaus von 140 Meter Länge und 75 Meter Breite und eben solcher Höhe, ruht auf 60 viereckigen verpichten Holzkasten. Die Herstellung des Luftschiffes erfolgt in einer deutschen Aluminiumfabrik; die einzelnen Theile werden erst am Aufstiegort zusammengesetzt.

Hall. Der Konkurs des Pfarrers Faulhaber, des Gründers der „Haller Industrie," hat 400,000 Mark Ueberschulden ergeben. Faulhaber wurde wegen Verfehlung gegen die Konkursordnung in Untersuchung gezogen.

Heilbronn. Unter dem Verdacht, künstliches Göppinger Wasser für echtes in den Verkehr gebracht zu haben, wurde Mineralwasserfabrikant Schnaufer verhaftet.

Metzingen. In einem Prozeß gegen das hiesige „Volksblatt" war ein Garnisonsverwaltungs-Oberinspektor a. D. Schöffe. Dieser Titel kam dem Redakteur oder dem Berichterstatter so eigenartig vor, daß er hinter dem Titel ein (!) machte. Die Staatsanwaltschaft in Tübingen hat nun deswegen Strafantrag wegen öffentlicher Beleidigung gestellt, dem das Gericht auch stattgegeben hat.

Rottweil. In dem nahen Orte Schörzingen wurde eine Frau Schneider todt unter der Tenne gefunden; der Gerichtsarzt stellte Tod durch Erdrosselung fest. Der Ehemann hat nun das Geständniß abgelegt, daß er mit der Frau Streit bekommen und sie gewürgt habe. Auch der Schwiegervater der Ermordeten ist verhaftet worden.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Auf Initiative der Großherzogin wird in Baden-Baden im September eine Kur- und Erziehungsanstalt als Filiale des hiesigen Viktoria-Pensionats errichtet werden, deren Aufgabe darin besteht, zarte, stärkung- und schonungsbedürftige junge Mädchen gebildeter Stände im Alter von 12 bis 18 Jahren zeitweilig aufzunehmen. Das Haus ist zur Aufnahme von nur 12 bis 16 Pfleglingen bestimmt; die grundsätzlich beschränkte Zahl soll die Durchführung individualisirender Behandlung gewährleisten.

Konstanz. Schwere Hagelwetter haben im Seekreise großen Schaden an Reben, Obstbäumen und Früchten angerichtet. Eine Frau wurde auf der Straße vom Blitz getödtet.

Mannheim. Das Kaufhaus ist laut Vertrag mit der Regierung in den Alleinbesitz der Stadt übergegangen und wird zum Rathhaus umgebaut werden. Die Kosten für den Umbau werden auf etwa 2,600,000 Mark berechnet. —Der Importeur amerikanischen Fleisches, Schmitz, wurde wegen verbrecherischen Mißbrauches von Inspektionsplomben bei den an ihn gelangten Fleischsendungen zu einem Vierteljahr Gefängniß verurtheilt, sein mitangeklagter Theilhaber Oechelhäuser wurde freigesprochen.

THINGS FOR SUMMER.

New Drapery Stuffs and Dainty Hot Weather Gowns.

Nearly all the big stores are now showing immense numbers of hammocks, lounging chairs and draperies suitable for the decoration of country homes, where the great desideratum seems to be to have everything airy, transparent, or at least to suggest something in the way of coolness and comfort.

There are cretonnes with great tulips in all colors in honor of Holland's dainty little queen. For couches there are many rough Madagascar and Mozambique cloths in soft, cool green, with slight figurings, which take the form of stripes. These are fringed out at the edges.

There is Java cloth in Kutch designs for all sorts of cozy corners and draperies, and Kioto crape of cotton in very many quaint Japanese designs for window, bed and other draperies. This is 27 inches wide and very pretty indeed. It is light and also cheap.

Rooms are completely furnished in this way. The curtains, bed, bureau and dressing table draperies are all of this crape. The round bolster cover and the counterpane are also made of it, and two or three comfortable sofa pillows are of the same. Ribbons to match tie up the draperies and add a touch of elegance. In this way each room may be made distinctive by having each in a different color of the hangings.

There is what is called "fiber grenadine" for portieres in Bagdad stripes. They are effective, cool and cheap. Sometimes the Roman striped Italian silk blankets are hung for portieres, and still oftener burlaps. This last can be had printed with different figures, but really the most artistic is the plain rough burlaps in its natural color.

This may be fringed and knotted and hung on a rod with rings so that the knotted part falls down, or it may be made with a wide hem only at top and bottom, and some few have a row of Bulgarian embroidery in coarse stitches and wool.

I saw in the swellest Broadway store this week a handsome summer arrangement for a porch or parlor. The wicker chairs had stiff, rather flat cushions of burlap in natural color. These cushions were square and had a diamond of Turkey red in the center, so that the points touched the sides of the cushion, leaving burlap triangles at the corners. A sort of valance was made of fringed burlap on the lower part of the chair with a red band in the center to drape it.

There was a small sofa fixed in the same way with five easy wicker chairs and a couch. A sort of Japanesy looking table was draped with the red and the burlaps. There was a screen which looked like the mats that come around tea boxes. This had diamond shaped centers with a gold embroidered crane in each one. Burlap portieres were arranged behind the furniture, and they had red borders. A Japanese matting in cream and green was on the floor. The whole looked very inviting.

The numbers of cushions for chairs and sofas, hammocks and cozy corners are astounding. Most of them are in India, Turkish, Persian and Bagdad stripes, wherein all the colors are gathered in such small compass that they do not look glaring or gaudy. These cushions are about 20 inches square and made perfectly plain. Only the cotton ones are ruffled.

The pretty Sheila portieres are there too. These are made of little seeds of a sort of plant. We call it Job's tears. They are strung on long threads, and between them are bits of bamboo colored to bring out some pretty design. They sound so pleasantly as the breeze makes them hit together.

Other pretty portieres and mantel drapery are made of the tiny yellow shells gathered at the seashore and strung together. Any one can make these, if she only has the shells. But to buy them one must be rich.

To enjoy the furniture mentioned above one must have a big, cool porch and loose, easy gowns that shall still be pretty enough and dressy enough to wear all day if one wishes to and that the pretty owners will not be ashamed of if visitors come.

One dainty gown of this description was shown me the other day. There was a snug underdress of pale green taffeta and an outer one of dotted swiss. It had the appearance of having dropped down from the Empress Josephine's time, with a modern touch or two. The ruching, of crepe lisse around the ruffles and sleeves, was very dainty and light. A wide ribbon sash was tied high under the arms in empire style.

A pink nun's veiling is made with a full princess back, fitted sides and a full front. Around the bottom are three bias ruffles, each edged with a ruching of white silk mull. The yoke, collar and undersleeves are "all over" white lace. The ruffles to the yoke collar and sleeves are all edged with the ruching.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

WOMEN'S REALM

Costume of Voile.

lowing the outline of the scrolls. The corsage has square yoke of ecru guipure, which is outlined with scrolls and chenille, and is finished with a lace collar. Material required, voile, 40 inches wide, 8 yards; liberty mull, 48 inches wide, 3 yards.

Care of the Hair.

If a woman wants to have beautiful hair she should take care of her scalp. Unless it is kept perfectly clean and in a healthy condition the hair will not grow. In summer her hair should be washed often if it is at all inclined to be oily.

The hair in a healthy scalp grows at least eight or ten inches a year. It grows faster in summer than in winter, and it will stretch in wet weather and shrink in dry weather, which accounts for artifically curled hair coming out of curl in the rain or moist air.

When using curling irons one should supply the follicles with extra nourishment in the way of a brilantine to make up for what the heat abstracts.

The following recipe is non-greasy and good:

|---|---|
| Lavender water | 1 oz. |
| Glycerine | 1 oz. |
| Clarified honey | 2 oz. |
| Rectified spirit | 4 oz. |

First mix the honey and glycerine together, then add the lavender water or eau-de-cologne, and last of all the spirits.

This second recipe is intended to give a more or less glossy appearance to the hair, as well as to strengthen it.

|---|---|
| Castor oil | 2 drms. |
| Rectified spirits | 5 oz. |
| Attar of rose to perfume. | |
| Tincture of cochineal | 2 drms. |

The best way to use this is to put a few drops in the palm of the hand and rub it over the bristles of a hair brush.

All the greasy preparations tend to darken the hair. Constant brushing will also do it. The white of an egg, so often advised, will darken blond, auburn or chestnut hair. Borax, an even teaspoonful to a cup of warm water, used once a month, is the best wash for light hair. The day after the application rinse first in warm water, then in cold water, and dry in the sun, if possible.

Wife Culture.

A farmer, in Farm and Ranch, on the subject of wife culture, tells of his own delinquencies and how he was reformed. Of the wife he says:

"She needs some kindly notice and appreciation from the boss and help in her household duties and I used to take pleasure in doing that! but from some cause have been rather careless of late years, but since reading the Household, have gone back to my old self again, and did not have to take Uncle Snort's remedy, either. I simply got up early one morning and made a good fire in the stove, put on a kettle of water, brushed around and brought in a couple of pails of water, and went to the garden. Of course, I was expecting her to notice me, but not so. The following morning I did the same thing, but found a large notch cut in the well curb when I went for the water. I immediately got after the small boy, but he declared his innocence and said his mamma did it. I called on her for an explanation, and she said it was to remind me of my kindness to her and the fact that they were the only two buckets of water I had drawn in two years, and I notice that ugly gash every morning; but I'm still keeping up the same old way."

Cardinal Lace.

Just when one fancies that one has seen the very newest fancy in lace, some charming novelty presents itself to be admired. The latest is the lately discovered bold-patterned "cardinal" lace, forming a generously scalloped collar (almost a little cape) on a white pique dress, patterned with the faintest waved garlands of wee forget-me-nots and baby rosebuds. A knotted scarf of cardinal satin around the waist was the one touch of decided color about the costume. A hat of pale Manila straw was worn with this frock. It had white roses beneath the curving brim, and a scarf of forget-me-not blue gauze meandered round the tall crown, one end dangling short behind, the other brought forward and secured with a single loop and a couple of chain pins, with sparkling heads.

CASTLES IN THE AIR.

AERIAL MONASTERIES IN ODD CORNERS OF THE WORLD.

Built Far Aloft for Safety—Some Can Be Reached Only by Rope and Windlass or Swinging Ladders—An Ideal Spot for Peace and Repose.

The monasteries of Meteora, near Larissa and the Gulf of Salonica, in Turkey, are in very literalness castles in the air. The ideal of every monastery is high, and those at Meteora translate this aspiration into brick and mortar.

They were originally set far aloft in their inaccessible situation for the sake of safety; but in many cases even such precaution has proved inadequate. A few years ago only eight of the original twenty-two were inhabited, the remainder having been destroyed, often by artillery fire from commanding positions in the vicinity. Since then St. Stephen's, too, has gone the way of the majority.

HOW TO REACH BARLAAM MONASTERY.

This was the only monastery which could be entered on foot, a plank drawbridge spanning the abyss which divided it from the adjacent mountain. "Hoodoods," or Turkish Irregular Guards, lay in ambush near, and, on the bridge being lowered in the morning, rushed in, robbing and destroying.

Dissappointed of the rich booty they expected, the invaders proceeded to torture and kill many of the monks. Indeed, in the first Greek War of Revolution, all the monks would probably have been massacred had it not been for the English and Russian Consuls at Larissa.

The remainder of the monasteries can be entered only by means of a rope, windlass and net, in which one sits and is drawn up to a window several hundred feet above, or by rope ladders fastened against the side of the cliff. Either method is somewhat trying to the nerves, for the slightest giddiness on the swinging ladders would probably prove fatal. The monks themselves usually use the ladders, and look like black flies crawling up the face of the rock. They climb with the body bent almost double, and hands and feet close together, monkey fashion.

The most picturesque of the old "castles" are Barlaam and Hagia Moni, a neighbor of St. Stephens.

Life in these "Castles in the Air" is the most peaceful possible. One is completely cut off from the world and can lie on the soft patches of grass outside their doors, and dream to one's heart's content—no sound coming up from below save the tinkling of the sheep bells and occasional faint cries of the villagers. The air is delightfully fresh and pure, the sun is warm and all around there stretches a magnificent panorama of rich plains, brilliantly tinted hills, and snowy mountains.

CHINESE MONASTERY IN THE RIVER YANG-TSE-KIANG.

Altogether, it is quite an ideal spot for a fortnight's perfect peace and repose, safe from the many worries of our modern frantic civilization; but let the intending visitor beware of the numerous brigands, official and otherwise, who infest the neighborhood and who can be relied on to make things extremely unpleasant for the unfortunate tourist who should fall into their hands.

Besides these interesting "air castles" in Turkey, there is one even more interesting in China. It is the dwelling place and the temple of a little band of monastic priests on the top and side of a great rock in the middle of the Yang-tse-Kiang River. It is a little below Hankow and not much visited by tourists. It has all the charms of a mountain home, and is one of the most picturesque sights in Asia.

Armor Plate.

The thickness of armor on modern warships is truly astonishing. The side armor of a first class battle ship usually varies from 16½ inches thick at the top of the belt to 9½ inches at the bottom. The gun turrets are often protected by armor 15 inches to 17 inches thick.

FEATS OF MEMORY.

Stories of Famous Men With Remarkable Memorizing Facilities.

Scaliger, the philologist of the sixteenth century, who edited several of the classics, was so certain of his memory that he undertook to repeat long passages from Latin works with a dagger at his breast, which was to be used against him in the event of his memory failing, while Seneca, the tutor of Nero, could repeat two thousand words exactly as he heard them.

Pope could turn at once to any passage which had struck him when reading; and Leyden, the Scottish poet, who died in the early part of the century, was also remarkable for his memory.

When congratulated, on one occasion, upon his aptitude for remembering things, Dryden replied that he often found his memory a source of inconvenience. Surprise was expressed at this, whereupon the poet replied that he often wished to recall a particular passage, but could not do so until he had repeated the whole poem from the beginning to where the passage occurred which he wished to recall.

Leyden is also credited with having been able to repeat an act of parliament or a lengthy legal document after having heard it only once.

The newspapers of January, 1820, contain a number of allusions to the case of a man named Thomson, who drew plans of a dozen London parishes, including every church, chapel, yard, court, monument, lamp post and innumerable trees and pumps without reference to a single book and without asking a single question.

An English clergyman mentions a man of weak intellect, who lived about the same time, who could remember the names and ages of every man, woman and child who had been buried in the parish during 35 years, together with the dates of buriat and the names of the mourners who were present at the funeral.

Food Wrapped in Paper.

It is a very common practice to put away food that comes from the shop in the brown paper in which the dealer wraps it. While this may be convenient, it certainly is open to serious objection on the score of health and cleanliness. Most of the cheap papers are made from materials hardly up to the standard of the housekeeper's ideas of neatness; and although a certain degree of heat is employed in their preparation it is by no means sufficient to destroy all the disease germs with which the raw material may be filled.

When it is taken into consideration that waste papers of all sorts, and those used for all purposes, are gathered up and worked over into new paper to wrap our food in, it behooves the housewife who cares for the health of her family to see to it that articles of food remain in contact with such wrapping the very shortest possible time.

It is not unusual to see meat, butter, cheese and other extremely susceptible articles put away in the very cheapest, commonest brown paper.

Immediately upon the receipt of soft groceries or fruits they should be put into earthen dishes, and under no circumstances should they be allowed to remain in the papers in which they are delivered.

It is useless to expect that a better class of paper will be employed, and so we may as well make up our minds to guard against the trouble by shifting all articles of food to some dish that is absolutely free from contaminating elements.

Sleeping Machines.

Experiments have been made recently with some curious devices in the shape of "sleep machines." Sleep will sometimes result from fatigue of the eyes. Looking at trees or other objects as we rush along in the train will frequently "send us off."

An ingenious gentleman has produced a machine for this purpose. It is a box surmounted by two fan-like panels, one above the other, revolving horizontally in opposite directions. These panels are studded with mirrors that throw upon the retina a vibrating flood of twinkling light.

A similar effect is produced by staring at a bright ball placed high above the hand, so that some slight strain is caused by staring at it.

Another apparatus for causing drowsiness is formed of clamps for squeezing the arteries leading to the brain. The clamps remain in position for less than half a minute, and by that time the sufferer from insomnia has been placed in a state of sompolence by the decreased flow of blood to the brain.

Still another method is to arrange an elastic battery in the bed so that a mild electric current acts upon the spine.

Remarkable Longevity.

In a southern family lives an old man named Jeff, who has been with them and the previous generation for more years than they can remember. He is certainly pretty old himself, so his mistress was rather surprised when he asked to have a few days off to go, as he put it, "up to de old state of New Haven," to see his aunt.

"Why, Jeff," said the lady, "your aunt must be pretty old, isn't she?"

"Yes'm," he replied; "yes'm; my aunt must be pretty ole now—she's about 105 years old now."

"A hundred and five years!" exclaimed the lady. "Why, what on earth is she doing up there in New Haven?"

"Deed, I don't know what she's doin', ma'am," rejoined Jeff, in all seriousness; "she's up dere livin' wid her grandmother!"

Wine-testers eat a small piece of bread with a scrap of cheese, between samples, to insure an unprejudiced taste.

SHAVING IN PORTO RICO.

They Have No Use for Razors or the Customary Soap.

The natives of our new territory, Porto Rico, have no need to buy soap, for the wooded country abounds in plants whose leaves and bulbs supply most fully the place of that indispensable article. Among the best of these is the soaptree, so called, though it is more a bush than a tree. Its bulb when rubbed on wet clothes makes a snow-white lather, which has an odor like old brown Windsor soap. The Porto Ricans, who are all, from the highest to the lowest, dandies in their way, make soap out of cocoanut and home-made lye—and a fine soap it is, smooth and fragrant. This cocoanut oil soap is used for shaving. When a man wishes to have a shave in the morning he starts out with his cocoanut shell cup, and his donkey tail brush and bottle. It is never any trouble to find an empty bottle in Porto Rico, Cuba, Jamaica, or almost any of the larger West India Islands, even in remote spots in the mountains. At least twenty generations of thirsty people have lived there and thrown away bottles. The man carries no mirror; he is too poor to own such a luxury. Not one house in twenty in Porto Rico has even the very cheapest lookingglass. But generously rich nature provides the mirror, as well as the soap. The man goes to some convenient pool in the mountain stream where the water is quite still—there is his mirror. He breaks his bottle on a stone, and deftly picks out a sharp piece of suitable size. Then he lathers his face profusely, and begins to scrape away with his piece of glass, which in his hands works as well as the best steel razor. A cut, or even a slight scratch, is extremely rare as a result of this al fresco form of shaving.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa.

This is one of many leaning towers in Italy. There are two very notable ones at Bologna. The tower at Pisa is the campanile or bell tower of the cathedral, but, as is common in the older Italian churches, is detached from it. It is 50 feet in diameter and 178 high. The walls at the base are 8 feet thick. It leans 13 feet from the perpendicular. It has usually been supposed that these leaning towers inclined because of the foundations settling, but it is certain that some of them were intentionally so constructed, and when one considers the improbability of a building as massive as this, and only 3½ times its diameter in height, settling in a way neither to cause its destruction nor even crack it, he is strongly inclined to the belief that it was the fashion of the age so to build towers. This was erected in 1174.

Sparrows Fight Like Game Cocks.

Sparrows are the most determined fighters among the birds, the bulldogs among the four-footed animals being the nearest to these little pests in point of grit and endurance. Two of them were recently observed in terrific combat on the roof of a house. In the fury of battle they neared the edge of the roof and one toppled over. Instantly the other flew on the top of him and forced him to the pavement, where the contest was resumed as fiercely as ever. They took no notice of a bystander who approached the angry birds and picked up both of them. After carrying them a little distance he set them free, but their spirit was unbroken, and they went at it again, bill and claw. By and by one of them gave in and fled, but his rival was not generous enough to let him be, for he gave chase, but whether he caught him or not the onlooker was unable to learn. Wherever they may roam these birds may always be relied upon for impudence and quarrelsomeness.

To Cure Creaky Boots.

"Cheap shoes are not necessarily of poor material," said a shoe-clerk. "Creaking often accounts for the low price. Cheap double-soled shoes nearly always creak, and the reason is that two soles do not quite fit or one is of more pliable material than the other, so that they rub against each other. Among the remedies usually tried is soaking the shoe in water or oil. This is effective for a time, but the cure is only temporary. The creak invariably returns in a few days. However, there is one certain and simple remedy. It is to drive three little wooden pegs into the sole. The pegs prevent the friction of the soles. Any cobbler will do it for you for 10 cents, and so not only restore your own peace of mind but also that of your friends."

Better Than a Gold Mine.

The profit from a single whale that is captured is very large. One about fifty-nine feet long weighs 140,000 pounds and will give 60,000 pounds of blubber, from which 48,000 pounds of train-oil can be made, and 3,000 pounds of whalebone.

The Sultan's Plate.

Among the Sultan's gold plate there are dishes of solid gold of extraordinary size, and there are plates, cups and saucers, tureens and pitchers, massive and heavy, made of the same precious metal.

CARPENTRY FOR BOYS.

Simple Rules for Building Inexpensive Kennels.

There are undoubtedly a great many boys who own dogs but perhaps have no kennel in which to keep them. A large box with a hole in it large enough for a dog to crawl through is better than nothing; but a kennel of neat appearance and simple construction can easily be made that when completed will appear like the illustration.

For a dog of medium size, a kennel should measure 36 inches long, 24 inches wide, and from bottom to peak it can stand 34 inches high. The hole at the front will have to be cut large enough so the dog may pass in and out easily, and if made about 10 inches in diameter should be the right size in proportion to the size of the kennel.

To build the kennel right commence at the foundation and build up by making a floor 34 inches long and 22 inches wide. Boards with matched edges should be used, and under the floor boards nail three battens across, one at each end and one at the middle. These battens may be 2 by 3 inches and should be placed so they will stand 3 inches high to keep the bottom of the kennel free from the ground.

KENNEL PARTLY FINISHED.

Make front and back 22 inches wide, 24 inches high at the sides and 33 inches high at the middle or peak, and attach the boards together with battens as shown in figure 1, which is a constructional drawing. Attach them to the front and rear end of the floor with stout nails and brace them apart at the top with a ridge pole 2 or 3 in. square and 34 inches long.

With boards 36 inches long form the sides, as shown in figure 1, and finally roof the kennel with boards placed as shown in the illustration so there will be a projection forming eaves about 2 inches all around.

At the front of the box near the top cut four holes with a large bit and connect them by sawing a slit with a compass or keyhole saw. This will be valuable as a ventilator, and it would be well to cut two or there small holes in the back boards as well.

A few coats of paint will finish the exterior of this kennel, which on completion should prove a very acceptable addition to a boy's possessions, as well as a house for the dog.

More Holidays Than School Days.

The small boy who has to go to school in the United States looks upon the small boy who has to go to school in France with something of the envy with which Lazarus may have looked upon Dives. It is the question of holidays which constitutes the difference in favor of the lad who attends a public school of instruction in the French Republic. The school boys of France have more holidays than workdays in the year, and in that fact lies the grievance of the American youngster. The average boy, be he a native of America or a child of Timbuctoo, is more fond of a holiday than he is of a workday, theorists and moralists to the contrary notwithstanding. And the more holidays he has the better terms he is on with himself and all the world.

Two hundred and six holidays in the year, as against 159 school days! That's the record of public instruction in France. To begin with, there is the regular midsummer holiday, which covers a period of sixty-four days. That's pretty good for a starter. Then there are the Sundays. They are holidays of course everywhere, but they count an additional fifty-two days. Then ten days are allowed for the proper celebration of Christmas and New Year's. To be thoroughly observant of the great feast of Eastertide fifteen days are given. Thursdays are holidays, and that means fifty-two more days of no labor. All Saints' comes in for three days' holiday, St. Charlemagne two days. Whitsuntide three days, and three days to make merry when the national fete in July rolls round. The rest of the year the children are supposed to study.

Cat That Smokes a Pipe.

The adaptability of the cat to his surroundings is illustrated in the case of a handsome young feline who strayed one stormy night to the home of William Thompson, of Glenwood Penn. He has learned to smoke cigars and to drink beer.

Mr. Thompson first observed that the cat manifested a strange liking for tobacco smoke. While enjoying his after-dinner cigar it was Mr Thompson's habit to blow the smoke at the cat. Puss didn't seem to mind it a bit, in fact, he found a certain delight in it.

One night, just for a joke, Mr. Thompson put his cigar in the cat's mouth. Much to his astonishment the cat sat up on his hind legs and puffed away complacently. He was thoroughly happy. His teeth, however, being so sharp, cut through the wrapper, and for the next cigar Mr Thompson provided a wooden cigarholder, which is now used every time the cat has a smoke. Then the cat learned to smoke a pipe. Puss took to it quite as naturally as he did to the cigar.

ARE YOUR WITS WORKING?

Then See if You Can Help These Three Men Out of Their Troubles.

There is nothing in the whole list of possibilities in the boy's life which probably tickles him more or makes him feel more like jumping up in the air and kicking his heels together three times before he lands upon the earth again than to discover something which is plain to him but puzzles older heads and wiser ones. Why, it is so clear to him that it is a great wonder others cannot see it and do as he does. He simply cannot wait to tell the secret of the doing.

It happened that two farmers who lived in the same district met upon the road as both were bound for the same place. It was Friday of the week, and both were on the way to the county grocer's, who was also a large dealer in oil, and both, strange as it may seem, wanted four gallons of the best oil. On they drove, and spent the time not in the solution of the problem, but in discussing county politics and the coming hay crop.

Arriving at the store the farmers made known their wants and produced their measures, and right here is where the difficulty arose. Farmer Joslin had an eight-gallon can and Farmer Hayseed had a five-gallon can, while the only measure that the grocer had was a three-gallon can. What, then, was the dismay of the grocer when he attempted to measure out the two portions of four gallons each. Of course, he filled the eight-gallon can first, because that was twice four, but right here he and both the other men got hopelessly stuck in the solution of how to do it. The groceryman poured first out of the one into the other and into the one from the first, then back again, and so on until over an hour had been wasted to no purpose at all. He had no other measures, and he could not afford to lose the sale, and he was determined to accurately measure out those two four-gallon portions before he finished. "Where there's a will there's a way," was a proverb that that grocer well knew, and he found that way, too.

Now, boys and girls, how do you think he did it? He had three cans only—one of eight gallons, one of five gallons and one of three gallons—with which to measure out two exactly correct portions of four gallons each. Think about it this week, and see if you cannot experience that happy feeling of being smarter than these three men from the country. In case you do not solve the difficulty ask your teacher to solve this puzzle for you.

Fiddled His Way.

Little George Stern fiddled his way across the continent. When George was fourteen years old a desire to see the world seized him, and, taking his savings of $3 and his violin, on which he was unusually proficient for his age, he set out. Not having enough money to buy a ticket he traveled in an empty freight car to San Antonio. There, under an assumed name, he became the "mascot" of the Fourteenth United States Infantry, and the soldiers took him to New Orleans and thence to San Francisco with them.

"They wanted me to go to Manila with them," said George, "but I didn's want to go there. Wherever I went I made money enough by my music to buy food, and when I wanted to travel it didn't cost me anything.

"I went back to New Orleans and then fiddled my way to St. Louis. From there I went to Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Cheyenne, St. Paul and Chicago. I came from Chicago in an empty freight car, and stopped off at Buffalo for a week. This is my first visit to New York, and was getting ready to go back to San Francisco when the police arrested me."—New York World.

When Senator Quay Was a Boy

You have probably seen a great deal in the papers lately about former United States Senator Matthew Stanley Quay, or perhaps you have heard your father talking about him. Here is a story they tell about the Senator when he was a boy, which partakes a good deal more of politics than generosity. Coming home from a trip, the father of Senator Quay called him into the room, and said that he had brought home with him two presents. One was for Matthew and one for his sister, and he was going to give him his choice. Then he showed him a little Bible and a tin sword, and asked him which he wanted. Matthew promptly said that he wanted the Bible. His father was very much pleased, but also astonished, and asked him why he had made such a choice. Matthew truthfully answered: —"Why, I knew that sister would not want the sword, and if I took the Bible, then I would have them both."

Would Throw It Away.

"One can say truthfully about Miss Belinda Stubbs' novel that no reader can lay it down unfinished."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; nine-tenths of the readers would throw it in the fire or out of the window."—Chicago Record.

When the children's best clothes come from the wash with the colors faded and streaked, and with worn spots showing in places where there should be no wear, then you may know that your laundress is using something besides Ivory Soap.

You can save trouble and expense by furnishing her with Ivory Soap, and insisting that she use it and nothing else. The price of one ruined garment will buy Ivory Soap sufficient for months.

HATH MUSIC CHARMS?

Editor Runyon Disturbed by the Colored Band of Musicians.

Editor Runyon's efforts to "educate the public" were ruthlessly disturbed this morning by the Jenkins' Orphan Asylum band, which has been given street concerts. The colored boys were executing one of Sousa's popular marches. The News man evidently has no music in his soul. He was out of sorts, so he requested Patrolman Flanagan to order the "wind jamers," as he called 'em, to move on. "I've had enough of that stuff!" the editor was heard to remark. Then the band moved up the street. The frightened reporters bent the more closely over their notes. The silence became oppressive. Great beads of perspiration stood out conspicuously on their classic brows, as they thought what a misnomer must be the quotation—"Music Hath Charms to Soothe the Savage Breast!"

Diphtheria on East Third Street.

Another case of diphtheria has developed in the city. A young child, daughter of Charles Johnson, living on East Third street, came down with the disease yesterday. The Board of Health has had the place quarantined, and every precaution taken to check the spread of the disease.

—The funeral of the young child of George Leland, who died Monday, took place at 10:30 o'clock this morning from its parents' residence in the West End of the city.

DEATH OF H. B. WELLS.

Succumbed to an Illness That Extended Over a Period of Three Years.

After a long illness, originating in a severe attack of pneumonia, and developing into serious lung trouble, lasting through a period of three years, Henry Bartlett Wells, of Washington avenue, corner of Rockview avenue, died this morning at his home.

Mr. Wells was one the best-known and highly-respected citizens of the borough, where he had resided for many years. He was a former member of the Borough Board of Education, having served with conspicuous ability on that Board.

He was one of the organizers of the Unitarian church and always prominent in its affairs.

He was about fifty years of age and leaves a widow and five children—two sons and three daughters.

Mr. Wells was engaged in the dry goods business in New York, representing a large eastern woolen goods concern.

The funeral and interment will be in Mount Auburn, Mass. He was born and brought up in Boston, living there till he went to New York.

METROPOLITAN'S TIE-UP.

All of the Electric Lines of the System Are Now Affected.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, July 19th.—With scarcely a moments warning to the men a strike was ordered at 3 o'clock this morning on the trolley lines comprised in the system controlled by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of Manhattan.

The lines affected by the decision are the Second, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Lenox, Amsterdam avenue, and the Twenty-third, Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Sixteenth street lines, all of which are operated by electricity.

ENJOYING LIFE IN CALIFORNIA.

Mr. and Mrs. Maze Edwards Spending Their Vacation on Pacific Slope.

A very interesting letter has just been received from Maze Edwards, who, together with his wife, are enjoying themselves in California with Mr. Edwards' mother. During their stay they have been taking short excursions to various points of interest. At the end of this week they expect to go to Santa Cruz and next week to Stockton and Sacramento perhaps. Friday, August 4th, they will begin their homeward journey, leaving by steamer. They will go up the coast through Puget Sound to Seattle; thence by Great Northern Railroad to Duluth, via St. Paul and Minneapolis; then from Duluth journey through by steamer again to the Great Lakes, touching several places, including Detroit and Cleveland to Buffalo, where they will take passage by rail direct for home, arriving about Aug. 16th.

Mr Edwards says that every moment of time has been unalloyed pleasure. He says that while people in the east have been suffering with heat they have been enjoying the finest of weather. Grate fires are pleasant and enjoyable mornings, and overcoats necessary at night. Mr. Edwards also says that his agents, Klaw & Erlanger, of New York, are making some good contracts for the coming season at Music Hall.

Swindle in Name of Reserves.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, July 19—Lieutenant Thos. Goldingay, of the Second Division, Battalion of the East, New Jersey Naval Reserves, reported to the police yesterday that a swindler had been collecting money in the name of the Reserves. The man is said to have secured $150 from various business firms in the city on the representation that it was to be used to save the Reserves from disbandment.

Church Debts Paid.

Rev. Scott Wallace, the pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, and Deacon Spencer Conway, last night paid off Randolph Stelle, of Central avenue, for the lat which the new chruch edifice occupies. They also liquidated the bill of Contractor William Smith, who built the church. There was a great rejoicing of the members after this transaction had been effected.

Mrs. A. D. Pope and Mrs. Edward Hand, of North Plainfield, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Flemington, have returned home.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

South Orange village has decided to redeem $60,000 worth of its 5 per cent. bonds at 4 per cent.

Mrs. Fred Christianson, of Elizabeth, is the latest victim of the kissing bug. She killed the insect.

As soon as the work of numbering the houses in South Orange village is completed it is understood the village will be given a free delivery system.

The South Orange Village Board of Trustees have decided to take possession of unclaimed property opposite the Mountain Station of the Lackawanna Railroad and to convert it into a little park.

Nicholas Mooney, of Rahway, died yesterday afternoon of kidney trouble in his seventy-eight year. Mr. Mooney was born at Cranford, moving to Rahway many years ago. He was a successful real estate dealer.

Bricklayers have had a grievance against contractors in North Hudson who are building public schools. They have protested against working more than eight hours and have won their fight. The articles were signed yesterday morning by two contractors.

Cortlandt Lenkrom, a Hackensack liveryman, created a sensation yesterday when he skimmed along Main street in a horseless carriage or automobile. It is a gasoline machine and the continual buzzing seemed to rack the nerves of the untutored Hackensack animals.

The corner-stone of the Reformed church at Bogota will be laid this evening by Rev. Charles F. Poole, of New York, assisted by Rev. Herman Vanderwart, Rev. Arthur Johnson and Dr. VanArsdale, of Hackensack. The church is a gift of ex Judge Peter Bogert, of Bogota, as a memorial to his wife and daughter.

METUCHEN'S CHOIR HAS ITS VIEWS.

Thinks Persons Who Sing in Choirs Should Not Seek Divorces.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 19.—Something interesting is confidently expected by the members of the vested choir, and in fact the whole congregation of St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal church of Metuchen if Editor St. George Kempson appears in the vestry room some Sunday morning, as it is confidently expected he will, prepared to take his place in the old choir.

The expectation that Mr. Kempson, who went to Dakota some months ago for the purpose of acquiring a residence there and obtaining a divorce, will again lend his voice to the surpliced singers of St. Luke's has set the whole village agog. Yesterday it was gossiped about the village and got into some of the newspapers that Mr. Kempson had appeared in the vestry room and that the rest of the choir thereupon held an indignation meeting and compelled Rector J. B. Fenton to wait while they talked it over, but there was no truth whatever in this.

As for Mr. Kempson, he has returned to his home and resumed his place in the bosom of his interesting family of ten, and believes that he is quite as respectable and altogether as worthy a choir singer as he was before he went to Dakota. He has not said positively that he will sing again in the choir. He did say to somebody that he rather missed being in the choir loft on Sundays, and in Metuchen this remark speedily grew, like the story of the three crows, into an emphatic declaration of intentions, and it was still growing when a reporter visited Metuchen.

Rector Fenton said that he had no heard of any indignation meeting among the singers, and Mrs. Fenton added that there certainly had not seen any trouble as yet. The rector's wife said, however, that some of the choir had told her that they would not sing if Mr. Kempson returned, and she was satisfied in her own mind that her husband would have to worry along without a choir if Mr. Kempson did return. Rev. Mr. Fenton smiled and said he thought it highly improbable that Mr. Kempson would care to sing again and furthermore, he was not borrowing trouble this warm weather.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

ternoon.

One wagonette ran between the terminus of the trolley and the camp and was kept busy carrying the guests to and fro. There were others who walked up to the camp. A few went in carriages. The guests registered at the camp and were served with refreshments. They numbered about a hundred in all.

It is the intention of the City Union to send detachments of six babies from Plainfield to the camp three days a week. Miss Setzer, the city nurse, will look up all sick babies reported and will take charge of them. The parties will usually number from four to six. Each baby taken to the camp will be accompanied by some grown person to look specially after its wants while at the camp. A comfortable vehicle will be furnished to convey the babies to the cottage. The food for the babies' lunch will be furnished when necessary. Miss Setzer, the nurse, is a very efficient young woman. She was a government nurse during the Spanish war and was on duty at Camp Alger, Huntsville, Ala. and at Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I.

NOT ENOUGH UNITY AMONG DEMOCRATS

The Present Day Leaders Not Equal to Old Ones.

CHANGES OF A FEW YEARS.

JERSEY LEADERS HARASSED BY CAMPAIGN PLANS.

Some Hot Weather Political Observations Served Up by a Trenton Correspondent—Senator Sewell Stuck to His Party Through Adversity and Finally Led it on to Triumph and Victory.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 20—The political situation in New Jersey becomes more interesting every day. In those counties where State Senators are to be elected the professional politicians are very busy making slates, not only for legislative offices, but also for other berths which are to be filled at the November election. Of course, slate-making is their vocation, by which they try to feather their own nests, and without it they would be unknown to fame and notoriety. Nowadays Republican slate makers find more to do than those of the Democratic pursuasion. Not many years ago things were the reverse. The Republican party has been in the ascendant for some years, and it got there through the misbehavior of the Democrats while in power, and also through dissensions in the Democratic ranks over the important issues which affected the welfare of the country. The Republicans were given an opportunity to display their leadership, and they soon took advantage of it, and in a practical way at that. They now control the entire State government and they mean to tighten their grip on it as they go along.

In times gone by, when the Democrats ruled affairs, their leaders were looked up to as men of the most commanding ability. Leon Abbett, John R. McPherson, James Smith, Jr., Miles Ross, Allan L. McDermott, Edward F. C. Young, Nelson M. Pidcock and other well-known politicians then had supreme control all over the State and most of the county offices. Before their time Henry Stafford Little, Henry C. Kelsey, Theodore F. Randolph, Judge Lathrop and others of the same school were the dictators. In those days the Republicans as a party did not cut much figure in the affairs of State. The secret of Democratic success during a protracted period was that the party always held together and the best of men were selected for the various offices. The hard workers of the party were well rewarded and everything went along harmoniously.

Under the direction of skilled leadership the Democrats held a long lease of power. Just as soon as most of their best leaders either died or retired from public life mistakes were made by those who were left, and the party was made to experience a downward tendency. A disruption over the financial question then brought about the telling disaster by which the Republicans were lifted into power. General Sewell stuck by his party in the hours of adversity. He never let go of the helm, and to him perhaps more than any other Republican leader belongs the credit of having kept his party together so as to be ready for the conquests which followed sooner than has been expected.

With the many advantages in its favor, the dominant party does not seem to be as firmly intrenched in power as, under the circumstances, it should be. Were the Democrats to get together once more, under new and skilled leadership, it might not be such a task, after all, for them to succeed in regaining control of the State. Perhaps, the Republicans cannot stand prosperty very long. The office-seekers are just now giving the party a lot of trouble. In Hudson county there is much perturbation over the appointment of Alexander McLean as Sheriff. The machine Republicans do not like it at all. There are two machines in Hudson county under the protection of the dominant party. Mr. McLean does not belong to either. Apparently, he runs a machine of his own. Anyhow, neither of the regular machines is pleased over the appointment. One faction of the party was in favor of Erwin for Sheriff, and the other advocated Baldwin's appointment. The Governor did not care to mix in with their quarrels, and, consequently, he selected a very competent man, who had nothing whatever to do with the rival clans.

While the big Republican leaders are doing all in their power to harmonize the conflicting elements, yet it seems that every step they take they

LEFT BOARD BILL BEHIND

SAD EXPERIENCE OF A KINDLY-HEARTED MACHINIST.

Obtained Work For a Stranger and Became Responsible For His Board—Stranger Departed After Being Paid.

It was just a week ago last Saturday night that a stranger came to town looking for work. He appealed to a local machinist living on East Fourth street for assistance. The machinist had a kindly heart and found a position for the stranger at the Pond Tool Works, where he was employed. He also became responsible for the stranger at a boarding house on North avenue.

The stranger's story was a plausible one and told of extreme hard luck. The Plainfielder pitied him and made things as pleasant as possible for him, introducing him to a number of his friends.

Saturday came and with it pay day. The stranger received the amount due him and no one has seen him in this neighborhood since. The kind-hearted machinist was compelled to pay the board bill that he had guaranteed. It is likely that he will be rather chary in his actions with strange men in hard luck hereafter.

CHOSEN AS A MISSION WORKER.

Prof. Crofoot, Now Visiting in New Market, to Go to China.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 20—Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Crofoot, late of Alfred, N. Y., are now the guests of Mrs. Crofoot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larkin, of this place. Prof. Crofoot was the principal of the Alfred Academy, the preparatory school for Alfred University. Although a young man he is very bright. The Missionary Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination has now called him to a position as superintendent of the boys' mission school at Shanghai, China, where the Seventh-Day Baptists have a flourishing mission. His wife will accompany him. They leave in September, but will spend the summer here. Next month they go to Ashaway, R. I., for a few days to attend the yearly conference, where Prof Crofoot will be consecrated to the work.

PAID A VISIT AWHEEL.

Delegation of Juniors Enjoyed a Spin to Bound Brook.

A delegation of twenty one members of the wheeling division of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. A. M., went to Bound Brook last evening to visit Pioneer Council, Jr. O. U. A. M. The division was in charge of Horace Adams, who set the pace. The members enjoyed the genuine hospitality of the home Council, also a fine report from the National Council proceedings as given in a report by Mr. LaRue, of the home Council, who was a delegate to that convention. The Plainfield members arrived home at an early hour thoroughly pleased with their trip.

Pure Milk.

In these days when there is so much danger experienced in securing absolutely pure milk people are often perplexed in deciding as to who shall serve them. H. M. Davis, who has purchased the milk business recently conducted by Ives & Son, at 1008 Arlington avenue, announces in another part of today's Press that he serves absolutely pure milk. He calls attention to the fact that no loose milk is carried, that it is all bottled at his dairy. He states that he insists upon perfect cleanliness about his place and that it is inspected every day. Mr. Davis will leave a sample bottle of the milk, if anyone will drop him a postal card.

Filled With New Matter.

The fourth edition of Dr. Appleton Morgan's "Study in the Warwickshire Dialect" is well under way, and will leave the press early in September. If the discoveries Dr. Morgan announces in this work are veritable, no future student of Shakespeare who reckons without this book, reckons safely. It is packed with new matter. The book will be published by the Shakespeare Press, of Westfield.

To Look After Death Certificate.

D. W. Littell, L. B. Woolston and Dr. G. W. Endicott, of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, comprise the committee just appointed to look after the death claim for the family of the late Henry Bartlett Wells, of Washington Park. Mr. Wells was a member of the above Council.

Mrs. Allen's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Gideon Allen will be held tomorrow afternoon from the house on Grandview avenue at 2:45 o'clock.

GYPSIES WILL MEET IN A BIG CONGRESS

One Tribe is Now Encamped Near This City.

TO ELECT THEIR QUEEN.

A GREAT RECEPTION WILL BE GIVEN TO "SNAKE MARY."

She is Ninety-four Years Old and the Greatest Fortune Teller of Them All—Princess Maizee is Sought Out By All to Tell Them What Their Future Life is Going to Be Like.

A camp of genuine gypsies is located on the county road between Netherwood and Fanwood, in the little grove near George Thatcher's roadhouse, and they are attracting many Plainfielders, who go there to see the picturesque and rough and ready way they live.

There are seven families in the camp. They have fourteen gayly decorated wagons and one hundred head of horses. In the seven families are eight women who are gifted with the power of telling fortunes. It is seldom that so many seeresses are found gathered in one camp. That they have come together in this instance is due to the fact that on Sunday next there is to be a grand council of gypsy fortune-tellers.

The seven families will be joined during the week by twelve more families, and the camp will be greatly enlarged. Nearly all the fortune tellers in this part of the country will gather at the rendezvous. The occasion of the gathering will be a grand ovation to the queen of all the gypsies, who is also the oldest gypsy woman in the country. She is "Snake Mary," whose surname is Reilly, her last husband having been an Irishman, who joined the gypsy band.

She is ninety four years old, and is considered to be the wisest of all the gypsies who are endowed with second sight. The other gypsy women are glad to learn wisdom of "Snake Mary," who is familiar with all the happenings of the last seventy-five years. At the council on Sunday next she will expound wisdom to the lesser lights in her profession. Each of the other fortune tellers who visits her will make her some valuable present.

Queen Mary has descendants in all the gypsy camps in the East. Her tribe is the most powerful in all gypsydom. The families now gathered near Netherwood all belong to the Harrison band. All are Harrisons, or related to the Harrisons, who in turn are related to Snake Mary, John Harrison, head of the band, being Queen Mary's grandson. There are clever fortune-tellers and palmists among the Harrisons. Chief of these is Princess Maizie. The wonderful power of prediction possessed by Maizie has become known throughout Netherwood and Plainfield, and lots of persons go to her to have their fortunes told.

Solid Comfort is Sure to come if your feet are free from aches and pains. You will be able to do twice as much work and do it easier than if you are nagged and worried by some foot ailment. Corns or bunions press on the nerves, producing headache, bad temper, nervous prostration and make you look old before half of your time. E. H. Clevely, restaurant, 155 North avenue, says: "For years I suffered untold agony from bunions and corns. I doctored and doctored and tried every so-called cure I ever heard, but got no better. Even extra large shoes gave no relief. My feet today are as sound as a dollar. They are free from aches and pains, and the only specialist that did or could put my feet in a sound and healthy condition is Mr. Brown, at 145 West Second street. He certainly understands his business." Albert Runyon, with Boice, Runyon & Co., considers Specialist Brown a public benefactor, as he has completely cured his ingrowing toe nails and made his bunions small.

TRAMP SHOT TRAMP NEAR WESTFIELD.

Five Hoboes Attacked One Lone Knight of the Road.

FRACAS STARTED IN FUN.

ONE OF THE PARTY OF FIVE STOLE THE HAT OF THE OTHER.

The Lone Tramp Picked Up a Stick, and Then One of the Others Yelled "He Has Got a Gun," and the Fellow With the Hat Turned Quickly and Shot Him Through the Right Lung.

Captain George W. Grant was called to the Elizabeth General Hospital yesterday to see a man who said that he had been shot near Plainfield. The man tells a story that he was tramping toward Elizabeth at a point about one mile this side of Westfield he desired to lay down and take a little rest.

This was Tuesday night. The spot selected was in the lowlands and the mosquitoes bothered him considerable. He got up and ascended a small hill where he intended to make his bed again. On reaching the hill he met a gang of five tramps who began to attack him. One of the five grabbed his hat and started to run away with it. The lone tramp picked up a club and was about to throw it at his tormentors when another one of the five tramps exclaimed: "Look out! that man has a gun." Just then the tramp with the hat turned around and discharged a revolver. The bullet struck the friendless tramp, piercing the right lung and coming out of the back. He fell backward and it was thought that he was killed. The tramps then fled, leaving the injured man for dead.

In the course of an hour the tramp regained his senses and managed to reach the Westfield railway station, where he boarded a train and went to Elizabeth and to the hospital. He is now being properly treated, and the nurses do not think that the man will die.

The man's name is Edward Wilson, and word received from the General Hospital this afternoon says that the man will recover.

G. O. P. WORK TO BEGIN.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS TOMORROW NIGHT.

Will Not Do Anything Exciting, But Discussion of the Situation Is Likely to Take Place at the Meeting.

The G. O. P. men of Union county have been unusually energetic this summer, considering the time of year. The situation in the party has stirred up much interest and there have been various schemes afoot to further the candidacy of the men from all over the county who are in search of the plums that are to be distributed at the coming county convention. So far, however, the activity has been as individuals, while the party life has been practically dormant. Now the county executive committee of the Republicans is getting in shape for the fall work.

Several days ago a notice was sent out by Charles E. Reed, of Elizabeth, secretary of the county committee, calling a meeting of that organization for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A corrected notice has just been received by the members of the committee stating that the meeting will be held tomorrow evening at 8 instead of 4 o'clock.

There is very little probability of anything important happening at the meeting. There it always certain routine business connected with the life of political parties that has to be looked after and it devolves on the county committee to see that such work is done.

There is some talk of a revision of the rules and regulations governing the primaries and it may mean the introduction throughout the county of a a new and improved plan of conducting primaries. There is sure to be some talk about the present situation and influence may be brought to bear to force some of the weaker ones into line with the ideas of the leaders regarding the proposed nominations.

To Drain the Street.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company are today fixing the road at the corner of Richmond and East Second streets, so that the water will run off. For sometime there has been a small pond at that corner and as soon as possible a culvert will be placed there by the company.

F. A. Long and family, of the borough, are spending the day at Boynton Beach.

Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek and family, of Duer street, are visiting relatives at North Branch for a time.

POSITIVE DARLING IS IN CUSTODY.

Roundsman Flynn Identified Prisoner Yesterday.

CHIEF GRANT GETS WORD.

A SPITEFUL RELATIVE CAUSED HIS APPREHENSION.

Quarreled With His Brother-in-law by His Latest Marriage, Who Notified Chief Grant in Order to "Get Even"—Darling Tried to Commit Suicide When He Was Arrested.

Chief of Police Grant received a telegram this morning from Roundsman John Flynn, who went to McConnellsburg, Pa., yesterday morning, to identify William Darling, alias Ralph E. J. Dalton, who killed Harry Dunham, of Hornellsville, N. Y., at New Market four years ago, stating that the prisoner was in jail in McConnellsburg, and that he had positively identified him as Darling. Flynn and Darling went to school together when they were boys and as the Roundsman knew him well it was decided by the Middlesex county authorities to send him on to Pennsylvania to identify the murderer. Roundsman Flynn will return home tonight, and tomorrow will go to New Brunswick, where he will make affidavit that the prisoner in the Fulton county, Pa., jail, known as Ralph E. J. Dalton, in that section, is none other than William Darling, indicted for the murder of Harry Dunham in New Market four years ago.

Prosecutor Voorhees will immediately proceed to have Darling extradicted and brought to Middlesex county for trial. Darling is a desperate character, and it is feared there will be trouble in transporting him to New Jersey.

After commiting the murder, which was one of the most cold blooded ever perpetrated in New Jersey, Darling went west, but after a year drifted back to Pennsylvania and took up his residence in Montgomery township, Fulton county. A few weeks ago he married the seventeen-year-old daughter of David Gordon. Later he got into a quarral with his brother-in-law, U. G. Humble, and from what Darling had told him while in an intoxicated condition Humble concluded that he was wanted by the New Jersey authorities. Out of spite to Darling he communicated with Chief Grant, who worked on the case for a month and finally caused his arrest.

When Darling found that he was to be arrested he drew a revolver and attempted to commit suicide, but the Sheriff knocked the weapon from his hand and placed him in irons. Dalton or Darling lived a life of ease while in Fulton county, and always had money which was sent him from New Jersey. Much sympathy is expressed for his young bride.

FELL THIRTY FEET

A Carpenter Had Two Bones in a Leg Broken by the Tumble.

Christopher Hedemark, aged 36 years, a carpenter, residing at 826 Richmond street, fell from a scaffold yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock while working on a house on South avenue. He fell about thirty feet and sustained a severe fracture of both bones in the leg. He was picked up by his fellow workmen in a precarious condition and taken to his home.

The ambulance was sent for to remove the man to the hospital, but Hedemark refused to go at that time. Later in the evening he decided it would be better to go to the hospital and the ambulance was again sent after him. The physician in charge at the hospital thinks that he will be confined at that place at least six weeks. Mr. Hedemark is married and has a family.

SOLDIERS' PLOT.

The New One in Hillside Cemetery to Be Dedicated July 30th.

The plot recently donated by the Hillside Cemetery Association to the members of the local G. A. R. post, to be used as a soldiers' burial place, will be dedicated by Winfield Scott Post Sunday, July 30th. The exercises will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At the same time the body of Jacob Jennings, which is now in the cemetery vault, will be interred in the new plot. Winfield Scott Post is also making arrangements to erect a costly and substantial monument upon the plot at an early date.

Charles Lippencott, of the borough, has secured a position as conductor on the trolley road.

Former Assemblyman VanDoren, of East Millstone, was in Plainfield yesterday on business.

MANY GO TO THE SHORE

JOINT CHURCH EXCURSION WAS A SUCCESSFUL ONE.

One Section of Fifteen Cars Was Filled to Overflowing With Eager Excursionists Bound for a Day's Outing at Asbury Park.

There was a temporary emigration in the direction of Asbury Park this morning. Fifteen carloads of excursionists left here on the joint excursion of the Congregational, First Presbyterian, Park Avenue Baptist, and Dunellen Presbyterian churches and the Mt. Pleasant chapel. The train left the North Avenue station at 8 o'clock without any exciting incidents save the arrival of the 8 o'clock New York mail in the midst of the crowd on the platform. The train was moving very slowly, however, and the railway officials hustled the people out of the way.

The morning was delightful and promised a pleasant day at the shore although perhaps a trifle cool. The excursionists turned out in holiday attire, white predominating. The train started from Dunellen at 7:45 o'clock, picking up the excursionists from the Presbyterian church there. It reached here just before the 7:55 express pulled out to find the station platform crowded with those waiting for the train. There was a great hustling for seats and the people flocked over the tracks without any regard for the approaching mail train.

There was but one section of fifteen cars but the crowd was large enough to fill them all while some were compelled to stand. The train leaves the Park to return at 5 o'clock.

A CLEAN RECORD.

Bernards Township Treasurer Cleared of Any Wrong Doing.

Messrs. Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, appointed by the Bernards Township Committee to examine the books of Treasurer John A. Layton, subscribe to the following record:

"Pursuant to the resolution adopted, we have examined the accounts of John A. Layton, the present treasurer of the township, from the time he took the office in 1892 until June 21st of this year. As the result of our examination we beg to report that we have found Mr. Layton's accounts to be correct and accurate in every particular. His books of account and vouchers have been kept in a business-like method, and show the disposition made of all the money that has come into his hands."

RECTOR HALL RESIGNS

Vetrymen of the Church, it is Said, Requested Him to do so.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bernardsville, July 20.—Rev. J. C. Hall, rector of the Bernardsville Episcopal church, tendered his resignation yesterday morning and left for the Catskills. R. V. Lindabury, the Newark lawyer; Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, of New York and George R. Post, Jr., vestrymen of the church, waited on Mr. Hall Monday morning and it is said requested him to resign.

The trouble grew out of a sermon preached by Mr. Hall several weeks ago. It is rumored that the rector's conduct in public has not been all that could be desired by the members of the church.

Big Charley Caught.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 26—Last summer Charley Reed, who was employed by C. N. Apgar, drove off with a horse and wagon from the stables and about $12 of Mr. Apgar's money. Mr. Apgar was away from home at the time. Reed went to Lebanon and tried to sell the rig, but was unsuccessful. He then left it at the hotel there and skipped. The authorities here have been on the lookout for him ever since and Tuesday Constable Totten nabbed him in New York city. Reed is in the Tombs awaiting requisition papers.

Somerset Bar Association.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 20—The Somerset County Bar Association, which organized temporarily some weeks ago, has filed its certificate with the County Clerk. The permanent officers are: Charles A. Reed, president; James J. Bergen, vice-president; Nelson Y. Dungan, corresponding secretary and treasurer; Mary M. Steele, recording secretary; J. D. Bartine, A. A. Clark, Jas. L. Griggs, H. K. Gaston, trustees.

Chopped His Foot.

Howard Toms, a well known citizen of Warrenville, will stay at home for a while. Tuesday afternoon, while he was hewing timber in the woodlot, his broadaxe did not strike squarely and glancing from the timber it struck him on the foot, inflicting an ugly wound. He was assisted to his home where he will remain for several weeks.

CONGRESSMAN DALY ATTENDS THE MASS MEETING AT DUNELLEN.

His Speech Well Received and Warmly Applauded—Call Attention to the Trusts and Corporations Will Bear Watching—Credit Due the Plainfield Board of Trade for Bringing the Reduction in Fares.

The citizens of Dunellen have at last accomplished what they set out to secure—a reduction of fares on the street railway running through the borough. In other words they have finally secured transfers from the Plainfield Street Railway. At least that company has, through its representatives, notified the public that in the future it will carry passengers from Plainfield to the boundary line of Dunellen for one fare. Transfers, however, must be secured at the Plainfield boundary line, where the cars of the Brunswick Traction Company are now taken by passengers wishing to go farther than Dunellen.

This arrangement was made public at the mass meeting held last night at Dunellen. The meeting was a most representative one. It was graced by the presence of Hon. Wiliam D. Daly, Congressman from the this district. Besides Congressman Daly, there were also present from this city Dr. Fritts, vice-president of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, J. C. Pope and Secretary Harry C. Runyon, of the Board of Trade.

The meeting was held in the Borough Hall, which was filled to its limit, standing room being at a premium. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Winges, and after the minutes of the previous meeting had been read, Secretary Ising read the report of the committee—Messrs. W. J. Winges, Louis Snyder and Wilson Frederick—appointed at the last meeting with reference to taking action regards an effort to have an adjustment of fares on the line of the Brunswick Traction Company. This report in substance was what has already been published in The Press. It was accompanied by a resolution asking the co-operation of the Plainfield Board of Trade and the citizens of Plainfield to assist them in the matter.

Thomas W. F. Scanlon, of West Dunellen, on behalf of the committee, then stated that he was pleased to say that the efforts of the Board of Trade had been successful in bringing about an agreement between the Plainfield Street Railway Company and the Brunswick Traction Company, in which the companies had made an arrangement whereby the Plainfield Street Railway Company would in the future issue transfers on all 5-cent fares to Dunellen and that the Brunswick Traction Company would do likewise on return trips. In other words, transfers would be issued by both companies on a 5-cent fare both ways.

The announcement was received with applause. Chairman Winges then introduced Congressman Daly.

The Congressman was in good voice and in a fifteen minutes' speech he kept the crowd good-natured. He said in part:

"Gentlemen—I think it was a wise move on the part of the citizens to make this fight against the street railroad company. I do not wish to appear demagogical. I am not opposed to corporations. I don't attack them because they are corporations; but I believe that the citizens have rights that even corporations are bound to respect. I remember distinctly what Mr. Radell said at that dinner which my friend, Mr. Winges, gave. He made certain promises then, but which I do not think have been lived up to. But I am not at all surprised. I have little faith in corporations. My advice to the gentlemen at the time was for then to have those promises put in writing; to bind them. My experience with corporations has not been of the best. They will take advantage of the public every time they get the chance. They are not in business for fun, but for money.

"The position the citizens of Dunellen have taken in this trolley fight is a just one. It is a high-handed outrage and an imposition on the public to force you to pay an extra fare. When you took the step you did to force this railway company to take some action to give you your just dues you did perfectly right. The citizens deserve credit for the stand they have taken, and I think that your

MORE MEN JOIN STRIKERS

Metropolitan Street Railway Employes Are Ordered to Quit Work.

TO AID BROOKLYN MEN.

System Not Completely Tied up But Traffic is Greatly Impeded by Strikers and Sympathizers.

Cars Are Showered With Stones and Bricks—A Complete Tie-up of All Trolley Lines Threatened—Police Break Up Riots and Disperse the Unruly Crowds.

New York, July 20.—With scarcely a moment's warning to the men a strike was ordered on the trolley lines comprised in the system controlled by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of Manhattan, and in a short time the strike was on in full blast.

The lines affected by the decision are the Second, Madison, Sixth, Eighth, Lenox, Amsterdam avenue, and the Twenty-third, Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Sixteenth street lines, all of which are operated by electricity.

The system is not wholly tied up, but the cars that succeed in getting through are operated with a great deal of difficulty as all sorts of obstructions are placed on the tracks by men, women and children and the motormen and conductors are stoned and clubbed whenever an opportunity affords.

A strong force of police met a fusillade of stones and bricks in driving a crowd of five hundred persons through Ninety-first street, from Second avenue to First avenue.

Captain Chapman and a force of police from the Mercer street station charged into a crowd of 1,000 persons at Broadway and Astor place and were obliged to use their clubs freely in doing so.

They were largely strike sympathizers and were hooting the motormen and conductors of all the Second and Fourth avenue cars that reached that terminus.

Sixteen of the twenty-two men arrested on suspicion of blowing up the Fifth avenue Brooklyn "L" road, were held for examination. A detective swore he heard them threaten to use dynamite.

President Vreeland, commenting on the strike of his trolley men, said: "I defy them to tie up our lines."

Strikers on the Sixth and Eighth avenue lines of the Metropolitan Traction Company say there will be a complete trolley tie-up inside of twenty-four hours.

General Master Workman Parsons accuses the police of extreme brutality towards strikers along the Second avenue line. A great crowd of strikers and sympathizers threw stones and all manner of missiles at a car and had to be charged into repeatedly by the police. It was reported at Headquarters that Chief Devery had taken the extraordinary step of ordering the police to arrest any trolley employe who abandoned his car. Strikers claim the police exceeded their powers in arresting pickets, whose only offence was persuading men to quit.

President Rossiter, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company has offered a reward for the person or perons who blew up a portion of the elevated road in Brooklyn.

To the most conservative, it looks as though the trike was going to become a matter of great seriousness before the end comes, as the trouble is now spreading very rapidly.

Cleveland Strikers Use Dynamite.

Cleveland, O., July 20.—Cars are running on nine of the fourteen divisions of the Big Consolidated system. The ones still tied up are the Clark avenue, Broadway, Union, Scranton avenue, and Abbey street lines. Of these the Clark avenue and Broadway lines are of much importance. The most serious violence since the street car strike was renewed was the blowing up of a switch with dynamite and the burning of a small office and waiting room at Murray Hill. No one was injured. The members of the State Board of Arbitration are all here and are being studiously ignored by both the strikers and the company. Both sides assert that they have nothing to arbitrate.

Fraud Not Proved in State Canals.

Albany, July 20.—No criminal prosecutions can lie against former State Superintendent of Public Works G. W. Aldridge or State Engineer and Surveyor Campbell W. Adams based on testimony taken by the Canal Improvement Investigating Commission appointed by Governor Black. The report of Messrs. MacFarlane and Fox, two Democratic attorneys, and the report of Mr. Shrove, a Republican, have been made public, and both agree that there is nothing in the testimony which would warrant the commencement of prosecution against any one.

Divided Time Between His Wives.

Boston, Mass., July 20.—Roe A. S. Robinson, of South Boston, who has two wives, was arreted at the instance of Mrs. Robinson No. 2 for non-support. In her testimony she revealed the fact that he had another wife. Robinson had divided his time between the two, occasionally beating the second wife. The wives had met before his arrest, but neither made a legal charge of bigamy against him until afterward.

Saved by Being Caught on Pilot.

Passaic, N. J., July 20.—Harry W. Parker, a young lad, was riding with his father across the tracks of the Erie Railroad at Monroe street, when their carriage was struck by a freight train. Both were thrown high into the air. The boy landed on the cowcatcher of the engine and was carried a hundred feet before the engine could be stopped. His leg was broken.

Flouring Mill Burned.

Princeton, Ind., July 20.—Fire destroyed the Witherspoon & Barr flour mill. The damage by fire and water is estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000.

SARATOGA'S BIG BLAZE.

Fire Destroys About $200,000 Worth of Property.

Saratoga, July 20.—A serious fire broke out near the corner of Broadway and West Congress street here, and for a time threatened the Grand Union Hotel.

The result showed that the hotel was never in danger, although at one time the window sills and awnings on the south wing were on fire, and the heat from the flames was intense.

The fire was under control in about three hours. It did not extend beyond the Congress Spring Park Hotel, which is a charred wreck. The wind, which had been high when the fire first broke out, subsided afterward, greatly assisting the work of the Fire Department. Many narrow escapes were reported by tenants of the Favorite Spring Building and the guests of the Congress Spring Hotel.

The estimated loss is between $150,000 and $200,000, partly covered by insurance. Over 25,000 people witnessed the fire.

The fire originated in Charles Leggett's bicycle store by the explosion of naphtha, which seriously burned several employes, one of whom is missing.

Among those burned out besides Leggett are: F. W. Hoffman, diamond dealer, of New York City and Albany; a fancy store, John C. Schwarte, a tailor; the Young Men's Christian Association rooms, a Mexican burnt leather establishment, J. W. Erb's saloon, Congress Spring Park Hotel and half a dozen small places.

Want Mrs. Maybrick Pardoned.

Washington, July 20.—Since Secretary Hay has declared his intention of making an effort to secure the release of Mrs. Florence Maybrick who is serving a life sentence in England for the murder of her husband, sentiment along this line has been coniderably revived. Letters are constantly coming in requesting that the matter be attended to with all possible haste. Papers in the case have already been forwarded to England.

C. L. JOHN HAY.

May Withdraw Troops From Cuba.

Washington, July 20.—In response to suggestions from the War Department, Major-General Brooke, commanding the Division of Cuba, has telegraphed that one battalion from each of the following five regiments now in Cuba may be withdrawn during the rainy season without injury to the service: 1st, 2d, 5th, 8th and 10th Regiments of regular infantry.

Will Remain Non-Union.

Wellsville, Ohio, July 20.—The fourth effort since its start 20 years ago to unionize the Wellsville Plate and Sheet Iron Mill failed as signally as the previous attempts. At a meeting called by the Amalgamated Association, the men contended they were paid good wages and given steadier work than most of the mills.

Indians Surround Cowboys.

Chadron, Neb., July 20.—A cowboy courier from the Cheyenne River, Bad Lands, reports that fifty Indians have surrounded a band of cowboys in South Dakota. The red men first wounded a single cowboy, and when the others rode to avenge him they were ambushed.

Thomas McDougall Dead.

Greenville, Ohio, July 20.—Lawyer Thomas McDougall, of Cincinnati, was found dead in bed at his summer home, near South Salem. Mr. McDougall took a prominent part in the heresy trial, by the Presbyterian General Assembly, of Prof. Briggs, of Union Seminary, New York.

To Ratify Reciprocity Treaty.

Washington, July 20.—The State Department has been officially informed that the agreement lately concluded between Portugal and the United States, relating to reciprocity, will be ratified.

Death of an Almshouse Matron.

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 20.—Mrs. Wesley Boyce, who for the past two years had been the matron at the Westchester County Almshouse at East View, near here, died suddenly from heart disease.

Washington Library Architects.

Washington, July 20.—Ackerman & Ross, of New York, have been appointed architects of the proposed Washington Public Library, which is to be erected with funds donated by Andrew Carnegie.

Trouble in San Salvador.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—United States Consul Jenkins, at San Salvador, has reported to the State Department that San Salvador is in a state of siege as the result of revolutionary plotting.

Made Colonel of the Thirty-fourth.

Washington, July 20.—Capt. Lyman W. V. Bannon of the 6th Infantry has been appointed Colonel of the 34th Regiment of Volunteers, with headquarters at Fort Logan, Col.

The Dreyfus Court-Martial.

Paris, July 20.—The Figaro says that all of the documents in the Dreyfus case, not excepting the secret dossier, will be read at the coming court-martial at Rennes.

WANT TO TELL IT.

Many Enthusiastic Plainfield Citizens Want to Make It Public.

There is something in it.
When people want to talk about it.
Publicity of a good thing is good for the people.
Gratitude promotes publicity.
Enthusiastic citizens are talking.
Telling neighbors—telling friends.
Removing the stumbling block of doubt.
And so the work goes on.
Home endorsement is giving confidence.
Thousands are learning to appreciate it.

Here is a West Front street citizen who does.

Mrs. Henry Bender, of 118 West Front street, says:—"My kidneys gave me more or less trouble for five years. I suffered almost constantly from a dull aching pain across the back and hips. Any hard work always increased the pain. I was also subject to severe headaches and dizziness when stooping, and though I tried different plasters and home remedies I could get no relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles as mine and got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store, used them according to directions and obtained a great deal of relief from them. In my estimation, and from my experience, Doan's Kidney Pills are a good reliable kidney medicine, and I have faith in them. I advise others who suffer from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trail."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cts a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

The Paranique Bridge Swept Away and the One at Zapote in Danger—Typhoon Does Considerable Damage—Superior Courts at Manila do Little Business.

Manila, July 20.—Although the Superior Courts have nominally been open for some time, they have done no business in consequence of there being no lawyers. The question of membership of the Bar is difficult to decide, because of the involved conditions antecedent to the capture of Manila by the Americans.

The matter will be finally determined at once. The Spaniards have followed the English system of employing solicitors.

The College of Solicitors has been abolished and the practice made to conform to the American system wherever practicable. Those actually practising on Jan. 31, the day the Spanish courts were supended, are admitted to the new Bar subject to examination by the courts. The Spanish method of admission through the Colegie de Abogados has been abolished and admission is now obtained through the court. Licentiates of the American Supreme and District Courts and the highest State Courts are admitted after such examination as the Court prescribes, and all must take the oath. Besides those lawyers practising locally prior to Feb. 1 only citizens of the United States will be admitted.

A terrific typhoon has raged for two days, in which time there has been a rainfall of 14 inches. The total rainfall thus far in July has amounted to 35.94 inches, two typhoons showing a fall of 14 inches each. The average July rainfall is 14½ inches.

The whole country is flooded. The wire being down between Las Pinas and Bacoor, the linemen had to wade through water up to their armpits to repair it. The Paranaque bridge has been swept away and the Zapote bridge is going.

The cable steamship Hooker, which is waiting to begin the work of laying cables south, is unable to take on coal. Twice there has been a foot of rainfall within twenty-four hours.

Lieut. Franklin, commanding the army gunboat Napidan, captured Laguna de Bay and drove the Filipinos back. It is impossible to move troops along the roads because of the floods.

Manila's Internal Revenue.

Washington, July 20.—The War Department has received an official statement from Manila to the effect that the internal revenue receipts for the month of May at that port were $33,191.69. The total amount of internal revenue receipts since American occupation is $279,196.26, divided as follows: Aug. 14 to Dec. 31, $96,764.96; January 1899, $40,186.14; February, $21,112.11; March, $31,063; April, $56,878.06; May, $33,191.69.

Butler, N. J., July 20.—Frank Sheppard, of Stockholm, a fireman on the Susquehanna Railroad, was fatally injured here by his locomotive running off the track. The engine was drawing a long coal train, and when a short distance above the Butler station the locomotive suddenly ran off the track and turned over on its side. The engineer escaped, but Fireman Sheppard was caught under the engine and badly crushed.

City Finally Defeats a Railroad.

Burlington, N. J., July 20.—The Pennsylvania Railroad has begun work of tearing up the tracks it started to lay through this city a few years ago. There was a dispute over the laying which finally was taken into the courts. The case has been dragging since, and at last the road decided to abandon the tracks. The court decisions given always favored the city.

ALGER TO QUIT THE CABINET

The Secretary of War Announces That He Will Retire at Once.

TALKED WITH PRESIDENT

Determination to Resign Reached During a Recent Visit to Vice-President Hobart.

No Successor Yet Named, But New York Man May Get the Place—Alger's Retirement at This Time Said to be the Cause of Some Surprise in Washington.

Washington, July 20.—Secretary Alger has announced that he has placed his resignation in the hands of the President to take effect at such time as the President may see fit.

The President and the Secretary of War, at a conference held at the White House, fully discussed the question of Secretary Alger' retirement and it was arranged that Mr. Alger should leave the Cabinet.

The Secretary informed President McKinley that he had changed his mind about waiting until January to leave the Cabinet, and that he would relieve the Administration of embarrassment by voluntarily handing in his resignation now.

The change in Gen. Alger's plans came about during his three days' visit to Vice-President Hobart. It is partly due to the fact that the Secretary is worn out and sick over the attacks made upon him. He will go away for a rest before he decides what he will do about his senatorial plans.

The resignation of Gen. Alger at this time caused surprise, for it was understood that everything had been arranged for him to remain in the Cabinet until he had completed his annual report. His visit to, and talk with the Vice-President, however, changed his views, and he concluded to end the matter and resign at once.

Owing to the sudden character of Gen. Alger's decision it is too early to talk about his successor, although it seems certain that the President will name a New Yorker and that he will be a man versed in law and diplomacy.

The President wants his new Secretary of War to be able to handle as a lawyer the great problems in connection with our new territory. As he is directing the military part of the campaign himself, he wants a statesman to assist him in his work at the War Department.

The President goes to Lake Champlain next week for an indefinite stay, and he may wait until he leaves before he names Gen. Alger's successor.

The President's Trip.

Washington, July 20.—President and Mrs. McKinley will leave Washington probably within a week for a pleasure trip designed mainly to benefit Mrs. McKinley's health. They will go to Lake Champlain, where the President spent his vacation two years ago, and will be absent from Washington at least two weeks. On their way back they may stop at Long Branch and pay the promised visit to Vice-President Hobart. Mrs. McKinley's health does not improve as rapidly as was hoped and the President desires to take her to some quiet spot.

While the President has not announced an abandonment of the projected Western trip, it is now thought improbable that he will get far West this year. He has a positive engagement to visit Chicago in October, but it is said that Mrs. McKinley's health, unless there is great improvement, would not permit of her going on an extended journey.

Philadelphia's Commerce.

Philadelphia, July 20.—The New York Commerce Commission, appointed to investigate the decline of commerce in the harbor of New York, have inspected the shipping facilities on the Delaware River. The party, which is composed of Charles A. Schieren, former Mayor of Brooklyn; C. C. Shayne, Hugh Kelly, Alexander R. E. Smith and B. L. Fairchild, was taken along the river front in one of the Clyde tugs by Harbor Master Klemmer and Director of Public Works Haddock.

Mount Etna Again in Eruption.

Rome, July 20.—There has been another eruption of Mount Etna. After loud subterranean noises the crater vomited forth dense columns of smoke, which were followed by enormous masses of sand. A part of a church was demolished at Castel-Gandolfo. No fatalities have been reported.

Tried to Burn His Wife Alive.

Corning, N. Y., July 20.—Mrs. Isaac Birrolio died at Blossburg, Pa., as a result, it is alleged, of the inhuman conduct of her husband, a barber, who, two weeks ago, set fire to her clothes and then held her hands while she burned.

Death of Hon. I. W. Imhoff.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 20.—Hon. I. W. Imhoff, who was a member of the Legislature in 1892, died suddenly at his country residence of heart failure. He was one of the most prominent Democrats in Virginia.

Right From the Klondike.

San Francisco, July 20.—The Alaska Commercial Company's steamer Portland is here direct from St. Michaels, bringing 150 men and nine women from Dawson and $1,000,000 worth of gold.

Big Warehouse Burned.

New York, July 20.—The Excelsior Warehouse, at the Atlantic docks was totally destroyed by fire. There was over 100,000 bushels of grain stored in the warehouse all of which will be a total loss.

Town in Beloochistan Annexed.

Simla, July 20.—The Indian Government has annexed Nushki, in Beloochistan, paying an annual rental for the territory to the Khan of Kelat.

322 WEST FRONT STREET.

We close at 7 o'clock during July and August, Saturdays excepted.

I took luncheon recently with an enthusiastic Golfer who had a packet of Ripans Tabules in his possession. He had never taken one, but intended to begin, because they had been given him by _____ who said they were "good for Golfers"—and explained that they gave one "a bully good stool," and that was why they were good for Golfers. These two men are well-known Golfers, and have had much to do in promoting the popularity of the pastime among the upper ten thousand, and are on that account very much interested in everything that gives zest and vim to the game.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

Making People Happy.

Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs. Cullen, 1601 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

FEVER UNDER CONTROL.

Despite Disease in Santiago, Death Rate Is Low.

Santiago, July 20.—Notwithstanding the fever epidemic, only sixteen deaths from all causes were reported last week. This is the lowest mortality record the city has ever known. No new cases of yellow fever have been reported in five days, and nearly all patients in the hospitals are convalescent. George F. Allen of Denver, assistant superintendent of the Barber Asphalt Company, died from the disease.

The average monthly death rate in Santiago under the Spanish regime was 250; but since the American occupation it has been reduced to about 112, and is constantly decreasing, owing to the efficient sanitary measures adopted.

General Leonard Wood, the Military Governor, said that the quarantine would be continued until he was entirely satisfied that there was no danger of infection. There is no fever in the province except the cases here, where the disease is under control.

Suicide On a Train.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 20.—Miss Diana Anderson, of this city, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid on the Harlem express between Chatham, N. Y., and this city. The woman, who was twenty-eight years old, and had lived in Pittsfield for the past five years, was returning from a vacation spent at Paterson, N. J. She took the acid in the toilet room of the train and resumed her seat in the car, and was dead in less than twenty-five minutes. In a purse were found cards by which the suicide was identified. Her sister, Mrs. Sarah J. Geddes, of 428 Grand street, Paterson, N. J., was notified of the death of Miss Anderson, and the body was sent to Paterson for burial.

Whole Family Held for Crime.

Lockport, N. Y., July 20.—After waiting five weeks for a verdict in the case of Sarah A. Mumford, 16 years old, whose mangled body was found on the New York Central tracks at Shawnee Crossing on the morning of June 9, the Coroner's jury has found that "Sarah Mumford came to her death on the night of June 8 at the hands of Henry Tripp, Matilda Tripp or Loren Tripp, and we name Iva Tripp as an accessory to the crime. We further determine that said parties be held and examined on the charge by a magistrate." The four Tripps were arrested and brought to the County Jail here.

Many Cottages Robbed.

Portchester, N. Y., July 20.—Several robberies committed in cottages in the town of Rye have been traced to George Friedman, who is in the White Plains jail waiting trial on the charge of burglary. Friedman was caught a few days ago in the act of robbing Earnest Simons's house, in Westchester avenue. He had in his possession at that time some silverware, which had been stolen from other places. Mrs. H. F. Clark, of Rye Neck, has identified some of the silverware as having been taken from her house a few nights before the Simons robbery.

Water Main Bursts.

New York, July 20.—A 40-inch water main, which supplies the district lying between Woodlawn Cemetery and the Bronx River, burst at Woodlawn. The flood of water which poured through the break in the main washed away 200 feet of the tracks of the Harlem division of the New York Central Railroad. There are four tracks at this point used by the trains of the Harlem division and the New York, New Haven & Hartford. Traffic on these two lines was interrupted for several hours.

Aguinaldo's Spanish Captives.

Madrid, July 20.—In the Senate, Count Almenas interpellated the Government regarding the Spanish prisoners held by the Filipinos and reproached the Ministry for abandoning them. He proposed that the money which the Queen Regent recently agreed to turn over from the civil list be applied to the relief of the captives. Prime Minister Silyela replied that the Government had made every effort to secure the release of the prisoners and was continuing the negotiations to that end.

Gen. Shafter Must Be Retired.

Washington, July 20.—Those friends of Major Gen. Shafter who are working in San Francisco to have him retained in the army after his time to retire has arrived will not meet with success here. If Congress was in session and there was an overwhelming desire to prolong the services of Shafter as an officer of the army, the law might be amended in his case, but under the statute that will control the President on Oct. 16, 1899, Shafter must be placed on the retired list.

Fighting With Train Robbers.

Springer, N. M., July 19.—Later accounts of the fight between officers and train robbers at Cimarron show that only one man, Sheriff Farr, was killed. Deputy Marshal Love was critically wounded, a steel bullet striking a knife in his pocket and driving it through his leg. John Smith, who volunteered his services to Marshal Foraker, was shot through the calf of his leg.

GREAT THOUGHTS.

Justice is truth in action.—Disraeli.

Our only greatness is that we aspire.—Jean Ingelow.

What has been done can be done again.—Disraeli.

Conduct is three-fourths of life.—Matthew Arnold.

Judgment is forced upon us by experience.—Johnson.

Age, like woman, requires fit surroundings.—Emerson.

Houses are like the human beings who inhabit them.—Hugo.

Money makes up in a measure all other wants in men.—Wycherley.

Take hope from the heart of man and you make him a beast of prey.—Ouida.

The refusal of praise is only the wish to be praised twice.—La Rochefoucauld.

Courage, like cowardice, is undoubtedly contagious, but some persons are not liable to catch it.—G. D. Prentice.

BRYAN MAY NOT SPEAK.

Many Democrats in Chicago to Attend Committee Meeting.

Chicago, July 20.—Many prominent Democrats from different parts of the United States are here, to attend the conference of the National Committee called for the discussion of matters of general interest to the Democratic party and for an exchange of views and ideas on plans to follow out in the national campaign next year.

Col. William Jennings Bryan seems to be about the centre of attraction, and his headquarters at the Auditorium Annex have been constantly crowded with callers since the Nebraskan's arrival. Mr. Bryan is slated for a speech during the conference but says he has not fully decided whether he will speak or not. Mr. Bryan refused to discuss Mayor Harrison's refusal to attend the Autidorium meeting.

In the absence of Senator Jones, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee Ex-Governor Jones of Missouri will probably be chosen temporary chairman and act as leader of the committee until the conference closes.

A majority of the members of the committee has arrived. John R. W. McLean of Ohio, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of that State, will not be here. He will send a proxy. Senator Joe Blackburn of Kentucky is here with Goebel, the candidate for Governor, and National Committeeman Woodsoe. The Senator wants to dispose of the rumors about Goebel's alleged coldness toward the Chicago platform.

Good Western Corn Crops.

Omaha, July 20.—M. Baker, who controls a system of elevators in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska, and who perhaps knows more about crops than any one else in that part of the country, says corn in the two States could not be more nearly perfect than it is at present. He looks for a yield that will break all records. Northern Kansas and southern Nebraska have had plenty of rain and it has come at just the right time. An unusually large acreage has been planted and no farming district has been slighted so far as rain is concerned.

Scaffold Falls, Killing Two.

Philadelphia, July 20.—Two painters were killed by the fall of a scaffold at 1,813 Spruce street. One was M. E. McClinchey, 28 years old, of 32 Brown street. The other has not been identified. There was nobody in the house and the police have not been able to learn for what firm the men worked. The unidentified man was killed instantly and the other died at the Polyclinic Hospital.

Women for Harvard Law School.

Cambridge, Mass., July 20.—It has just leaked out that at a recent meeting of the faculty of Harvard Law School it was voted to allow women to attend the courses in the Law School, provided they were graduate students of Radcliff College. President Eliot was present at the meeting of the faculty when this vote was passed. It is reported that he is not in complete sympathy with the action.

Kissing Bug Kills a Woman.

Chicago, July 20.—Mrs. Mary Steger, who was stung on the lip a week ago by a kissing bug, has died from the effects of the sting. She suffered intense pain for seven days. After her death her physician, Dr. George M. Illingworth, issued the following statement: "Chief and determining cause of death, sting of a kissing bug; consecutive and contributory, tonsilitis."

Brewers' Strike Off.

Chicago, July 20.—The Chicago brewers and their striking workmen have come to a wage agreement, and all the breweries reopened. The brewers have allowed their employees a slight increase in pay by the hour and a shorter work day, although the request of the men for 25 per cent. increase, according to the scale of 1893, remains unsatisfied.

Senator Burrow's Friend Dead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 20.—Herman James Monroe, aged 80 years, Postmaster of Kalamazoo and ex-Mayor, died after a week's illness. For many years he was politically known as Senator Burrows's right-hand man.

Resulted in Murder.

Vincennes, Ind., July 20.—Hugh W. McMahan, the street-car motorman who was mistaken for a burglar in the act of breaking into Al Wheeler's house, and was shot by Peter Saeger, a neighbor, died, and Saeger is in jail, charged with murder.

Declined the Lieutenancy.

Dayton, Ohio, July 20.—Guy Manning has declined the appointment of First Lieutenant in the Thirty-first Volunteer Infantry, saying that he does not desire to return to the volunteer service for the period of two years.

Drowned in Sight of Home.

Brazil, Ind., July 20.—C. T. Godfrey, of the milling firm of Godfrey & Huber, was drowned while in bathing in Eel River at Poland. He was in sight of his home and his young wife and child when the accident occurred.

Texas Fever Spreading.

Gallipolis, Ohio, July 20.—The ravages of the Texas fever among the cattle of Gallia and Lawrence Counties is causing the gravest alarm. Already over 150 cattle have died. Dr. Moore has instituted a quarantine.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

His daily prayer far better understood in acts than words, was simply doing good.—Whittier.

The old scriptural sobriety was effectual doing; ascetic sobriety is effectual dullness.—H. W. Beecher.

If there be any truer measure of a man than by what he does, it must be by what he gives.—South.

If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both.—Horace Mann.

It will require more than a few hours of fasting and prayer to cast out such demons as selfishness, worldliness and unbelief.—T. L. Cuyler.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

COMING EVENTS.

July 23—Rev. James A. Cubberly will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p. m. Miss Raybert will sing and there will be instrumental music.

Won By Public Sentiment.

Public sentiment has again won a victory, this time in the decision of the Plainfield Street Railway Company to agree to inaugurate a complete transfer system between Plainfield and Dunellen. Though the Street Railway Company had persistently declined to act on the ground that it meant a financial loss to them, or at least not sufficient gain to warrant their entering into such an arrangement, the fact that the matter was taken up by citizens at large has resulted in their consenting to do the very thing which they had declared they could not do. We are glad to give credit to the company for their bowing to public sentiment, but, notwithstanding, the fact still remains that they have been double-dealing with the people.

By their agreement to issue transfers for passengers to ride on the cars of the Brunswick Traction Company, the local Company acknowledges that the public convenience and accommodation is served by the arrangement. And if this is so now, it was so months ago. Certainly, under the pressure that was being brought to bear on them from various sources, together with the fact that they knew the situation thoroughly by experience from day to day, the Plainfield Street Railway Company was in a position to realize this quite as forcibly from a business standpoint then as at the present day.

In the face of this condition of affairs, however, they have been compelling the Brunswick Traction Company to exact these additional fares from passengers whose accommodation necessitated their using both roads in going to Dunellen from this city, or else forcing the passengers to walk a considerable distance. Whichever way it happened to be it was an outrage upon the public which gives to the railway company the only valuable asset that it possesses.

Now that the company has agreed to act fair, let us hope that they will continue to do so. And above all do not lose sight of the fact that public sentiment is the most powerful influence in existence.

MISS RUTH LAWRENCE.

Peculiarly appropriate was the selection of Miss Ruth Lawrence for the principal part in the christening of the new torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence. Her illustrious ancestor, Captain James Lawrence, for whom the new boat is named, was killed in command of the Chesapeake in 1813. She is prominent in the Society of Colonial Dames.

Concerning the protest of the newspaper correspondents in Manila against the falsification of news and the suppression of facts as to the progress of the campaign in the Philippines, the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The President should compel the War Department to take the people into its confidence, at least to the extent of telling the truth about what has already occurred. Lincoln did that during the War of the Rebellion, and frequently put an end to alarming rumors by a simple statement of fact. President McKinley can do the same thing now, and he ought to do it, if he can truthfully refute the insinuations contained in this alleged protest."

The opinion of City Counsel Price, of Newark, that corporation pipes, wires, etc., used in the public streets, are taxable as real estate, has attracted attention in several New Jersey cities, where steps are being taken to carry out the principles enunciated by Mr. Price. Passaic is one of the cities that has taken the initiative step, and the City Council has directed the attention of the Board of Assessors to the matter, with instructions that they shall consult with the City Attorney in respect to carrying out the idea in that city. It is to be hoped that Plainfield will not overlook the matter.

A dispatch from New Brunswick reviews the sentences that have been imposed on criminals in that county during the last few years, and by comparison to other cases the six years in State prison which Valentine, the bank wrecker, was sentenced to serve, the latter has been dealt with altogether too leniently.

William J. Sewell, Jr., son of the senior United States Senator from this State, who served as Captain and Assistant Adjutant General during the Spanish war, has been appointed Captain in one of the new volunteer regiments. The Paterson Guardian says that he is a son of somebody.

Elizabeth's tax rate for this year will probably be $2.98 on the $100, which is within four points of the limit allowed by law. Elizabeth is paying an exceptionally high rate without anything material to show for it.

The justice that has been meted out to Valentine, the Perth Amboy bank wrecker, in Middlesex county, was swift, but not sufficient.

Municipal ownership of the water supply in Plainfield should be the slogan of every citizen.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A group of five men, who were being entertained by the belle of a popular summer resort, were recently asked by her what costume they considered looked coolest for a girl to wear on a hot day. With a singular unanimity four out of five agreed in tendering the verdict; this was that a girl looked at her coolest when clad in a white duck skirt, with a pale-pink shirt-waist. Let all the girls take notice of this masculine performance for pink and white.

NOT ENOUGH UNITY.

are as far away from accomplishing their purpose as if they had not attempted it at all. They are unable to discipline the office-seekers, and hence the danger which confronts them in their efforts to perpetuate the control of their party over the affairs of State.

Democratic leaders are of the opinion that the time is ripe for an old-fashion victory for their party. With good leadership and unity in their ranks they believe they can displace the Republican enemy from his stronghold and thus restore the State once more to Democratic rule. But how will they get together? That, of course, is the main consideration. It is reported that a confence of the leaders of the divergent elements of the party will soon be held to see what can be done in the interest of harmony. The belief is expressed that the gold and the silver men can come to an understanding by which a reorganization can be effected so as to present a united front to the enemy in the campaign which is now progressing and which is of so much importance, especially to the Democratic party not only of the State, but of the nation. Allen L. McDemott, Edward F. C. Young, former Senator James Smith, William B. Gourley, Rufus Blodgett, David S. Crater, Congressman Daly, Colonel Price, Clarence S. Atkinson, "Bob" Davis, Johnston Cornish and former Speaker James J. Bergen could do a lot of effective work in the harmony line if they only could get their heads together and agree to forget old antagonisms.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15 and 25c.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.
Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

Going! Going! G—

Not gone—but going. We refer to our Shirt Waists. The stock grows smaller and beautifully less. The prices are selling them. It is our fixed policy to sell every waist during its own particular season. Profit is a secondary matter now. Prices on all waists have been cut deep and still deeper; late as the season is our saie of waists is phenomenal. Splendid styles, large variety and low prices. If you need any, select them at once.

Wash Goods of every description at greatly lessened prices. What is true of Shirt Waists is equally true of wash goods—they must be sold this season, and they are selling cheaply enough to be bought and kept until next season.

The Bottom Out.

The bottom has literally fallen out of the prices of Crash Suits, Crash Skirts, Duck Skirts, Pique Skirts and all other ready made garments, and all this while the stock is still fairly well assorted.

In regard to White Goods.

We have not cut prices on white goods, no necessity for so doing. Our prices for white goods are always low, and we show an almost infinite variety of goods. Special values in White Lawns and Corded Piques we can always give you for the asking.

Table Linens.

Some people would call it plunging to buy Table Linens in such quantities as we have been buying lately. Be that as it may we are always ready to plunge if goods are offered us cheap enough. This we know—we are able to give such values in both Bleached and Unbleached Linens, as are rarely offered the buying public. An extra heavy half bleached damask at 39c yd., is a straw showing which way the wind blows.

A Fair Question.

Do you make your sheets and Pillow Cases? Or do you buy them ready made? In either case we are ready to serve you. We have always a full line of double width Standard Sheetings, and splendid sheets full size, 3/4 size and single bed size; Pillow Cases, Bolster Cases, Etc. All are torn, neatly hemmed, clean and ready for immediate use.

A word to the Men.

We have a complete gent's furnishing department, splendidly stocked, splendidly kept, splendidly managed and obligingly waited on. Light weight gauze, medium weight gauze and Summer weight cashmere Underwear. Neglige Shirts 50c to $1 25. Neckwear. Suspenders, Socks, Jewelry, Etc., and what is probably the best 50c white Laundered Shirt in the country.

Travelers Comforts.

A good, strong, well finished Trunk is a great comfort to the traveler. Our Trunks are carefully selected from several of the best factories in the country, and are remarkably made and carefully finished, well bound, well lined, good locks, etc. Dress Suit Cases and Traveling Bags of all kinds. Trunk Straps and Shawl Straps.

DOWN STAIRS.

The inevitable rise in the price of

Iron Beds

and bedding has taken place.

Anticipating same we have been buying everything in special values offered us until every nook and cranny is filled with Iron Beds and bedding, consequently we find ourselves in a position to sell these goods very cheap.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 20.—Mrs. Alice Smith, a woman of middle age, who lives with her daughter and son in a flat over Welch Brothers' store on Broad street, became violently insane while on Broad street yesterday afternoon and began throwing stones at passers-by. Constable Fred Todd took her to her house and sent for her son, who watched her until Dr. R. R. Sinclair and Dr. Sherman Cooper could be called. After making an examination of the woman they decided that she was insane and therefore she will be removed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains today. About eight years ago Mrs. Smith was an inmate of the hospital but was discharged as cured and has shown no symptoms since until yesterday.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Im Februar d. J. wurden mehrere hundert Reservisten aus Neudorf-Ruprechtsau und Königshofen zu Geldstrafen verurtheilt, weil sie es angeblich unterlassen hatten, den Wechsel ihrer Wohnung auf dem Straßburger Bezirkskommando anzuzeigen. In Wirklichkeit hatten die Leute ihre Wohnung gar nicht gewechselt, sondern es war nur der Name der Straße, in der sich ihre Wohnungen befanden, abgeändert worden. In Folge erhobener Beschwerde ist die Strafe dieser Tage wieder aufgehoben worden.

Klein-Rosseln. Die Herren de Wendel u. Co. lassen hier für ihre Arbeiter ein großes Spital mit allen der Neuzeit entsprechenden Einrichtungen erbauen. Die Pläne hierzu sind bereits im vergangenen Jahre angefertigt worden und die ersten vorbereitenden Bauarbeiten wurden im Februar d. J. aufgenommen. Seit Mitte Mai sind die Mauerarbeiten im Gange und es steht zu erwarten, daß der Neubau noch in diesem Jahre vollendet werden dürfte. Die Oberleitung des Spitals wird in die Hand des Herrn Dr. Pistorius gelegt, der schon über zehn Jahre die ärztliche Praxis in Klein-Rosseln ausübt.

Malzieres. Wie es scheint, hatte sich der hiesige Postverwalter Lietz Unterschlagungen zu Schulden kommen lassen. Verwandte von ihm erfuhren hiervon und erpreßten zu wiederholten Malen Geld von ihm unter der Drohung, wenn er nicht bezahle, seine Unterschlagungen zur Anzeige bringen zu wollen. Die Erpressungen verbitterten schließlich dem Unglücklichen derartig das Leben, daß es ihm zur Last wurde. In Gemeinschaft mit seiner Frau und seiner Schwägerin suchte und fand er den Tod, indem sich alle Drei zusammen in der Mosel ertränkten.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Hier starb der Redakteur des „Fremdenblattes," Leopold Ritter von Blumencron. Er war der älteste Zeitungsredakteur in der Welt; er wurde am 21. Februar 1804 geboren.—Sechs tschechische Ziegelarbeiter wurden hier verhaftet, weil sie auf der Triester Reichsstraße in der Nähe von hier den aus Rußland kommenden französischen katholischen Arbeiter Rosseau als vermeintlichen Juden, der Kinder schächten wolle, überfallen und schwer verwundet hatten.

Bistritz. Der hiesige Stadtfiskal Lang, der anläßlich der Anwesenheit des Erzherzogs Joseph die blaurothe sächsische Fahne hißte und die Herabnahme verweigerte, wurde disziplinarisch zu 400 Gulden Geldstrafe verurtheilt.

Budapest. An einer hiesigen Universitätsklinik ist ein 12jähriger Knabe im Bade ertrunken. Die betreffende Wärterin gibt zu ihrer Rechtfertigung an, daß sie in dem Zimmer noch andere Kranke baden mußte und während dessen sei der gelähmte Knabe im Wasser untergesunken.

Innsbruck. Dieser Tage fanden sich hier die 84 Ueberlebenden der Innsbrucker akademischen Schützenkompagnie vom Jahre 1859 zu einer Erinnerungsfeier zusammen.

Kitzbühel. In einstimmigem Beschluß hat der Bürgerausschuß den Bürgermeister, kaiserlich königlichen Notar Karl Cathrein, in Würdigung seiner großen Verdienste um die Stadt zum Ehrenbürger ernannt.

Linz. Hier ist ein Wolkenbruch mit verderblichen Folgen niedergegangen. Im ganzen Enzthal sind schlimme Verwüstungen angerichtet worden, und mehrere Personen fanden ihren Tod in den wilden Fluthen des Stromes. Eine Seifenfabrik in Laussa wurde vollständig zerstört.

Prag. Die Statthalterei hat dem hiesigen Spediteur Dewetter die Konzession zur Beförderung von Personen und Frachten mit Motorwagen ertheilt. Der Konzessionär wird die Personenbeförderung mit fünf Automobilen und die von Frachten mit fünf Motorlastwagen betreiben.—Der verstorbene Kardinal Schönborn vermachte letztwillig die Hälfte seines Privatvermögens dem „Collegium Bohemicum" in Rom, ein Viertel dem Prager Veitsdome und das andere Viertel seinem Nachfolger.

Tepliz. Großes Aufsehen hat hier die Abberufung des Bezirkshauptmannes Prinzen Konrad zu Hohenlohe-Schillingsfürst von seinem Posten verursacht. Seine Arbeiterfreundlichkeit trug die Schuld daran. Ihm wurde von 10,000 Personen, unter denen sich viele Sozialisten befanden, ein Fackelzug gebracht.

AN ODD LANDMARK.

A SIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS TO EXCITE THE INTEREST OF PASSERSBY.

The Upturned Bow Section of the Yacht Caprice Is Now Used as a Paintshop—The Novel and Ingenious Operation by Which It Was Procured.

One of the most curious landmarks along Long Island Sound, and one that never fails to excite the interest of the yachtsman who sees it for the first time., stands on the shore of Northport Bay. From the distance it looks like a large Indian tepee. On a nearer view it is seen to be the bow of a finely modelled yacht, apparently sticking right up out of the earth. Approaching closer, the puzzled yachtsman discovers it is really a house.

This freak structure stands in Hawkins's shipyard, overlooking the bay.

AN ODD LANDMARK.

Its history involves the story of a novel and ingenious operation on the old steam yacht Caprice, by which she was transformed into another boat and a building. The Caprice was sixty-six feet long, and was purchased in 1895 by Benjamin M. Whitlock, who admired her particularly fine lines. He decided to have a larger boat, however, and wanted her to be a duplicate in model of the Caprice. To insure this, he determined to have the Caprice extended fore and aft, keeping as much of the original midship section of the hull as possible. He accordingly engaged H. J. Gielow, the designer of fast-going steam yachts ,to make the plans, and the work was done in Hawkins's yard at Port Jefferson.

The Caprice, which had formerly been the Henry Douglas, built in 1885 for Charles Schoen of Philadelphia, was carefully taken apart. When this was completed the old yacht stood in three sections. From the midship section, only twelve feet long, a new yacht eighty-five feet over all was built and named the Telka. About this time Hawkins discovered that he needed a new paintshop, so he bought the complete bow section and stood it on end in his yard, with the sharp cutwater pointing to the sky. In the starboard side of the deck he cut a door, and the forward hatch served nicely as a window.

Hawkins then had a building twenty feet high that afforded him a large, commodious, well-ventilated room with an absolutely water tight roof. The short bowsprit he makes use of as a flagstaff, and that is what most puzzles the voyaging yachtsman when from the distance he espies the clean, bright bow of a big boat sticking up from among the trees with the union jack flying from her stem.

How to Tell an Oyster's Age.

He who wishes may find out the exact age of an oyster, though he has not the telltale evidence in teeth. The lines in the groove of the hinge of the shell tell the whole story, each line representing a year. An oyster is of age at four years—that is, he is old enough to vote, take care of a family and go to market. Going to market is a disastrous undertaking, for a four-year-old oyster is particularly palatable. By this it must not be supposed that after an oyster has passed the four-layer period, and has five, six or even ten wrinkles on his shell, he is a back number. Indeed, there are records of oysters being eaten just after celebrating their thirtieth birthday, and in most cases they formed a delicious meal. Thirty is an unusual age for an oyster to attain, because few are given an opportunity to live so long. If left to enjoy life in his own way, it is quite probable that the oyster would become an octogenarian or even a centenarian.

An Elephant's Tongue.

Whoever has looked inside an elephant's mouth has seen a strange sight. Elephants have no front teeth and they never eat flesh or any food that requires tearing teeth. Eight teeth are all they have, two above and below on each side, huge yellow molars as wide as a man's hand and about two inches thick. Over these hay or fodder is shifted by the queerest, ugliest tongue in the whole animal kingdom, a tongue that is literally hung at both ends, having no power or movement except in the middle, where it shifts back and forth from side to side, arching up against the roof of the big mouth like an immense wrinkled pink serpent.

Bridge of Coffins.

When the British forces were marching on Pekin in 1860, after the capture of the Taku forts, one of the rivers became so swollen with the heavy rains that it was rendered impassable. Being aware that the Chinese generally order their coffins years in advance and keep them on the premises, orders were given to search all the houses of the village and collect every coffin. With the aid of a few empty casks the soldiers cosnstructed a pontoon bridge of coffins sufficiently strong to bear the artillery, and the river was thus passed in safety.

Stone Bullets.

Bullets of stone were used in 1514, leaden bullets coming into use shortly before the end of the sixteenth century. Iron bullets have been mentioned as in use in 1550.

USED TO BE LUCKY.

The Number Thirteen Was Not Unlucky in Olden Times.

Thirteen! There are probably few men who in the innermost recesses of their hearts have not some kind of an unpleasant emotion when it comes to 13. Of course, there are some men who protest loudly—and usually in some hilarious company—that 13 is simply an odd figure, like 17 and 19 and many others, and such men have formed the Thirteen clubs, of thirteen members who on the 13th of a month particularly if this date happens to fall on a Friday, eat a meal of thirteen courses at the thirteenth hour of the day.

This is done, of course, to break the superstition attaching to 13, but this superstition will not down. For the love of the marvelous and mystic will not down. Were not Sulla, Scipio Caesar, Wallenstein, Napoleon and others superstitious? Is it not historical fact that they all were under a spell and undertook no great action without having first consulted some medium?

It is well known that all the nations of the old world were in more or less intellectual rapport. The ideas of one tribe descended to the other. But it is certainly interesting to learn that the figure 13 had its sacred and divine meaning also in America of yore, among the long since extinct tribes of the Incas and the Aztecs. The inhabitants of Peru counted seven days, without any particular name, in the week. Their year had seven times fifty-two days, of four times 13 weeks. The father was compelled to support his illegitimate child to the 13th year. The Aztecs had weeks of 13 days, each with a special name. Their public archives were of circular form, with a sun in the center of each of the 13 parts, and 13 were their tribes.

Thus the brief ancient history of 13, and it may be said of modern times in Germany that even to-day a "baker's dozen" is 13, that is, the original twelve, with one thrown in for luck.

Fishes That Fall Upwards.

This phenomenon cannot be witnessed everywhere. You must go out to the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, and then let yourself down into the sea for about two miles, if you wish to test the fact. At this depth the pressure of the water is very great—so great, in fact, that the fish, being used to the great weight, dare not enter shallow water for fear of falling upwards and bursting. Fishes which are adapted to considerable depths may accidently leave the bottom, swimming toward the surface. This allows the gases in their bodies to expand slightly, and thus renders them more buoyant. The more the gases expand, the more buoyant they become, and the greater is the difficulty of returning to the depths, until finally the buoyancy of the body becomes so great that they are no longer able to return to the bottom. They continue to rise to the surface more and more rapidly, until the expanding of the gases in the body kills them. As soon as the bodies reach the surface, the release of all outer pressure causes them to burst into pieces.

Embraced by a Devilfish.

A diver engaged in Moyne River in Australia had a terrible experience with a sea-devil. Having fired off a charge of dynamite and displaced a large quantity of stones, he went to the bottom of the river and while engaged in rolling over a large stone he saw something moving about in front of him. This dark object came in contact with him and coiled about his arm. The diver walked slowly and painfully along with the sea-devil's feelers twined about his body and legs. He made tracks for the ladder and gained the boat, a curious looking object, indeed, with this huge, ugly thing entangled about his body. With the help of the sailors he was in time freed from his submarine companion. The body of the octopus was only about the size of a large soup plate, with eyes like a sheep's, but possessed nine arms, each four feet in length, at the butt as thick as a man's wrist and tapering off at the end like a penknife. All along the under part of the feelers of this strange sea creature are suckers every quarter of an inch, giving it immense power.

Need No Water.

We are so accustomed to drinking water that we hardly ever stop to consider how much we might suffer if suddenly deprived of this freest and best of beverages. Water in some form is necessary to preserve the health of humans, but there are animals that seem to have little if any use for the liquid. The llamas of Patagonia, for instance, are said to never taste of water, and certain kinds of gazellies that are native to the dry wastes of the orient seem to thrive without it. A paroquet lived 52 years in the London zoological gardens without drinking any water. Some naturalists assert that the rabbit never drinks, being content with the dew that stands on the grass that it nibbles while feeding at night. Many reptiles live in arid wastes apparently destitute of water. In the neighborhood of Lozere, France, are herds of cows and goats that seemingly rarely drink, yet they produce a fine quality of milk from which is made the famous Roquefort cheese.

An Immense Army.

Russia possesses the largest standing army on earth. Every year some 280,000 conscripts join the Russian forces which in time of peace number 1,000,000 men. On a war-footing this rises to 2,500,000, and calling out the reserves would increase it to 6,947,000 well-trained soldiers. Should necessity arise, the militia would be called out, bringing the Czar's forces up to 9,000,000 men.

Advice Concerning the Care of the Hair and Complexion.

The hair should be allowed to float loosely upon the shoulders for a little while every day, if possible, as when it is kept closely coiled or braided all the time the air does not have free access to it. It should never be arranged upon the head while it is wet or even damp, but after a bath should be left hanging until it is quite dry.

Bran water is excellent for the skin and is of service in cases of sunburn.

Tears are destructive to beauty and if habitually indulged in bring on an untimely aspect of age, so weeping is to be avoided as much as possible. Faded eyes, with the skin about them worn and loose, red eyelids and scanty lashes are the result of frequent crying, and insufficient rest has almost as bad an effect on the personal appearance. A great deal of sleep, a good digestion and no tears are more preservative of youth than all the cosmetics in the world. Rosewater is very soothing to the eyes, while thin eyelashes caused by inflammation of the lids may be improved by bathing the lids regularly with an infusion of camomile or cornflowers.

The cut illustrates a morning jacket of golden brown cashmere. It is cut in scallops around the edge, and also at the top, where it is mounted on a yoke of ecru guipure over golden brown silk. The top of the sleeves is also of guipure over silk. The scallops and edges are finished with a band of narrow black velvet. The belt of soft brown silk is tied at the side. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Useful Hints Regarding Dressmaking and Millinery.

Parasols of Scotch plaid are pretty for the country and seaside. There are also parasols of lace over a lining of silk which matches the costume.

Circular ruffles, so much worn, lose their attractiveness when made of thin goods. For cloth, velvet and substantial wools and silks they are satisfactory, but for sheer fabrics gathered ruffles will be found more effective.

It is said that light straw hats may be cleaned by rubbing the braid, band by band, with lemon juice, and immediately covering it with powdered sulphur, leaving the hat to dry in a dark place. Dark straws disfigured by dust may be cleaned perfectly by first giving them a thorough brushing with a clothes brush, then brushing them with a small brush dipped in kerosene oil. The hat must be left 24 hours for the oil to dry and the odor to evaporate. It is hardly necessary to say that all trimming must be removed before the straw is treated.

The wrapper illustrated is of accordion plaited lilac crepon over white silk. Around the foot are two bands of guipure edged by fine ruches of lilac mousseline de soie. The little plaited pelerine is trimmed in the same way, as are also the plaited sleeves. Around the neck and wrists are thick ruches of lilac mousseline de soie and white lace, and a bow of lilac satin with long ends is placed at the throat. JUDIC CHOLLET.

TO PREPARE A HYGIENIC DIET.

Practical Hints for Housekeepers and Hotel Chefs.

One should eat little or no meat, as it heats the blood, overtasks the stomach, and develops the sensual tastes and propensities. It is well to eat very little, if any, of breads, or foods made from cereals, as they clog the blood, and in time starve the brain, causing paresis. Vegetables contain little nutriment, and the stomach is distended from digesting so large a bulk yielding so little nourishment.

Fruits, according to at least one prominent authority, who has written a book on the subject, are fit to be eaten only by those who live in the tropical climate, where fruit grows to nearly a perfect condition. In temperate zones it contains so much acid that it brings ruin to the digestive organs, causing dyspepsia and also enfeebles the blood. Nuts contain too much oil and are hard to digest.

Cheese and the products of milk are unhealthful to an extreme. As a food, cheese must absolutely be avoided. Fish food causes thin blood and scrofula—in fact, a man cannot eat fish food and remain in health.

The foregoing facts have been condensed from writings on foods, diet, and hygiene. If the hotel steward and chef can evolve a cuisine that steers clear of the foods herein mentioned he will no doubt set a healthful table for his guests!

A Splendid House Plant.

A new plant of extraordinary beauty, discovered in the Himalayas, has recently been cultivated. Placed on a shelf in a moderately warm room, the dry bulb, without having been planted, produces a flower that unfolds and blooms in midwinter. This curious plant belongs to the family of the calla lily. Its scientific name is savromatum pedatum, and its bulbs are round and flat at the top.

WILL GROW ON A SHELF.

The petal is of a rich, deep crimson, extending from a greenish yellow calyx, the inner surface of whose extremity shows crimson spots on a yellow ground. After blooming the planted bulb bears long pointed leaves on a spotted stem, while the unplanted one soon perishes.

Another interesting novelty in plants is the little mimosa spegazzini, first cultivated in the botanical garden in Rome. It was discovered in the Argentine Republic by missionaries.

The pretty little plant is much hardier than the well known sensitive plant (mimosa pudica). It has the same habit of shrinking and closing its leaves at the slightest touch. The leaves are soon after raised and opened, but at night they are invariably closed.

The sensitive movement of the plant is termed a threefold one. First, the feathery leaflets close, bending their points forward; then the little ribs that bear them move together, and at last the stem of the leaf sinks with its four spindles.

Household Hints.

A basket kept on a swinging shelf is the proper receptacle for eggs.

Keep potatoes and all root vegetables in box or bin in a dry cellar.

Cranberries may be kept for months in crocks or jars, and covered with water.

Cold vegetables and the like must be covered if not kept in a wired cupboard.

Milk should be as far as possible separated from other food, and kept clean and cool.

Sugar, rice, hominy, farina, oatmeal and the like are best kept in bags or boxes in a cool, dry closet.

Dried fruits are best kept in boxes and hung upon a dry wall, but they may also be well preserved, if properly dried, in boxes.

Apples and oranges keep longest by being wrapped separately in tissue paper and spread out so as not to touch each other, in a cool, dry place.

THE COMING JUBILEE.

HOLY GREETING OF THE CHURCH TO THE NEW CENTURY.

The Past, Present and Future of Catholicism, Religiously, Scientifically and Politically, as Viewed Through Old World Spectacles.

The pope on the Feast of the Ascension proclaimed the holy year urbi et orbi. After the gospel of a special mass celebrated in the Vatican basilica an auditor of the rota read the pontifical bull in Latin and Italian and then affixed it to the columns of the church. Thereupon pontifical couriers took the bull to the three basilicas of St. John Lateran, Santa Maria Maggiore and St. Paul, where it was also published and posted up. This is the custom which is usually observed in proclaiming a holy year, or jubilee, which was first solemnly celebrated in 1300 by Boniface VIII. That pontiff published a bull in which the plenary indulgence previously granted to those who went on to the Crusades was extended to all those who during a centennial year should go on pilgrimage to Rome, and while there, besides discharging the usual conditions, should visit the churches of St. Peter and St. Paul 15 times. Double that number of visits was required from the residents of the Eternal City. About 2,000,000 people visited Rome that year. The intention then was that the jubilee should be observed only once a century, but subsequently the period was reduced to 50 years, to 33 years, the length of our Saviour's life on earth, and finally to 25 years.

A year of jubilee is a year of prayer and thanksgiving, and a writer in a Roman journal, the Don Chisceotte, questions whether the events of the past century offer any real ground to the church for returning thanks. He says:

It doesn't seem to me a happy inspiration to celebrate the dying century, all stained as it is with unbelief—a century which thinks that it owes its good fortune to emancipation from superstition—and to welcome with gladness the new century which receives from that now passing away an inheritance of revolutionary conquests in politics and of conquests of the views most combated by the church in the domain of science.

No doubt the church in looking back upon the past century finds matter for regret, but it is in the order of human events that it should be so. There is a tendency to change in the human breast, and this inclination sometimes induces men to reject the doctrines of Christ. They are doctrines full of hope and consolation, and yet so restless and fickle is the human mind that it puts them away almost in wantonness. But taken on the whole the Catholic church has reason to look back upon the closing century with satisfaction and to welcome the new century with confidence.

So far as politics is concerned, save and except the question of the temporal power of the holy see, a proper solution of which will come about in due time, the position of the church has not been prejudicially affected by revolutionary changes. While the church preaches submission to all constituted authorities she recognizes that it is no part of her duty to impose forms of government on peoples. Her province is to spread the kingdom of God, of which monarchist or republican alike may be a child. Politically therefore there has been no loss because political change does not concern her.

Religiously she has been subjected to constant attacks, and indifferentism has perhaps become somewhat more general among the masses in France and Italy. But as a nation France was far more anti-Catholic at the end of the last century than it is at present, and Italy, despite the hostility of its rulers, is thoroughly sound in its loyalty to the holy see.

Scientifically the position of the church has not suffered detriment. There have been discoveries which certain scientists have represented as out of harmony with the church's teaching, but time has proved that the pretended dangers were imaginary and that there is no conflict between revelation and the accepted truths of science.

The only and the great danger which the church incurred arose not from scientific progress, but from the policies of governments and classes. They conceived the idea and diffused it till it was accepted by large numbers of the people that the Catholic church was wedded to their forms of government, their political views and their errors of policy. And so through the mischievous action of party men the gospel of Christ, which exacts respect only for the moral law and not for political abuses, unfortunately became associated in the minds of many with the methods of reactionary governments or intemperate party tacticians, and when they lost respect for these governments and parties they thought that rejection of the faith should be a portion of the process.

Where this false notion did not prevail, but where, on the contrary, the people recognized that the church is the slave of no state or party, but the friend of all men whatever their political views may be, there has been a wonderful advance. In Germany the growth of the church during the century has been remarkable. Despite a persecution of great severity it has largely increased in numbers and influence. In the free atmosphere of Switzerland it has steadily moved onward. It has proved itself to be full of life and vigor in England and the British colonies, and in the United States, where the Catholics were an insignificant body a century ago, there are now about 10,000,000 Catholics zealously devoted to the holy see.

The church then has no cause to mourn over the past century. She is coming out of it with greater strength than she possessed when she entered it. Nor should the future inspire her with any fear. New conditions may arise, but she is prepared for them. The old order, in accordance with which the people were governed from above instead of by themselves, is passing away, but the change is all to her advantage. Monarchs and dynasties have sought to fetter her and have thus impeded her activity. The people will allow her ample liberty to fulfill her divine mission, which is that of promoting peace and good will among men.

And it cannot be denied that as the greatest moral power in the world the increase of her beneficent action is urgently necessary in our day. At the present time nations and races are forming the conviction that it is their "destiny" to rob other nations and races, and non-Catholic religious leaders applaud the plundering designs. If these barbarian ideas are to be successfully combated it must be by the Catholic church, which forbids national antipathies and preaches the Christian brotherhood of man.—London Catholic Times and Opinion.

A PREDICTION FULFILLED.

A Pretty Incident In the Child Life of St. Ambrose.

Many charming stories are told in the lives of the saints of the intercourse between those holy personages and irrational animals of all kinds—lions, wolves, dogs, birds and even the little bees. One pretty incident concerning bees is narrated of the great St. Ambrose:

Before Ambrose was either a saint or great, when he was decidedly little—in fact, being just a roly poly baby in his cradle—he was lying fast asleep one day, with his mouth wide open, in the courtyard of his father's palace. His nurse, who had gone to have a little chat with another servant on the opposite side of the yard, was suddenly startled by seeing a whole swarm of bees fly toward the cradle, circle above it for a moment or two and then settle upon the baby's face. The woman was alarmed lest the insects should sting the child, especially when she saw the bees, one after another, fly into the baby's mouth and fly out again in a regular procession.

She was just going to "shoo" them away when little Ambrose's father came along, and, noticing the strange behavior of the bees, he told the nurse to let them alone. After a few minutes, when the queer visitors had all paid their respects to the baby, they flew away of their own accord and went right up into the air, so high that they were soon lost to view. Ambrose's father thought he saw in so strange an occurrence a mysterious sign and remarked, "If God grants this child length of days, he will one day be something great." And everybody knows how true his prediction became.

There is another story about bees related in the life of St. David of Wales.

One of St. David's monks, an Irishman named Madonnoc, could not resist in his old age the desire to see once more his native country. Such a longing is very common among old people of all nationalities. They like to die where they were born.

Well, Madonnoc received the necessary permission from his superiors and went on board the vessel that was to carry him to Ireland. No sooner had the monk embarked, however, than all the bees of the monastery flew down to the shore and established themselves on the vessel's bowsprit. Madonnoc denounced them to his superior and tried repeatedly to chase them back, but it was of no use, the bees hadn't taken any vow of obedience, and they persisted in sticking to the vessel and accompanying Madonnoc to the Emerald Isle.

Ever since that time bees have been found in Ireland. Some historians say that previously they were unknown in that country, although the Green Isle is so sweet a place that I think the bees must have made honey there ever since Noah let them out of the ark.—Ave Maria.

Our Mother of Mary.

And who is our model? You have called her name—Mary. The mystery of Mary's love for God and man is simply beyond the reach of thought. We bow in silence before it as we would bend in worship before a tabernacle with its hidden miracle of eucharistic love. Mary! Mother! Queen! we kneel in silence before thy altars. Our thoughts fly away from speech. Our souls are still, too still for aught but a breathless, soundless prayer. Thou art listening to it down in our hearts.—Father Ryan.

Inspiration of the Church.

Just as the works of art in our galleries and museums furnish the students of art an example and inspiration, so in the church many a weary soul is encouraged and inspired by the example of the saints, and many a student of Christianity comes to meditate before the statue or picture of his patron saint or the mother of Christ, and finds therein consolation, encouragement and strength.—Right Rev. J. B. Cotter.

Devotion to the Blessed Virgin.

Where shall we find help and assistance if not in devotion to Mary? What antidote more powerful against the degradation of the senses than to meditate on the many virtues of the purest of virgins? Who cannot be pure when walking under her white standard? Who cannot be strong with such assistance?—T. F. Ward.

Are You Fit?

Has the following reflection, which is of the greatest importance, ever come to your mind? "Am I fit, am I worthy to pronounce the words 'Our Father?'"

To Know God.

The end of learning is to know God, and out of that knowledge to love him and to imitate him, as we may the nearest by possessing our souls of true virtue.

DIAMOND PAVEMENT.

THE KIMBERLEY ROAD CONTAINS FORTUNES IN PRECIOUS STONES.

The Public There Travel on a High Road Literally Growing With Diamonds—One Small Piece of Road the Size of a Bedroom Yielded $100,000 Worth.

It is not often that it is given to man, outside of the favored gentlemen who figured in the stirring story of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp and kindred productions of rich Oriental imagination, to travel daily on a highroad literally groaning with diamonds. When such an unusual privilege is vouchsafed, it would appear to be the proper thing to admit that one might love the very ground he walked on. Until a few years ago there was such a road, and it was neither a vision of the pipe nor the press agent. It was located in the Kimberley district in South Africa, and when a man walked over it he walked over millions of dollars worth of the precious stones.

Five thousand dollars a yard was the record of some parts of the road. The diamonds are not there now, so it will do the gentle reader no good to take a ticket for Kimberley and seek to find a fortune in the street. It seems that when the diamond mining industry was some years younger than it is to-day, there was a vexing scarcity of water in the Kimberley country. So, when a miner couldn't get a supply of water to help him in his search he had to do the best he could and hustle around with his tools in the dry earth. He would spade here and there, until he struck a lump of earth which held the eagerly-sought prize. Then he would abandon the little mound of earth his spade had overturned and seek for diamonds in another place. After a while, several years in fact, these mounds amounted to a considerable obstruction to travel and further digging. The loose earth was in the way, but no one would volunteer to cart it away. Finally the Kimberley municipal council offered to use the dirt in macadamizing the roads around the city, which was branching out and reaching quite respectable proportions. The offer was gladly accepted by the mine owners, and the mounds were cleared away.

Nearly a score of years after there was a drop in the diamond market. The price of the stones fell, and, in order to bring about a return of high figures, the mine owners decided to restrict their output. This necessitated a big cut in the pay roll, and, as a result, the Kimberley district was soon over-run with unemployed miners. Then some of the wise men in the land came to the conclusion that they might pick up a few overlooked gems from the highroad if they could get municipal permission and a plentiful supply of water. They got both, for each year a portion of the road which had been strengthened by the mound dirt was turned over to the men, and they worked in it with astonishing results. Diamonds to the value of $200,000 were recovered yearly for several years. From one little piece of road no bigger than a bed room there was taken $100,000 worth of diamonds.

The Original Rock of Ages.

Sir William H. Willis, member of Parliament for Bristol, writes of the origin of Augustus Montague Toplady's grand hymn, "The Rock of ages," as follows:

"Toplady was one day overtaken by a heavy thunderstorm in Burrington Coombe, on the edge of my property, a rocky glen running up into the heart of the Mendip range, and there, taking shelter between two massive piers of our native limestone rock, he penned the hymn."

"ROCK OF AGES."

An illustration of the rock is here given. This it the hymn as Toplady wrote it:

Rock of ages, cleft for me,
Let me hid myself in thee.
Let the water and the blood
From thy side, a healing flood,
Be of sin the double cure,
Save from wrath and keep me pure.

Should my tears forever flow,
Should my zeal no longer know,
When I rise to worlds unknown
And behold thee on thy throne,
Rock of ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in thee.

The Queen Bee.

A queen bee sometimes lays at the rate of two eggs a minute, and the total weight of the egg is one and a half times that of her own body on a summer day. As she lives four or five years, she must lay about 1,500,000 eggs in the course of her life. Her eyes are smaller than those of the other bees, owing to long residence in the hive. Her sting is 300 times smaller in diameter than a pin, and as she can seldom draw it out after stinging a person, she leaves it in and dies afterward.

Prodigality.

Quizzer—What do you understand by wasting one's substance in riotous living?

Guyer—Buying cuffs that you can't reverse, I suppose?

Steel Pens.

The world uses 3,500,000 steel pens a day.

New and Original Ways of Amusing a Company by Guessing Contests.

A very interesting game calling for quick wits and fairly good capacity for spelling is played in this way: All the company sits around a table and each has paper and pencil. The hostess gives out a name, or a very short proverb, or a very long word. This is written down and the company all try to see how many other words they can find in it in a given time, say ten to fifteen minutes. These are all to be written down, and the rule should be that no obsolete word can count, nor a proper name, though the name of a city or country may.

For instance, from the name Henry W. Longfellow the following words were made in less than ten minutes: Hen, men, new, long, fell, fellow, ell, yell, gone, won, well, low, no, go, hew, few, you, how, hollow, lone, one, were, fern, wrong and row. Doubtless many more could have been found by a brighter person or if the time had been longer.

Another little game may follow this, since pencil and paper are at hand. The hostess gives out a sentence like "The battle of Bunker Hill." This is read to the company, and each in turn writes down one syllable. If there are more persons present the sentence must be longer, so that each one shall be allotted one syllable. When each one has written his or her syllable, the pieces of paper are folded and thrown into a hat and shaken up, and then they are taken out one by one and laid in line just as they come. The line of syllables is then read off just as they lie, and often—in fact, always the result is very comical. "Of the bun bat ker hill" one result read.

A jolly good game for a crowd of jolly people, young or old, is "Word Poses." This game, or, perhaps, to be more nearly accurate, this combination of several old games with added improvements, has been found to be a success in actual use, and is confidently expected to make friends everywhere. Any number of people may participate.

Two stage managers are chosen, who, in turn, select their individuals alternately until everybody has been apportioned. Number One company goes out of the room, while members of Number Two select a word. Then the stage manager of Number Two informs the rival organization of—not the real word, of no, but another one of like syllables and rhyming. The stage manager of Number One now proceeds along other words and gives "parts" to the members, who must enact their conception before all the others until the right word is shown and recognized, Number Two company then have their innings.

"The word rhymes with table," announced the stage manager, during a recent most enjoyable evening spent at "word posing."

A second or two of bustle in the hallway. Then, one of the ladies appeared prancing around the room, equipped with a broom, a draped shawl, and wearing an army hat with paper cone to accentuate its height.

Mother Goose? No, no. It is not fable,' cried the audience, amidst much applause.

The whole company next appeared, and at signal, all begun talking at one and the same time, "not wisely, but too well."

"No, not 'bals,'" shouted the well-nigh deafened audience. And so on it went with other words.

Finally, a little pet dog, with a fur collar tied about him, was let loose.

"Sable! able! Right!" came the answer.

The above is only a single illustration. Many ingenious renditions are given, and unsuspecting histrionic genius buds forth amazingly.

As to words specially appropriate, the whole dictionary can be utilized. However, among others, sun, ton, one, gun, fun, sheep, peep, leap, heap, ball, fall, call, tail, howl, and estimate, animate, overate, elaborate, tabulate, have been found to be very mirth-provoking.

A Young Boy's Ride in the Bush.

Launcelot Ashley Lewis, son of John Lewis, a well-known stockman of Kooringa, South Australia, made, recently, a journey of nearly 600 miles through Australian scrub (land overgrown with stunted trees) with no companion but a couple of ponies and a dog, and no guide but his own idea of locality and such direction as he could obtain from an occasional camp or from a bushman that he chanced to meet. It was purely a holiday trip, made in eighteen days of actual riding, and establishes a record no other boy is likely to beat.

Bryan's Daughter a Sunday School Girl

When Colonel Bryan's oldest daughter was 4 years old she was sent to Sunday-school. The infant class teacher talked to the children about the death of Stephen.

The next day Mrs. Bryan went out calling, accompanied by her little daughter. After several calls had been made the child asked: "Mamma, where are we going next?"

"To see Mrs. Stevens," was the reply.

"Oh, I am so glad you are going to see poor Mrs. Stevens," the child said in a sympathetic tone.

"Why do you say poor Mrs. Steven?" the mother inquired.

"Why, mamma, don't you know that they have stoned Mr. Steven to death?"

WHERE'S MOTHER?

Bursting in from school or play,
This is what the children say,
Trooping, crowding, big and small,
On the threshold, in the hall—
Joining in the constant cry,
Ever as the days go by:
"Where's mother?"

From the weary bed of pain
This same question comes again:
From the boy with sparkling eyes,
Bearing home his earliest prize;
From the bronzed and bearded son,
Perils past and honors won:
"Where's mother?"

Burdened with a lonely task,
One day we may vainly ask
For the comfort of her face,
For the rest of her embrace;
Let us love her while we may,
Well for us that we can say:
"Where's mother?"

Mother with untiring hands
At the post of duty stands;
Patient, seeking not her own,
Anxious for the good alone
Of her children as they cry,
Ever as the days go by:
"Where's mother?"

FOSTER FATHER ROBIN.

A Story of Which the Best Part Is That It Is True.

"When I was a girl," began grandmother, reflectively polishing her spectacles with a fine cambric handkerchief, deeply edged with old lace; "when I was a girl a high lilac bush grew close to the sunny side of our home in Oxford, and for two seasons a pair of robins and a pair of chippy birds built their nests in the bush and there raised their young. The robins nested in the highest clump of lilac branches, where a great cluster of the delicate purple blossoms burst into bloom each May, just high enough from the ground to be out of reach. The chippies made their summer home in a shady little nook of the bush but on the side opposite to the robins' nest."

Grandmother paused and looked musingly out of the frosty window, beyond which a snowstorm fluttered waywardly.

"It was thirty years ago," she continued, fingering a half-knit mitten that clung to its triangular frame of needles in her lap; "I was in delicate health that spring and often sat basking in the sun that shone through the window by the lilacs. One bright afternoon I was startled from a daydream by a most surprising chattering from the lilac bush. I knew that the chippies had nested and hatched a brood and that the mother robin was setting on five bluish eggs, but the voice was unmistakably that of the father robin. Peering through the green leaves carefully, would you believe it? I saw the father rabin feeding the young chippies, while his mate remained quietly on her nest some five feet away. Well, all that day and all of many days thereafter I watched the foster father robin feed the poor little orphans. Regularly every twenty minutes he would fill their gaping yellow mouths with worms and he kept this up after his own children had hatched and until the chippies were grown enough to fly and forage for themselves. I never saw the parent chippy birds again, but I have a suspicion that our sly old tomcat knew the secret of their disappearance, and I fear that he ate some of the orphaned birds later in the season," and the old lady sighed as in memory of many things.

Perhaps the best part of this story is that it is true.

"Goose-Cutting."

Another game, that of "goose-cutting," has been added to the long list in vogue at social gatherings. The hostess provides a well-drawn outline of a goose, which is usually of red cloth, or, if made of paper, is colored red or black. This is merely for the purpose of distinctness. Two pairs of scissors are provided and a number of sheets of plain brown paper. Each gentleman invites a lady to cut a goose with him and in turn these couples are seated back to back in two chairs in the centre of the room. When the model goose has been studied, the pair are blindfolded, and proceed to evolve with their scissors and sheet of paper copies of the fowl. Having finished, each paper is duly signed by its creator and laid aside. Great merriment is always aroused by the process of cutting, as the pair work in full view of the rest of the company. When finished, all the results are laid out on the parlor floor, names down, and two judges, who have not been present at the cutting, pass upon the merits of the geese submitted and prizes reward the workers according to their merits.

A Distinguished Guest.

In the zoological garden at Breslau is one of the two shabrack tapirs known to have been born in captivity in Europe. The little animal is only a few days old. It is spotted like a fawn, but otherwise looks much like a baby elephant, excepting that it isn't much larger than a good-sixed cat. The mother of the rare infant came from Farther India, where it lived in seclusion near the water. The wild tapir generally sleeps during the day and forages for food at night. It feeds on grass and other vegetable substances, and finds its long proboscis very useful in rooting in the earth for food. A full-grown Indian tapir sometimes measures seven to eight feet in length, and somewhat resembles the hog in its form and habits.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

Several private matches at golf have been planned for next Saturday on the Hillside course, and there will be social features in the evening.

Saturday afternoon as usual will see a number of the local golfers out on the links of the Park Golf Club in competition for the McCutchen cup. Some of the most enthusiastic of the Park Club players are away on their summer vacations, but those who remain at home are on hand whenever possible.

The victory of Charles E. Faber on the links of the Park Golf Club last Saturday afternoon will probably result in his playing with a reduced handicap this week in the contest for the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen cup. He has heretofore been playing with the limit, 30 strokes, but is likely to have it cut down to 24 or 18.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Arrangements are being made to have some good races on the Gentlemen's Driving Park track Saturday afternoon.

While almost every pleasant Saturday afternoon there is some activity among the local horsemen on the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association, a special programme of races has been arranged for Saturday afternoon of this week. There will be several special matches between local trotters of note and the rivalry promises to be keen.

ROD AND GUN.

Alfred Springer made a remarkable catch at New Market pond Tuedsay afternoon which tells of the great number of catfish that now swarm that pond. According to Springer's statement he caught sixty-five catfish that afternoon, which when weighed together, tipped the scales at thirty-four pounds.

SCHOOLMATE OF DEWEY.

Col. Scott's Guest Born in the Some Town Where Admiral Lived.

Col. Julian Scott, of West Front street, is entertaining an honored guest at his home in the person of Major Fletcher, who for eighteen years has held the position of U. S. Consul to Genoa, Italy, and still holds the position. Major Fletcher was born in the same town that Admiral Dewey was, and attended school in the same country schoolhouse with Dewey.

For several years the Major was editor of a prominent newspaper in Iowa. He, together with Col. Scott, enlisted in the Civil War, and were comrades for a long time. They are warm personal friends and are enjoying a review of old times when they were both a few years younger. The Major is a delightful conversationalist and has a personal charm and magnetism that is delightful.

CITIZENS ARE WINNERS.

committee is deserving of much credit in being able to bring about an adjustment of this matter in so short a time."

Congressman Daly then referred to the railroad strike in Brooklyn. He said that the strikers had his sympathy and he trusted that they would win in the great fight they were making against the powerful corporation they were opposing. "Why, I would willingly walk from the Battery to Central Park if by doing so I could help these poor men win their strike. There never was a time when labor was not right in its fight against corparations." As to the trolley troubles Congressman Daly said that these people were always trying to get something for nothing. There should be a reciprocity between the railroad company and the people. He pointed out the disgraceful state of affairs in regard to trusts that have been formed in this State in the last five years and said that capital was being held up in contempt by the outside world. "The time would come when her sister states would retaliate and the revenue that is being accumulated by these corporations, which are nothing more than trusts, will be used to drive every trust in New Jersey out of business. It will be only a few weeks when these two railroads will combine; they will be shaking hands with each other. They will span the State from one end to the other and will continue to fleece the public. At this dinner," he continued, "I said the town ought to be paid something for the valuable franchise the citizens of Dunellen were giving away. If it is valuable today, what will it be ten years hence? You can't be too watchful. It is a period of anxiety. I don't think the country is going to ruin just yet, but the air is pregnant with complaints and rumors and every eye turns towards capital and lobor. It stands you in hand to be ever watchful and see that public servants come up to the right measure—when you can say of them he's honest; he's faithful." Those are the men we can trust, men who will not jeopardize the public interests for their own."

Congressman Daly's speech was warmly applauded.

After the applause had subsided, Dr. Fritts stated that the speaker had made some inaccurate statements regarding the street railroads in as far as the pertained to the company he was interested in. He said that the Plainfield Street Railway Company now paid into the city treasury about $5,000; the first year alone it had paid into the city treasury $1,500. The amount paid annually, he said was about $35,000, which was for employes, interest, taxes, etc.

Congressman Daly—Doctor, there are exceptions to all rules, you know.

Dr. Fritts—Well, there certainly is as far as our road is concerned. How about the strike at Hazleton, Congressman; was labor right in that?

Congressman Daly did not reply.

At this point Mr. Scanlon asked Dr. Fritts when the agreements between the railroads had been signed. The doctor said that no agreement had been signed as yet, but that the companies had an understanding about the proposed five cent fare each way with transfers and that they would live up to it. He said that what the committee had asked for was a reduction of fares and it had been granted. He said that personally he would much rather have had some arrangement whereby the cars would have run up to the centre of the borough, but at the meeting of the Board of Trade Monday night the committee had expressly said that all it wanted was a reduction of fares.

At this Mr. Scanlon jumped to his feet and attempted to make it appear as though the committee had been imposed upon by the railroad officials.

Dr. Fritts explained further that it was the intention of the company to give the citizens a twelve minute run to the depot as soon as it was practicable to do so but that at present it would not pay. He said that if the committee had taken up with the suggestion made to it on last Monday evening at the Board of Trade, when he had offered to run as far as the depot, he might have effected such a change, but the company had now made arrangements to give them transfers and he considered that the company was doing what was fair. The doctor's statement appeared to please the crowd, which liberally applauded what he said and expressions of "We're satisfied; You're all right" were heard on all sides.

Young Mr. Scanlon, with an assurance that was astonishing, again attempted to critisize and even to impugn Dr. Fritts' motives, but his efforts to speak further were drowned by the applause given the doctor. The people had got what they had been fighting for and were satisfied.

Mr. Frederick offered a motion that it was the sense of the meeting that the railroads make the transfers at a point opposite the railroad station, Mayor Swackhamer, in seconding the motion, said he believed that to be the proper place for a transfer station.

Howard Bird also was of the same opinion, and he said to Dr. Fritts that he thought the railroad company would find and increase of traffic by doing so.

Dr. Fritts said that the point of transfer would for the present be at the Plainfield Boundary line, as at present; that the company could not afford to run their cars up there, for the reason that it did not have the time to do so while running on a 12-minute schedule, and that it could not afford to put on any extra cars.

The meeting then adjourned, everyone in the best of spirits, niess it was Mr. Scanlon, whose eloquence had failed to carry the crowd.

While the citizens have secured an adjustment of their grievances with the street railroad companies, it was brought about largely through the efforts of the newspapers of Plainfield and the Board of Trade.

It was not stated when the new arrangement of transfers will go into effect, but probably in a few days.

SHOT TRESPASSERS

Halsey Compton Drove Men Out of His Orchard With a Shot Gun

While being aggravated by trespassers on his land, Halsey C. Compton, of West Front street, discharged his gun several times today noon and shot two men and a boy.

One of the men was shot in the shoulder, the other was hit in the ear, while the boy whose name is Houston, son of Isaac Houston, of West Front street, was shot in the hip.

The names of the men cannot be learned at this time, but they are employed at Pond's.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mr. Compton and he will be arraigned before Justice Nash this afternoon.

COLORED FOLK AT BOYNTON.

The Advertised Cake Walk Took Place and Was Won by New Brunswick Couple.

Yesterday was a big day for the colored people at Boynton Beach. They fairly swarmed to that well-known resort. They went in all kinds of vehicles, on wheels and even afoot. Despite the denouncement of the local colored preachers concerning the cake walk that was to be a feature of the entertainment, Plainfield sent a big delegation over to the beach. Several stages carried parties from here.

The cake walk was held and pronounced a great success. William Hoagland and Miss Emma Love, both of New Brunswick, won first prize while the second went to Charles S. Moore and Miss Mary Langstaff, both of Rahway.

Business Property to be Improved.

The business property at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street in the borough, which was formerly owned by the Rice estate, but recently in the possession of Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, has been sold to C. E. Gulick & Company, of New York.

The new owners will immediately commence the improvement of the property and put it in first-class condition, after which they will open a grocery store and meat market in the building.

The sale was negotiated by D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue. The people in the vicinity of the property are highly pleased over the prospect of a first-class store being opened there and of the building being put in a good condition again, as it has long been an eyesore to the community.

Picnic was a Success.

The picnic held at Mountainside Grove yesterday under the auspices of the members of the German Lutheran church was in every way a success. The attendance was large and a goodly sum will be realized from the sale of refreshments, dancing, etc. The money will be used for church expenses.

—Viola Edna, 3 months old daughter of Edwin F. and Jennie Weaver, of 102 Manning avenue, passed away this morning at 1:30 o'clock after a brief illness with merasmus.

Horace J. Martin and family, of Jackson avenue, drove to Boynton Beach this morning to spend the day at that popular seaside resort.

Commander Wadham, of the U. S. Navy, and his family, will this evening be the guests of President of Council F. H. Andrews and family, and will be entertained by the latter at the Union County County Club.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

RED MEN ENTERTAIN.

Wives and Families of Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe Fraternizing.

The reception by the members of Paughcaughnaughsinque Tribe, No. 193, Improved Order of Red Men, to their wives and families last evening in Red Men's Hall, proved a pleasant affair. There was a large attendance. Previous to the exercises attendant upon the elevation of about fourteen chiefs, a fine literary and musical programme was caused out. Sachem V. W. Nasn delivered the address of welcome, which was a feature of the occasion much enjoyed. After the exercises the chiefs conducted the visitors to the forest, where a toothsome collation was served to the pale faces to which all did justice and pronounced the viands prepared by the squaws most excellent.

This programmme was rendered:

Piano Solo—"Hands Across the Sea." Miss Ada Nash

DUPEE MAY NOT RUN.

Defeated in Trial Heats to Pick the Yale Representatives.

According to the despatches from London, England, Charles Dupee, of this city, who is one of the athletic team from Yale University that went abroad to compete in the Oxford-Cambridge games, will not take part in the hundred yard dash. Tuesday Dupee won his trial heat. Yesterday, however, he was defeated by Blount, another of the Yale team. It is therefore stated that Blount will probably be the Yale representative in the hundred yard dash as partner to Quinlan, the Harvard sprinter.

Miss Kate Kenney, of East Fourth street, spent yesterday with friends at at Whitehouse.

SHOT GUN LAW FOR APPLE STEALING

Halstead C. Compton Fires On and Wounds Three Boys.

WAS MUCH EXASPERATED.

LITTLE VCTOR L. HOUSTON SHOT IN FIVE PLACES.

Two Others Receive Wounds While Helping Themselves to Fruit—One of the Victims Was a Neighbor's Grandson and Entirely Innocent—Warrant Issued for Mr. Compton's Arrest.

Halstead C. Compton, of West Front street, is pretty handy with his gun. Mr. Compton's fondness for shooting has finally got him into serious trouble.

He was arrested today on a charge of assault, preferred by Isaac E. Houston, of 935 West Front street. The specific charge against Mr. Compton is shooting Victor Lloyd Houston, the grand child of Mr. Houston. The shooting took place yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Compton appeared before Justice Nash at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by Lawyer Swackhamer, and asked for an examination at a later date. Justice Nash fixed the examination for Monday next, and released him on his own recognizance.

None of the boys who were shot at were present at the time Mr. Compton appeared.

It is well known that Mr. Compton has a fine orchard and a number of fruit trees on his premises. Not far from his residence is located the factory of the Pond Tool Works. Since the fruit season commenced Mr Compton has been considerably annoyed by some of the young men employed in the big shop, who had a habit of stealing his fruit.

Mr. Compton finally became tired of the imposition and decided to resort to stringent measures to rid himself of the gang that was annoying him. All efforts on his part or the members of his family to put a stop to the depredations appeared to be without avail. He therefore, resolved to do something desperate.

Yesterday Mr. Compton, in an evil moment, got his gun and went on watch. Concealing himself behind some shrubbery he waited, gun in hand, for his tormentors. Mr. Compton had not long to wait. Shortly after the noon hour he spied two or three boys coming toward his orchard. Two of the boys were of good size; the other was a little shaver, scarcely out of his swaddling clothes. The larger of the boys was in the lead, the smaller being a short distance behind.

When the young men—as they afterwards turned out to be—got well within the premises and were in the act of helping themselves to a few apples, Mr. Compton saw his opportunity for satisfaction. Taking careful aim he fired point blank at the boys. That aim was a good one. With a sharp cry one of the lads clapped his hand to his head as he felt a stinging sensation, while a small stream of blood trickled down his face. That was Dennis Birmingham, of 538 West Sixth street. His companion, Thomas Newman, of 536 West Third street, also uttered a cry and then both boys made a dash to get out of harm's way.

The smoke from the first shot had scarcely cleared away before a second shot rang out on the air, quickly followed by a piercing scream which came from little Victor Houston, who was seen half running and half staggering towards the home of his grandfather, which adjoins that of Mr. Compton.

The shooting attracted the attention of the men in the shop, and also Mr. Houston, who was eating his dinner.

"Oh, Papa! Oh, Papa! I'm stung, I'm stung," was the exclamation that assailed the ears of Mr. Houston as he saw his grandson running toward the house, his face ghastly pale and tears coursing down his cheeks. Mr. Houston ran to the boy's assistance and picking him up in his arms carried him into the house. Word was telephoned at once for a surgeon and Dr. Fritts quickly responded.

While the physician was endeavoring to make the boy as comfortable as possible an immense crowd gathered in the neighborhood of Mr. Houston's home and the greatest indignation was expressed at what was considered a high handed outrage and a dastardly piece of business. There were threats of violence made against Mr. Compton, but cooler minds finally prevailed and advised the crowd to let the law

MUST APPLY AGAIN FOR A FRANCHISE.

Location of Poles Not Cited in the Application.

IT WAS A FATAL DEFECT.

OBJECTIONS RAISED BY LAWYERS FOR THE REMONSTRANTS.

A Large Number of Interested People Present to Hear the Arguments—Councilman Barrows Recognized the Error at Once and Stated That a New Application Would Have to be Made.

Prior to the regular meeting of the Common Council last evening the extension of the trolley through Arlington avenue was introduced and a public hearing granted. There was a large crowd in the lobby composed of people for and against the extension. The trolley company was represented by Col. Hine, while Lawyrers Moffett and Harry C. Runyon, who have secured consents for the extension were also present. Lawayers W. S. Angleman and Lawyer Eugene Hatch, representing the opposition, were in attendance.

After the object of the meeting was made known Lawyer Hatch, of Ninth street, representing owners of 1,400 feet of property along the avenue, addressed the Council. He spoke first of his belief that the Council wants to do what is fair and right, and he did not think that they would be inconsitent enough to grant a franchise through Arlington avenue. Mr. Hatch then took up the legal objections. In the first place the application of the company does not conform to the law. There is no map showing the location of poles on the avenue and no written petition made by the company. These are statutory proceedings which do not conform to the statute, and the people have a right to know where the poles will be located.

Mr. Hatch then spoke regarding the consents secured, and contended that the necessary number had not been secured. The trolley company claim that they have more than half of the consents in lineal feet. According to the figures of the Street Commissioner there are 5,067 feet in Arlington avenue, deducting crosswalks, which Mr. Hatch thought should not be deducted. He then spoke of the consent secured from the Bonnell estate and another consent secured from the guardian of a property. In the former case the estate is not settled and no one has a right to give a consent for it, and in the latter a guardian has no right to give a consent. He had been unable to secure the original consents, and, inasmuch as the Council desired fair play, he thought that these consents should be filed so anyone could see them. He was sure the Council does not want to be a party to any railroading scheme.

Mr. Hatch stated further that there are two Arlington avenues and a majority of the lineal feet of both must be secured. The first avenue runs from Third street to Ninth street and the other from Union street and Arlington avenue to Randolph road. Under these conditions the trolley company lacks 1,000 feet of what is necessary.

In conclusion the speaker remarked about the noise of cars, the narrowness of the avenue, the annoyance to confirmed invalids along the avenue, who would of necessity have to move, and there would be no escape from the constant annoyance of a car every twelve minutes.

Mr. Barrows at this time stated that Mr. Hatch's point regarding the location of poles was well taken, and he said that the trolley company would withdraw their application and make a new one later, and the necessary fourteen days would be given prior to a public hearing.

At the suggestion of Mr. Hatch Mr. Coriell moved that the trolley company file their original consents when the application is made, thus giving any one an opportunity to see them. The trolley hearing then came to an end.

Inspecting Bridges

On Saturday the Somerset county Board of Freeholders met at Neshanic to inspect the two bridges over the South Branch near there. Mr. Mobus was absent. It was decided not to erect a new bridge at Woodfern. Messrs. Hoagland, VanCleef, Everett and Cruser were appointed a committee to repair the old structure.

CITY TO LOOK INTO THE TAX VALUATION.

County Assessors Action Considered by Common Council.

NO GROUND FOR INCREASE.

ASSESSOR HUBBARD EXPLAINS ABOUT THIRD WARD.

He Says That the Valuations He Put on Property Were All That Was Due and He Will Not Increase Them—Committee to Investigate—Bids for Macadamizing Streets—Other Business.

An adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held last evening with all the members present except President Andrews, and his place was filled by Councilman Frank H. Smith. The most important matter discussed and decided upon was the question relating to the recent action of the County Board of Assessors in placing the city's valuation at the same figure that it was last year, $8,000,000.

Mr. Hetfield introduced the subject and said he thought Plainfield ought to know whether her valuations were assessed with any degree of equality with other places in the county. He had been informed that in some places assessments had been made on a basis of 25 and 30 per cent., and if this is true it is a great wrong, for Plainfield's property has been assessed as high as 50 per cent. He moved that the finance committee and the committee on assessment and collection of taxes investigate the matter and report back to the Council.

Mr. Hetfield's remarks were supplimented with remarks by Mr. VanHerwerden, who presented a letter from J. A. Hubbard, Assessor for the Third ward. Mr. Hubbard stated that he felt too ill to remain at Elizabeth all day Monday, so he sent his book of the Third ward down. He later learned that the Assessors of Elizabeth disputed the values being below what they were one year ago, and after some discussion they placed the value upon Plainfield the same as last year. The Plainfield Assessors returned the real estate as follows:

First Ward, $27,110.00 below values of '98; Second Ward, $101,480 below values of '98; Fourth Ward, $84,575 below values of '98. The Third Ward had an increase over '98 values of $20,735. In making up the deficiency they placed upon the wards the following additions in real estate: First Ward, $39,930; Second Ward, $54,175; Third Ward, $49.995; Fourth Ward, $44,975

Mr. Hubbard states that if the Third Ward had returned as much less in proportion as the others he would not object, but when the Third Ward returned $20,735 more than last year he thinks it unjust to put $50,000 more upon it, and says that he will most enphatically dispute the right of other assessors that lower their values far below what they placed them a year ago, and then rely on the Third Ward to help pay their taxes.

Mr. Hubbard then asked the Council to appoint a committee to examine all of the tax books and compare the values of 1898 with the present year and to judge for themselves who is to bear the loss. He says that he would not know where to place the $50,000 that has been set off to the Third Ward after keeping the values in the Third Ward substantially the same as last year. He says that he is not willing to add any such amount to the taxpayers in his ward as it would be unjust in every sense. If changes are made in the values of property in that ward Mr. Hubbard says that they will have to be made by someone beside himself, unless it can be shown where he has made a mistake.

In connection with the above Mr. VanHerwerden offered a resolution that the finance committee and the committee on assessment and collection of taxes meet this evening and go over the books and make such corrections as are proper.

At the proper time bids for macadamizing East Second street to the city line and Richmond street to Putnam avenue, were received. There were four bids and each street was bid separately. J. Y. Wilson offered to do the work on Second street for $1 39 per lineal foot, and Richmond street for $1.49 per lineal foot; Patsy Christmas bid was $1.74 for Richmond street and $1.25 for Second street; C. M. Meeker bid $1 44 for Richmond street and $1.33 for Second street; A. I. & N. B. Smalley's bid was $1.52 for Richmond street and $1.36 for Second street. They were all received and referred to the proper committee.

Mr. Coriell moved that when the Plainfield Street Railway Company makes application for a franchise on Arlington avenue that they file the original consents secured along the route proposed. Mr. Coriell stated that he did not propose that anyone should get an idea that there is any catch about the deal.

The application of the Eastern Bottling Association for a wholesale liquor license, where Frank Linke is now in business, was received and granted.

Mr. Barrows offered a resolution giving J. B. Mills the privilege to build a sewer on South, Woodland and Belvidere avenues.

Mr. Hetfield introduced a letter received from Dr. Simpson in which it was stated that a commission had been appointed and the Governor had been importuned to disband a portion of the Naval Reserves, and as inasmuch as several cities in the upper part of the State had sent remonstrances to the Governor against the intended action, it was the desire of the Reserves that the Plainfield Council take action asking the Governor to rescind the action.

Mr. Hetfield moved that such action be taken by the Council, but Mr. Buckle, not fully understanding the matter, desired that it lie on the table until next meeting. Mr. Coriell and Mr. Smith expressed themselves similarly.

Mr. Hetfield argued for the question and said that it was only a question of appropriating $500 a year for the Reserves and he felt sure that there was some other motive behind the scheme to disband a part of the Reserves.

After a little further discussion it was finally decided to let the matter rest until the next meeting, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE CITY HAS TWO PAPKS

A NEW ONE DISCOVERED IN NETHERWOOD SECTION.

It is the Plot of Land Directly in Front of the Hotel Hunterston—Deeded to the City Several Years Ago by Land Co

That Plainfield is blessed with two city parks is not generally known. Such is a fact, however, and they are both owned by the city, which is supposed to pay all assessment on the property. The new park recently discovered is located directly in front of the Hotel Hunterston, Netherwood, and was donated for a city park many years ago by the Belvidere Land Company, at that time in existence, and by Chas. Hyde, of East Front street.

The map for this park and the deed is on file in the county clerk's office at Elizabeth, but it is not likely that any improvements will be made in the park unless some public spirited citizens get together and push the matter along.

It could be made a pleasant spot for recreation and pleasure if properly fixed up and put in good shape, and it has been suggested that a fountain be located in the centre and comfortable seats be placed about conveniently, similarly to that in the park on Ninth street

MAYOR DROVE WELL.

Mr. Smalley's Steed Became Frightened at a Trolley Car.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley had a lively experience on Somerset street this morning while driving toward town. He was driving along in the vicinity of Henry DeMott's undertaking establishment when a trolley car came along frightened the horse. The animal immediateley jumped on the sidewalk, but with great skill the Mayor guided his rig between the trees and the fence, the animal acting very wild and scary. His Honor finally reached the street again and for some distance he followed the trolley car with his fractious steed. The horse by this time seemed to be unnerved and the driver had to keep a tight rein on him. Fortunately no damage resulted to either horse, wagon or driver.

Past the Fourscore Point.

The death of Miss Martha Baker, 84 years of age, great aunt of Charles Westerfield, of 142 Central vvenue, occurred last evening from a cancerous growth. Miss Baker has resided in this city two years, having come here from Port Richmond, S. I., where she was born. The funeral services will be held to morrow noon at 12:15 o'clock from the house, 142 Central avenue, and the interment will take place at Port Richmond.

Dr. Richardson's Vacation.

Rev. J. W. Richardson and family leave next Monday for Middlebury, Conn., for the summer. During his absence the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be supplied as follows: July 30th, morning, Rev. Dr. Main; evening, Rev. W. C. Nelson. During August, Rev. Dr. Pogson, of New York.

EJECTED FROM HER HOME OF MANY YEARS.

Stubborn Defiance of the Law Finally Overcome.

PITIABLE PLIGHT OE FAMILY

MRS. M'CARTY REFUSED TO VACATE UNDER MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE.

Patience of Lawyers and Owners Finally Taxed, and This Morning the Sheriff's Deputy Took Forcible Possession of the Property and Piled the Household Goods in the Street.

Since April Mrs. Margaret McCarty has successfully defied the mandates of county and State courts until today. This morning the Sheriff took a hand, and now a strange assortment of household goods is heaped in the gutter in front of the McCarty residence, 535 East Second street, while Mrs. McCarty and her family are temporarily homeless. The case is a rather pitiful one on account of the remarkable perverseness of Mrs. McCarty who has declined the advice of friends and legal foes and clung to the property despite all the persuasion that could be brought to bear. Force became necessary at last.

Mrs. Margaret McCarty is the wife of Daniel McCarty, a local contractor. For many years they lived on East Second street, just beyond Richmond street, the property being held in the name of the wife. There are six children, two boys and four girls, ranging from four to fourteen years of age. They found it necessary to mortgage the place many years ago, but managed to keep up the interest. At length the interest lapsed, as the McCartys' financial condition grew worse. Last winter the mortgage was foreclosed. It was sold in April to satisfy the mortgage and was purchased by Mrs. Maria Claypoole, of North Plainfield.

After the sale Mrs. McCarty declared that she would not leave the place. She did not understand the legal procedure by which the property passed out of her hands, and thought that it was all a scheme to rob her of her rightful possessions. She therefore ignored all notices served upon her and continued to live in the house the same as ever.

Counselor John H. VanWinkle, who represented Mrs. Claypoole in the matter, pleaded with the determined woman to give up possession quietly, but she remained obdurate. He sent his clerk and the constable, but but without avail. She then consulted several lawyers, but they told her that she would have to give up her home to the new, but rightful owners.

"I don't care," exclaimed Mrs. McCarty, ',I won't give it up." And she didn't.

Mr. VanWinkle was very adverse to taking any steps that would necessitate the forceful removal of the old owner and her household goods. Notice after notice was served but the McCarty household paid no attention. Friends of the woman went to her and advised her to end her foolish war against the court as she was sure to be defeated in the end. Her only reply was that it was her property and she was going to stay there.

Two weeks ago, it was decided that Mrs. McCarty had delayed proceedings long enough and that it was time that the rightful owner took possession. Mr. VanWinkle then gave the occupants notice that if they did not leave peaceably in a fortnight, it would be necessary to eject them with force. The notice was disregarded at the others.

Application was made to the Court of Chancery and a writ of assistance was issued, signed by Judges VanSyckel and Magie. Sheriff Kirk was then instructed to eject the McCartys.

The Sheriff selected Constable W. R. Mattox as the man to serve the writ and told him to go ahead this morning, promising all the police protection that was necessary. He was also empowered to hire several men to assist in the removal of the household goods.

At 7:30 o'clock, Constable Mattox and three assistants appeared before the McCarty stronghold. Every door and window was locked and barred. After hunting in vain for an entrance, Constable Mattox asked for admittance.

"You can't come in," was Mrs. McCarty's reply.

"You can't come in," echoed her husband.

Mattox repeated his request. Then he begged them to left him in explaining that he would have to force his way in if they refused. Still the stubborn defiance on the part of the be-

POLITICAL PLUMS FOR PLAINFIELD.

G. O. P. Workers Want to Know What They Are.

ELIZABETH'S VIEW OF IT.

THE PORT EXPECTS SUPPORT FROM PLAINFIELD.

Elizabeth Seems Willing to Give Plainfield the Shrievalty Nomination—But Bob Houston Wants It—Plainfield Must Break Faith With Port or Defy the Elizabeth Leaders—Peculiar Situation.

Here it is, the summer not anywhere near over yet and the Republican politicians talking politics with wonderful vigor. Plainfield G. O. P. men are talking, too, and wondering still more what Plainfield is going to get out of the heap this year. There is a choice array of plums to be distributed, but, according to the reports emanating from the camps of the leaders, Plainfield is counted upon getting but very little.

Circumstances have been so that during the past few years there has been a bond of friendship between the Plainfield and Elizabethport workers. They have stood side by side in recent conventions and opposed the mighty power of the Elizabeth city crowd. When Wm. T. Kirk was nominated for sheriff three years ago, it was understood that Robert Houston, the Port's favorite, should be his successor. On that understanding the Port has since given Plainfield loyal support, with the expectation that Plainfield would back Houston this year for the shrievalty candidacy.

Now the leaders in Elizabeth are perfectly aware of these facts. They are also aware that, unless they break faith with Rahway, County Clerk Howard should have their support for a renomination as a reward for Rahway's support of Cross for the Senate seat last fall which resulted in the defeat of E. R. Ackerman. If they do break faith with Rahway, then it will be to please George Sculer and give him the County Clerkship nomination, on which his masterly eye has for a long time been gazing. Under these circumstances, they cannot think of allowing Plainfield to name the men for County Clerk.

The little townships and boroughs have been raising such a howl of late that Elizabeth is beginning to feel the necessity of remembering them with an Assemblyman or two. One member of the Assembly, at last, they consider, it is the rightful share of Elizabeth. Then Senator Cross must be renominated, of course.

There still remains the nomination for sheriff to be disposed of according to the Elizabethian idea of the situation. Yes, the leaders say, Plainfield can have that crumb of comfort if she wants it and the Port can howl in vain. It would break up the little friendship between Plainfield and the Port as well.

If Plainfield is the dutiful little child of the G. O. P. leaders, who direct affairs from the county seat, she will take the Shrievalty and look pleasant. Otherwise there will be a fight, and it remains to be seen what will be the result of it all.

The county executive committee will hold a meeting at Elizabeth tonight. At that time the Plainfielders may have the situation explained to them. Monday evening, August 7th, there will be a meeting of the city executive committee. Beside the general discussion of the campaign, the vacancy in the Fourth ward delegation, caused by the death of Alonzo Ayres, will be filled, and the members of the election board nominated and submitted to the county committee.

Seeing the Sights.

A Plainfielder who has just returned from England reports that he left Isaac Squires, formerly of Grove street, but now in the employ of the English firm of the Campbell Press Works, in the best of health and very well contented. He is doing well and is a valuable man for the company employing him. Mr. Squires expects to go to Paris next month to do some work. He will not return to this country inside of a year, and expects to attend the Paris Exposition.

Another Case of Diphtheria

One of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Morris, of West Front street, is detained at home with diphtheria. The supposition is that he caught the disease through the use of milk, as it is said that he drank milk that was furnished by the milkman who has been quarantined recently.

Drinking Fountain in Use Again.

The public drinking fountain has been restored to the public again and is on duty at the old stand, corner of Front and Somerset streets. It was connected yesterday.

ACCURATE STORY OF DARLING'S CAPTURE.

Bold Work of the Officials of Fulton County.

REVOLVERS HELD BY ALL.

THE MURDERER CAUGHT WHILE ON A FISHING TRIP.

When Face to Face With the Officers Darling Whipped Out a Gun and Held Them at Bay—But Superior Numbers Overcame Him—Hard Journey of Roundsman Flynn to McConnellsburgh Wednesday.

Roundsman J. J. Flynn who left Plainfield Wednesday morning on the 1:17 train for McConnellsburg, Pa., to identify William Darling, returned home last evening at 6:45 o'clock, having accomplished his purpose. Owing to poor connections the Roundsman did not reach his destination until 11 o'clock Wednesday night. There is not a railroad in Fulton county, and after going as far as he could by rail he was obliged to ride fifteen miles in a stage to the place where Darling is confined.

Upon his arrival he sought the Sheriff and went at once to the jail. Darling was lying on his cot in a cell at the time. The Roundsman approached and addressed the prisoner by his first name, at the same time shaking hands with him. Darling for some minutes could not remember the officer's face, but later said he knew him. The latter had not the slightest trouble in identifying Darling.

The two had a talk for a short time after which the Roundsman left him and remained at a hotel during the night until 5 o'clock yesterday morning when he started for home.

Previous to the arrival of the officer Darling was told that someone was coming to identify him, and he inquired if it was the detective that had been following him for three years.

Darling looks the same as ever, and does not show any signs of dissipation. It is believed by all in the town that if he had not talked too much and had left liquor alone he could have lived there the rest of his life and never been discovered for his crime.

Captain Grant and Roundsman Flynn went to New Brunswick this morning for the purpose of making a return of the indictment taken by the latter to McConnelsburg, Pa., giving him authority to identify William Darling. Below is the only accurate report of the capture of Darling which is republished from The Fulton Republican, of McConnellsburg, which was published yesterday.

By all odds the greatest sensation our town has experienced for sometime was last Monday night when Sheriff Sheets and District Attorney Daniels drove in town and placed in jail as their prisoner William Darling, alias Ralph E. J. Walton, who is charged with shooting and killing Harry Dunham, in Plainfield, New Jersey, in 1885.

After killing Dunham, Darling left the sandy plains of Jersey for the wooded hills of "Little Fulton," which he reached in safety after being followed through Virginia and West Virginia by a detective. Finding the people of our county generous to a fault he availed himself of their hospitality and remained with a family of Gordons in Thompson township, where he courted and on the seventh day of last June married Sarah E., the seventeen-year-old daughter of David Gordon, with whom he lived until arrested by the officers of this county.

We are unable to give the particulars about the shooting of Dunham or the information leading up to his whereabouts and arrest, but Sheriff Sheets and Disrict Attorney Daniels, armed with the proper anthority, located their man and last Monday took a fishing trip down Licking Creek for the purpose of catching the culprit. On their way down they arranged with Jacob Hess to accompany them and assist in making the arrest. Afrer borrowing some fishing tackle the trio went to the creek on pretense of fishing, but for the real purpose of making definite arrangements to carry out their true purpose. While thus engaged they noticed a man approaching them, who Hess recognized as the man they were after. Darling caught sight of the men, and mistrusting something crossed a fence into an orchard where he began eating apples. The officers became apple hungry and crossed for the same purpose, but Darling passed on to another tree, and seeing that he was being followed hastened his steps until commanded to halt, when, with drawn revolver he faced the officers, but seeing that the Sheriff and Hess were too quick and had the drop on him, he

ALGER TO GO OUT AUG. 1.

His Resignation is Formally Accepted by President McKinley.

FEELS MUCH RELIEVED.

The Secretary Says He Will go to Michigan and Devote His Attention to His Health.

His Face Wreathed With Smiles as He Leaves the White House—Says He Knows Nothing About Who His Successor Will Be—Will Carry His Own Burden Hereafter.

Washington, July 21.—Secretary Alger will relinquish the war portfolio before August 1. He called on President McKinley at the White House and was with him for a few minutes. When he left he appeared to be in excellent spirits. His face was wreathed with smiles as he expressed to several newspaper men who gathered about him his appreciation of their good wishes.

"You feel relieved of a great burden?" one of them suggested?

"Yes, I do," replied the Secretary. "Hereafter I will only have my own burden to carry."

The Secretary said that he would relinquish his portfolio as soon as pending routine matters were cleared up, and Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, to whom the War Office is to be turned over pending the appointment of Gen. Alger's successor, is ready to assume charge.

"I shall retire before August 1," said the Secretary. Gen. Alger said he would go back to Michigan, and for the present at least devote his attention to his health. The Secretary said he knew nothing about his successor. Asked as to whether he would press his Senatorial candidacy, the Secretary replied: "I cannot tell now."

Postmaster-General Smith saw the President. As he left the White-House he emphatically denied the possibility of his transferral to the War Office. "I have troubles enough of my own," he said, smiling.

Secretary Alger was an hour late in reaching his office. He spent that hour in going over his private correspondence at his residence. There were more that the usual number of telegrams. Every member of the Secretary's family outside of Washington wired approval of his action, and although the Secretary himself did not exhibit any of them, there is reason to believe they included messages from some persons very prominent in political life.

The President formally accepted Secretary Alger's resignation in a sealed communication.

The belief is gaining ground in well-informed circles here, that Elihu Root, of New York, will be tendered the Secretaryship of War.

Col. Evans Miles Retires.

Washington, July 21.—The War Department announced the retirement from active service of Col. Evan Miles of the 1st Infantry. Col. Miles was appointed a Lieutenant in the regular army on Aug. 5, 1861, and was assigned to the 12th Infantry. In January, 1865, he was made a Captain, and in September, 1866, he was transferred to the 21st Infantry. In April, 1888, he was promoted to be Major in the 25th Infantry. He was promoted to a Lieutenant-Colonelcy in the 29th Infantry in April, 1892, and in 1895 was transferred to the 22d Infantry. He was transferred two months later to the 1st Infantry, to the Colonelcy of which he was promoted on May 4, 1897. He commanded a brigade in the operations against Santiago and in October last he was made a Brigadier-General of Volunteers.

To Be Volunteer Officers.

Washington, July 21.—The following additional appointments have been directed by the President:

To be Captains—James J. Butler, formerly Captain 2d Mississippi; Edward C. Carey, formerly Lieutenant 16th Infantry; William F. Meeks, formerly Captain 71st New York Volunteers; Charles A. Reynolds, formerly Captain 10th Ohio Volunteers; Frank G. Russell, formerly Major 1st Territorial Regiment.

To be First Lieutenants—F. O. Densmore; Percy H. Hawkins, formerly Captain 1st Ohio; Virden C. Peckenpaugh, Lieutenant 5th Illinois; Carroll Powers, formerly of 2d Kentucky Volunteers; James R. Rash, formerly Lieutenant 3d Kentucky.

To be Second Lieutenants—James D. Danner, formerly of the 8th Pennsylvania; H. J. McKenny, formrely private United States Volunteers Signal Corps.

Griggs Called to Washington.

Winsted, Conn., July 21.—Attorney General Griggs, who has been spending his vacation here, was called from a golf game by an urgent message from Washington. It is surmised that he is to be consulted by the President concerning Cabinet changes which General Alger's retirement will bring about.

Schooner Ashore Needs Help.

Little Egg Harbor, N. J., July 21.—The three-masted schooner Samuel E. Wood ran ashore off this place during the night, and is high and dry, and flying distress signals. The Wood is bound for Norfolk, Va. Preparations were made to send tugs to her assistance. She had a heavy list.

Will Probably Die.

Paris, Ky., July 21.—During a quarrel over a game of craps near the Maysville Railroad bridge, near this city, Mike Connelly, a saloon keeper, was shot in the abdomen three times by Forest Lang. The wounds will result fatally. Lang claims self-defense.

Japan Grabs Island.

Vancouver, B. C., July 21.—According to Japanese advices Japan has hoisted her flag on Weeks, or Mareus Island, fearing the United States would take it for cable station.

BRYAN SPEAKS IN CHICAGO.

Says All Chicago Democrats Look Alike to Him.

Chicago, July 21.—At the Audjtorium mass meeting of Democrats, Clarence F. Darrow, who presided, made a short address defining the objects of the meeting, and then introduced John P. Tarvin of Kentucky.

The mention of the name of Altgeld produced a great demonstration, men standing upon chairs and cheering wildly. The next speaker was James F. Brown of New York.

Senator Tillman of South Carolina came next and was greeted with great applause. Alexander Troup, the National Committeeman from Connecticut, was humorously brought forward by Chairman Darrow, and his address was greeted with great cheering.

Following speeches by George Fred Williams, Congressman Lentz of Ohio and General Finley, Mr. Darrow briefly introduced Mr. Bryan, who received an enthusiastic welcome. His declaration that he felt embarrassed about speaking in Chicago, because of the split in the local Democracy, and that it was not his business to employ the secret service to see who was the foremost Democrat, provoked a little opposition among the staunch adherents of Altgeld, but his assertion that "all Chicago Democrats look alike to me" put them right again, and from first to last his speech was most enthusiastically received.

The only move looking toward recognition of the Silver men by the National Committee was when the Ohio Valley Bimetallic League was admitted to the committee room, and James P. Tarvin of Kentucky, acting as spokesman, read a resolution adopted by the committee at its meeting early in the day at the Palmer House.

These resolutions demanded that planks be inserted in the next Democratic National platform opposing the trusts, "imperialism" and adhering to the silver ratio of 16 to 1.

Activity of Incendiaries.

Princeton, N. J., Jul y21.—The work of incendiaries still goes on. Another fire has followed those of Saturday and Tuesday nights. The large barn of Steven Margerum and dwelling house of Mrs. George Moore, a widow, were totally destroyed. The fires are believed to be the work of robbers, who have been causing the citizens so much trouble during the last month. Every available means will be used to run down the criminals.

Mother of Six a Suicide.

Seaford, N. J., July 21.—Mrs. Caroline Verity, 68 years old, wife of Lawrence Verity, a seafaring man, committed suicide here by hanging herself to the rafters in the garret of their home with a clothesline. She was the mother of six children. No reason is known for her act, as husband and wife are said to have lived many years in happiness.

Strikers Riot in Bavaria.

Munich, July 21.—There have been renewed disturbances at Augsburg, where the stone and brick masons are on strike. The strikers attacked a factory employing Italian workmen, and the infantry, cavalry and police were obliged to make repeated charges upon the rioters before they could be dispersed. Many of the mob were injured.

Wedded to Her Coachman.

Swampscott, Mass., July 21.—Abbie Phillips, aged seventeen years, niece of Warren W. Phillips, was married to Bernard B. Kennedy, who was employed by the family as coachman. The girl's parents died when she was about twelve years old, leaving her a fortune of $2,000,000 in trust until she became of age.

Home for Aged "Drummers."

Kansas City, Mo., July 21.—A large number of commercial travelers attended a meeting here, called to discuss plans for an Interstate Commercial Travelers' Home for old and feeble members of the association. The home will be open to men from Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. Men under 50 are eligible.

They Want Their Money.

Perth Amboy, N. J., July 21.—The angry depositors of the wrecked Middlesex County Bank, at a largely attended meeting, appointed a committee of seven to devise some means of collecting the full amount of their deposits. A plan of action will be mapped out at once and proceedings will be entered into to recover the money.

Hobart Sick in Bed Again.

Long Branch, N. J., July 21.—Vice President Hobart is again indisposed. At the cottage it is said the illness is not alarming, and need not be considered a relapse to his old trouble. Those at the house refused to take to him any questions relative to his part in the Alger resignation.

Another Yellow Fever Death.

Washington, July 21.—Gen. Brooke has cabled the War Department of the death at Santiago of Herman Peine, quartermaster-sergeant, Fifth Infantry, of yellow fever.

Baroness Rothschild Death.

Paris, July 21.—Baroness Nathaniel Rothschild died suddenly of heart disease.

THE RIOTING CONTINUES.

Conductor and Motorman Are Badly Beaten by Strike Sympathizers.

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE.

A Patrol Wagon Loaded With Police Reserves Sent to the Scene of the Disturbance.

Officers Charge a Jeering Crowd and Use Their Night Sticks With Telling Effect — Cars on Brooklyn Rapid Transit Lines Running With More Regularity.

New York, July 21.—A riot occurred in upper Eighth avenue which resulted in several arrests and the serious beating of a motorman and conductor.

A southbound car of the Eighth avenue line was held up at One Hundred and Fortieth street, by a mob of strike sympathizers who blocked the track.

When the car came to a standstill the crowd rushed for both front and rear platforms, and the conductor and motorman were dragged from the car.

They were beaten and kicked unmercifully until finally breaking away the two men fled up the avenue pursued by a mob of several hundred men and boys.

Policeman Carew, of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station, was unable to cope with the mob, so he telephoned for the reserves.

The reserves were sent out in patrol wagons, but owing to the great distance to be traveled did not arrive at the scene of the trouble for half an hour.

Meanwhile the line was blocked as far north as One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street. This was because the motorman of the held-up car carried away his motor crank when he escaped from the mob. The car could not be moved off until another crank was sent for.

When the patrol wagons carrying the reserves hove in sight the mob showed no inclination to break up.

Just as the reserves reached the scene one of the patrol wagons came in collision with an "L" pillar. The rear axle broke in the middle and the policemen were spilled out upon the pavement.

The crowd jeered the policemen, but the officers picked themselves up and charged with their nightsticks. There were many broken heads after the melee and a dozen arrests were made. The block was cleared up and traffic resumed.

New York, July 21.—So far as the running of cars is concerned the strike of the motormen of the Metropolitan Street Railway is ended. It is the hope of those who have it in charge that from this out it will take the form of a fight of organized labor against the road for the observance of the ten-hour law.

Traffic Being Resumed.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 21.—Cars on the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company are running with more regularity than at any time since the strike was declared and traffic is being resumed with less interference, although the way is not yet clear by any means. The strikers claim that they are all the time gaining ground and the company officials say they are getting along with their business much more satisfactorily than they had expected to when the trouble started.

Nearly all of the cars are being run on schedule time, but the motormen and conductors are in constant fear of assault by the strikers.

A Park avenue car on its way to the Bridge with six policemen on bord was wrecked at Sands street. A cable that was stretched across the tracks threw the car, pulled the motorman overboard and bruised the policemen.

The Newsboys Strike.

New York, July 21.—The newsboys here have determined not to be behind the times so far as the strike business is concerned, and have entered into a boycott against The World and The Journal. Their grievance is that the papers named have raised the price from fifty to sixty cents per 100 for papers and they refused to handle them unless the price is kept down to fifty cents. So far as the newsboys are concerned there is a complete "tie-up" on these two lines of the news producing industry of New York and not a copy of either of the papers can be purchsed only at the office and at the regular newstands, and even at these places the newsboys will gather and tear the papers up if it is possible to get in reach of them. A boy who is caught with one of the boycotted papers in his possession is treated about as roughly as a non-union motorman who takes the place of a striker.

Bookkeeper Arrested.

Elizabeth, N. J., July 21.—Frederick Bent, bookkeeper for the Swift Beef Company of this city has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement. His peculations are alleged to amount to $2,500. Bent had been with the company for many years. He is 53 years old. He claims that there are irregularities which he can explain, and denies having used the company's funds.

Peddler Assaulted and Robbed.

Freeport, L. I., July 21.—John Vineland, a fruit peddler, was assaulted and robbed of $17 between this place and Merrick. His assailant sprang from a cornfield near the road, clubbed Vineland into insensibility and, taking his money, disappeared. The police are searching for the man. Vineland's head was severely cut and bruised.

Supervisor Busbey Resigns.

Albany, July 21.—Gov. Roosevelt has received the resignation of Hamilton Busbey as supervisor of accounts of trotting race meetings. The successor to Mr. Busbey will be appointed by the Governor in a short time.

TWO SERVANTS GET ESTATE

Charles Davis, of Worcester, Gave Each $7,000 Stock.

Worcester, Mass., July 21.—It is stated on what appears to be good authority that Charles H. Davis, one of Worcester's wealthy citizens, a brother of Edward L. Davis, director of the Boston and Albany road, recently presented his coachmen, Otis L. Chase, and two maid servants with 100 shares of Norwich and Worcester stock, valued at more than $21,000.

He called them into his library one day and told them that he had bequeathed them $7,000 each in his will, but recognizing the fact that such instruments were liable to legal controversy which might prevent them from receiving the bequests for some time after the will was probated, he had decided to present them with that amount thus. He then tore up the will and gave them the stock, which is now said to be deposited to their credit in the safety deposit vaults of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company.

Molineux Indicted.

New York, July 21.—The Grand Jury found an indictment in the case of Roland B. Molineux charging him with murder in the first degree in having sent to Harry Cornish the cyanide of mercury that caused the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams.

ROLAND B. MOLINEUX.

Cleveland Strike Not Successful.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 21.—Nine of the fourteen lines of the Big Consolidated System are in operation. The feed wire in Abbey street near Jennings avenue was cut. Later Policeman Patrick Connors and a lineman were driving over Abbey street. They did not observe the wire. The horse brushed against it and was severely shocked. The animal became frightened and ran away. Both men were thrown from the buggy. Connors was severely shocked by coming in contact with the wire. His condition is not considered serious. The lineman escaped with a few bruises.

Two Men Caught in a Buzz Saw.

Yonkers, July 21.—John Holland and Samuel Smith, employes in the casemaking department of John T. Waring's hat factory on Riverdale avenue, met with frightful accidents while at work. A piece of lumber had fallen on a buzz saw and while Holland was attempting to remove it his sleeves got caught on the whirling blade. The teeth of the saw dragged him forward and his arm was mutilated to the elbow. Smith tried to aid Holland and he fell a like victim to the saw, his injuries being almost the same and equally serious. The men were taken to hospitals, Holland to St. John's and Smith to St. Joseph's.

Threw Herself Before a Train.

Rochester, July 21.—As a passenger train approached Warterloo, a woman about 35 years old was seen to pull off her hat, and before the astonished flagman could interfere she threw herself before the locomotive. She was struck and thrown a distance of thirty feet. When picked up she was unconscious. She had a bad cut on the side of the head and is undoubtedly injured internally. She was identified as Jennie Wilcox of Tyre. There is no doubt that she attempted to commit suicide.

May Give Up Securities.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 21.—The National Park Bank of New York, which took out an attachment on the morning of July 14, the very day that the Middlesex County Bank was closed against the supposed assets of the Middlesex Bank which it thought were on deposit in Cashier Valentine's safety deposit box in its New York vaults, may be compelled to give up the securities which it seized.

Senator Early Very Ill.

Indianapolis, July 21.—Jacob D. Early, of Terre Haute, State Senator from Vigo County, who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis while a guest at the Hotel Dennison 10 days ago, and was removed to the Deaconess Hospital, is alarmingly ill. Within the past two months he has been strongly talked of as an opponent of Congressman Faris for the party nomination.

Many Died of Scurvy.

Seattle, July 21.—F. Spelley of St. Mary's, O., a recent arrival from Alaska, reports much scurvy in the Koyukuk district last winter. He says thirty per cent. of the miners on Allenkeket River had it, and, although a large number died, he can recall only two names— Goff of San Francisco, and James McGraw of New York. Both died at Arctic City.

Towing Company Absorbed.

Toledo, O., July 21.—The Nagle Towing Company and the Sullivan Tug Company have been absorbed by the Great Lakes Towing Compnay. Eleven boats were bought for $185,000.

Mine Troubles In Idaho.

Denver, July 21.—The sub-committee on mines of the United States industrial commission has finished here and has left for Wallace, Id., to investigate the Coeur d'Alene troubles.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most Important.

Making People Happy.

Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating, and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs. Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS MEET

Over 30,000 Visitors at the Convention in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, July 21.—The Great Epworth League convention opened simultaneously in three different places—the Opera-House, Tomlinson Hall and the big tent which was erected on the Court-House lawn and which is capable of seating 7,500 persons.

For two days the delegates and the visitors to the convention had been coming in by every train, and there are fully 30,000 visiting Epworth Leaguers in the city. Every arrangement had been made for caring for them, and as fast as they arrived in the city they were met by members of the local committees and escorted to the hotels or boarding-houses where they had secured quarters.

The programme is the most elaborate one ever arranged for an Epworth League convention. The opening services began with chorus singing. At each of the three places there were choruses of 400 voices, and at the same hour they sang the same songs.

Gov. Mount delivered an address of welcome at all three of the headquarters of the visitors.

A noticeable feature of the decorations is the fact that in the halls and in the tent the pictures of Queen Victoria are as numerous and as large as President McKinley. This has been done in compliment to the visiting delegation from Canada.

City Contractor Jailed.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 21.—Donn M. Roberts, president and general manager of the Indiana Construction Company, has been arrested and placed in jail for ignoring the orders of the board of public works to suspend work according to the plans and specifications and ordered the work stopped pending an investigation. The work was continued in disobedience of orders and a force of eighteen police officers were sent to the scene to drive the mn from the street. Roberts told his workmen to proceed and the police promptly arrested him. The case will be taken to the courts.

Shamrock's Ocean Trip.

Trieste, July 21.—The United States started for Belfast, where she will salute the burgee of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club. She will then go to Rothesay, remain there a day, and proceed from that place to Glasgow, where her racing mast will be taken out and she will be ketch rigged for the voyage across the Atlantic. A second deck will be put over her aluminum deck. The steam yacht Erin will accompany the Shamrock on her passage to New York. It is expected that she will start at the end of the month.

Light Companies Combine.

Albany, July 21.—A certificate of the consolidation of the Glens Falls Gas Light Company and the Glens Falls Electric Light & Power Co., under the name of the Glens Falls Gar & Electric Light Company, with a capital of $250,000, has been filed with the Secretary of State. The directors are F. S. Butterworth, W. F. Peacock and Lewis C. Herckenrath of New York City.

Boys Enlisting at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 21.—There has been trouble caused in the Chattanooga district through the enlistment in the army of volunteers under 18 years of age by the local recruiting office. Mayor Watkins of Chattanooga has reported the matter to the War Department and will endeavor to get several young men released.

Soldiers Are Deserting.

Philadelphia, July 21.—The North American prints a story from Harrisburg, declaring that wholesale desertions have occurred in the Second Battalion of the Nineteenth Infantry, which is under orders for the Philippines. Forty men have already deserted and a number have applied for discharge.

James McCarthy Fatally Hurt.

Denver, July 21.—James McCarthy, a magazine writer and novelist, whose writings under the non de plume of "Fitzmack," are well known, was struck by an electric car at the corner of Broadway and Colfax avenue, knocked from his bicycle and so badly injured that he will probably die.

Empress of Germany Injured.

Berlin, July 21.—The accident to the Empress was more serious than at first stated. One of the bones in the lower part of her leg was broken. The swelling is decreasing and her general condition is satisfactory. Complete recovery, however, can scarcely be expected before six weeks.

Fountain Geyser Active.

Cinnabar, Mont., July 21.—The old Fountain geyser, in the Yellowstone National Park, has broken out in another portion of the crater, and during the past twenty-four hours played twice. The eruption was enormous and threw out rocks and pieces of wood.

$11,000,000 Klondike Gold.

Seattle, Wash., July 21.—The steamer Dirigo, which has arrived here from Skagway, brought over $250,000 in gold. This makes the total receipts since June 1 aggregate $11,000,000.

German Cruiser at Corinto.

Managua, Nicaragua, July 21.—The German cruiser Gefion has arrived at Corinto. President Zelaya has issued a call for another loan of $500,000, which is being liberally subscribed.

Sir Henry Irving Honored.

Glasgow, July 21.—Glasgow University has conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Sir Henry Irving, who was given an ovation by a large and fashionable audience.

Automobile at Utica.

Utica, N. Y., July 21.—The automobile reached here from Little Falls and two new rear wheels were fitted to it. It has left for Syracuse.

Another Shock at Rome.

Rome, July 21.—There has been another severe earthquake shock here, but no great damage was done.

AGUINALDO IS FORTIFIED.

The Filipino Leader Concentrates a Force of 2,000 Troops at Aparri.

WAITING FOR TROUBLE.

He Strongly Objects to the Inhabitants of the Town Giving a Welcome to Americans.

Lieutenant Moore Shoots Himself While Temporarily Insane—Practice in the Courts in the Philippines is Changed to the American System.

Manila, July 21.—Lieutenant J. W. Moore, of the Iowa regiment, shot himself while temporarily insane.

The steamship Saturnus has returned from Aparri, and reports that Aguinaldo, hearing that the inhabitants were prepared to welcome the Americans if they came, concentrated 2,000 troops there and fortified the town and coast approaches strongly.

An order has been issued regulating practice before the courts and substituting the American for the Spanish system in important respects. It abolishes sprocurators, who corresponded somewhat to solicitors in the English courts, all the duties heretofore performed by procurators devolving upon attorneys. Members of the bar must be residents of the island. Citizens of foreign governments are ineligible to practice at the bar. Members of the American bar are eligible.

The order gives the courts sole power to determine the qualifications of attorneys, which heretofore has been a function of the bar association, and the church schools have controlled admissions to the bar.

The changes outlined have been made in accordance with the wishes of the Filipinos and disappoint the Spniards, who petitioned to be admitted to the bar without renouncing allegiance to Spain.

Cebu's Exports of Hemp.

Washington, July 21.—The following statement of the number of bales of hemp exported from the port of Cebu, P. I., since 1887 has been received by the War Department. The statement shows that in the importation of hemp, which is the leading product of the Philippines, the United States lead all countries. Great Britain ranks second and China third. Since 1887 the United States have imported from Cebu, 539,060 bales; Great Britain, 485,544 bales; China, 116,561 bales; St. Helena, 17,062 bales; Singapore, 13,058 bales; Australia, 4,775 bales and Japan, 126 bales. The total for twelve years is 1,176,186 bales.

The Germans in Samoa.

Berlin, July 21.—The Cologne "Gazette's" Apia correspondent cables that Germans there are highly pleased over the successes achieved by Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German member of the Samoan Commission, against the opposition of the British commissioner. The German commissioner, the dispatch adds, yielded to the demand of the United States commissioner for the confirmation of Chief Justice Chamber's decision merely as a matter of form and to preserve the valuable American friendship. Germany's influence with the natives, according to the dispatch, is stronger than ever.

Coroners in Dispute.

Georgetown, Ohio, July 21.—The body of Henry Coffman, aged 66, was found floating in a pond a few miles west of this city. For several days past he has been acting queerly, and is supposed to have drowned himself. The line between this county and Clermont passes throught he pond, and the body was found lying across it, and there is a question which County Coroner will hold the inquest.

Pleaded Guilty.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 21.—Angus M. Cannon, the Mormon Church official who was arrested a few days ago for alleged polygamy, was arraigned in the District Court, and entered a plea of guilty. The evidence against him was so conclusive that it would have been useless for him to fight the case. It is believed that Cannon will escape with a fine, as the offense is a misdemeanor.

Warm Weather in England.

London, July 21.—A prolonged spell of unprecedented heat, which has prevailed over the entire country has reached a climax, the themometer registering 128 degrees in the sun and 87 degrees in the shade. There have been numerous cases of sunstroke. Horses have suffered from the heat almost as much as human beings.

For a New College.

Ashtabula, Ohio, July 21.—Hon. W. S. McKinnon, Oliver C. Topky, J. J. Devney, George Cross and D. W. Haskell have made application for papers of incorporation for the Ashtabula Normal College Company, to be capitalized at $50,000.

Fired the Jail.

Connersville, Ind., July 21.—Will Waybright, an inmate of the County Jail, set fire to the mattresses and caused quite a fire before it was discovered. Several other prisoners were nearly suffocated before being taken out.

The Boston at Hawaii.

San Francisco, July 21.—The cruiser Boston, en route to San Francisco, was met by the American Maru, which has arrived here from Nagasaki. When the latter left Honolulu the Boston was off on a cruise around the islands.

She Had a Queer Dream.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, July 21.—Mrs. William Clelland, while asleep, imagining she was making a parachute leap, jumped down two flights of stairs, breaking an arm and dislocating her shoulder.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

COMING EVENTS.

July 23—Rev. James A. Cubberly will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p. m. Miss Baybert will sing and there will be instrumental music.

Assess at True Value.

If Plainfield has her way there is going to be trouble in Union county over the way property is assessed in various portions of the bailiwick. The arbitrary and unreasonable action of the County Board of Assessors in raising the total valuation of Plainfield almost $200,000 over the amount submitted by the local Board of Assessors, was taken up by the Common Council last night with the intention of securing for this city a more equitable rating.

As pointed out by Councilman Hetfield there is no uniform rate of assessment in the county—one section assessing as low as 25 per cent. and another as high as 50 and 60 per cent. Of course, such a system is as unfair as it is unbusiness-like. Every section of the county should be assessed at the same rate of valuation.

This immediately brings up the question of what should be a fair and equitable rate. There is no two ways of looking at this matter in an honest light. True value, or as near to it as the assessors are able to judge, is what should be placed upon all property for purpose of raising taxes. The law says that this shall be done, but for years assessors have habitually, and with the approval of the public, violated their oaths in this respect.

At the meeting of the County Assessors in Elizabeth Monday when some one suggested that all property should be assessed at true value, the point was raised as to how an assessor was able to determine true value, as many properties are not for sale and consequently have no market price. But yet they say it is easy to assess at 30, 40 or 50 per cent. Thirty, 40 or 50 per cent. of what? There must be a basis for them to work on, and if it is easy to determine what a percentage of the value of property is, it is obvious that it is as easy to determine the true value.

Several New Jersey counties—notably Passaic county—have been dealing with this problem which has now arisen in Union county—due to Plainfield's unfair treatment—with odious results. It has been the consensus of opinion that the only satisfactory and fair way of assessing property is at the true value.

May the day not be long when this rule prevails.

A Washington dispatch to the Newark News says that Vice-President Hobart will surely run again on the National ticket. It is stated that there is not a possibility of Governor Roosevelt being substituted for Mr. Hobart. The health of the Vice-President is rapidly improving and he believes that by December, when Congress convenes, he will be as well as he ever was, and he will take exceptionally good care to remain so. He will not attempt to perform alone all the duties of presiding officer of the Senate as heretofore, and he will abandon almost entirely the social entertainments which in the past demanded so much of his time, and will obtain all the rest he possibly can.

The Hudson county Board for the Equalization of Taxes has decided that no more exemptions from taxation will be granted to veterans, firemen, militiamen, exempt firemen and others who claim exemption under a law of 1888 and supplements thereto. The law provides that the property of such persons to the amount of $500 shall be free from State, county and municipal assessments. If the persons interested want redress they may appeal to the courts. The constitutionality of the law is considered doubtful by the County Board.

The principles of the Plainfield Street Railway Company seems to be to do everything finally that it has previously stated it will positively not do. A conspicuous example of this was the acceptance of the terms for the East Second street extension; and again the agreement to issue transfers good for use on the Brunswick Traction Company's line in Dunellen.

No man ever left the public service of this country more discredited and abused than Alger.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Prosecutor Dungan and ex Senator Bergen are said to be in the race for the Senatorial nomination against E. M. French, of North Plainfield. ## SHOT GUN LAW, ETC.

be invoked.

As soon as Mr. Houston had carried the wounded boy into the house he started back to see Mr. Compton, who had just finished reloading his gun. When Mr. Houston approached Compton stepped back a few paces and raising the gun to his shoulder, cried out excitedly:

"Stand back! If you come near me I'll shoot!"

Mr. Houston asked him if he had shot his boy and Compton answered that he supposed he had, but that he didn't intend to shoot so low.

An examination of the boy's injuries by Dr. Fritts revealed that the unfortunate lad had been shot in five different places. One shot took effect on the side of the right knee; another under the right knee; one shot a few inches higher up on the thigh; another one about three inches below that and a fifth in the left thigh, about six inches above the knee. The shot that took effect under the right knee is considered the most dangerous. The statement published last evening in the News that the shot had all been picked out was not true. None of the shots were picked out last night.

Thos. Newman's wounds consisted simply of a few shot in one of his wrists. The wounds of Dennis Birmingham are in the left ear and on the back of the head. Birmingham returned to work and is not considered seriously injured. Newman is about 14 years of age and Birmingham 17.

As soon as possible after his little grandson had received attention Mr. Houston went before Justice Nash and swore out a warrant for Mr. Compton's arrest, which was made this morning.

It is not thought that Victor's wounds will terminate fatally, though should blood poisoning develop serious consequences would follow. The injured boy is but eight years of age. He is a particularly bright little chap and was popular with the neighbors and employes of the Pond Tool Works, where his grandfather is employed as a machinist.

Little Victor told a Press reporter that he was not with the young men when they went to get the apples, but that he followed them to see the fun, as he supposed that Mr. Compton would drive them away and possibly chase them. He said that Mr. Compton had told him that he could come over and pick up apples whenever he felt so disposed.

Mr. Houston told a Press reporter that he intended to bring a civil action for damages against Mr. Compton. This is said not to be the first time that Mr. Compton has threatened to shoot when people have been trespassing on his property.

Going! Going! G—

Not gone—but going. We refer to our Shirt Waists. The stock grows smaller and beautifully less. The prices are selling them. It is our fixed policy to sell every waist during its own particular season. Profit is a secondary matter now. Prices on all waists have been cut deep and still deeper; late as the season is our saie of waists is phenomenal. Splendid styles, large variety and low prices. If you need any, select them at once.

Wash Goods of every description at greatly lessened prices. What is true of Shirt Waists is equally true of wash goods—they must be sold this season, and they are selling cheaply enough to be bought and kept until next season.

The Bottom Out.

The bottom has literally fallen out of the prices of Crash Suits, Crash Skirts, Duck Skirts, Pique Skirts and all other ready made garments, and all this while the stock is still fairly well assorted.

In regard to White Goods.

We have not cut prices on white goods, no necessity for so doing. Our prices for white goods are always low, and we show an almost infinite variety of goods. Special values in White Lawns and Corded Piques we can always give you for the asking.

Table Linens.

Some people would call it plunging to buy Table Linens in such quantities as we have been buying lately. Be that as it may we are always ready to plunge if goods are offered us cheap enough. This we know—we are able to give such values in both Bleached and Unbleached Linens, as are rarely offered the buying public. An extra heavy half bleached damask at 39c yd., is a straw showing which way the wind blows.

A Fair Question.

Do you make your sheets and Pillow Cases? Or do you buy them ready made? In either case we are ready to serve you. We have always a full line of double width Standard Sheetings, and splendid sheets full size, ¾ size and single bed size; Pillow Cases, Bolster Cases, Etc. All are torn, neatly hemmed, clean and ready for immediate use.

A word to the Men.

We have a complete gent's furnishing department, splendidly stocked, splendidly kept, splendidly managed and obligingly waited on. Light weight gauze, medium weight gauze and Summer weight cashmere Underwear. Neglige Shirts 50c to $1 25. Neckwear. Suspenders, Socks, Jewelry, Etc., and what is probably the best 50c white Laundered Shirt in the country.

Travelers Comforts.

A good, strong, well finished Trunk is a great comfort to the traveler. Our Trunks are carefully selected from several of the best factories in the country, and are remarkably made and carefully finished, well bound, well lined, good locks, etc. Dress Suit Cases and Traveling Bags of all kinds. Trunk Straps and Shawl Straps.

DOWN STAIRS.

The inevitable rise in the price of

and bedding has taken place.

Anticipating same we have been buying everything in special values offered us until every nook and cranny is filled with Iron Beds and bedding, consequently we find ourselves in a position to sell these goods very cheap.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 21—When the citizens of the borough read in the Press last evening the report of the mass meeting and learned of the action taken by the street railways in reference to the arrangements for giving transfers, there was a general rejoicing. The citizens are well satisfied with the proposed new departure. While there are many who would prefer to have the transfer point at the depot, still the new order of things is quite satisfactory. At some future time it is hoped that the cars will run through to Plainfield without change. The citizens feel that the mass meeting resulted to good advantage all around. When the new order of things is to go into effect is the question.

George Schenck, the well-known and popular grocer, sustained a painful accident yesterday. He had just finished cutting a piece of pork for a customer and in laying aside the sharp knife it caught in the counter in such a manner as to catch the index finger of his right hand, which was cut quite severely. The wound bled very freely. Dr. Brakely was summoned, but being absent from town, the services of Dr. Currie were secured, and he skillfully dressed the injured hand. The cut extends about two inches and was quite deep. Altough Mr. Schenck is somewhat disabled, he is still able to attend to business.

The Call appeared this week in an enlarged form. Editor Day took occasion to issue a souvenir number in honor of the Call's seventh birthday. It was a handsome sheet and is creditable to its publisher. The Call is a sprightly, healthy youngster and gives evidence of being a prosperous journal.

O. M. Hetfield's eighty-first birthday was celebrated Tuesday by a gathering of friends at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter S. Melick, of Alton.

Miss Bolton has returned from a visit with friends in Somerville, and is now making a short visit with her sister, Mrs. P. Harmon, of Fourth street.

Thomas Costello yesterday filled Charles Tilton's place as switchman, while John McMann took Costello's place at the round house.

Miss Smith and Mrs. H. V. Harris, of New Brunswick, are spending a few days with Mrs. Brown, of Mountain avenue.

Master Ralph Cummings, of Jersey City, spent Wednesday with Miss Minnie VanMiddlesworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning Randolph, of Piscataway, are the guests of Mrs. A. N. Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Staats are entaining their grandson from New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stover made a visit to New Brunswick yesterday.

Harry Miller, of Newark, spent Wednesday in town with friends.

Mr. Keller, of Somerville, was a visitor in town Thursday.

Miss Virginia Tunison is spending a week at Asbury Park.

John Runyon visited friends in New Brunswick Wednesday.

A. N. Randolph spent Wednesday in Piscataway.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—The next of the church excursions to Asbury Park will go Thursday of next week. It will be that of the Plainfield and Dunellen Methodist churches.

—Wednesday evening the Junker's Yachting Club, of this city, entertained a number of their young women friends with a moonlight boat ride on New Market lake.

—Residents in the vicinity of Hyde's pond have reason to complain of the many young men that visit the pond and insist on bathing there in a nude condition. They also use indecent language and make a nuisance of themselves.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 21.—The dance and prize cake-walk held at Emery's pavilion last evening, was the most successful affair held in the garden since it was opened to the public. The event of the evening was the prize cake walk which was to come off at 11 o'clock. When the hour finally arrived and the floor cleared there was found to be two entries for the walk, Michael Higgins and lady and Charley Messersmith and lady. Each couple had their friends present to encourage them on towards winning the $5 which had been offered by Mr. Emery. Mr. Higgins and Miss Annie Hart were awarded the prize by the judges and the decision met with the approval of the large crowd present. Dancing was resumed again until 11:30, which is the time Mr. Emery has set for the closing of the garden.

According to the New York Times Augustus D. Shepard who resides at Scotch Plains, brother of the late Elliott F. Shepard, is to be congratulated on his double victory over the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Manhattan Railway Company. Mr. Shepard sued the Railwoy Company and got judgment for about $115,000. Then the Western Union Co. claimed that the $115,000 should be paid over to it, because it was the former owner of the Shepard property. First Judge Mattice decided in favor of the Western Union Co., and then, on a reargument, he decided in favor of Mr. Shepard. W. G. Peckham, of Westfield, was Mr. Shepard's lawyer and Edward C. Jones represented the Telegraph Co. Ex-U. S. District Attorney Mitchell and Michael Cardoze also appeared in the case.

Rev. Mr. Daniels, D. D., associate pastor of Dr. Judson's church, of New York, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

The Literary Club, of the Methodist church held one of their interesting weekly meetings in the church last evening.

Fred Smith, of the Central Hotel, has been detained at home for several days on account of illness.

Arthur Chapin intending entering one or two of the bicycle races to be held at Waverly Labor Day.

Mrs. T. M. Paff, Jr., has returned from a ten days' visit with relatives in Delaware.

Miss Florence Wade is spending a few days with her aunt at Lyons Farms.

Charles French, of Westfield, visited friends in town last evening.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 21.—Mrs. Alice Smith, who, as told in yesterday's Press, frightened the people of Broad street by throwing stones at them, was taken to the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains yesterday morning by Overseer of the Poor Fred. C. Decker and Constable George Peck. The woman fought almost all the way there and Mr. Decker says that hereafter crazy people will be cared for by someone else besides him unless they are placed in straight-jackets.

Miss Rosemary Baum, of Boston, who has been visiting her cousin, Frank J. Hubbard and wife, of this city, returned home yesterday.

It's a Satisfaction

when shopping to have great variety to choose from, that's the charm of shopping here. From a stock like ours there's splendid choosing. To find the goods you want at prices less than you expect to pay is a satisfaction, too—It's a satisfaction to us that we can and do serve you so well. These few items will illustrate:

Plaid Silk Shirt Waists $1.00.

Washable silk waists—pure silk—the wearable kind, in pretty checks and plaids, scarcely two alike, cool and comfortable to look at and to wear, sizes 32 to 38. Of course they were not made to sell for $1.00, the material cost much more. You won't find them here after tomorrow.

Our Sailor Hats

are different from what you see up and down the street. Our hats have the clear cut, sharp square lines, which the best style requires. They are made by men hatters. A manufacturer has just sent us fifty dozen of a handsome satin face Jumbo straw, black and navy bands, a 75c quality to be sold tomorrow at..... 31C

Shirt Waist Selling

goes on lively here, we have the assortment, we have the sizes, we have them cheaper, too, than anywhere else. Good cambric waists as low as 25c, fine choosing at 49c and 59c, handsomely trimmed waists $1.00, white lawn and dimity waists, pretty, cool and comfortable, 89c, 98c and $1 25.

New Felt Golf Hats.

Call them what you may, they are just as appropiate for the mountain, seashore, the wheel or the promenade. We have some dashing shapes in pearl, navy, brown or cardinal, priced at $1.89 to $4.98, one special lot is of pearl gray, bound with white and white silk around the crown, and large knot, 2 quills, a becoming shape, priced at..... $1.69

A Ribbon Purchase of Great Magnitude.

We have just purchased from an importer his entire stock of fancy ribbons. The lot consists of two thousand, two hundred and forty-two pieces and the price is just one-third the actual value as prices range today. The variety and extent of the purchase must be seen to be fully appreciated. Almost every conceivable kind and color is here. The widths range from 1½ to 8 inches and a large percentage of them are in the widths most suitable for sashes and belts that are so much sought after at this time. Many of the kinds are represented by but one or two pieces of a kind and an early selection is important.

The lots are divided as follows:

Lot No. 1,

10c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 1½ to 3½ inches, some suitable for shirring, others fancy plaids, stripes and Roman effects. Not one yard of the ribbon in the lot worth less than 15c, and the value of the majority of the lot is 25c.

Lot No. 2,

15c the Yard.

Ribbons varying in width from 2 to 4½ inches. A bewildering assortment of plaids, stripes, gauze and plain colors. Many of this lot have the shirring cord. The values range from 25c to 40c the yard.

Lot No. 3,

25c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 3 to 8 inches in every conceivable color combination and style. Values range from 40c to $1.00 the yard.

2d Floor.

Special Sale of Women's Dress Skirts at Half Value.

25c—Women's Crash Skirts, worth 75c.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Schweiz.

Bern. Am Goldenhorn im Kienthal wurde dieser Tage von einem Wildhüter von Frutigen ein Adlerfang ausgeführt. Der Jäger mußte an einem Seile etwa 40 Fuß tief hinabgelassen werden bis zu einem Felsvorsprung, auf dem sich der Horst mit zwei Jungen befand, die gerade ein junges Gemsziklein zu verzehren sich anschickten. Das alte Adlerpaar hatte der Jäger zuvor weggeschossen; doch wurde er nur des einen der alten Adler, der zwei Meter Spannweite aufwies, habhaft; der andere war in die Schründe gefallen und nicht zu erlangen.

Zürich. Der gemischte Gesangverein „Harmonie" in Zürich trägt sich anläßlich der Feier seines im Jahre 1901 stattfindenden 60jährigen Jubiläums mit großen Plänen. Er will einen internationalen Sängerwettstreit veranstalten, zu welchem in erster Reihe solche Männergesangvereine eingeladen werden sollen, welche den Kunstgesang pflegen.

Luzern. Einer der bekanntesten freisinnigen Politiker der Schweiz, Alt-Nationalrath Dr. Weibel, ein tüchtiger Advokat und einer der Führer der altkatholischen Bewegung, ist in Luzern im Alter von 53 Jahren verstorben.

St. Gallen. Bei der Volksabstimmung wurde das Gesetz betreffend das Bestattungswesen mit 22,800 gegen 13,000 Stimmen verworfen. Zu diesem Ergebniß trug wesentlich die Abneigung der Ultramontanen gegen die Kremation bei, die die Gesetzesvorlage erlaubte.

Tessin. Laut einem kürzlich veröffentlichten Bericht haben die Grenzwächter der Eidgenossenschaft im Jahre 1898 auf ihren Streiftouren im Val Colla, auf dem Monte Caprino, im Muggiothal und besonders im Alto Malcantone (zwischen dem Agnothal und dem italienischen Vedascathal) über 13,000 Fallen und sonstige Fangvorrichtungen für Singvögel zerstört. Leider sehen die Behörden des Kantons Tessin der Uebertretung des eidgenössischen Vogelschutzgesetzes ganz gleichgiltig zu.

Genf. Der bayerische Athlet Josef Schleich, aus Etling bei Weilheim gebürtig, der erst seit kurzer Zeit unter dem Namen „Mister Mirano" an verschiedenen ausländischen Varietes auftrat, büßte in Genf bei Vollführung eines seiner Haupttricks sein Leben ein. Dieser bestand im Tragen beziehungsweise Heben eines Klaviers mit zwei Spielern, und wurde ihm hierbei, in Folge unrichtiger Balance, der Brustkorb eingedrückt.

In ihrem Besitz fand man noch eine größere Anzahl falscher 2-Markstücke vor.

BRAVERY OF YANKEE TARS.

Their Behavior When in the Midst of a Lively Engagement.

A half-naked man, sticking his head out of the forward eight-inch gun turret on the Brooklyn, to get a breath of fresh air, said to me, as a couple of big shells whistled over our heads and struck the water beyond: "Funny song they sing, sir," and then disappeared,—says a writer in Leslie's Weekly.

In the two hot engagements in which I have watched the fighters closely I have never seen anything indicative of fear. True, everybody has a curious sensation as the first few shells of the enemy whistle overhead, and when one strikes, with its frightful explosion, you look around anxiously for an instant. If the smoke is cleared from your ship, you will see a puff of smoke from a battery ashore. Then, just as you have forgotten the smoke, about three seconds later, you hear a sound like a swarm of bees humming over your head. Pretty soon the shells begin to come faster and faster. They drop in the water on both sides of you. One hits the military mast, and the debris of steel and rope and wood comes tumbling about you. You look up wonderingly, but give it merely an instant's thought. Then your mind reverts to the terrible roar of your own guns, and then comes the single idea of keeping outside the radius of fire, not of the enemy's guns but those on your own ship, equally dangerous to your safety, the preservation of your ear-drums, and your life.

I stood by Commodore Schley's side, with Flag Lieutenant Sears, during the first two bombardments of Santiago, and we all found ourselves absolutely forgetful of peril, watching the shots from different turrets, and telling the gunners whether to depress or raise the muzzle of the gun. We kept accurately the time of all movements, of opening fire, of good shots, of silenced batteries, and of "cease firing." The balls whistled about you with a nasty whine, as if they deplored not being able to hit you, but half the time the roar of the fusillade of your own ships drowns the complaint of the enemy's missiles. You experience at first a strange feeling of enjoyment, not unmixed with terror. Then you grow animated, and discover a peculiar sort of charm in the danger and in the game of life or death.

A Pen Picture of Admiral Dewey.

While we were at Cavite, Admiral Dewey visited us. He came on Sunday morning while we were at quarters for inspection, and his barge was alongside almost before we knew it, writes Cadet Sargent of U. S. S. Monadnock. He inspected the divisions and, of course, we all had a good look at him. His appearance was not at all as I had imagined it. I had gathered from his photograps that he was a very small, thin-skinned, sharp featured, high strung man, and I had always had difficulty in associating him in that form with the great fame he has gained. I shall never be troubled in that way again. He is a man of average size—at least he is not noticeably small and in his whole aspect there is no trace of nervousness, irritability or eccentricity of any sort. He does not appear in the least pompous or self conscious. As he walked through the ranks of my division, there was nothing in his manner, in his voice or in his eyes when he looked at you that gave any sign that he thought we considered him anything more than a casual visitor on the ship; whereas he must have known that we all looked at him as perhaps the greatest man we had ever seen.

He stoops a very little in his walk; but it is not a scholarly stoop nor a stoop incident to age, by any means; nor does it detract from his personal appearance nor from the idea that he is a commander of men. His step is very firm and he looks strong and active. His face is wrinkled but not disagreeably; the wrinkles are either caused by care or designed to be there by nature; they certainly were never traced by ill temper or nervous worry. His eyes are gray and very steady and his forehead is high.

The impression that I gained, and I do not think it is an impression that will be readily effaced, is that he is a man of kindly disposition, deep intellect and broad firm character—a man who is naturally great and who will bear his laurels modestly, now that an accident of time and position has enabled him to prove his greatness.

"Old Glory" in the Trenches.

The days that followed July 3 were filled with innummerable visits to the Spanish lines under flags of truce, says "Scribner's Magazine." To the men in the pits, who knew nothing of the exigencies of diplomacy, these virgin flags were as offensive as those of red are to the bull. The men had placed their own flags along the entire line of trenches, and though they afforded the enemy a perfect target and fixed our position as clearly as buoys mark out a racecourse, the men wanted the flags there, and felt better at seeing them there, and so there they remained. The trenches formed a horseshoe curve five miles in length, and the entire line was defiantly decorated with our flags When they fluttered in the wind at full length and the sun kissed their colors, they made one of the most inspiring and beautiful pictures of the war.

The men would crouch for hours in the pits with these flags rustling above them, and felt well repaid for their service; but when they saw crawling across the valley below the long white flag of truce their watchfulness seemed wasted, their vigilance became a farce and they mocked and scoffed at the white flag bitterly. These flags were sent in so frequently that the men compared them to the different war extras of a daily paper, and would ask, "Has that 10 o'clock edition gone in yet?" and "Is this the baseball edition coming out now, or is it an extry?"

One of the regulars said to me in great perplexity: "I can't make out this flag of truce gag. It reminds me of two kids in a street fight, stopping after every punch to ask the other fellow if he's had enough. Why don't we keep at it until somebody gets hurted?"

One of the cowboys of the Rough Riders expressed the same idea in professional phraseology.

"Now that we got those Mexicans corralled," he said, "why don't we brand them?"

QUEER ADVERTISEMENTS.

Some Awkwardly Worded Notices Found in Newspapers.

"No person," wrote an imaginative undertaker, "ever having tried one of these air-tight coffins of ours will ever use any other."

This is supplemented by the truthful but discouraging advertisement of a dentist: "Teeth extracted with great pains."

A western farmer advertises for a woman to "wash, iron and milk two cows."

An advertisement once appeared in a Washington paper for "a room for a young man 10 by 12."

This is an advertisement from the columns of an English court journal: "Blankets! Blankets! Blankets! For domestic and charitable purposes of every description, quality, size and weight."

The following advertisement is from an Australian paper: "Wanted, a young woman (the plainer the better) to help a small genteel family in their domestic matters; one without ringlets preferred."

An American paper published in Paris recently contained the following unique advertisement: "A young man of agreeable presence, and desirous of getting married, would like to make the acquaintance of an aged and experienced gentleman who could dissuade him from taking the fatal step."

Here is a specimen of domestic advertising from the columns of the London Times: "Mrs. George Ashton, 5 Victoria street, Westminster, takes this opportunity of thanking her numerous friends for their kind letters of sympathy on the dissolution of her marriage."

The court of Schleswig-Holstein once issued the following curious notice: "At the request of Herr Peter Lohman of Altona, the seaman Dietrich Lohman, who was born in Kirchmoor in November, 1848, and was drowned on the journey from Stockton to Hamburg while sailing in the ship Bertha Jenny, is hereby called upon to appear before this court and report himself on or before Friday, January 20, 1893, at 11 o'clock p. m., under pain of being declared dead."

China's First Railway.

The first railroad constructed in China was a narrow-gauge line from Shanghai to Woosung, put down in 1876, and intended chiefly as an ocular demonstration to the Chinese. At the end of twelve months it was sold to a Chinese official, who straightway tore up the rails and deported them to Formosa. The single dummy engine of the line now reposes peacefully in the mud of some Formosan harbor, together with the wreck of the junk in which it was transported. During these twelve months of its existence the Shanghai-Woosung railroad, with its single dummy engine and its train of small cars, which, by the way, were of the American pattern, carried 300,000 passengers. The Chinese came from far and wide to see and experiment with this new barbarian curiosity, and the people in the neighborhood, soon finding it an institution of great practical utility, became regular patrons. The predicted uprising of the people against the construction of the road never materialized, and, as for the graves along the route, every farmer would manufacture as many graves as he could get dollars for permission to traverse them.

The Boys Were Accommodating.

A Princeton professor, being troubled by tardiness at the morning lecture, on the part of some of the students, advised them, when they complained that they had to study so hard at night that they could not arise early, to get alarm clocks. The next day nearly every student in the class came into recitation with an alarm clock in his pocket, which by patient and united efforts were set so that one would go off promptly at every successive minute of the hour. The effect can be imagined. Shortly after the first student was called to recite one of the clocks in the pocket of a boy at the other end of the room went off with a terrible clamor, and before it had finished a second in another part of the room made even a louder racket. There was a brief interval which the professor utilized to call up another student, but the latter was scarcely on his feet before the third clock went off. The performance was continued for half an hour or more, when the professor, who had a keen sense of humor, recognized the situation and cut short the fun by terminating the recitation.

A Model Republic.

Switzerland is the least illiterate as well as the most truly prosperous country in the world. She is, in fact, the only republic, for the people make the laws. Her government is of the people. In Switzerland, to work with your hands is honorable—manual training for both boys and girls is a part of the public school system. Switzerland has no navy, for the same reason that Bohemia has not, and while every man is a soldier, yet three weeks' service every year is only a useful play spell. In Switzerland there is no beggardom and little vice. Everywhere life and property are safe. The people are healthy and prosperous and happy.

Rulers of Denmark.

For centuries the rulers of Denmark have been alternately a Frederick and a Christian. This is the law, that a King Christian must be succeeded by a King Frederick, and then comes a King Christian again. In view of this law, every Danish prince has among his other names both Frederick and Christian.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Suggestions For the Household—A Pretty Costume.

Papered walls may be cleaned with stale French bread—that is, bread which contains no grease, care being taken that it is not dry enough to scratch the paper. The bread must be cut in thick slices and rubbed downward from top to bottom of the wall, the crust being held in the hand.

In giving an elaborate dinner, a new idea is to have two menus, one for the dinner proper, the other for the dessert.

GIRL'S COSTUME.

The latter menu is presented just before the appearance of the dessert. There are all sorts of devices and designs for the decoration of menus, hand painted ones being the most elegant.

Lace, so lavishly employed throughout the wardrobe, now composes entire hats. The lace thus used is heavy and is stretched over a frame of fine, invisible wire, the trimming chosen being of the lightest and airiest descriptions.

The illustration given today shows a very pretty costume for a girl 12 years old. It is of lavender veiling, the skirt being gathered a little at the waist and trimmed with three narrow bias bands of dark blue surah, forming a point in front. The bodice, also gathered at the waist, has a bertha of white batiste embroidered in open designs and edged with lace, which frames a yoke of dark blue surah. The yoke is cut square at the neck. The cravat of blue surah has lace ends, and the half length sleeves are finished with a frill of lace. The sash belt is of blue surah. The lavender straw hat is trimmed with a knot of blue surah and a white plume. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER FABRICS.

Light and Clinging Goods In the Front of Favor.

This season is a season of triumph for soft, clinging fabrics. Flexible silks, crepes de chine, gauzes and mousselines de soie are seen in immense varieties of weave and color and compose exquisite gowns as light as a cobweb and exceedingly cool. Then there are albatross cloths, veiling and crepons to add to the list, while among wash fabrics the range of choice is bewilderingly large. Among the prettiest designs are fine nainsooks in mixed plaids of the most delicate tones—rose, turquoise, lemon, pale green and lavender—which could not be surpassed in dainty coloring. If ribbons are used in these plaid costumes, plain ribbons are preferable to plaid ones, plaid ribbons, on the contrary, appearing to better advantage with plain goods.

VEILING GOWN.

Printed cotton muslins and batistes show attractive floral designs, usually of a rambling character, covering the ground rather than dotting it.

An illustration is given which shows a gown of violet veiling. It is cut in the princess style, with a slight train, and crosses over to the left side, where it closes. Around the foot of the skirt is a band of white cloth with violet applications, the band mounting half way up the left side. There is a large plastron of guipure de venise which is surrounded by a fichu drapery of violet mousseline de soie trimmed with a double plaiting. The plaited collar is of violet veiling. A gold buckle fastens the fichu at the waist, and the sleeves are plain. The hat, of white straw, is trimmed with violet ribbon, a jeweled buckle and yellow flowers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SECOND LADY IN THE LAND.

She Defeated the British Ambassador in a Fight for Precedence.

Mrs. Hobart, the wife of the Vice-President has won a great social triumph. Sir Julian Pauncefote has given up his contention that as the personal representative of the Queen of England he should have precedence over the Vice-President. Obeying instructions from London, he called on Vice-President Hobart and hereafter will occupy the second place at dinners where Mr. Hobart is a guest.

Heretofore the representative of her Britanic majesty in this country, has claimed precedence over every official in this country except the President. As the representative of Queen Victoria he claimed the right of the place of honor next to the president of the United States. While this claim has always been disputed yet at the same time it has been acquiesced in especially by those giving dinner parties and who desired the presence of the British ambassador. Sir Julian carried the point so far that he declined to pay the first visit to the vice president. Vice President Stevenson followed the custom as he had found it and left his card at the English embassy before the representative of the queen called upon him.

MRS. HOBART.

Vice-President Hobart and his plucky wife, backed by an immense fortune, as well as by the president, refused to do this, and even went farther to claim the place of honor at the right of a hostess who might be giving a dinner at which both he and Sir Julian were invited. Several times last spring the British ambassador asked for a diagram of the table at which he was expected to sit, and when he found the name of the vice-president preceding his, declined the invitation. The matter became so embarrassing that President McKinley was called into the dispute. He and Mr. Hobart agreed to leave the matter to the English foreign office and to abide by its decision. Through a private correspondence between President McKinley and Ambassador Hay, the matter was laid in an unofficial way before the British foreign office, with the result that Vice-President Hobart's contention was sustained.

An Awful Possibility.

A Philadelphia physician is getting himself disliked by a recent statement which he made to the effect that one out of every three women in the City of Brotherly Love is adorned with a mustache. He says the proportion would undoubtedly be larger if many women did not take the trouble to eradicate the unwelcome growth. A German scientist has also been making investigations along the same line, and comes out with the startling statement that mustaches are much more common among women of the present day than those of the past. He says in Constantinople, among the unveiled women, one out of every ten possesses an unmistakable covering of down on the upper-lip, and in Spain the same fact is noticeable.

Eminent French Widows.

Among eminent French widows, one of the most active is Mme. Michelet, who is bringing out a new edition of her husband's histories and editing his memoirs. Mme. Alexander Dumas refuses to permit the publication of any of her husband's manuscripts, and Mme. Gounod steadily opposes the performance of any of the composer's early works. Mme. MacMahon and Mme. Carnot have both declined the pensions offered by the state. Mme. Pasteur's pension is five thousand dollars a year and Mme. de Lesseps receives a pension of twenty-four thousand dollars a year from the Suez Canal Company.

A German New Woman.

There is nothing like general conservatism in a country to bring out radical ideas. Germany is notably a country of home-keeping women, and yet one of these supposed homekeepers has undertaken a work which outranks anything done by the women of America. Frau Nascha Butze, it is said, has rented the Neues Theater, in Berlin, for ten years, and is to conduct it herself. She intends to pay a motherly attention to the amusements of the young woman in the family comedies to be produced under her management.

A Rarity Indeed.

An English paper has unearthed a successful woman poultry farmer. After spending upward of $5,000 she has not only got the receipts to cover the expenditure, but has realized a profit. She trusses with her own hands the 350 fowls which are sold every week, and attends markets for the purpose of buying birds.

She is a Successful Druggist.

Miss Cora Dow, of Cincinnati, is the proprietor of four successful drug stores in that city.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Honoring the Lord's day.—Ex. xx, 8-11; Rev. i, 10.

One of the most vital questions of Christianity today is that of "honoring the Lord's day." If is being dishonored more and more. The enemies of Christianity disregard and denounce it, and, what is worse, the professed friends of Christ are neglecting to keep it holy and sacred to God, and many even claim that it was only a commandment to the Jews and abrogated by Christ with the symbols and ceremonies of Judaism. Such a claim is preposterous. Man's body, mind and soul need the Sabbath day as much as ever they did. The Sabbath was an eternal institution and no distinctive part of Judaism alone, being instituted centuries before Abraham or Moses was born. That Christ did not do away with the Sabbath is proved by the fact that He kept it Himself. At Nazareth on the Sabbath day He went to the synagogue, "as His custom was." That man would be prone to forget this day God realized, for He began the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day." We are commanded to remember what we are likely to forget.

That we should honor the Sabbath day scarcely needs proof. (1) We should do so in imitation of God. God rested on the Sabbath day and hallowed it. We should therefore, in imitation of God, rest on and hallow the Sabbath day. (2) We should honor the Sabbath because God commands us to do so. He Himself has commanded us to "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." To refuse to do so is to break a solemn command of God. (3) We should honor the Sabbath, as God requires, for our own sakes. We need the rest and the opportunity for worship of God and communion with God. (4) We lose nothing by giving this day to God. Six days of manna in the wilderness, provided for seven days' necessity. In the providence of God six days' labor will provide for seven days' existence, and thus He has made it possible to keep this day without loss or injury to our temporal well being in any way.

God Himself has told us how to honor this day. It is to be hallowed, to be kept holy and sanctified. We are to rest from physical labors, but rest is not the end, but only the means to the end. Rest is necessary that the day may be sanctified. Thousands of laborers are incapacitated from making this a hallowed day because they are not allowed to rest from their labors. John was in the Spirit on the Lord's day. Rev. i, 10. Let us be in the Spirit on that day, and we will keep it holy and sacred, and will, like John, receive visions of God and of heaven.

Bible Readings.—Gen. ii, 1, 2; Ex. xvi, 14-30; xxiii, 12; xxxi, 12-18; xxxiv, 21; Lev. xxv, 1-7; Num. xv, 32-36; Deut. v, 12-14; Neh. x, 31; xiii, 15; Isa. lviii, 13, 14; Jer. xvii, 21-27; Mark ii, 23-28; Luke iv, 16.

How Is Christ Misunderstood?

Christ is misunderstood in several different ways—first, by failing to study and compare His teachings. We read them separately and remember them in a degree, but fail to realize that they ought also to be studied side by side and in their mutual relations. Sometimes we draw from them a meaning different from that which He put into them, because we fail to appreciate their oriental character and the proper value of the circumstances in which they were uttered. Sometimes we take them without trying to grasp their meaning, and are content with a superficial understanding. Sometimes we forget that He was not a teacher of dogmatic truth, and came less to erect a system of theology than to illustrate and recommend a certain type of character and life.—Congregationalist.

Mistaken Sincerity.

Sincerity is an admirable thing in its proper place. But sincere persons often mistake when they think that because a truth is obnoxious it ought therefore to be spoken. We saw yesterday a man with the nose of Cyrano de Bergerac. A truthful and very obnoxious statement might have been made to him concerning it, but it would have been neither courteous nor timely. Timely truths may be unpopular, but it does not follow that unpopularity is a sign of timeliness.—Christian Register.

When We Love Christ.

More I can neither wish, nor pray, nor desire for you than Christ, singled and chosen out from all things, even though wearing a crown of thorns. I am sure the saints are at best but strangers to the might and worth of the incomparable excellence of Christ. We know not half of what we love when we love Christ.—American Friend.

Surmounting Difficulties.

Surmount difficulties by the help of other difficulties as the sailor "tacks" his boat and the boy raises his kite against head winds.—Christian Standard.

Make Room For Me.

We built a castle, she and I together,
Not like those we read about in fairy tales,
With dingy rooms or dungeons, halls and turrets,
Withstanding boldly wars and wintry gales.

'Twas fashioned like a very humble cottage,
On a hilltop, in a shady grove of trees,
Where flowers bloomed in beauty at its doorway
And cast their sweetness on the summer breeze.

We furnished it with fairest dreams and fancies,
We put our life and hope within its walls,
But, like blocks, which childish fingers fashion,
Too high, the crumbling ruin round us falls.

We waited—yes, we waited; we were patient,
Trusting that our castle in the air
Would not always float so far beyond us,
But descend to earth and settle there.

Our bleeding hearts cry out amid the darkness,
Why, oh, why, must every joy depart?
But to each there comes a solemn answer,
"My child, make room for Me within thy heart."

—Philadelphia Ledger.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 23, "Honoring the Lord's Day." Text, Ex. xx, 8-11; Rev. i, 10.

"I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day."

There is no moral quality in time or places. Holiness is a quality of personal character. It arises from the recognition of moral obligations and the disposition to faithfully observe them. The person who turns from evil with abhorrence of feeling and adheres to truth and goodness with joyous loyalty possesses holiness of heart. If, now, he carries out this impulse to purity in his actions and words, he becomes holy in life.

To know the right and to maintain the heart life in constant obedience to God and keep all acts of mind and body in subjection to His law, one must have times for quiet thinking. He must search the Book which contains the law and promises. Time is needed to think over the past, recalling what has been said and done, what has been thought and felt, and compare all with the rules laid down in the Bible for our guidance. This cannot be done in the midst of noise and confusion. Even in family worship it cannot be fully accomplished. Consultation with others will clear up many points on which we have doubts, but nothing else can replace private meditation on God's word and our own condition and conduct. No life can long be maintained on right lines which does not have these quiet times of self examination and divine upbuilding.

It is wise to have special time devoted to this retirement and worship. Such times become holy because of the quality imparted to them by the person. The same time may to another be merely secular or unholy. So of places; it is well to have a particular place where one meets God in a peculiar and special manner. Such places are made holy by the fact of personal use for this purpose. To another one the place has no mark to distinguish it from any other place. Holiness is in the heart and life of the man. Places and times are holy only as he uses them to draw closer to God.

To him who has eyes and ears to see and hear all times and all places are filled with God's presence and glory and he hears God constantly and feels His presence continually, and so all days are Sabbath and all spots are sanctuary.

The needs of physical existence oblige days of toil for food, shelter and clothing. If all days had to be spent in labor, it would dwarf if it did not destroy the soul powers. Body, brain and soul need rest from the dull round of work. We must rest or die. One of the most wonderful facts disclosed in the history of the race is that those people who have kept one day in seven sacred from secular toil and devoted to the worship of God have not only become stronger and richer and purer in moral and religious life, but have also in worldly possessions accumulated far more than those who have worked all days alike. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy" should be woven into the constitution of every boy and girl in this land until it can no more be lost to sight and no more violated in practice than the scarlet bands can be left out of the flag without destroying it.

How do you use the Sabbath days? Do you make them holy days to keep you into a broader, deeper, purer life or as holidays to dissipate thought and care and good resolution?

A Conference League President.

Lay delegation in the general conference and the Epworth League have combined to develop many of the young men of Methodism in religious work and to make them more widely known as well as to enlarge their circle of acquaintance. Among these is J. E. C. Farnham, Esq., of Providence, who was delegate from the New England southern conference to the last general conference and during the last year was conference League president. He is a prominent business man in the capital city of Rhode Island, carrying on an extensive printing business. Born on the island of Nantucket in 1849, one of a family of 12 children, he has, since 13 years of age, been obliged to make his own way. Converted at 16 years of age, he has passed through most of the offices in the Methodist church, been class leader, steward, trustee, Sunday school superintendent. In the Social union of the city, in Y. M. C. A. work, as school committeeman and superintendent of schools, he has been influential in shaping affairs secular and ecclesiastical. Methodism has done much for him, and he will do all he can for Methodism and Christ.

J. E. C. FARNHAM, ESQ.

No one ever came to a deep appreciation of genuine manhood who did not desire to have considerable time in solitude to know himself and become acquainted with God.

Some people who like good company never dare be left long alone.

DON'T.

Don't get the bighead—it will cost you too much for hats.

Don't yawn when your employer is telling an alleged funny story.

Don't neglect to know a little more than you let people think you know.

Don't use a gallon of words in expressing a teaspoonful of thought.

Don't air the faults of other people until you have renovated your own.

Don't think all the medical students are snobs because they cut people dead.

Don't despise little things. The mosquito is more bother than the elephant.

Don't think because men were born to rule and women to obey that they always do.

Don't employ a physician who recommends a change—and then takes all you have left.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Snake charmers ought to make excellent bartenders.

The tongue of liberty usually belongs to a married woman.

A thing of comfort is seldom a joy to the woman of fashion.

Some men are worth more than others and some are worth-less.

Reformers should devote more of their time to reforming reforms.

Unless a man possesses self-control he is little better than a slave.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Preparations are making for a big century run out of Elizabeth on August 13. Any bicyclist may enter by paying an entrance fee. The run is to go through Westfield, as the route is as follows: Elizabeth to Newark, to Springfield, to Westfield, to Bound Brook, back, to Elizabeth, to Rahway, to Perth Amboy, to New Brunswick, to Plainfield, to Elizabeth. The managers of the run are Harry Burk, John H. Haynes, Osward L. Laycock, Jans Aaker

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—VanArsdale's ad tells about men's shoes today. Read it. His advertisements quote facts, and that's what the people like.

—The chief attraction at Crosby & Hill's department store tomorrow will be a special sale of fancy imported ribbons at just one-third the actual value. A cash purchase of these goods from a large importing house of twenty-two thousand, four hundred and twenty yards makes a display and affords a selection perhaps never before seen in a Plainfield store.

Helping Himself to Vegetables.

It is reported in the borough that the police are looking for a man named Lewis, otherwise known as "Jumbo" Lewis. This well-known dusky brave has been in trouble before, and this time it is said that he has been helping himself to choice vegetables at the home of Charles W. McCutchen, in Washington Park. He is said to have made several visits to the garden, and at last he was discovered going away with some of the vegetables. The matter has been reported to the borough marshals and they are looking for the man.

Drs. Luckey and Emerson, of this city, are at Asbury Park attending the annual convention of dentists.

J. A. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard and daughter, Dorothy, of this city, left yesterday for Belmar, where they will remain for a few weeks.

turned his own revolver toward his breast and walked backward for some distance, while the others followed up. Not wishing to harm him or see him deliberately take his own life they appealed to him to forbear his resistance and submit to legal authority.

To these appeals he turned a deaf ear until at an opportune moment the officers grabbed and overpowered him. During the scuffle the Sheriff's revolver was discharged, but the bullet did not strike either of the men. Darling was handcuffed and brought to the county jail that evening. When the officers drove into town with their prisoner it was but a few minutes until there were different reports in circulation on the streets about the man and his crimes. One man thought he must be a terrible desperado from the manner in which he was brought to town, and in describing the same said his hands were chained to the back of the seat; a log chain was fastened around his ankles and to the front axle; a bull rope was wrapped around his neck and tied to the buggy top; the District Attorney was sitting on his lap and the Sheriff beside him with both arms locked around his body, holding him in a tender embrace.

These reports were all found to be untrue and upon inquiry we found that after his arrest he had been treated kindly but firmly by the officers on the road to jail he became resigned to his fate and was quite jocular and conversant. When we called at the jail to see him he refused to talk about the trouble he was in, saying that later we would learn the situation of the affair. We found him to be a young man of more than ordinary intelligence and one who does not display the least sign of criminality on his countenance. If he shot Harry Dunham, we cannot think he did it in cold blood. It is whispered that the crime was committed during a drunken brawl. Darling is a telegraph operator and it is said comes from a good family. Officers are on their way to take him back to New Jersey, where he will be tried and receive just punishment for the crime he has committed.

BICYCLISTS ENTERTAINED.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Give a Welcome to Out-of-Town Visitors.

The bicycle club of the Y. M. C. A. entertained a large number of wheelmen from the Summit, Rahway and New Brunswick Y. M. C. A.'s last evening. The small hall was used, where ice cream and cake were served. An impromptu literary programme was rendered, consisting of songs, speeches and recitations. The recitation of Eric Moraller in German dialect was a feature of the evening. It is expected that the local association will soon make a second run to all of the above associations.

Mrs. Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, is stopping at York Harbor, Me. Her daughter, Miss Edith Gilbert, has gone to Springfield, Mass., to spend some time.

NEW TROLLEY ROUTE.

Change in the Line From Fanwood to Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 21.—At the next meeting of the Township Committee the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railroad Company will ask for another franchise for their trolley line through the town. The route to be asked for now is as follows: From the Fanwood line near the Morse road through Brightwood avenue to Prospect street, to Elm street and down Elm street to Broad street. If this franchise is granted North avenue will not be used at all by the company and the cars of both lines will pass through the business section of the town and be of much benefit to the storekeepers. The poles for the wires are all up from Garwood to and on Summit avenue, and the work of laying rails is now going on near Central avenue. A. A. Gaddis, of the company, stated yesterday that the cars would be running between Cranford and Westfield just as soon as the rails were down. He also stated that the work on the line to Rahway was to be begun at once.

BAD FALL FROM A WHEEL.

George Moore Has Been Unconscious Since Wednesday Evening.

Last Wednesday evening while George Moore, of East Fifth street, in company with two or three friends, were wheeling homeward in the vicinity of the hill near Benner's roadhouse, he was thrown from his wheel and received injuries that are likely to prove serious. He sustained extensive contused wounds of the right side of the head and face. He was unconscious and up to the last report he has not regained his mind. Dr. Probasco was called after Mr. Moore was taken home, and he treated him properly, but has been unsuccessful in restoring him to consciousness. The result of his injury cannot be determined at this time.

No Cause for Action.

Justice Mosher this morning rendered a decision of no cause for action in the case in tort brought by Mrs. Kate Ford against Mrs. Agretta Maner for damages alleged to have been sustained on June 9th while she was leading her wheel near Cole's hill. J. P. D. Kirch appeared for the plaintiff and W. L. Hetfield for defendant. The court held that the plaintiff had exercised poor discretion and was guilty of contributory neglect.

Not Safe to Remove Quarantine.

Dr. Mitchell, secretary of the State Board of Health, was in this city this morning and went to the farm of Milkman Schenck, in whose milk was diphtheria germs which caused the disease to appear in this city. He found that there is still two cases of the malady in Schenck's family and he therefore refused to remove the quarantine put on the place.

Gypsy Reception Postponed.

John Harrison, head of the gypsy camp near Fanwood, writes to The Press to say that the great gathering of gypsies to have been held next Sunday, has been indefinitely postponed, because some of the visiting tribes cannot be present as expected.

Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, had their annual excursion yesterday to Boynton Beach. There was a large number of the members in attendance and everyone had a good time. They arrived home last evening about 9 o'clock.

Sewed as they Listened.

The Mizpah Sewing Circle met at Mrs. Randolph's home on Elmwood place, yesterday and had a very enjoyable time. While the members sewed one of the members entertained the others with various readings.

Colored Republicans.

The colored Republican's met at Washington hall last evening, but there were not a sufficient number present and an adjournment was taken to next Monday evening.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

sieged.

At last, Mattox decided that he delayed long enough and went to the front door. After a final appeal, he kicked in the door and made his way inside. No attempt was made to prevent him from removing the household goods. Soon they were heaped in the gutter. The wagons and other things stored in the barn were also removed and made a strange-looking barricade in front of the house.

The children sat about the piazza and played around the yard while the work of removal went on. They were allowed to remain there as long as they did not interfere. Mrs. McCarty remained inside the house and watched the work of removal, but never said a word.

Union County Orphans' Court.

IN MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF Jacob Blimm Administrator of William Blimm, DECEASED, FOR SALE OF LAND TO PAY DEBTS. } Order to Show Cause.

Jacob Blimm, Administrator of William Blimm, deceased, having exhibited to this Court under oath, a just and true account of the personal estate and debts of said deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and requested the aid of the Court in the premises; It is, on this nineteenth day of July, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, and real estate of said William Blimm, deceased, appear before the Court, at the Court House, in the City of Elizabeth, on the twentieth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments, and real estate of the said William Blimm, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay his debts, or the residue thereof, as the case may require. And it is further ordered that this order be set up and published in one of the newspapers of this State as by the Statute directed by the Court.

SLOT MACHINES HAVE DISAPPEARED.

Every Hotel Had the Gambling Devices.

NICKLE IN SLOT GAME.

A MANIA AMONG THE YOUNG MEN AND BOYS.

The Authorities Took a Hand and Ordered the Machines Removed—First Victory for the Citizens League in Its Efforts at Reformation and the Suppression of Immorality in Scotch Plains Village.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 22.—The slot machines, which have been conspicuous in the hotels of the borough, have suddenly disappeared. These machines have been a mecca for the hotel proprietors and an exciting diversion for the sporting fraternity. The machines were put in last fall by one Flynn from South Orange, who convinced the landlords that these gambling devices would prove a perfect Klondike to them.

In a measure this has been true, for the machines did a land office business. Five cent pieces were at a premium, there being a great demand for them by those possessed of the least particle of sporting blood. It is even said that business men were given 50 cents for nine nickles.

For some months playing the machines has been one of the favorite amusements at the local hotels, and day and night could be heard the whirl of the machines, with an occasional dropping of the few nickels when a player was fortunate. All kinds and conditions were to be seen, each one having its friends. Those sports who played the "Ben Hur" considered that machine more lucky than "The Owl" or some other make. But the Citizens' League, recently organized in town through the efforts of Rev. Gideon M. Shott, has finally taken a hand in putting a stop to the nefarious practice which is said to be clearly in violation of law. The mania for gambling had so seized the minds of the young men and boys that something had to be done to check the evil.

The county authorities were appealed to and in obedience to public sentiment were prompt to act. Thursday the machines disappeared from the hotels. What became of them is not known—they are simply not in evidence.

The hotelkeepers do not display any ill feeling against the authorities, but believe the new edict eminated from the Citizens' League, which is apparently wideawake notwithstanding that Rev. Mr. Shott, the prime factor in the reform movement and president of the league, is absent from town on his vacation. The removal of the nickel-in-the-slot machines may safely be called the first victory for the league in its efforts towards a reformation of the morals of Scotch Plains.

JUST COMMON WATER BUGS.

Entomologist Smith Says Nobody Need Fear "Strangling Bugs"

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 22—Professor John B. Smith, entomologist at the New Brunswick State Agricultural College, was shown a specimen of the "mysterious insects" which "fell in showers" at some of the South Jersey towns sexeral days ago.

The psofessor recognized the bug at once as the electric lightning bug, a common insect. He also said that the insect is identical with the "strangling bug" that is causing some timid people so much apprehension. Professor Smith said that he had examined several specimens of "strangling bugs," and in every instance they were electric lightning bugs. The bug is also known as the water bug, and Professor Smith said that he had yet to hear of their harming any one.

The Ocean Grove Chautauqua.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, N. J., July 22.—Interest in the Ocean Grove Assembly and Chautauqua grows stronger every day. Professor William A. Hutchinson, of Pennington Seminary, this morning gave the last of his series of lectures before the Normal Department. His subject was "Adjuncts of Sunday-school Work." In the Postgraduate Department. Professor John F. Clymer, D. D, lectured on "Final Things; Death Resurrection and Judgment." Professor O. G. J. Schadt, of Philadelphia, held a review of the work done in New Testament of Greek, in preparation for the examinations tomorrow. This afternoon Rev. George M. Brown, field secretary of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, conducted a Chautauqua round-table in conjunction with Professor B. B. Loomis.

SPENT THE NIGHT STANDING IN CELL.

Other Inhabitants Were Too Numerous to Suit Him.

PHILADELPHIAN IN JAIL.

WAS BOUND FOR NEW YORK TO WORK ON TROLLEY LINES.

Hard Times Compelled Him to Beat His Way Over the P. & R. Railroad—Arrested by Patrolman Myers—Creeping Ones so Thick He Dared Not Sit Down--Spent the Night Upright.

John Nelson bid his wife and children a hopeful farewell last evening, and announced his decision of going to New York to try for a place on the street cars. Nelson had been out of work for a month and it had made a sad hole in the family fund. In fact, he hadn't money to buy a ticket, so he climbed on the platform of one of the express cars on the New York train at the Philadelphia and Reading terminal and hid.

At Bound Brook some one saw him and telegraphed ahead to this city for a policeman. Patrolman Myers met the train as it rumbled into town at 2:14 o'clock this morning. Nelson was arrested on the charge of trespassing on the railroad property and locked up for the rest of the night in the city jail.

Nelson sank down on the bench in his cell as Myers passed out of the corridor. But he didn't stay there long. Out of every crack and cranny "they" came, the creeping and the crawling ones that have made Plainfield's city jail notorious. They had heard Nelson communing with himself about a place on the Brooklyn trolley cars.

"Scab," they hissed and whispered as they advanced. Now Nelson is a respectable man. The dire extremity of the situation had forced him to steal a ride, and he was not use to such acquaintances. He rose up at the sight. From that time until Roundsman Frederickson opened the cell door to lead Nelson before the City Judge at 9 o'clock, the prisoner stood.

He was tired, he told the officer, but he couldn't sit down with so many other occupants in the cell. He was a nice appearing man, modestly but neatly dressed and with an intellectual face. City Judge Runyon was impressed with his appearance and expressed regret to see him in such a position. He then suspended sentence and Nelson departed after thanking the Judge and Roundsman for their kindness. He said that he should not forget Plainfield in a hurry.

THROWN FROM A TRAIN.

Phillipsburg Boy Badly Hurt on the Central at Bound Brook.

A Phillipsburg, N. J., boy was a passenger on the excursion train from Easton, Pa., that passed through Plainfield this morning going east. At Bound Brook the young man was standing on the rear platform of the last car, and as the train made a sharp turn over a short curve the momentum of the train threw him off with considerable force. He was picked up by a man near the railroad station which was near to the place of the accident, and the injured boy was taken in the station. A physician was called and treated the boy properly. He sustained several cuts about the face and his right leg was cut very badly. The lad was conscious all of the time and did not seem to suffer any excrutiating pain, although he bled profusely and was very week.

Charged With Embezzlement.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 22.—Frederick E. Bent, for fifteen years chief bookkeeper of the Elizabeth branch of the Swift Beef Company of Chicago, was arrested Thursday charged with embezzlement. B. E. Perley, the company's auditor, made the complaint and alleged the shortage is $2,800. Bent, it is said, admitted that his books showed a shortage, but declared he had not used the money and that an investigation would prove him innocent. He is held in $1,000 bail for a hearing.

Fell Dead in His Bathroom.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 22'—Joseph W. Goddard, 60 years old, died suddenly at noon yesterday, in the bathroom of his home, in Reid street. The cause was heart disease. Mr. Goddard arrived in Elizabeth on last Monday, from Barbados.

Didn't Have a Light.

William Hyslep was arrested Thursevening by Patrolman Myers for riding his wheel without a light. He will appear before City Judge Runyon Monday morning.

ONCE A TAXPAYER NOW CITY PAUPER,

Sad Career of John McGee, of Plainfield.

DRIVEN EROM HIS HOME.

WAS STEADY AND INDUSTRIOUS WHILE IN TOWN.

Illness Ate Up His Meagre Savings and Now Bent and Crippled, He Has Been Compelled to Apply to the City for Aid—Been in and Around Plainfield for the Past Twelve Years.

After paying taxes to the city of Plainfield for years, John McGee has now returned to his old home, broken in health and fortune, to seek aid from the municipality that he once helped to support. Gaunt and feeble, he painfully climbed the steps to the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday morning, only to learn that he could not enter. Another journey, arduous indeed, to him, took him to the offices of Overseer-of-the-Poor Hansen and City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon. Then came rest and food at the Industrial Home on West Front street.

In low, halting speech, McGee told the story of his life and how he was now compelled to depend on the charity of others for even the bare necessities of life. McGee's parents were Scotch but, shortly before his birth, they moved to the north of Ireland where John was born. He had an older brother who, as they became older, became jealous of John and tried to lower him in the affections of the parents. At eighteen the home life had become so unbearable that the younger son set forth to see the World. Landing in Canada, he made his way to the United States and here has remained ever since.

It may have been there was some bright face at the old home that caused the rivalry between the brothers and that John never forgot it. At any rate he never married, but lived a sober industrious life, hardly knowing what a sick day was. He saved some money, and some twelve years ago he moved to Plainfield where he worked and enjoyed life in his own quiet way.

Then he began to wander forth again. His little hoarded store of money began to dwindle away until, in the hard times, it disappeared. He came back to Plainfied again and tried farm work a year ago. The dreaded malaria then caught him in its clutches. He was ill for eight months and what little he had managed to save since the hard time, disappeared and left him penniless.

When McGee first came to this section, he was a tall powerfully built man, strong as an ox, and with a physique to be admired. But what a change has come to pass. His clothes now hang loosly on the fleshless bones. He is bent and crippled and can barely walk. His cheeks are hollow and his eyes sunken. He looks what he is, the wreck of a powerful man.

He will spend some time at the Industrial Home until he has recovered his health sufficietly to go to work again. He is forty-four years old.

He has since heard that his father died suddenly and that his older brother immediately took possession of the estate, leaving nothing for him.

BABIES' CAMP FUND.

The Daily Press Sends Another Check for $29.

The Daily Press has forwarded a check for $29 to Mrs. H. M. Myers, treasurer of the Babies' Camp Fund of the City Union of the King's Daughters, which makes a total of $249.63 that has been raised through the columns of this paper.

The benefit of this money is now being appreciated by the poor little tots who are taken to the Camp every day and allowed to spend the day there enjoying the fresh air and pleasant rustic surroundings.

All applications for the city nurse or the use of the Babies' Camp should be sent to the King's Daughters' dispensary, 544 West Front street, or to Miss Blish, 695 West Seventh street. Telephone call 234.

Miss Louise S. Andrews, of Central avenue, a six-year-old Miss, has contributed $2 35 to The Daily Press fund. It was raised by holding a cake and ice cream sale.

The fund stands as follows today:

|---|---|
| Previously acknowledged and check sent to Mrs. H. M. Myers, treasurer | $249 50 |
| Miss Mamie Thatcher | 1 00 |
| Miss Louise S. Andrews | 2 35 |

Enjoyed a Trolley Ride.

The employes of Lederer's store were last evening given a trolley ride to Bound Brook, where refreshments were served. Albert Lederer accompanied the party.

NEWSBOYS ON A STRIKE.

REFUSE TO HANDLE NEW YORK EVENING WORLD AND JOURNAL.

They Are Up in Arms Over the Increase in Price and Propose to Prevent the Sale of the Papers That Have Increased Rates

Every newsboy in the city who sells the Evening World and Journal is excited. Their rights are being infringed, they declare, and the huge corporations that supply them are trying to grind them down. There is but one hope of redress in their minds and that's a strike—a real strike. In lower New York, it's next to impossible to purchase an evening edition of either World or Journal. The newsboys there have struck and refuse to handle either of the papers. The local boys are planning to follow in the same path.

Now the cause of all the trouble is a rise in the price of these papers to the boys. Buying them through Tommy Timbo, the local agent, they are compelled to pay at the rate of 70 cents a hundred instead of 60 cents a hundred as heretofore. The selling price still remains the same, a cent.

The crowd of youthful merchants, who thus earn a few pennies every night, are greatly excited over the situation. There are impromptu meetings at street corners in which some of the young "walking delegates" deliver inflamed harangues on the soulless corporations and their wicked ways.

Johnny Vardon and a lad named Hall are leaders in the movement and they have decided that a strike is surely to take place. It may begin tonight if the boys feel they are sufficiently organized. They claim that while there were only six boys in the movement at first over forty have now agreed to stop selling the "boycotted" papers at the given time.

MAN AND WATCH MISSING

FRED CLARK LEFT ICE WAGON SUDDENLY.

John H. Tier, Jr.'s Vest and Gold Watch, Also $3 in Money Collected for McDonough Brothers, was Taken.

McDonough Bros., the ice dealers, have lost an employe and J. H. Tier, Jr., the manager, has lost a vest and the gold watch his father gave him on his twenty-first birthday. The watch and chain was in the vest. The disappearance of man and vest happened at the same time, so there isn't any doubt as to what became of the watch.

Last night McDonough's ice delivery wagon drew up in front of Tommy Timbo's on North avenue and Tier carried in a cake of ice. Fred Clark, a heavily-built man with a sandy moustache, was left on the wagon. When Tier returned, Clark was gone and so was the vest and watch. There was no trace of the man and he hasn't been seen since in this neighborhood.

Clark entered the employ of McDonough Brothers July 8th. He was secured through an employment agency at 8 Battery, New York. He was a good worker and appeared honest enough until his disappearance. He had collected about $3 from different customers during the day and took the money with him. There was a little change in the vest.

The watch was a valuable one but was particularly prized by Mr. Tier for the reason that it was a gift to him on his twenty first birthday from his father. He says Clark may have the rest of the suit like the vest if he will only bring back the watch. The case has been reported to the police but there is very little hope of finding the thief.

ANOTHER DELAY.

Roselle Council Again Postpones Action on Application for Franchise.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, July 22.—The Borough Council of this place did not meet last evening on account of the absence of a quorum. The meeting was therefore adjourned until next Tueday evening, at which time it is believed some action will be taken on the trolley application of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company for a franchise at this place.

Next Tuesday evening the Council will in all probability pass the ordinance to widen Second avenue to 80 feet. After this is done the trolley franchise will be granted. Col. E. W. Hine, secretary of the Street Railway Company, was present at the meeting. The work on the main line is rapidly progressing at Westfield, the poles have been placed on Summit avenue and the line is being built on that thoroughfare to the station.

—One member was added to Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., at last night's meeting. Ice cream and cake were served the members at the close of business.

G. O. P. MEN WERE READY FOR FIGHT.

But Chairman Charles N. Codding Acted Promptly

COUNTY COMMITTEE MET.

TROUBLE OVER APPOINTMENT OF COUNTY CANVASS.

Chairman Codding Sent In the Name of E. C. Woorufff to Succeed Himself and the Other Members Didn't Like It—Codding Retracted His Action Last Night and Named Carr.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 22—There was almost trouble at the meeting of the Republican county executive committee held at the Republican headquarters in the Dix building, last evening, and it was only averted by prompt action on the part of Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chairman of the committee. The excitement was over the appointment of a member to the county board of canvassers.

There are four members of the county board of canvassers, two Republicans and four Democrats. Their appointment lies with the chairman of the State executive committees of the two parties, whose recommendations are always adopted by the Governor. It has been custamary, however, for the county committees to make their ideas known through their chairmen.

Two years ago E. C. Woodruff, of Elizabeth, was appointed after a lively contest with William Carr, also of Elizabeth. The latter was promised the place the next year. Last year no change was made as it was considered an unusually hot election and it was deemed wise to keep an experienced man on the Board. Two weeks ago Chairman Codding sent in the name of E. C. Woodruff to the State committee for the place. He did not consult the members of the county committee.

The members of the committee and Carr's friends learned of Codding's action through the newspayers. They were exceedingly wroth and a special meeting of the committee was called for last night.

After the meeting was called to order Mr. Codding explained the object of the call. He then told of his action in sending in the name of Mr. Woodruff, as he supposed that he was the choice. Here the Carr faction began to get together. He went on to say, however, that he understood that there was some dissatisfaction with the appointment and that the matter would be left entirely in the hands of the committee and that they might now go forward and make nominations as if the name had never gone in at all.

Those who had gone to the meeting with the expectation of making a fight, now found that there wasn't anything to fight about. James Calbert immediately nominated Carr and Mr. Halsey named Woodruff. The roll was called and the vote favored Carr 26 to 8. That ended the matter and Carr's name will be substituted for Woodruff's before the appointments are made on August 1st.

The regular summer outing was discussed and a committee, composed of Rustling Ryno, chairman, of Rahway; James Gilbert, of Elizabeth, William Newcorn, of Plainfield, John Jones, of Summit, and William Meeder, of Elizabethport, were appointed with power to consider the advisability of holding such an outing.

The Plainfield members of the committee present were Charles J. Newman, first ward; City Judge William N. Runyon, second ward; James Stewart and William Newcorn, fourth ward.

Specialist Brown's Visit Prolonged.

By request of leading citizens, Mr. Brown, chiropodist, at 145 West Second street, has extended his stay until August 5th. During his four months' visit to Plainfield he has been very busy. The well known testimonials which we have published of Mr. Brown should convince the most doubting of his superior professional skill. The commendations are from well-known and leading citizens, both ladies and gentlemen, whose corns, bunions, ingrowing toenails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, burning, chafed and tender feet, he has perfectly cured during his previous visits here.

Arranging a Road Race

G. H. Kenyon, of West Front street, is now arranging a road race to be held probably on the third Thursday in August over the Park avenue course. The race will be fifteen miles and valuable prizes will be offered. Mr. Kenyon will probably issue 150 entry blanks and send them to verious Jersey towns for the purpose of making the entry list as varied as possible.

BARBER CHAMPION USED HIS RAZOR.

Slashed the Maligner of His Wife's Name.

HE DEFENDED HER HONOR.

INJURED MAN FORMERLY ATTORNEY-GENERAL GRIGGS' COACHMAN.

John Mingo Tauntingly Told the Former Plainfield Colored Man That He Could Take Away Champion's Wife Anytime He Wanted To—Champion is Now Under Arrest in Paterson.

From Paterson comes a thrilling story regarding a former Plainfield dusky brave, Arthur Champion by name, who kept a barber shop on Madison avenue. Champion was always of a "crappy" nature, and on more than one occasion was arrested for fooling with this tricky game, and spent sometime altogether in Elizabetn. After repeatedly offending the law he was finally committed to the County Jail for six months, but for good behavior he only served about five months. After the completion of his term he drifted to Paterson where he has been residing with his wife.

There also lives in Paterson another dusky brave named John Mingo, who is 18 years old and who formerly worked as a groom for Attorney-General Griggs. Yesterday afternoon in the saloon of George Griffiths, 224 River street, he made the boast that he could take away the wife of Champion at any time.

This assertion so enraged Champion that he went to his barber shop, which is above the saloon, and secured a razor. A moment later he reappeared with a razor in his hand and cried, "Now, I'll cut your head off."

There was a desperate struggle, in the course of which Mingo was cut terribly about the head, neck and body. He finally fell exhausted and was taken to the General Hospital. Little hope is entertained of his recovery. The worst wound is a great gash in the side, where the razor reached the lung. Champion was arrested.

PRESIDENT THE FIFTH TIME.

Mrs. McGowan Chosen by Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association.

The fifth biennial convention of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association of the United States practically closed its labors in Asbury Park yesterday with the election of officers for the ensuing term. The convention reconvenes this morning to elect Supreme Trustees and Supreme auditor.

The election resulted in the choice of Mrs. Elizabeth B. McGowan, of Buffalo, for president for the fifth term by a majority of 113 over her opponent, Supreme Auditor Mrs. Teresa M. Popp, of Pittsburg, Pa. The other candidates were unanimously elected and are as follows:

Supreme first vice-president, Mrs. Mary A. Flanagan, of Syracuse; Supreme second vice-president, Mrs. Maria Quinn, of Newark; supreme recorder, Mrs. J. A. Boyer, of Erie, Pa.; supreme treasurer, Mrs. Mary E. Costello, of Brooklyn; supreme grand marshal, Mrs. Teresa Lutz, of Chicago; supreme guard, Mrs. E. C. Gardner, of Pittsburg, Pa.

INVESTIGATING ASSESSMENTS.

Councilmanic Committee Start the Work of Looking up Unequal Taxation.

The finance committee and committee on collection and assessment of taxes met last evening in the tax collector's office and examined all the books as a result of the resolution passed by the Council the night previous. The object of the examination is to ascertain something about the unequal taxation alleged to have been made in this city. The result of the meeting will be made known at the next regular meeting of the Council to be held the first Monday in August.

Died This Morning.

The death of James Z. Petrie, aged 42 years, a former resident of Truxton, N. Y., died at the residence of Isaac Harris, 303 West Fourth street, this morning after a long illness. The funeral will be held from the above residence tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and interment will be at Truxton, N. Y.

Discharged from Hospital.

Mrs. Frederick Schmidt, of Scotch Plains, who has been at the hospital under treatmet of appendicitis, has been discharged and she has returned home. Her condition is very much improved.

WILD RUMOR ABOUT DARLING DISCOUNTED.

No Verification of Report That He Was Killed Trying to Escape.

TO BE EXTRADITED MONDAY.

CHIEF GRANT WILL GO TO PENNSYLVANIA TO GET HIM.

Reported That the Murderer Was Shot By Sheriff Sheets While Attempting to Get Away—Great Curiosity Over Him in McConnellsburg—The Extradition Papers Not Signed as Yet.

This morning a wild rumor was current on the streets that Wm. Darling, who is confined in the county jail at McConnelsburg, Pa., had in some manner shot Sheriff Sheets, who has him in charge. Other reports were to the effect that Darling had secured a revolver and shot himself, and still another that he had broken jail and in getting away he had been shot by the Sheriff.

A Press reporter investigated the reports and could learn nothing as to accuracy. Chief Grant heard them and at once called Prosecutor Voorhees on the telephone, and the latter had heard nothing about the rumors. If anything had occurred Prosecutor Voorhees would be the first man to hear of it.

Tomorrow evening Chief Grant, of this city, and Detective Ferguson, of New Brunswick, will leave for McConnellsburg, Pa., with papers to bring Darling to New Brunswick. The papers will be signed by Governor Voorhees and on their way to their destination they will stop at Harrisburg and get the signature of Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania, which will give them authority to bring the prisoner to New Jersey. They expect to reach home Monday night or Tuesday morning of next week.

Reports come from McConnellsburg, Pa., as to how the town people viewed the arrest of Wm. Darling a few days ago. It is said that soon after the prisoner was placed in the county jail people swarmed about the jail and were allowed to go inside in groups to look at Darling; in fact, it was a sort of holiday for everyone. It has been some time since such a noted person has been captured and it caused a great sensation in the town.

Sheriff Sheets, with all the warning given him, did not seem to realize how dangerous a person Darling is and he made no extra precautions to guard him after he was placed in jail. The jail is not built especially strong, and the cell in which the prisoner was placed was close to a grate window, which could easily be wrecked and the escape of Darling made easy.

After the Sheriff was fully impressed with the idea that every precaution must be taken he handcuffed his prisoner and thus made his escape practically impossible.

It has been learned that Darling called at the postoffice regularly for a letter which always seemed to contain a check, which must have been the one spoken of by him to others recently. There did not seem to be any letter accompaning the check, at least persons who saw him receive the envelope say there was none.

Darling confided much in wife No. 2 and to her he told about himself and his relatives, and thus his detection was made possible. It is is said that the treatment of his new wife was the cause of the trouble between him and his brother-in-law, who gave Darling away to get even.

During Darling's residence in McConnellsburg he spent the greatest part of his time fishing in that vicinity. He did not work, but depended entirely on the money he was receiving and the hospitality of those with whom he lived. He took life easy and never seemed to worry about anything. Occasionly he displayed his temper and it was this that made people afraid of him. It is said that on more than one occasion he whipped an enemy with whom he quarreled, and it is also reported that two families were broken up in that town as a result of Darling's actions. Now that he has been arrested and is in custody the people feel much safer.

Since the arrest of Darling there have been many stories afloat in this city as to whether he will be justly punished for his crimes. Some say that the witnesses to the murder are either dead or in jail and that he will never be convicted. On the other hand some people say that Middlesex county will bear out her present reputation and let Darling off with an easy sentence of ten or fifteen years. Of course, all these reports are more or less untrue, but a great many people will watch the action of Middlesex county in this case and no doubt there will be persons interested who will see that justice is fully carried out.

SIX CHANGES IN CABINET.

This is the Number That Have Taken Place Under Present Administration.

EFFECT ON SOCIAL LIFE.

Only Three of the Original Members of the President's Official Family Remains.

General Miles Prefers to Remain in Washington to Lay Out Philippines Campaign Plans—Lots of Changes in Washington in Past Two Years.

Washington, July 22.—With Secretary Alger's retirement from the Cabinet, only three of the members who entered it at the beginning of the Administration remain, namely, Messrs. Gage, Long and Wilson. Never before, it is said, have there been so many changes in a President's Cabinet during the first three years of his term.

Six Cabinet officers have retired from President McKinley's Cabinet since March 4, 1897. The first to resign was Attorney-General McKenna, who was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court Bench, and left the Cabinet to accept this place. Postmaster-General Gary retired when war was declared, and soon afterward Secretary Sherman left the State Department on account of ill health. When peace was declared, Secretary Day, who had succeeded Secretary Sherman, retired to take the place at the head of the Peace Commission, making the fourth withdrawal.

Secretary Bliss retired for business reasons last fall, having stood by the President during the war and seen its successful termination. Now, Secretary Alger hands his resignation to the President, and it is accepted, making the sixth of the original eight to retire.

Not only has the President lost six of his original Cabinet members, but his private secretary, Mr. Porter, has succumbed to overwork and ill health, and has practically retired from Washington official life. Since Congress changed the name of the private secretary to Secretary to the President, it has been practically a semi-Cabinet position, and the change in this place can therefore virtually be classed in the Cabinet changes. Mr. Porter is now in Europe, and it is stated that he may receive a foreign position and remain abroad. At any rate, the President has designated Mr. Cortelyon as Secretary to the President, and he has been occupying this place for many months. So successful has been his administration that it is a foregone conclusion that before long he will not only be entitled to the name but to the rank and all other emoluments of the position.

Gen. Miles, it is now said, does not care to go to the Philippines, but prefers to remain in Washington, for he does not regard it as necessary that he should go there. It is said that his desire is to remain at headquarters in GENERAL MILES.

Washington and select commanders in the field, prepare general plans for an aggressive campaign, and having done this, to leave the field operations to the skill and discretion of the commanders on the battle grounds.

Therefore, all this talk about urging Gen. Miles for the position of commander in the Philippines is not with his consent or desire. Gen. Miles has always been consulted when a commander is selected for a campaign, and notwithstanding the absurd stories regarding who selected Gen. Shafter for the Cuban campaign, it can be stated as a positive fact that Gen. Miles was the man who suggested Gen. Shafter as the man to command, and this was done during a conference at the White House soon after the Spanish war was declared, when the President and Secretary Alger were debating whom to put in charge.

The President, in deciding to take a vacation and go to Lake Champlain has been largely influenced by Mrs. McKinley's health and the advice of the doctor that she needs the change. Mrs. McKinley is improving slowly from her late attack, and the doctor is anxious that she should go to a cooler climate than Washington and has recommended Lake Champlain. Two years ago the President and Mrs. McKinley spent several weeks most delightfully at this place, and remembering that Mrs. McKinley's health was greatly improved by the visit, the President readily acquiesced in Dr. Rixey's suggestion, and is now arranging for the trip.

The last two and a half years have witnessed a change in many of the plans made for the Cabinet. It had been thought that the Cabinet members would be called upon to do a great deal of entertaining, and that the social side of the Administration would be exceedingly brilliant. It will be remembered, however, that during the first year of the Administration the President lost his mother, and instead of gayety at the capital there was mourning. Then came the war, and the President and Cabinet were too busy to give much attention to entertainment or society.

TEN MILES OF FRUIT

900 Cars Stalled By the Strike in Jersey City.

New York, July 22.—If the 900 cars containing perishable goods that are stalled by the strike in the Jersey City railroad yards were placed end on end they would stretch a distance of ten miles.

Many of these cars are laden with fruit—squashes, apricots, blackberries, melons—and vegetables and tons of them are being dumped, as they grow stale, upon the Jersey meadows.

Meanwhile shippers and commission merchants are growing more furious daily, the shippers because the dumped goods are a dead loss to them; the commission men because they are losing their customers, who, unreasonably enough in many instances, are holding them responsible for a condition of affairs which is utterly beyond their control. Then they are losing the profit on sales, which alone is serious matter.

Troops Ready in Cleveland.

Cleveland, July 22.—The rioting of the striking trolley men here has become so lawless that it has been decided to call on the troops to be in readiness. Consequently, the Naval Reserve battalion reported for duty at its armory, and is now prepared to aid the police in keeping order. An attempt was made to blow up a street car with dynamite. The car was on Euclid avenue, returning to the Lake View barns, when a terrific explosion occurred under the wheels at Anndale avenue, opposite the home of Henry A. Everett, president of the Big Consolidated Street Railway Company. The car was nearly jolted from the track, but was not stopped. The half dozen passengers on board were frightened badly, but none of them were injured. No harm was sustained by the car, and it proceeded on its journey. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

Convention is a Success.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 22.—All of the several sessions of the International Convention of the Epworth League have been well attended and the interest manifested in the services has been of an enthusiastic nature. The 30,000 visitors have been tendered the freedom of the city and all of them are making the best of their pleasant surroundings. The song service in the three places where meetings are held is especially interesting and entertaining and thousands of the townspeople attend as well as the delegates. In every respect the convention is a great success.

Await Vanderbilt Party at Banff.

Banff Springs, N. W. T., July 22.—There is commotion at this far northwestern resort on account of the expected arrival of the Alfred Vanderbilt party from New York. Charles E. Counselman and his family, of Chicago, are here to meet them and explore the Canadian National Park. Sir Matthew Conway, a great Alpine enthusiast, may arrive in time to join the Vanderbilt party.

The Strike is Ended.

New York, July 22.—The backbone of the street car strike both in this city and Brooklyn is apparently broken, and traffic on all lines affected has been resumed. All of the cars are now running on schedule time, and aside from the jeering at the non-union motormen and conductors there is no considerable amount of interference. It is thought that the trouble is practically at an end.

Regiment Filling Rapidly.

Indianapolis, July 22.—Lieutenant Melvin W. Rowell is accomplishing wonders in his work of recruiting for the Thirty-first Infantry, now rendezvousing at Ft. Thomas. He is flying about the state as fast as trains can carry him picking up men wherever they offer. The regiment is filling more rapidly than any other in the volunteer service.

Mrs. Holladay Released.

St. Louis, Mo., July 22.—Mrs. Annie Halladay, who killed her husband five days ago, has been released. She was exonerated by the Coroner's jury on the ground of self-defense and the Prosecuting Attorney refused to grant a warrant charging murder. It is said that she will return to the stage as a trick bicycle rider.

Jockey Sloan's Period of Leisure.

London, July 22.—Tod Sloan, the American jockey, who was suspended a few days ago until Aug. 5 for disobedience at the post at Sandown, says that he is going to New York for a week and will resume riding in England at the beginning of September. Sloan declares that he has foresworn champagne.

Fire at Cambridge, Mass.

Cambridge, Mass., Fire here destroyed ten frame buildings and damaged several others. The sheds of the Boston Elevated Railroad were more or less injured, and some buildings on the Boston side of the Charles River were scorched. The loss will be $50,000.

Shotgun Foiled Elopers.

Knoxville, July 22.—Because her father overtook them with a shotgun, Miss McCreesh, who walked twenty-eight miles to meet Mr. Johnson, who walked forty miles for that purpose, returned to their homes unmarried.

The Saw Fish.

More energetic than any other sharks are the sawfish, whose snouts are prolonged into a broad blade of cartilage, which is horizontal when the fish is swimming in a normal position, and has both its edges set with slightly curved teeth about an inch apart. The end of this formidable-looking weapon is blunt and comparatively soft, so that it is quite incapable of the feats popularity attributed to it of piercing whales' bodies, ships' timbers, &c. It attacks other fish by a swift lateral thrust of the saw beneath them. Then it feeds upon the soft entrails, which are apparently the only food it can eat from the peculiar shape of its mouth. It has an enormous number of small teeth, sometimes as many as fifty rows in one individual, but they are evidently unfit for the rough duties required of their teeth by the garbage-eating members of the family.

COLONEL INGERSOLL DEAD

The Noted Lecturer and Agnostic Succumbs to a Stroke of Apoplexy.

DIED AT DOBB'S FERRY.

Passes Away in a Few Minutes After Being Stricken at His Summer Home.

He Had Just Finished a Pleasant Conversation With His Wife When the Stroke of Death Came Upon Him—Brief History of Colonel Ingersoll's Career.

New York, July 22.—Robert G. Ingersoll, able lawyer, eloquent orator and the most famous agnostic of his day, is dead. He died at his country seat, Walston, in Dobb's Ferry, of apoplexy.

Mr. Ingersoll reached Dobb's Ferry two days ago from New York, apparently in good health. Shortly after his arrival at his summer house, "Walston," on Ashwood avenue, on what is known as the Hill, in the most beautiful part of the village, he complained of a slight indisposition, and said he would go to consult his family physician in New York. He spent the morning in his room and shortly before he was striken, his wife offered to have his luncheon sent up to him, so that he would not have to walk down stairs to the diningroom. He laughingly replied that while he didn't feel quite as young as he used to, he guessed that he was not yet an invalid, and said that he would go down with the others.

As he finished speaking and was about to rise, he was suddenly stricken and fell back into his chair. Dr. C. H. Judson was immediately summoned. When he reached Walston, he found Mr. Ingersoll still sitting rigidly in his chair. A hastly, but thorough examination was made by the physician, and he found that all signs of life had passed. Mr. Ingersoll had died almost instantly.

Those at Walston, at the time of his death were his wife, his two daughters, Miss Maud Ingersoll and Mrs. Walston H. Brown, his brother-in-law, Mr. Farrell, and wife, and his son-in-law, Mr. Walston H. Brown.

Mr. Ingersoll was just about to reenter the active practice of law, which for several years past he has neglected.

Robert Green Ingersoll was born in Dresden, N. Y., on August 11, 1833. His father was a clergyman of views so broad as to cause frequent dissension between himself and his parish. Young Ingersoll's boyhood was spent in Wisconsin and Illinois, where the family removed in 1843.

After studying law, he opened an office in Shawneetown, Ill., with his brother, Eben, who was afterward elected a member of Congress. Both entered politics, but neither liked the small town, and in 1857 they went to live in Peoria.

Robert Ingersoll was, in 1860, a Democratic candidate for Congress, but failed of election. In 1862 he became Colonel of the Eleventh Illinois Cavalry, and soon afterward he joined the Republican party. In 1866 he was appointed Attorney-General of Illinois.

Mr. Ingersoll's political prominence dated from a speech he made at the Republican National Convention of 1876, nominating James G. Blaine for President, in which he likened Mr. Blaine to a "white-plumed knight of old." Since then he had made political speeches in many campaigns, his services being in great demand.

In 1877 Col. Ingersoll refused the post of Minister to Germany. He took part in many famous lawsuits, all over the United States, and was counsel for the so-called Star Route conspirators, who were acquitted in 1883.

Col. Ingersoll achieved notoriety by his constant and bitter attacks against the Christian religion. He gave lectures and wrote books and pamphlets against it. Among the publications were "The Gods" (Washington, 1878, "Ghosts" (1879), "Some Mistakes of Moses" (1879), "Lectures Complete" (1883), "Prose Poems and Selections" (1884), a large number of minor works, and introductory chapters for two books, entitled "Modern Thinkers," compiled by Martin Van Buren Denslow (Chicago, 1881, and "The Brain and the Bible," by Edgar C. Beall (Cincinnati, 1882).

President Rossiter Arrested.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 22.—President Rossiter, of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, was arrested in his office on a warrant obtained by Albert L. Johnson, former president of the Nassau, charging criminal libel. Mr. Rossiter was taken to the Adams Street Court, where Magistrate Brenner paroled him in the custody of his counsel, the examination to be held next Thursday. President Rossiter was hooted and jeered by Brooklyn crowds all along the route from his office to the police court.

Cars Painted By Hose.

Dover, N. J., July 22.—A sprayer, with which cars are painted by means of a hose, has been placed at work in the Lackawanna Railroad shops here. Although the men that operate the machine were not familiar with its workings, the first day they painted as many cars as four times the force could have done by hand.

Incendiaries Near Nyack.

Nyack, July 22.—Some one set fire to a large barn belonging to Charles Ottingon at Tappan. The building was destroyed, with a number of carriages, several valuable horses, blankets, harness and other property, causing a heavy loss on which there is a light insurance. There is no fire department at Tappan, and although the entire population turned out the people could do nothing but watch the fire.

Day Goes to St. Louis.

Hingham, Mass., July 22.—The Rev. John W. Day, for nine years pastor of the First Unitarian Society of this place, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Church of the Messiah, St. Louis. The salary is $7,000.

SIX ITANLIANS LYNCHED

Reported Work of a Louisiana Mob For Revenge.

New Orleans, July 22.—A dispatch from Tallulah, La., says six Italians were lynched there. The names are unobtainable.

Dr. Hodges, a prominent physician, of Tallulah, quarreled with an Italian. The latter secured a shotgun and mortally wounded the doctor. The shooting created intense excitement.

A mob immediately captured the would-be assassin and five of his companions, strung them all up to trees and filled their bodies with buckshot.

Tallulah is a small town in Madison Parish, seventeen miles away from the river. It is in the heart of the best cotton-producing section of the State.

Many men prominent in State affairs are residents there and on the surrounding plantations.

Man Was in the "Blower."

Rushville, Ind., July 22.—Mahlon Miller, a threshing machine owner, had a narrow escape from death in a peculiar manner near Moscow. Miller has a machine with one of the new blower attachments for automatic strawstacking. The blower was in need of repairs, and Miller crawled into the long pipe to adjust it. While in the blower the machine started, and was running at full speed in a few seconds. Pieces of Miller's clothing were wafted out on the strawstack by the blower, and the man on the stack stopped the machine. Miller was rescued with but little clothes on his body, anu almost suffocated.

Home Affairs Need Attention.

Topeka, Kan., July 22.—Gov. Stanley wrote his mind in a letter to J. E. F. Lewis, President of the International Industrial Association of Chicago. Lewis wrote the Governor criticising the public sentiment and code of morals that would permit recent lynchings in Kansas. Gov. Stanley replied, defending the State, and said:

"I would suggest that you might do some good if you would confine your operations to the corruption, crime, and wickedness of your own city. A resident of Chicago is in small business lecturing other people about public morals or obedience to law."

The Means of Earning a Commission

Wheeling, W. Va., July 22.—Lieut. John K. Miller, in charge of the Wheeling recruiting station, has received instruction from the Adjutant-General at Washington to receive recruits to be furnished from Harrisonburg, Va., and Huntington and Grafton, W. Va., by P. H. A. Devine, of Huntington. Upon furnishing the recruits for the volunteer regiments, the War Department agrees to give Devine a second lieutenancy. Other ex-volunteers in this section are getting ready to win commissions in the same manner.

Gored to Death By a Bull.

York, Penn., July 22.—Ex-State Senator Gerard C. Brown was gored to death by a ferocious Alderney bull at his barnyard near Yorkana, this county. He was dead when found, and a gash on his leg, a severed artery, and the bull's bloody horns and face attested the cause of death. Mr. Brown was fifty-seven years of age, was twice elected to the State Senate, and had a wide State reputation as a Democratic politician and farmer. He was lecturer for the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, and associate editor of The Farmers' Friend.

Found Dead in the Road.

Hammonton, N. J., July 22.—John Miller, a brother of Hansel Miller of this place, was found dead on the roadside a short distance from here. He left his home at Batsto with a horse and carriage to come here on Tuesday. Nothing was heard from him until a search was instituted and his body found. His neck was broken. The general belief is that his horse ran away, and that he was thrown out of the carriage and killed. What became of the horse and carriage is not known.

The Bonaventure Floated.

London, July 22.—At the office of the British Admiralty it was stated that the British cruiser Bonaventure, reported ashore in a bad position at Corniloy, China, has been floated, and is now en route to Nagasaki. From that place the Bonaventure will proceed to Hongkong for repairs. It is assumed that the cruiser suffered no serious damage by grounding.

Montpelier Gains Through Legacies.

Montpelier, Vt., July 22.—The will of John E. Hubbard, which was nied for probate here, leaves $235,000 to be devoted to public interests. The Kellogg-Hubbard Library, which the testator founded, is given $125,000; the Green Mount Cemetery and Chapel, $25,000, and Capital Hill, which is estimated to be worth $25,000, is left to the city for a public park.

Clifford Farley's Wound Fatal.

Trenton, July 22.—Clifford Farley, the twenty-year-old Bordentown youth who attempted to murder his sweetheart and then shot himself, has died of his wound at St. Francis's Hospital without regaining consciousness. Miss Donohue, the young woman in the case, is reported to be out of danger, as she was shot only in the hand.

Electric Cable Works Burned.

London, July 22.—The Western Electric Cable Company's establishment at Woolwich was destroyed by fire. The loss is £250,000. An American plant recently fitted up at the works was totally destroyed.

No Trouble Says Rhodes.

Cape Town, July 22.—In the course of his reply to an address of welcome at Claremont, Cecil Rhodes declared that there was not the slightest chance of war between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

Explosion on Warship.

London, July 22.—An explosion on board the torpedo-destroyer Bullfinch, on the Solent, during her trial, killed seven and injured eleven of those on board.

Secretary Allen in Boston.

Boston, July 22.—Assistant Secretary Allen of the Navy arrived from Portland on the Dolphin.

Making People Happy.

Pain of any kind causes a strain upon the nervous system, and if prolonged and unchecked will create depression of spirits and despondency.

Aching feet are vexatious, aggravating and irritating and nothing is more annoying than feet deformed and distorted from corns and bunions. Mr. Brown's painless method for the treatment and cure of corns, bunions, ingrowing and club toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty, chafed and burning feet, is endorsed by all eminent physicians. He has made diseases of the feet a life study. Corns, bunions and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago in Plainfield have not come back and the feet today are sound and well. Read the proof:

D. S. Scheuer, grocer, Front St; H. A. Weber, grocer, Liberty and Second streets; S. Sharkey, grocer, Third and Richmond streets; G. Voehl, bakery, 127 Front street; F. R. Vanderhoof, at F. Endress' meat market, Front street, and many others had corns, bunions, and ingrowing toe nails cured by Mr. Brown ten years ago; no trouble since. Albert Runyon, 41 Mountain avenue; J. Q. Miles, J. P., 28 Somerset street; F. Cullen, and Mrs Cullen, 1001 Second street; Mrs. M. C. Terry, 331 East Third street; J. D. Smalley, meat market, 153 Front street; H. L. Overbaugh, 118 Elmwood place; W. W. Warnock, bakery, 138 North avenue; J. J. Stites, blacksmith, Dunellen; and hundreds of others say that Mr. Brown completely cured their bunions, ingrowing toe nails, enlarged great toe joints, sweaty and tender feet, etc. They all say the treatment was painless; no soreness after.

NEGROES AGAINST WHITES

Serious Trouble Anticipated in Southern Arkansas.

Pine Bluff, Ark., July 22.—Information received here indicates that the negroes of Lake Village, Chicot County, have arisen against the white people of that vicinity. Lake Village is the county seat and is about twenty-five miles from a railroad. The negroes largely outnumber the white population. The home of B. Vinson, a white attorney, has been burned and the white people are arming themselves for self-protection. Mr. Vinson prosecuted and secured the conviction of a prominent negro named Lightfoot for larceny and Lightfoot's friends were offended and are inciting the negroes to riot.

It may be necessary for the Governor to send troops before the trouble is abated. Lake Village is in the extreme southern portion of Arkansas.

Smallpox in Pennsylvania.

Altoona, Pa., July 22.—Frank Hiergeist, who died of smallpox, was to have been married this week. His brother John is dying of the same disease. His mother and two other members of the family are recovering. The people about Utahville, where there are nearly 100 cases, complain that the deputies appointed by the State Board of Health to preserve the quarantine break it themselves by making bicycle tours to surrounding towns. The State authorities have been notified. At Irvona, where a quarantine was established by the State Board of Health, one of the guards went to sleep at his post. A smallpox patient slipped out, stole the guard's gun and paraded the town, causing great excitement. He was finally captured.

Richmond Shooting Affray.

Richmond, Ind., July 22.—Benjamin Simmons, a liveryman, shot and in all probability fatally wounded John E. Webb, a freight brakeman on the Richmond division of the Pan-Handle. Simmons used a shotgun, the full charge taking effect in the abdomen of Webb, and producing an immence wound, through which the intestines protruded. Bad feeling has existed between the men for some time.

American's Odd Death.

London, July 22.—The body of a man was found upon the steps of Trinity Church, Landudno, Wales. Death had been caused by a shot from a revolver. In one of the dead man's pockets was found an envelope indicating that his name was Alfred Poole, and that he came from Coal Glen, Colorado. There was also a letter dated April 9, from G. W. Oakes, South Water street, Denver, written upon paper bearing the letterhead of the Continental Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Denver.

Child a Success as Forger.

Anna, Ill., July 22.—Stella Purnell, aged fourteen, forged the name of George C. Parks, a druggist, and of her aunt, Miss Lulu Warner, to four notes, amounting to $190, at the First National Bank the Bank of Anna and the City Bank of Anna. The first note for $25 was forged to obtain money with which to buy a bicycle. The second was forged to pay off the first. She says a business man advised about the methods of forgery.

Dewey Sues For Prizes.

Washington, July 22.—Admiral Dewey has filed suit in the District Court of the District of Columbia to recover the prize money due him and the officers and crews under him at Manila. This is the regular course of procedure for establishing these claims. The tital claim is $751,141, the largest filed since Admiral Farragut brought suit for the value of ships captured at the battles of New Orleans and Mobile Bay.

To Fortify Bailey's Hill.

Lynn, Mass., July 22.—The United States Government has begun preliminary surveys at Nahant for permanent fortifications on Bailey's Hill, the highest part of the peninsula. During the war with Spain the hill was occupied for temporary coast defence, and has since been used as a testing ground for the American Ordnance Company. The Government will compel the removal of the famous old Tri-mountain House.

Incendiary Caught in the Act.

Lancaster, Pa., July 22.—The warehouse of Philip Betz was destroyed by an incendiary fire and shortly afterward John Eisley, a butcher occupying an adjoining property, was arrested as the incendiary. Betz told the police that he caught Eisley in the act and seized him, but the man got away, though Betz fired his revolver at him. In his flight he left his hat behind. He was captured later.

Valentine at Trenton.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 22.—George M. Valentine, the defaulting cashier of the Middlesex County Bank at Perth Amboy, who was sentenced a few days ago to a term of six years in the state prison, left the county jail and was taken to Trenton.

President Sends Condolence.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 22.—Postmaster Shaffer has received a letter from President McKinley expressing sorrow over the death of Judge L. W. King, of Youngstown. The President referred to King as a brave and able man.

Want Otis Dismissed.

San Francisco, Cal., July 22.—In interviews with 25 leading merchants the opinion is expressed that General Otis should be supplanted by somebody like Miles, with 100,000 men, capable of crushing the Philippine rebellion.

Nail Causes Lockjaw.

Springfield, Ohio, July 22.—Foster E. Peck, nine-year-old son of E. W. Peck, living four miles east of this city, has died from lockjaw. It originated from a wound he got under the big toe of his right foot in stepping accidently on a rusty nail.

Sues Former Husband For $10,000.

Knsas City, July 22.—Blanche Davis has sued her divorced husband, R. H. Davis, for $10,000, alleging breach of promise to re-marry her.

MANY NATIVES ARE KILLED

Fierce Battle Between Americans and Filipinos, at Bobong, Negros.

OUR LOSS VERY LIGHT.

Although Largely Outnumbered, the Americans Lose But One Killed and One Wounded.

General Otis Says That Battle Will Be Beneficial for Quiet of Negros—Fighting Mostly at Close Quarters—Bayonets and Clubbed Guns are Vigorously Used.

Manila, July 22.—News has been received from Gen. Smith at Iloilo, to the effect that severe fighting took place on Wednesday at Bobong. Capt. Byrne of the sixteenth infantry, with sevnty men, surprised a force of 450 Babaylones, of whom 115 by actual count were killed and many more were wounded. The fighting was mostly at close quarters with bayonets and clubbed guns. A large quantity of supplies and arms was captured.

Capt. Byrne is commanding a battalion operating in the La Carlota district of the Island of Negros.

Gen. Otis Reports It.

Washington, July 22.—The War Department has received the following dispatch:

"Manila, July 21.

"Adjutant-General, Washington:

"Capt. B. A. Byrne, Sixteenth Infantry, with seventy men, surprised united robber bands (Negros), numbering 450; killed 115; wounded many; captured few rifles and revolvers, and many hand weapons, large quantity stock fighting at very close distance. Byrne lost one killed, one wounded; names not given. This action very beneficial for quiet of Negros. OTIS."

Otis on the "Round-Robin."

Washington, July 22.—At the Cabinet meeting the President laid before the members a dispatch from Gen. Otis in regard to the "round-robin" sent by the newspaper correspondents at Manila.

The General treats the subject in an open and frank manner, and shows no irritation or resentment against the correspondents, but rather treats their action as the pranks of children and remarks that the newspaper boys have had a desire to act as statesmen and generals rather than journalists.

He fully and satisfactorily explains the situation between the newspaper men and himself, giving many details in regard to the campaign, showing how the correspondents were wrong in their opinions, and concludes his dispatch by saying that if Washington is willing he greatly desires to remove entirely the censorship at Manila and let every dispatch go as free as the air, for he, himself, has no fear of letting the people know of every move of the troops under him.

Messenger Shot as a Spy.

San Francisco, July 22.—Word has just reached here that Grant Cullum who was with the tenth Pennsylvania at Manila, was shot as a spy in sight of the American outposts near Caloocan, where he ws sent by Gen. Otis with a message. It is said that a rainstorm destroyed his disguise, and he was captured by the natives and put to death.

An End of Three-Cent Fares.

Detroit, July 22.—After riding for a week on three-cent fares, with universal transfers, Detroit people have resumed their former custom of paying five cents straight, or six for a quarter. The Pingree people appear to have no plans for the immediate future for bringing about municipal ownership and three-cent fares.

Alger at Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, July 22.—Secretary Alger has abandoned his intention of quitting as soon as Mr. Meiklejohn arrives, and has concluded to discharge all of the duties as Secretary of War until the date set for his resignation, August 1. He attended the Cabinet meeting yesterday, taking with him a number of routine matters.

Both Entitled to It.

Newark, Ohio, July 22.—Judge Taylor, in granting a divorce in the George Graff case, said each party was entitled to the decree from the evidence, but he gave Mrs. Graff $5,000 alimony and $25 a month for their child's support. Both husband and wife charged cruelty and neglect. Graff is a prominent baker.

Join Coal Dealers' Association.

Omaha, Neb., July 22.—The Iowa and Nebraska Coal Dealers' association in annual convention, decided to become members of the National Coal Dealers' Association. The convention was notified by the Secretary of the National Coal Association that coal would cost more this fall than last.

Fatal Toboggan Ride.

Springfield, Ohio, July 22.—Will Wissinger, the fifteen-year-old son of Charles Wissinger, of 22 East Mulberry street, this city, was drowned at Riverside Park. He fell off a toboggan in making a descent.

Roosevelt to Speak at Ocean Grove.

Albany, July 22.—Gov. Roosevelt, it is stated here, has accepted an invitation to make an address at the summer school at Ocean Grove on Aug. 3.

The Raleigh in Dry Dock.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 22.—The United States cruiser Raleigh is in the dry dock here. The vessel's hull will be cleaned and slight repairs made.

The Dewey Home Fund.

Washington, July 22.—The receipts for the Dewey Home Fund to-day, amounted to $349, making $14,771 in all.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

COMING EVENTS.

July 23—Rev. James A. Cubberly will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15 p. m. Miss Raybert will sing and there will be instrumental music.

Summit sees a way out of the difficulty which has been encountered in the disposal of its sewage. Summit has the chance to connect with the trunk line sewer to tidewater, which is to be constructed by the municipalities along the Passaic river, and the scheme is regarded with a good deal of favor in the Union county town. A special election will be held to determine the exact sentiment of the citizens. The estimated cost of the improvement is $110,000, which would furnish an outlet for 3,000,000 gallons of sewage a day. Summit has hopes of increasing to 20,000 population in twenty-five years, and will demand a disposal that will allow for such a growth.

Admiral Dewey has written to the Governor of Vermont that he wants to get back to the verdant hills of the Green Mountain State as soon as possible after his return to the United States. That is exactly where he ought to go, says the Philadelphia Record. The sight of boyhood scenes and the warm grasp of friendly hands might bring the glow of health to his cheeks and help to restore his wasted strength.

In the opinion of Senator Depew a course of lectures on the operation of railroads would be a valuable addition to all of our leading colleges, considering the large part which railroads play in our everyday life and how little they are understood. It would, indeed, be a valuable addition if one could make as much money out of railroads as Senator Depew.

WISCONSIN'S WILD MAN.

Confined in the county jail at Chippewa Falls, Wis., is a wild man, who was captured in the streets of the village of Tony a short time ago. This strange creature has lived alone in the woods for a great many years and has lost the power of speech. The soles of his feet are like iron and his body is covered with hair. He jabbers, when spoken to, in a kind of jargon which is believed to be a mixture of French and Italian.

From a country lawyer to Governor of New Jersey, then to Attorney-General and now offered the position of Secretary of War, on which the attention of the public is completely centered, John W. Griggs' star of ascendancy has risen rather rapidly within the last three years.

The New Brunswick Home News says that "Chief Grant is deserving of credit for the able manner in which he succeeded in running Darling down. It was the Chief who received the first tip concerning Darling and who followed it up closely and secured his arrest."

Elizabeth calls Plainfield a "tax dodger." Plainfield is one-third as large as Elizabeth, and yet she pays one-half as much of the county and State taxes as does the county seat. If there is any tax dodging Elizabeth would seem to be the guilty party.

Keep up the talk for municipal ownership of the water plant.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Municipal ownership of the water plant is what Plainfield needs. The Common Council cannot hurry too fast in consummating the purchase of the business now conducted for private profit with immense returns.—Plainfield Press.

With the natural facilities that Plainfield possesses in this line it always has been a wonder to outside observers why the authorities ever gave a franchise away to the Union county water magnates to supply the city of Elizabeth and the intermediate towns with the surplus of the aqua pura of Scotch Plains and Netherwood. Municipal ownership is the only thing for any town or city and we say to Plainfield, go in and win.—Bound Brook Democrat.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The Fulton Republican, of M'Connellsburg, Pa., of this week which contains an account of the details of the arrest of William Darling, also states in a small local item "William Darling, the only prisoner in the county jail, is a very genteel looking man."

* * * * *

Gov. Roosevelt rode into Las Vegas, N. M., to attend the Rough Riders' reunion, in the private car of Paul Morton, first vice-president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Major Heydt, of Las Vegas, whose son Sherman is a member of the famous Twentieth Kansas Regiment, called on the Governor, and the talk naturally turned on that subject. Finally the Major took a photograph of his son from his pocket and proudly showed it to Roosevelt. Both he and Morton looked at it with interest, and then the old commander of the Rough Riders, exclaimed, in his impulsive, enthusiastic way:

"Give me that picture a minute!"

He took the photograph to his desk and penned on its back, in his vigorous chirography:

"Three cheers for Funston!
"Theodore Roosevelt."

"I want to send that message to your son and, through him, to General Funston. He is a brave man and has a regiment of noble soldiers—all fighters," was the Governor's explanation, as he handed the picture back.

The proud father promised to forward the message to Manila.

Now that the National Export Exposition, to be held in Philadelphia next fall, is known far and wide, the management is daily in receipt of letters offering freakish ideas for the entertainment of the vast crowds which will undoubtedly come from home and abroad. An Indiana man wrote that he had a flying machine, and, if given permission, would fly with it from one of the Exposition's buildings to another each morning and afternoon. He say that for $5,000 he will carry every delegate to the Commercial Congress on similiar trips, each one at a time, regardless of the number of delegates. A Frenchman, writing from Paris, says that inasmuch as the Eiffel Tower is no longer a novelty, and the Ferris Wheel an old story, he would like the privilege of digging a hole 3,000 feet deep on the Exposition's grounds into which he would lower people a basket. He writes that while the hole could not be seen at any great distance, it would be truly a novelty, and attract much attention. While the genius does not so state, he intimates that pictures of the hole might be obtained by means of Roentgen rays.

THEATRICAL

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Keeping pace with the demand for a plentiful supply of features of excellence and absolute novelty in summer theatricals, F. F. Proctor offers next week at each of his New York theatres, the Twenty-third Street, so aptly termed the "shoppers' haven of rest," and the Pleasure Palace, 58th street and Third avenue, programmes of undoubted superiority. Beginning July 24th at the Twenty-third Street theatre are: George Fuller Golden, the monologue wit: Clayton White and Company in a new playlet; Rice and Cady, German comedians; Ralph Johnstone, trick bicyclist; Nellie Maguire, soprano. Corinne will head the bill at the Pleasure Palace week of July 24th, and her singing and musical specialty is one of the best things she has ever done. Others are the Musical Johnstons, xylophone players; Sankey Bros., gymnasts; Saxon and Brooks, operatic artists, and others all capable in various specialties.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

Mrs. Smock and Miss Elizabeth Voorhees, of 624 Park avenue, have gone to Asbury Park, where they will spend four weeks at the Grand Central Hotel.

Miss Doeringer, a graduate of Van-Woert Business College, has accepted a situation in the law office of Wm. G. DeMeza and has assumed her new duties.

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,
122 East Front Street.

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

SATURDAY
ALL DAY LONG
DOUBLE TRADING STAMPS

Going! Going! G—

Not gone—but going. We refer to our Shirt Waists. The stock grows smaller and beautifully less. The prices are selling them. It is our fixed policy to sell every waist during its own particular season. Profit is a secondary matter now. Prices on all waists have been cut deep and still deeper; late as the season is our sale of waists is phenomenal. Splendid styles, large variety and low prices. If you need any, select them at once.

Wash Goods of every description at greatly lessened prices. What is true of Shirt Waists is equally true of wash goods—they must be sold this season, and they are selling cheaply enough to be bought and kept until next season.

The Bottom Out.

The bottom has literally fallen out of the prices of Crash Suits, Crash Skirts, Duck Skirts, Pique Skirts and all other ready made garments, and all this while the stock is still fairly well assorted.

In regard to White Goods.

We have not cut prices on white goods, no necessity for so doing. Our prices for white goods are always low, and we show an almost infinite variety of goods. Special values in White Lawns and Corded Piques we can always give you for the asking.

Table Linens.

Some people would call it plunging to buy Table Linens in such quantities as we have been buying lately. Be that as it may we are always ready to plunge if goods are offered us cheap enough. This we know—we are able to give such values in both Bleached and Unbleached Linens, as are rarely offered the buying public. An extra heavy half bleached damask at 39c yd., is a straw showing which way the wind blows.

A Fair Question.

Do you make your sheets and Pillow Cases? Or do you buy them ready made? In either case we are ready to serve you. We have always a full line of double width Standard Sheetings, and splendid sheets full size, 3/4 size and single bed size; Pillow Cases, Bolster Cases, Etc. All are torn, neatly hemmed, clean and ready for immediate use.

A word to the Men.

We have a complete gent's furnishing department, splendidly stocked, splendidly kept, splendidly managed and obligingly waited on. Light weight gauze, medium weight gauze and Summer weight cashmere Underwear. Neglige Shirts 50c to $1 25. Neckwear. Suspenders, Socks, Jewelry, Etc., and what is probably the best 50c white Laundered Shirt in the country.

Travelers Comforts.

A good, strong, well finished Trunk is a great comfort to the traveler. Our Trunks are carefully selected from several of the best factories in the country, and are remarkably made and carefully finished, well bound, well lined, good locks, etc. Dress Suit Cases and Traveling Bags of all kinds. Trunk Straps and Shawl Straps.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 22 — In speaking of the advancement made in this borough during the year, the Call says: The following dwellings and other buildings have been erected: Residence on South avenue by John F. Sutphen; residence on Front street by Theodore Apgar; residence on Front street by Willard N. Apgar, now in course of construction; residence on First street by Rev. A. I. Martine; a new freighthouse by the Central Railroad Company; new barn on the Fleming property on Fifth street and Lincoln avenue; barn and carriage house of William J. Winges on Bound Brook road, overhauled; extension to the residence of Adam Herlich; house of Miss Jessie Mark moved to Prospect avenue and overhauled, a building at the trolley junction used as a waiting room; and extensive repairs made to the Cammann property on Washington avenue and First street. In addition to this is the commencement of the house of Charles C. Dunham on Walnut street, which has been raised and is well under way; laying the foundation for a fine residence on Main street, west of Washington avenue, to be erected for Mrs. Louise Terry; the house adjoining the property of Mrs. Harriett Humpston, of Maple street, purchased by Eugene Runyon, has been thoroughly overhauled, painted and papered; and the addition of a story to the present office of the Call.

The young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church took a wheel ride to Westfield last Saturday, returning by Scotch Plains and Plainfield. Before reaching the borough they got a thoroug drenching.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

New Market, July 22.—Herbert Pierce has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pierec.

The friends of Miss Gertruds Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Giles, will be pleased to learn that she has nearly recovered from the effects of diphtheria.

The friends of Miss Mabel Whitford were pleasantly entertained at a birthday party last Monday, closing the day with a ride to Scotch Plains.

A movement has been made to organize a band. There is considerable talent here and it should be used to good advantage.

Miss Mary Faulkner, who sprained her ankle severely a few days ago, is much improved in health.

There are a large number of boarders here this summer—much large number than in previous years.

A well is being dug at the parsonage of the Seventh-Day Baptist church society.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 22. — There seems to be a scarcity of $10 and $12 per month houses in town. If some enterprising capitalist would erect a few within easy access of the trolley, there is no doubt but what they would be rented at once.

While the last two trolley cars were just leaving town Thursday night, the power suddenly gave out and the cars were stalled for sometime. The crowd took the matter good naturdly and got out and began to push the cars on to Plainfield. The current was finally turned on again and the trip was resumed by electricity.

No report has been received from the Pastuer Institute as to whether the dog which bit Lynus Walpole's young son two weeks ago was mad or not. Mr. Walpole is continuing the Pastuer treatment with the boy so as to be on the safe side.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday evening last suffering from appendictis has so far recovered that she will return home today.

Since the trolley work has been transferred to Cranford and Westfield, there has been a large decrease in the population of the Italian colony.

Some miscreant or mischevous boys in town are making a practic of breaking the electric light bulbs. Within the last month twenty-five have been broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frentz are thinking of moving to Bayonne shortly so as to be nearer Mr. Frentz's business in New York.

Scotch Plains sadly needs a dog pound. The streets of the village at times are overrun with dogs of all kinds.

Miss Ivy Marsh is spendiag a few days in Westfield with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson.

Miss Nellie Hollingsworth led an interesting Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church Sunday.

The Misses Short are entertaining Miss Hull and Miss Hurlbut, New York friends for a few days.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held their regular weekly meeting in their rooms last evening.

Wm. Jimerson who has been visiting relatives in town, has returned to his home in Union.

Rev. Mr. Schott returns from his two weeks' vacation spent in Virginia, Wednesday next.

Florence McNair, of Hackensack is spending a few days with Miss Mary Albert.

Mrs. George Lyons is spending a week with relatives at Warwick, N. Y.

Mrs. John R. Haskard was the guest of her son at Plainfield Thursday.

There will be a dance at Emery's Pleasure Garden tonight.

Miss Gertrude Smalley is visiting relatives in Hazlit, N. J.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 22.—An alarm of fire was sounded at 11 o'clock last night but when the firemen arrived at the scene, which was a small building on Broad street occupied by a laundryman, it was found that there was no fire but that the smoke which had been discovered by a passerby was from the stove.

This town is becoming over run with tramps and several robberies have taken place which can be laid at their door. The latest to be reported is from the home of R. O. Phillips, of Embree Crescent. Mr. Phillips states that some time during Wednesday night some one entered his house and stole his trousers from the bed room and several dollars in cash.

Miss Julia Clark, the young daughof H. P. Clark, of Prospect street, was doing a little trick riding on her bicycle yesterday afternoon when she fell and broke her left arm just above the wrist. Dr. R.R.Sinclair set the broken bones and the little patient is now doing as nicely as could be expected.

The firemen of Westfield will hold a meeting shortly for the purpose of organizing a Firemen's Immediate Aid Society. It is proposed to assess each member $1 at the time of the death of a member and then present the purse to the wife or relative of such member.

A RIBBON PURCHASE OF GREAT MAGNITUDE.

We have just purchased from an importer his entire stock of fancy ribbons. The lot consists of two thousand, two hundred and forty-two pieces and the price is just one-third the actual value as prices range today. The variety and extent of the purchase must be seen to be fully appreciated. Almost every conceivable kind and color is here. The widths range from 1½ to 8 inches and a large percentage of them are in the widths most suitable for sashes and belts that are so much sought after at this time. Many of the kinds are represented by but one or two pieces of a kind and an early selection is important.

The lots are divided as follows:

Lot No. 1,
10c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 1½ to 3½ inches, some suitable for shirring, others fancy plaids, stripes and Roman effects. Not one yard of the ribbon in the lot worth less than 15c, and the value of the majority of the lot is 25c.

Lot No. 2,
15c the Yard.

Ribbons varying in width from 2 to 4½ inches. A bewildering assortment of plaids, stripes, gauze and plain colors. Many of this lot have the shirring cord. The values range from 25c to 40c the yard.

Lot No. 3,
25c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 3 to 8 inches in every conceivable color combination and style. Values range from 40c to $1.00 the yard.

2d Floor.

Special Sale of Women's Dress Skirts at Half Value.

25c—Women's Crash Skirts, worth 75c.
50c—Women's White Pique and Duck Skirts, worth $1.00.
Demorest Sewing Machines $17.50.
Demorest drop head sewing machines $21.50. Manufacturers' guarantee of 10 years with every machine. All extra parts supplied.

MEN . . . .

As well as women like a variety of Shoes to choose from, that's why we show you a line of Men's shoes that few stores of our size carry.
Thoroughly reliable up-to-date and at prices that suit.
Our $3 00 lines are good advertisers for us, nothing better for the price.
We have better ones, and we have them that don't cost near as much, all as good as the price every time.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Hannover.

Geestemünde. Das dänische Fischereischutzfahrzeug „Springeren" schleppte den Fischdampfer „Georg" von hier, welcher innerhalb des dänischen Seeterritoriums unweit Skagen beim Fischen betroffen worden war, nach Frederikshavn.

Göttingen. Dem Weichensteller Ahlbrecht, der am 7. September hier vom Landgericht wegen Gefährdung eines Eisenbahntransports zwei Wochen Gefängniß zudiktirt erhielt, hat der Kaiser dadurch eine große Freude bereitet, daß er auf ein Gnadengesuch hin jetzt die Freiheitsstrafe in eine Geldstrafe von 30 Mark umwandelte.

Helgoland.

Bei Helgoland ist während dichten Nebels der Norddeutsche Lloyddampfer „Seeadler" aufgelaufen. Die Passagiere wurden wohlbehalten auf Helgoland gelandet. Schleppdampfer machten den „Seeadler" wieder flott.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Frankfurt. Die Kuranstalt in dem nahen Falkenstein brannte nieder. Die Kranken, welche sich in dem Gebäude befanden, wurden gerettet.

Hachborn. Bei einem Gewitter wurde hier Landwirth Mengel vom Blitz getödtet.

Wiesbaden. Das hiesige Schiller-Denkmal-Komite wählte als Platz zur Errichtung des neuen Schillerdenkmals die Kuranlagen am warmen Damm, südlich vom königlichen Theater. Als Material soll Marmor gewählt werden, trotz der etwas höheren Kosten von etwa 42,000 Mark gegen 36,000 Mark in Bronze.

Provinz Pommern.

Stettin. Dieser Tage brach auf der Werft der Schiffsbau-Aktiengesellschaft Oderwerke in Grabow Feuer aus, das nach zweistündiger angestrengter Thätigkeit der Grabower, Bredower und der eigenen Werftfeuerwehr gelöscht wurde. Es wurde ein größerer Schuppen mit Materialien eingeäschert.

Greifswald. Ein gewisser Bruno Lueckert, welcher unlängst von Amerika heimgekehrt war, hatte geglaubt, daß gewisse faule Geschichten, welche er sich vor Jahren als Postbeamter in dem Dorfe Ducherow im Regierungsbezirk Stettin hatte zu Schulden kommen lassen, vergeben und vergessen seien. Bitter war seine Enttäuschung, als er dieser Tage hier erkannt und verhaftet wurde.

Swinemünde. Die Eisenbahnstrecke Wollin-Misdroy wurde dieser Tage dem Verkehr übergeben.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. Der Bezirksausschuß genehmigte, daß die Stadt Posen eine Anleihe von 6,250,000 Mark zu öffentlichen Bauten, Kanalisation u. s. w. aufnimmt.

Schneidemühl. Durch Verfügung des Landrathes des Kreises Kolmar wurde der österreichische Sozialist Hahn nebst Familie von hier ausgewiesen.

Wongrowitz. Das Schöffengericht verurtheilte zehn Theilnehmer an dem Wisniewoer Aufzug, der am 27. April den Erzbischof Stablewski in polnischer Nationaltracht geleitete, zu je 15 Mark Geldstrafe.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Dem stud. jur. Hans Pfundtner ist die Rettungsmedaille verliehen worden. Er hat in Gumbinnen einem Knaben das Leben gerettet.

Kreuzburg. Die hiesige Schützengilde feierte ihr 50jähriges Bestehen.

Memel. Der Bau des Lepraheims ist so weit gefördert, daß es am 1. August seiner Bestimmung übergeben werden kann.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Elbing. Das hiesige Schwurgericht hat nach fünftägiger Verhandlung den Gutsbesitzer Regenbrecht aus Schöneberg wegen wissentlichen Meineids und betrügerischen Bankerotts zu drei Jahren Zuchthaus und vier Jahren Ehrverlust verurtheilt.—Die Maul- und Klauenseuche im Elbinger Landkreise nimmt eine sehr große Ausdehnung an.

Mehlauken. Auf der Eisenbahnstrecke in der Nähe von hier wurde der Besitzer Albat-Ußballen vom Zuge überfahren und getödtet.

Rheinprovinz.

Aachen. Die hiesige Regierung hat die Einfuhr frischen Rindfleisches verboten. Diese Verfügung ist eine Folge davon, daß Belgien die Einfuhr lebenden Rindviehes aus den Ver. Staaten wieder für Schlachtzwecke erlaubt hat. Das Fleisch fand in Nichtbeachtung der gesetzlichen Bestimmungen seinen Weg über die belgische Grenze in den Regierungsbezirk.

Köln. Zur Feier des 50jährigen Bestehens der katholischen Gesellenvereine waren hier Abordnungen von 26 inländischen und ausländischen Vereinen, darunter aus Oesterreich, Belgien, Holland, Frankreich und England eingetroffen. Kardinal Gruscha-Wien spendete 1000 Mark zur Feier.

Bonn. Bei dem Dorfe Widdig rannte ein Remorqueur den Rheindampfer „Chrimhilde," auf dem der „Kölner evangelische Bürgerverein" einen Ausflug machte, an. Der Schiffskoch und das Küchenmädchen der „Chrimhilde" sowie mehrere Musiker und Kinder trugen Verletzungen davon. In Folge der Kollision brach auf dem Dampfer Feuer aus, doch gelang es, die Flammen bald zu löschen.

SUMMER GOWNS.

Materials, Designs and Styles Most in Favor.

Heavy laces are used to trim batistes having large checks or plaids, while valenciennes is the favorite for thinner goods. Some of the new muslins show glace and changeable effects and are extremely pretty.

Very narrow stripes and dots are less seen this year than designs of flowers, plaids and ribbons. On some of the finest materials the ribbon is the decorative motive, arranged in waves or knots. Pompadour floral designs appear also upon expensive goods, and there is a liking for silks having a pattern of large flowers on a ground of the same color, but a different shade.

The Louis Quinze period is actively revived by most of the new models. Not only do the woven and printed designs of the goods recall that time, but the general cut and style are of the same character, although modernized to suit the present taste. Flounces, corsages trimmed with ruches and jabots of lace, fichus and ribbons all belong to that epoch and are features of this season's wardrobe.

The cut depicts a costume of periwinkle blue cloth. The plain skirt is adorned with bias stitched bands of cloth, which rise in a point in front. The short coat is tight fitting at the back and has loose double fronts, with revers and collar faced with white moire. The coat and the close sleeves are trimmed with stitched cloth bands, and there are cut steel buttons on the fronts. The chemisette is of pink mousseline de soie. The cravat, which is drawn through jeweled rings, is of white embroidered tulle. The white straw hat has a drapery of white tulle and is trimmed with pink roses and their foliage. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE WARDROBE.

Attractive Accessories and Trimmings For Summer Use.

Embroidery, lace and gauze—these still predominate as trimmings on hats, gowns, wraps and parasols. All is light, delicate and brilliant in effect and summery in the extreme.

Boas of plumage, gauze or lace have been frequently mentioned, but they are still in the front rank and cannot be ignored. Those of excessive length are not worn, but medium and short ones are seen in great profusion. Boas of heavy net with large chenille dots are among the prettiest, and there are others of full plaitings of gauze, the gauze being edged with fibers of ostrich plumage or loops of fine chenille.

Black or white mousseline de soie enjoys even greater favor than colored mousseline, being immensely employed for boas, ruches, trimmings and accessories, but there are novelties shown in the shape of boas of two colors of mousseline de soie. For example, black mousseline will be used over rose, or pink over white. There are also ruches of black net, the edges of the frills being finished with tinted, iridescent spangles.

The hat shown in the illustration is of leghorn straw, and the brim is much twisted and lifted at the left side, where a large, red rose with foliage is placed beneath it. Strands of black velvet ribbon encircle the crown and form clusters of loops. In front are bunches of ripe ears of rye and a group of pink roses, buds and leaves. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Remarkable Village.

In New Guinea the village of Tupuseki is most remarkable. The houses are all supported on piles and stand out in the ocean a considerable distance from shore. This is to protect the villagers from the attacks of the dreaded head hunters, always looking out for victims. Other villages in this queer land are perched up in trees for the same reason.

WOMEN'S REALM

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonable Toilettes.

The model shown in the illustration is of pale blue pique in a heavy rib. The yoke, which is single pointed, is seamed at the centre-back and extends over the shoulders onto the fronts. The latter are full and pouch slightly, the gathers at both neck and waist being collected in a narrow space at each side of centre-front. The edge of the right side is finished with a box-plait, and the closing is effected by means of button-holes worked through the centre and buttons sewed to the left side. The body portion of the back is slightly full and is arranged in gathers at the yoke edge and again at the waist-line. Between it and the fronts are small under-arm gores. The sleeves are one-seamed in regulation shirt style and are finished at the wrists with straight cuffs. At the neck is a high collar. With it is worn a string tie of black satin, and at the waist is a belt of black silk.

To make this waist for a lady in the medium size will require three and one-fourth yards of thirty-six-inch material or three and one-fourth yards of thirty-inch goods.

Dress For School Girls.

A sensible dress for school girls whose course includes daily gymnastics, but whose time between hours is too short to allow of extensive change of dress, is this, advocated by a prominent physical culture teacher of New York. The waist should be a blouse or shirt waist, made in the prevailing style, but loose enough to allow freedom for exercise. Underneath the dress skirt, which can be readily slipped off, the divided skirt for gymnastics, and still underneath the warm but loose flannel underwear. Thus dressed, all the girl has to do to be ready for her exercise is to slip off the dress skirt and change her boots for the gymnasium shoes. Exercise finished, the dress skirt may be resumed and a bolero jacket slipped on over the waist to avoid the danger of taking cold. The ordinary stocking supporter is considered objectionable, as it impedes the circulation and produces round shoulders.

Girl's Reefer Jacket.

This stylish reefer of fancy mixed coating in ecru, tan and brown, shows a new feature in the broad yoke collar of ecru-faced cloth that is handsomely decorated with rows of open meshed brown mohair braid. The reefer has always been a popular top garment for young girls, but this season it easily leads all others, and as here presented is quite up-to-date. No more convenient, comfortable or simply constructed style can be attempted by the home dressmaker, and an exact reproduction of this picture can be made from this pattern with hardly any trouble at all. The loose-fitting fronts lap widely in double-breasted style, the closing being effected to the left shoulder by buttons and button-holes. The standing collar closes with the jacket at the left shoulder, and the broad yoke collar can either be included in the seam or finished separately. Wide back and under arm portions join the fronts in shoulder and under arm seams, the three centre seams ending a few inches from the lower edge, which is stylishly finished in two wide tabs. The two-seamed sleeves are shaped according to the latest mode and gathered at the top. Reefer jackets like this in bright colors trimmed with black braid are exceedingly becoming to young girls, and may be worn as occasion demands all through the summer. To cut this jacket for a girl of eight years one and one-half yards of material fifty-four inches wide will be required.

A Famous Cook.

Mrs. Sarah T. Rorer, the apostle of hygienic cookery, is a comfortable, buxom-looking woman, whose fair complexion is a practical denial of the oft-asserted statement that cooking and bending over the fire are ruinous to feminine good looks and delicacy of skin.

In south Australia all adults enjoy the rights of franchise, and Mr. Kingston, the prime minister, says that the women appreciate the power and always use it intelligently.

THE GAME TARPON

HOOKING A BIG FELLOW AN EXPERIENCE NOT EASILY FORGOTTEN.

The Proper Outfit That Is Required—The Fish Is Wily and Nature Has Equipped Him for a Struggle—His Mouth Paved With Bone Plates.

Provided the aspiring tarpoon slayer is prepared to expend anywhere from $20 to $50 or more, he may supply himself with an excellent outfit through any respectable dealer. It goes without saying that no really conscientious disciple of Isaak Walton will be content to order his outfit offhand, leaving everything to the dealer, thereby sacrificing the exquisite satisfaction of making his own selections. Yet such is the spirit of the age that not a few of our glided youth are prone to order their fishing tackle as they do their trousers—by the dozen—and leave all details to the tailor. Let such go their way; they will probably catch no tarpon.

The approved rod for this sport is seven to nine feet long, fitted with a large multiplying click reel that will hold some two hundred yards of fifteen to twenty-one thread linen line. Tastes differ regarding the hooks, but the best authorities favor something not far from 10-0 in size, forged and ringed. The Dublin bend Limerick is a favorite with some successful fishers.

The snell, the connecting link between the hook and the line, offers the most difficult problem. The tarpon jaws are so constructed that the snell must be built to order to circumvent them. These jaws, be it known, have overlapping side plates which are in effect quite efficient shears. They will cut anything not made of metal that has body enough to offer resistance. Naturally a chain was the first resort, but the minute Sir Tarpon closed upon a chain he knew it, and ejected it forthwith, bait and all, for his mouth is conveniently paved throughout with bone plates upon which no hook has the least hold.

At last the ingenious device was hit upon of using a snell made of several strands of rather soft-laid cotton line, dyed some dark color so as to be inconspicuous when wet. When the jaw shears close upon this it spreads apart into separate strands and becomes too thin to cut. Sir Tarpon perceived nothing wrong, so the portion of mullet covering the hook continues its downward course, taking up the slack of the long snell as it goes (the snell should be twenty-four to twenty-eight inches long) and pursues its way rejoicing until a sudden wrench at an inward locality not provided with armor plates tells him that he is hooked, and then the fun begins.

His first act is to throw himself bodily out of water, with his huge jaws wide open, and jerk his head violently from side to side. If the bait is not completely gorged he will often force it out. But if the hook secures a hold the effort is vain, and the struggle of skill against energy goes on.

Again and again, sometimes a score of times, the fish leaps from the water to shake himself free. Miles upon miles he swims, doubling upon his course, circling, sulking until he often tires out his would-be captor, who is glad to hand the rod over to his boatman for a rest. Such a confession of weakness is, however, so humiliating to a true fisherman that if he has any "sand" in his composition he will fight it out to a victorious finish or an honorable defeat.

Such an experience is not easily forgotten, and the fastidious coquettishness of the tarpon in the matter of taking bait renders it nearly certain that to the average fisherman killing a tarpon will not become tedious through frequent repetitions. Far more likely is it that his patience will give out after a few days under a tropical sun upon a breathless sea, and he will never experience the thrill of the Silver King's break for liberty.

The tarpon season in Florida waters begins in March and improves throughout the summer, the best of it coming long after most visitors have fled northward to escape the heat with its attendant pests.

As a table fish the tarpon is not a great success, though with such sauces as a French chef knows how to prepare it is not altogether to be despised when nothing better can be had. As a staple article of food, however, it has its uses along the Florida beaches, for there the native fisherman spears the magnificent fellows, scrape off their silver scales with a hoe, cut their persons up in long strips and dry them in the sun for provision when other "hog and hominy" fail.

A Whitewash Train.

Some of the new labor-saving devices are of the unexpected order. Here, for instance, says London Titbits, is the Grand Trunk Railway, among other devices for reducing its working expenses, doing its whitewashing by steam. It has a regular whitewash train—or rather two trains, one for each division. The apparatus consists essentially of an old engine in which the boiler does duty as a receiver. Into this the whitewash is sucked from barrels as required, and there it is kept in agitation by a Westinghouse pump. From this it is ejected by another brake pump as a fine spray, so that a man can lay the color on as if he were watering a garden with a hose. In this way he can whitewash two or three stations a day.

Buy the Emperor's Horses.

Emperor William, always eager to lead the way, likes a good piece of horseflesh. His horses are usually of English breed, although on rare occasions he buys them in Germany. The training of all horses belonging to the Emperor and his suite is intrusted to the Master of the Horse, and it is this high official who himself rides all those which are ultimately intended for His Majesty's personal use. This post of Master of the Horse must be an extremely responsible one.

German Insurance.

A peculiar law in regard to life insurance prevails in Germany. If a man whose life is insured loses both hands he can at once claim the full amount of insurance, on the ground that he has been deprived of the means of support.

BIRDS SHY OF WINDSTORMS

Tactics They Pursue to Escape Impending Danger.

The power of the winds is dreaded by almost all ordinary birds, and an instinctive knowledge seems to be possessed by them that if they once surrender to the force of the winds unknown dangers will have to be faced. Consequently, when a high storm prevails, all birds seek shelter of some kind. The strong-winged sea birds are the last to take fright at the approaching hurricane, but even they will finally try to escape its fury beneath the shelter of some cliff or sand dune. During tremendous windstorms birds may sometimes be seen flying overhead at a great altitude. When this phenomenon is observed it may be taken for granted that the upper atmosphere is comparitively quiet and that the disturbance is confined chiefly to the lower regions. Many sea birds seek the upper air of common quietness during tropical hurricanes.

When a heavy wind or gale springs up the gulls, terns and petrels will fly back and forth over the water's surface, rising and falling, and uttering their peculiar cries of warning. If the storm extends too high up they will drift gradually with the wind or fly away to the edge of the hurricane. Very often they get caught unexpectedly in the gales of wind and they find themselves in a dangerous position. Then they struggle with might and main against the powers of the air currents. Knowing that danger and death face them if they once come under the dominion of the wind, they use all the strength and tactics they are capable of to combat the elements. A young herring gull, a petrel or a tern thus surprised will beat up against the wind with powerful flight. It will rise high in the air, facing the gale and making a little progress forward as well as upward. Then it will suddenly descend with rapid flight toward one side of the storm-swept path, but falling off at the time in the direction of the blowing wind. Once more it will sweep around and face the storm, ascending heavenward and striking desperately out toward the direction of the storm.

Non-Freezing Water Pipes.

The Germans, who are so far ahead of many nations in a certain class of technical skill, have incorporated into their plumbing practice a non-freezing water pipe, which will save an incalculable amount of annoyance and profanity in a single winter. The purpose of the invention is not only to prevent the water from being frozen, but to provide an opportunity for its expansion by cold. Into the iron pipe, as far as it is above the ground, there is inserted a second narrower pipe of thin elastic substance, such, for instance, as rubber. This insertion remains unaffected by the ordinary pressure; but if the water should be frozen by extreme cold the elastic insertion is compressed by so much as the volume of water is increased by the freezing. With the coming of the thaw the insertion expands again to its original circumference. The object of the tin or lead around the insertion is to prevent an unpleasant taste or odor being imparted to the water. It is said that water pipes provided with such an insertion have withstood a cold test of 40 degrees centigrade, while others that were no so provided invarably burst at that temperature.

Life on a Torpedo Boat.

So injurious is life on a torpedo boat that a year's continuous service will mentally and physically incapacitate a man. This assertion is made on the authority of Lord Charles Beresford, but that the strain on any one serving on these crafts is very great is shown by the fact that to one months service the British naval regulations allow one week off. Austria is endeavoring to mitigate the hardship of service on these boats, and life on one built for the Austrian navy, and tried on the Thames recently, was demonstrated to be pleasanter than on those of the English navy.

Just Like Other People.

Though the German emperor has an annual income of about three-quarters of a million sterling, the empress, who dresses "like a good-class woman," is most economical. The children's clothes are repaired in the workroom, where her own wardrobe is mended. When the clothes are outgrown they are cut up for the smaller members of the family, which can very well be done, seeing that six out of the seven children are boys.

All Muscle.

The elephant has more muscles in its trunk than any other creature possesses in its whole body, the number being, according to Cuvier, not fewer than 40,000; while in the whole of his body man can only boast of 527. This is why the elephant's trunk is so exceedingly strong, and at the same time so extremely delicate in its movements.

Activity of Baby Crocodiles.

The moment a young crocodile breaks its shell it is to all intents and purposes as active as it is at any time during its life. It will make straight for the water, even if it be out of sight and a good distance off, and it will pursue its prey with eagerness and agility during the first hour of its free existence.

Cutting of Diamonds.

Diamonds are cut in three different forms—the rose, the brilliant, and the table, of which the second is the prettiest. It is a double pyramid or cone, of which the top is cut off to form a large plane, and at the bottom directly opposite to a small plane.

Privateering.

Letters of marque and reprisal, which really meant the commissioning of privately owned vessels as warships—the old privateer, in fact—were first granted in 1295. They are not permitted now.

A Grafted Ear.

An enterprising veterinarian of Bristol, Pa., has successfully grafted an artificial ear on a horse. It exactly matches the ear on the other side of the animal's head and is equally under control.

Chinese Tea.

China exported 35,000,000 pounds of tea the past season.

A head instructor in a Boston school presents a rather novel proposition in practical arithmetic: "I would rather," he declares, "pay five cents each for Ripans Tabules than five cents per hundred for any other pills or tablets I have ever tried, and I have tried a great many. I have used the 'Tabules' for over a year, and they are the only thing that gives me relief from indigestion. My work being sedentary, keeps me constantly constipated, and Ripans Tabules have worked wonders in correcting that trouble. I would not be without them for a good deal."

A new style packet containing THE RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (180 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (THE TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

ISN'T IT AWFUL.

There is a little maiden
Who has an awful time;
She has to hurry awfully
To get to school at nine.

She has an awful teacher;
Her tasks are awful hard;
Her playmates are awful rough
When playing in the yard.

She has an awful kitty,
Who often shows her claws;
A dog who jumps upon her dress,
With awful muddy paws.

She has a baby sister
With an awful little nose,
With awful cunning dimples,
And such awful little toes.

She has two little brothers,
And they are awful boys,
With their awful drums and trumpets,
And make an awful noise.

Do come, I pray thee, common sense,
Come and this maid defend,
Or else, I fear, her awful life
Will have an awful end.

THE MERCHANT'S LUNCHEON.

The Office Boy's Doughnut Tempted Him.—Showed His Gratitude.

A rich merchant sat at the desk in his office, alone. He leaned back in his chair, and drew a long, hard breath quite like a sigh; for he had been struggling all day with difficult business problems, and he was weary in body and mind. Some people think a rich man never has anything to do; but they little know how hard he often has to work, first to gain and then to keep his riches. It was long past the luncheon hour, and it suddenly occurred to this man that he was faint and hungry; yet he was not ready to leave his work and was about to return to his calculations when he caught sight of a little brown package lying on a shelf near by. It was the package of luncheon which his little office boy brought with him every day, and to-day the boy, having been sent on some distant errand, had not yet had time to partake of it. The merchant arose from his seat, took down the package and looked carefully at it. Just such packages had his own beloved mother tied up for him, when he himself, a poor office boy, first began the career which had brought him to his present splendid position. Slowly he untied the string and opened the package. Two nice sandwiches of fresh home-made bread, with a little cold meat between, a piece of old-fashioned-looking pie, and oh!—a genuine New England doughnut! Tears rose to the eyes of the rich man as memory carried him back to the days of his boyhood, and to the loving deeds of that dear mother. Here was the very luncheon she had often prepared for him! And after a few moments he ate it up, every crumb, with far more enjoyment than an elaborate dinner would have given him, and then, refreshed and comforted, he returned to his work.

Soon after, the belated boy came in, and after reporting to his master, he was surprised to hear him say: "Have you had any luncheon to-day, my boy?" The boy replied in the negative, with a glance at the shelf, when the gentleman said with a smile: "Yes, it is gone. I have eaten it up." Then, handing the astonished boy a five dollar bill, he said: "Go out now and get some luncheon; but I want to thank you for the best one I have had for many a long year. And don't you forget, my boy, to be thankful that you have something which I lost long ago, and that is, a good mother."

Catching and Killing Man-Eaters.

How would you like to fish for a sea monster large and strong enough to devour a man at a single meal—a creature whose skin is so rough that it is made into files when dry? The man-eating shark is such a creature, and shark-fishing is one of the most exciting sports known to fishermen.

The man who goes shark fishing must provide himself with several feet of stout chain attached to a hook that looks like a small anchor. The fishline is stout rope about as thick as the little finger. The hook is baited with a chunk of meat large enough to feed a small family, and the rope line, chain and hook are then dropped into the sea from the side of a stout rowboat or fishing smack. Sometimes oil is thrown on the water to attract the sharks. When a shark bites and finds that it is hooked it swims away at a fearful speed. Then it is necessary to have many feet of rope to play out till the creature gets tired. When the shark is finally brought to the surface it is killed by a rifle shot. It would be a blessing to ocean bathers if all the sharks could be killed in this way.

He Surprised the Queen.

Sir Walter Raleigh made a wager with the queen that he could weigh the smoke from his tobacco pipe. He weighed the tobacco before smoking and the ashes afterwards. When Elizabeth paid the wager she said: "I have seen many a man turn his gold into smoke, but you are the first who has turned his smoke into gold."

Try, and Prove It.

A KENNEL FOR YOUR DOG.

Any Boy Who is Handy With Tools Can Make One in Half a Day.

There are undoubtedly any number of boys who have a dog, but no kennel to keep him in. Almost any kind of kennel, people think, will do for a dog, so long as it affords him a place to sleep in and protection from the rain and cold. If he gets a big dry goods box with a hole in one end large enough for him to go through he is better off than the average of his race, but a kennel made especially for his use is much better, and it can easily be made in half a day.

Its size will depend, of course, on the size of your dog, but for a canine of medium size a box 36 inches long, 22 inches wide and 32 inches high from the ground to the roof peak will give ample room. If it is made larger or smaller, the same relative proportions should be maintained.

First make the front and back with peaked tops, then the side and bottom. In the front cut the entrance hole and be sure to have it large enough. Don't force your dog to squeeze and scrape every time he crawls in or out. This opening should be marked with a compass and cut with a keyhole saw to obtain the curved line. Above it, in the peak, bore four holes and with the same saw cut away the wood between them, as shown in the picture, so as to make a ventilator for dogs as well as other animals need pure air. The back can be treated in a similar manner, so that a circulation of air can be had.

Now nail the sides to the bottom, and the front and back to the bottom and sides. Between the two peaks nail a strip of wood to form a ridge pole, against which the upper ends of the board forming the roof are to be nailed. Next put on the top, nailing it securely to the ridgepole, the top edges of the front and back, and also to the upper edge of the sides.

Under the front and back nail a piece of joist to raise the floor of the kennel from the ground. When this is done, look inside and see that there is no nail ends visible to tear the dog's skin or stick into him when he lies down.

A staple with a chain attached, to the end of which may be a snap, can be driven in at one side of the front if it is desired to keep the dog fastened. If necessary a door may be fitted to close the hole in front at night, so as to keep the dog warmer in winter, but you must never forget to open it in the morning, as it would be very disagreeable for a dog to be shut in so small a place when he is awake. If it is thought desirable to paint the kennel the nail holes should be puttied up and the entire outside treated to several successive coats. A light colored paint is best.

Always place plenty of straw on the floor of the kennel to make a soft bed for your dog. He will be more grateful to you in his canine way than you have any idea of.

To Puzzle Your Friends.

Here is a trick that will delight the small boy because by doing it he can astonish an army of friends. They will not know how in the world it is done and he will be correspondingly happy. To hang a bottle on an ordinary match, as shown in the design, tie a string tightly about the neck of the bottle, lay a match on the cork and holding it, tie the match as shown in the illustration. Then call in your friends and watch their expressions of astonishment.

He Knew How Hay Grew.

Those who have chaperoned a company of city gamins sent into the country by the "Vacation Fund" will perhaps be able to cap this story, told by the London Answers:

Many years ago, when Londoners had not the excursion facilities for getting into the country that they enjoy now, a Cockney friend was staying at a farmhouse, and soon made himself at home.

Charley was wandering round, closely examining the top, ends and sides of a certain trim, well-made object fenced round in the paddock. He started at it for a little while, then shook his head dubiously.

"What are you looking for now, Charles?"

"Where's the doors and windows, uncle?"

"Doors and windows? Why, that's a haystack."

"No fear, uncle, you don't humbug me! Hay don't grow in lumps like that!"

GOLF.

Play in the competition for the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen Cup will be continued this afternoon on the links of the Park Golf Club.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Park Golf Club was held Thursday evening at which routine business was transacted. One new member was elected.

Barry, the green keeper at Park Golf links, is not in love with the sixth hole, called "Desperation." He thinks that the ditch ought to be filled up as it just catches a good drive.

Expert Cass, who was with the Park Golf Club until a few weeks ago, has gone back to Litchfield, Conn., where there are three golf clubs located. He was very popular while he remained here and his work was of a very satisfactory order.

One of the most popular clubs in the vicinity of Plainfield is the New Brunswick Golf Club, whose course is located on a bluff overlooking the Raritan river across from New Brunswick. The clubhouse is a historic homestead of colonial times, called Rose Hall.

Miss Helen Deshler wields a golf club with the best of men players; Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Helen Rice are fine players, and all three are among the most popular society belles of New Brunswick. Other good players are Miss Myra Cooke, Mrs. W. S. Myers, Miss Helen Williamson, Miss Katharine Carpender, Miss Louise Deshler, Mrs. F. L. Hindle, Mrs. Frank Parker and Mrs. A. McHardenbergh. All well-known in society as well as golfing circles here.

The club numbers among its members some very fine players. Among the men are Laurence Runyon, the captain of the club; John P. Street, a popular young society man; Asher Atkinson, the city surveyor; William R. Hill, a New York business man; J. B. Kirkpatrick, Jr., a recent graduate of Rutgers College, and F. L. Janeway, a wealthy capitalist. One of the most enthusiastic and at the same time most expert players is Major C. A. Kenney, who was the originator of the Golf Club, he having first proposed its organization.

VARICUS SPORTS.

C. E. A. Heywood, physical director of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., went to Montclair today to act as an official at the joint meet to be held at the grounds of the Montclair Athletic Association.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the young women of this city will have a chance to take lessons in gymnastics. The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. has granted Mr. Heywood permission to use the gymnasium two afternoons a week, probably Mondays and Thursdays, for a gymnastic class for young women.

Will Admitted to Probate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22—Before Judge Bartine in the Somerset County Orphans' Court Tuesday there was a hearing in the contest of the will of the late Tunis TenEyck, a rich farmer living at North Branch. The contest is being made by James A. TenEyck, a nephew, who was "cut off" by his uncle in a codicil from securing a farm valued at $10,000. The caveator tried to show incompetency and undue influence, but was unable to prove his claims and Judge Bartine admitted the document to probate.

TURTLE KEEPS TRACK OF DATES.

Mr. Lewis's Remarkable Tale About His Pet Terrapin.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 22—B. Frank Lewis, of Pennington, a prominent politician of Mercer County, has a pet in the shape of a terrapin turtle. The turtle revels in the stream which meanders through the valley near Mr. Lewis's residence, but whenever Mr. Lewis gives a peculiar whistle it appears quickly and eats meat from his hand.

The peculiar feature about the turtle is that he always appears on the first Sunday in July every year at the Lewis mansion for his first meal. Then he remains during the summer months, and with the approach of cool weather he suddenly disappears. This he has done for the past nine years, until his appearance in July has become an event in the family history.

"Dewey" was Mad.

My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

VALENTINE IN PRISON.

BANK WRECKER TAKEN TO TRENTON YESTERDAY.

A Quiet Trip on the Train—His Wife Accompanied Him on His Way to Serve His Years of Confinement.

One week from the day that he was a self-confessed defaulter, George M. Valentine, the former cashier of the suspended Middlesex County Bank, at Perth Amboy, was an inmate of the State Prison at Trenton, beginning the term to which he was sentenced by Judge Woodbridge Strong. Valentine was taken to Trenton early yesterday morning.

When a reporter saw George J. Litterst, the Sheriff of Middlesex county, Thursday afternoon, he told him that at that time he had not received the necessary papers in connection with the Valentine case, and that he hardly expected to take the prisoner to Trenton for several days. Valentine's friends had other ideas, however, and when the papers were handed to the Sheriff Thursday evening, a consultation was held with Valentine, and it was agreed to make the trip yesterday morning early in order that the term might begin as soon as possible.

Valentine ate his breakfast in the corridor of the Middlesex County Jail just before 7 o'clock and seemed to relish it. He had hardly finished his repast before his wife was permitted to have access to the jail corridor to assist him in his preparations to leave for Trenton. Soon after 7 o'clock a party of four, consisting of George J. Litterst, the Sheriff; Valentine, the bank wrecker; his wife and a deputy sheriff, left the jail in Bayard street and walked leisurely to the Suydam Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

As the station selected for boarding the train is a mile away from the main station, and but little used, the party attracted little attention. While waiting for the train Valentine chatted with his wife and seemed to be in excellent spirits. Mrs. Valentine carried a valise containing clothing for her husband.

Despite the fact that Valentine escaped with what is looked upon as a very light sentence, there is an impression throughout Middlesex county that after the lapse of two or three years an effort will be made by his relatives to have him pardoned. The depositors of the bank who live in Perth Amboy are very indignant over this idea.

There is some talk in Perth Amboy that the depositors will oppose the appointment of James Maguire as permanent receiver when the matter is brought before the Court of Chancery at Newark on Monday. This is do to the impression that the Kean syndicate will seek to close up the affairs of the suspended institution with too much haste. John Kean, the United States Senator, is president of the bank of which Maguire is cashier in Elizabeth. Hamilton Kean, his brother, is the guiding spirit in the movement to establish the new national bank, and it is believed that it would be to the interests of the new institution to have the affairs of the old bank wound up at once.

LAWN FESTIVAL.

Epworth League of Dunellen Entertained the Borough Society.

The lawn festival held at Dunellen last evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church, at the home of O. A. Douglass, local editor of The Call, was a pleasant affair. The handsome and spacious grounds were made the more inviting by the addition of flags and Japanese lanterns. The tables were spread beneath the foliage and around them gathered the young folks, while the older people occupied the parlors. During the evening piano music enlivened the occasion. About 180 plates of ice cream were sold and the receipt were nearly $15. The evening was most delighful, the soft rays of the moon shedding its lustre over the happy gathering. In the near future the Presbyterian church society will hold a similar festival at the same place, Mr. Douglass kindly donating his grounds.

Mrs. Bellis, of West Front street, is able to be out again after being confined for some time by illness.

At Long Branch Chief of Police Layton was instructed to order the removal of all slot machines within the city limits.

A shower of small black beetles drove the residents in the western portion of Woodbury into their homes and forced them to close the windows one night recently. The bugs were about a half inch long and came with a sound resembling hail as they hit buildings and fences, which they liter ally covered. Not a trace of them was to be found the next morning.

J. Charles Wilkinson is announced by the Controller of the Currency as vice-president of the First National Bank of Ridgewood. The Controller has approved of Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia and of the National Park Bank New York as reserve agents respectively of the Millville Mechanics' National and the Ridgewood First National banks.

SWINDLING ALL AROUND.

THAT'S WHAT MERCANTILE CO OPERATIVE BANK PRESIDENT SAYS.

Reporting Receipts of $1,500 When Bank Did Not Take in Half of That—Statement Has Been Prepared.

The collapse of the Mercantile Co-operative Bank, with a deficit estimated by the New York State Banking Department to be about $200,000, again calls attention to the wildcat building and loan associations which go along unchecked by law carrying on all kinds of top-heavy financial schemes.

Charles Edward Potter, the president of the institution, who spent $275,000 of its dwindling funds in April, three weeks after becoming president, for 120 acres of marshland and upland between Weschester and Pelham Bay Park, with an "improvement" scheme in his head, spent yesterday at the "bank's" office in East Twenty-third street, telling all inquirers that his Pelham View Park was all right.

"The bank won't lose 5 cents on that land," he said with an air of confidence. "Not a 5-cent piece will it lose. Negotiations are under way for its sale. That's a valuable piece of land. You know Philip A. Smyth. Here's his appraisal of the property—25 acres on the road, $4,000 an acre; 62 acres of upland, $2,500 an acre; 30 acres of salt meadow, $1,000 an acre. That's $292,500. Pelham View Park is all right. You can bank on that."

"What's the bank going to do?"

"Have to wind up—nothing else for it to do. In the last eighteen months our loans have been practically nothing and our expenses $70,000. Can't do business that way, can you, eh? These building and loan associations are built on a 'rob-Peter-to-pay Paul' and they've got to wind up sooner or later. Yes, the system is wrong. Oh, I suppose these companies are all right in England, where people are honest, but here everybody is trying to do somebody else—case of swindling all around. I've found that the company which audited the bank's books was reporting receipts of $1,500 a day, when the bank did't take in more than a third of that. Iv'e prepared a statement to send to the shareholders showing that our deficit is $141,545.74, as it is impossible to realize the book value on real estate loans. The Banking Department makes it $290,585 73."

Entertained by the Clifton House.

The Clifton House, that large and popular resort, of which Charles Clifton, of this city, is one of the proprietors, and which is so finely situated on Great South Bay at Patchogue, L. I., gave a dinner to Messrs. C. Berry Egan, George E. Fuller, Henry L. Maxson, Max Moraller and Clarence M. Rogers, of this city, who are cruising on the bay. A cake-walk, in which a large number of the guests participated, followed, much to th amusement of the spectators. Mr. Rogers has returned, but the other young men expect to spend the remainder of the month on their yacht.

ANDERSON WINS AT GOLF FROM SCRATCH.

Equalled Low Score on Park Golf Club Links.

FOR M'CUTCHEN TROPHY.

GOOD SCORES RECORDED AT PARK CLUB SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

G. W. Faber Has Scored Most Points for the McCutchen Cup so far This Season—Anderson and Taylor are Tied for Second Place—Miss Saidee Mae Howell's Low Score for Buttfield Cup.

It took a really enthusiastic golfer to brave the decidedly warm weather of Saturday and spend the afternoon in the enjoyment of the ancient sport. Consequently the attendance at the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday was not as large as when favored by better weather conditions. The competition for the Mrs. C. W. McCutchen Cup grew quite keen, however, and brought out some good scores. W. de la R. Anderson, the crack player of the club, equalling the lowest score ever made over the course in a tournament.

The morning saw two competitors out for the Buttfield Cup, a ladies' handicap competition, nine holes. This time Miss Saidee Mae Howell was victorious with a gross score of 68. Miss Daisy Elsberg, winner in the competition the week before, was second with a gross score for the nine holes of 89.

W. de la R. Anderson and Clifford W. Cooley made their rounds in the competition together. Anderson was playing in fine form, his driving was far and with good direction while he did equally good work on the putting greens. His first round was made in 46, and the second round showed the same score, making a total gross score of 92. Fred P. Taylor made the same gross score in the Fourth of July handicap. It is now the low tournament score for the course. Anderson played from scratch so his gross and net scores were the same. Nobody else had large enough handicap to overcome the fine playing of Anderson, so he was low man for the day.

The members of the famous Park Club whist team were out together and found golf nearly as entertaining as whist. They were Samuel Townsend, George T. Rogers and J. H. Howell. Mr. Townsend was the only one of the three to hand in his scores for the cup. He showed considerable improvement, particularly in the second round and with his fat handicap of 30, had a net score of only 93, just one stroke behind Anderson, giving him second in the McCutchen competition.

G. W. Faber is one of the steadiest players in the club. Saturday afternoon he went around in 101, which his handicap reduced to 98 net. He was third.

Charles E. Faber did not quite come up to his playing of the week before. He made his two rounds with Morgan Townsend, who is playing a good game these days. William A. Townsend, his brother, made the eighteen holes alone so his score was unable to count in the competition. His score was a low one, however. Golf playing seems to run in the Townssend blood, for the father and two sons are all doing remarkably well.

The scores for the McCutchen Cup, handed in Saturday, were as follows:

| | Gross. | Handicap. | Net. |
|---|---|---|---|
| W. de la R. Anderson.. | 98 | 6 | 92 |
| Samuel Townsend.... | 123 | 30 | 93 |
| G. W. Faber ..... | 101 | 3 | 98 |
| Chas. E. Faber..... | 134 | 30 | 104 |
| W. J. R. Thiers..... | 126 | 12 | 114 |
| Morgan Townsend.... | 123 | 7 | 116 |
| Clarence S. Roome... | 133 | 5 | 128 |

The scores for the Buttfield Cup were as follows:

| | Gross. | Handicap. | Net. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Miss Saidee Mae Howell..... | 68 | 4 | 64 |
| Miss Daisy Elsberg.... | 89 | 19 | 71 |

There has been considerable interest in the standing of the various competitors for the McCutchen Cup. It will be remembered that the lowest three in every Saturday's competition receive three, two and one points respectively, to be scored for the cup during the season. The one scoring the most points at the end of the season will get the cup.

G. W. Faber is now in the lead with W. de la R. Anderson and Fred P. Taylor tied for second place. Faber shows up almost every Saturday and plays a careful painstaking game that wins for him in the end. Meredith Dryden, the secretary of the club, has followed the same plan and stands third. For the last two weeks, however, he has not entered the competition. Nobody is so far ahead, however, that the final result of the competition is not an open question. Anderson has only played for the last two weeks, and has during that time

COW'S HORN WENT THROUGH ABDOMEN

Serious Injury Sustained by Sixteen Year Old Orphan.

ANIMAL BROKE THE HALTER.

KATIE LALLY COULD NOT GET OUT OF WAY QUICK ENOUGH.

The Accident Occurred Friday Night, But No Serious Consequences Were Felt Until the Next Morning When Dr. Simpson Was Called — Blood Poisoning or Peritonitis is Feared.

Miss Kate Lally, an orphan, aged sixteen years, who makes her home with the family of Councilman Walter Hetfield on East Front street, was seriously gored by a cow in Mr. Hetfield's barn Friday night, and is now confined to the bed suffering with a painful and perhaps dangerous wound.

The young woman, together with several other members of the family, was in the barn Friday evening. The cow had given birth to a calf two days before and was in a fretful temper. This fact, together with the pestering of the animal by the flies, caused her to suddenly pull at the halter and break the fastening. The hired man employed about the place yelled for the women to get out of the barn, but the Lally girl was too near the cow to escape.

The animal, as it reached the girl, threw its head downward and the horns caught under the bottom of the dress, and as the cow swung its head upward it struck one of its horns against the girl's abdomen. The girl felt some pain at the point of contact at the time, but thought that the injury did not amount to anything.

Soon after, however, she felt the blood trickling down her body and an inspection of the wound was made. It was found that a gash about four inches long had been made by the horn of the cow, but even then neither the girl nor Mrs. Hetfield considered the injury as a serious one. No doctor was summoned to attend to it, but early the next morning the wound became very painful and Dr. Simpson was called. He found that the horn of the cow had penetrated through the walls of the abdomen and that the injury was a very serious one. He treated it, and ordered the girl to remain in bed several days.

Dr. Simpson says that the young lady will probably recover from the injuries all right if blood poisoning or peritonitis does not set in. He feels confident, however, of being able to avoid such serious consequences.

UNABLE TO BE IN COURT

NECESSARY POSTPONEMENT OF HALSTEAD COMPTON'S EXAMINATION.

Unfortunate Boy Still Confined to Bed, and Therefore Unable to Appear to Tell His Story of the Shooting.

Halstead C. Compton, who is charged with shooting little Victor L. Houston, the grandson of Isaac E. Houston, of 935 West Front street, when he supposed that the lad was stealing his apples, last Thursday afternoon, was to have been given a hearing this this morning before Justice Nash. Owing to the serious condition of the victim of Mr. Compton's rash act, the examination had to be postponed.

The unfortunate boy is still under the care of Dr. Fritts, who has given strict orders that his patient shall be kept as quiet as possible, and no one is allowed to see the injured boy.

Mr. Compton has expressed profound sorrow over his hasty act and has offered to do anything in his power to settle satisfactorily with Mr. Houston. The little fellow was a great favorite with Mr. Compton as well as with many of the neighbors. The fact that the Comptons and Houstons are neighbors and have been on the best of terms, makes the affair the more deplorable.

EVENING GOSPEL SERVICE.

Christian Endeavorers to Officiate at Westfield Fresh Air Camp.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will conduct the evening Gospel meeting at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp tomorrow night. The meeting will be led by A. C. LaBoyteaux, and the topic will be "The Compassionate Love of Christ." All members of the society and their friends are invited to be present. Those who are to go by wheel are requested to meet at 338 Franklin place at 7 o'clock. Those preferring to go by rail can take a train from at 7:06 or at 7:39 from the North Avenue station. Trains leave Westfield after the meeting at 9:26 and 10:15. In case of bad weather the meeting will not be held.

A NEW QUEEN WILL RULE THE GYPSIES

The Passing of "Snake Mary" is a Great Event.

TWO YOUTHFUL ASPIRANTS.

ELECTION TO BE HELD AS SOON AS TRIBES MEET.

Congress of Nomads to be Held in the Grove Near Thatcher's Road House Between This City and Fanwood —"Snake Mary" Has Ruled for Many Years, but is Now Getting Old.

The strange and wonderful career of "Snake Mary," queen of the gypsies, is nearing its end. She is now ninety-four years old, well preserved for such an elderly woman and of remarkably clear mind. But she realizes that her days are numbered and that it is best that her successor should be chosen and duly instructed in the ways of the queen of the wandering bands before death comes to claim the present occupant of the gypsy throne. So "Snake Mary" sent out word to her kith and kin all over the country to assemble and select the young woman to succeed her as their queen. The place of meeting for this strange gypsy congress is the little grove, close by George Thatcher's road house, "The Maples," on the county road from Plainfield to Fanwood. The day set for the gathering was yesterday, but owing to illness in one of the important families which was to be in attendance, the momentous affair was postponed and will probably be held next Sunday afternoon.

The band, of which "Snake Mary" is the queen, is one of the wealthiest and most powerul in all gypsydom. They are all Harrisons and Coopers, allied families. There are already seven families of the band encamped near the maple grove. As many more are now enroute toward the camp, some coming from as far as Binghamton and the Chenango Valley, New York State. One party is now in camp near Bordentown, where one of the children is seriously ill. It was this delay that caused the postponement of the gypsy congress yesterday They hope that the child will be well enough to travel and allow them to reach here this week.

"Snake Mary" is considered one of the greatest of all the gypsy fortune tellers who are endowed with second sight. She originally married a Harrison but after his death she was wedded to an Irishman named Reilly, who joined the gypsy band and became one of the leading men in the gypsy councils. The Harrison band has always been famous as horse dealers. The Harrisons have raised and sold many famous trotters and pacers, including the great "Gypsy Queen" that brought $1,950. They have now nearly two score horses with them and expect a hundred more when the remainder of the band arrives.

There are two principal rivals for the place of Gypsy queen. One is Posy Dean Harrison, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Harry Harrison, with whose family "Snake Mary" is now stopping. The young woman has already shown unusual ability in second sight, and when possessed of all the wisdom of the aged queen will be well worthy of the place. She is a handsome girl, dark-complexioned with great black eyes that seem possessed of wonderful power. The other candidate for queenly honors is Laurel Harrison, another granddaughter of "Snake Mary." She is seventeen years old. The family to which she belongs is on its way to Plainfield, and stands high in power in the Harrison band. She is said to be tall and queenly, with raven black hair and magnificent black eyes.

The choice will be left to the gypsies. When the congress is held the question will be put to vote, and the decision reached will be final. Then "Snake Mary" will impart her wisdom to the newly-chosen queen who will ascend the throne when the aged fortune-teller passes away.

Off for Canada.

Miss Juanita Humphrey, the charming daughter of Major-General Humphrey, second command of the United States troops in Cuba, who has been a guest at the Hotel Hunterston for several weeks, left this afternoon for New York. This evening she and her maid leave by private car on the New York Central for Canada where the month of August will be spent. Miss Humphrey will return to the Hunterston for September.

Bishop to Confirm.

Bishop Scarborough will visit this diocese tomorrow and confirm a class at Grace Episcopal church at 8 o'clock p. m.

POCKET CUT AND ROBBED

FRED BOYNE CLAIMS IT HAPPENED IN A LOCAL SALOON.

Was Thrown Out and Arrested for Fighting—City Judge and Police Will Investigate the Charge at Once.

Fred Boyne, a coremaker at the Pond Machine Tool Works, was ejected from Galbraith's saloon on West Third street Saturday evening for fighting. He was subsequently arrested and locked up by Patrolman Weinzenreid. Yesterday he made the statement to Mayor Rockfellow that his pocket had been cut and some $5 taken from him while he was in the saloon. City Judge Runyon this morning laid the case over until tomorrow to allow an investigation.

Patrolman John Weinzenreid has the old "Boulevard" beat. Saturday evening he was passing the saloon of Daniel Galbraith, the well-known Fourth ward politician, when, he states, he was summoned to arrest a man. Boyne was put out of the place by Thomas Keefe, the bartender, who declared that he had been fighting.

Weinzenreid alleges that Keefe asked him to arrest Boyne, but Keefe says that he asked nothing of the kind. Just as the officer had arrested Boyne, the former says that he heard shouts of "police" in the saloon and that he went into see what was the trouble. He says he found another fight in progress and put two of the combatants out of the house. He says that Galbraith was indignant because he entered the saloon, and claimed that no one had shouted "police."

Yesterday Mayor Rockfellow visited the jail and had a talk with Boyne. The latter showed that his coat pocket had been cut, and declared that he had been robbed in the saloon and was fighting for his rights when thrown out. The Mayor released him on his own recognizance to appear this morning.

The officer appeared, but stated that Keefe, the bartender, refused to come down as a witness. The Judge then heard about Boyne's statement. One of the officers said that Boyne remarked this morning that he wasn't sure, after all, but that he had been robbed before he went into the saloon. The Judge decided, however, that the case ought to be looked into, and set the hearing down for tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Boyne is a new man in Plainfield. He came here from Elizabeth two weeks ago. He has a family in Elizabeth.

HE HAD TOO MUCH PULL.

BUT IT DIDN'T GO WITH CITY JUDGE RUNYON.

Michael Gleason Fell Into the Toils of the Police For the Third Time and Was Fined — Was Drunk.

Michael Gleason had too much pull. After being interviewed by the Czar of Paradise Alley and sundry other prominent citizens of that and other sections of the city, City Judge Runyon decided that there must really be something the matter with Gleason. Gleason lives in Paradise Alley.

Saturday night Gleason came down town and took too freely of the good things of life. His equilibrium became unbalanced and his navigation uncertain. He wandered up Park avenue in the direction of the station house. After several futile attempts, his legs refused to carry him up on the railroad embankment, and seeing a light in Judge Nash's office, he went in to make a call.

Justice Nash was not anxious to see him and told him so, but Gleason wanted to stay. He had found navigation such ticklish work that he wanted to anchor himself somewhere until the gyrations of the earth became less frequent.

Roundsman Frederickson came along and tried to persuade Gleason to go home. Gleason was not for it and so the officer took him to jail.

This morning Gleason was arraigned. He was very penitent, as this was the third offence of the same kind. As the Judge started for court attempts were made to pull sundry "wires" to secure a suspension of sentence for the prisoner. The Judge said there was entirely too much of it. He couldn't overlook the fact that it was the third arrest, and although the offence this time was not a serious one he felt it his duty to fine Gleason $3. The fine was paid.

Hale and Hearty at Seventy-five.

P. M. Demarest, the Park avenue grocer, ages very slowly. Yesterday he celebrated his seventy fifth birthday, and the day before waited on 130 customers at his store. He says he feels better than he did fifteen years ago, and that he could dance a jig if opportunity offered and he received the right inspiration.

LETTER READ FROM BISHOP M'FAUL

Special Services Preliminary to Observance of "Holy Year."

WHAT MENACES PEOPLE.

HE CALLS ATTENTION TO ABUSES THAT THREATEN SOCIETY.

He Says That We See Everywhere Repugnance to Christian Life, and an Insatiable Greed for Wordly Things, Which Causes False Living and False Thinking That is Almost Inconceivable.

The morning service in St. Joseph's R. C. church in the borough was marked yesterday by the reading of a letter by Father Miller from Bishop McFaul, of the Trenton diocese, which fixes next Friday, Saturday and Sunday for a Te Deum in all the principal churches as a preliminary to the Holy Year to be observed during 1900. In his letter the Bishop said:

"Who that is at all acquainted with the condition of society in our own beloved country will be disposed to deny the widespread depravity of morals which confronts us? A brilliant writer has thus summed up the present condition of the world: 'It is conceded that life is a dark and wretched failure for the great mass of mankind. The many are plundered to enrich the few. Vast combinations depress the price of labor and increase the cost of the necessaries of existence. The rich, as a rule, despise the poor, and the poor are coming to hate the rich. The face of labor grows sullen; the old tender Christian love is gone; standing armies are forming on one side and great communistic organizations on the other; society divides itself into two hostile camps; no white flags pass from one to another. They wait only for the drum beat and the trumpet to summon them to conflict.'

"Even if we are not disposed to admit the entire truth of this picture, and contend that its lines are too heavy and sombre, yet it is impossible to deny that there is much truth in this presentation of the subject, and we must therefore admire the zeal and courage of the aged Vicar of Christ, who, weighed down with the burden of almost ninety years, raises his apostolic voice in the midst of the storm to calm the winds and bid the waves be still. This he has done throughout his whole remarkable pontificate; but as the days of his mortal existence draw near to a close his fortitude is redoubled, and he emphasizes more strongly the supreme importance of admonishing individuals and nations to return to the doctrines and practices inculcated by Christ and promulgated by Christianity, as these great principles alone supply the remedy for the evils which pressed down so heavily upon society.

"Therefore, he tells us that the aim of the holy year is to admonish men of the duties of their state, to arouse souls steeped in forgetfulness, to recall to the thought of their own salvation those who run imminent risk of perishing, and of losing through their negligence and pride those celestial rewards for the possession of which we are born."

AT THE WRONG END.

Plainfield Trap Shooters Toop Part in League Shoot.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 24.—The regular shoot of the Central New Jersey Trap Shooters' League was held on the grounds of the Reservoir Gun Club, of this city, Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance, but no remarkable scores were made. The shoot resulted in a victory for the Dunellen Gun Club, while the Climax Gun Club, of Plainfield, brought up at the wrong end.

The team scores were as follows: Dunellen Gun Club, 87; Reservoir Gun Club, 83; Columbia Gun Club, of South Amboy, 78; New Brunswick Gun Club, 77; Climax Gun Club, 71.

COLLIDED WITH CARRIAGE

Wheelwoman Spilled in the Mud on Front Street This Morning.

A wheelwoman and a horse and carriage, driven by Michael Powers, of South avenue, collided on West Front street, near Somerset street, this morning. The wheelwoman was on the left side of the street, going west. Powers evidently did not notice her or else supposed that she would turn out. There was a collision and the wheelwoman was thrown headlong into the mud. She escaped without injury to herself or wheel. Her gown was very muddy, however.

WILL RETURN WITH DARLING IN CUSTODY

Chief Grant and a Detective Leave for McConnellsburg.

HAVE EXTRADITION PAPERS

WILL BRING THE PRISONER BACK HEAVILY IRONED.

He Will Probably be Arraigned at the September Term of the Middlesex County Court—Some Discussion as to What Degree of Crime He Will be Charged With — Important Witnesses Missing.

Chief of Police Grant, of this city, left for New Brunswick at an early hour this morning, where he was joined by Detective Ferguson, of the Prosecutor's office of Middlesex county, the two officers then starting for McConnellsburg, Pa., for the purpose of taking into custody William Darling, who is accused of killing Harry Dunham, of New Market, four years ago.

Detective Ferguson was armed with necessary extradition papers, which will demand the body of Darling from Sheriff Sheets, of Fulton county. On the return trip, tomorrow or Wednesday, the prisoner will be heavily ironed as it is feared that he will take advantage of any chance that may arise for his escape. Besides that he is considered a desperate man, and the officers do not propose to take any risks.

Chief Grant was selected as one of the officers to bring Darling back to New Jersey because of the fact that he was successful in apprehending and causing the arrest of the murderer.

There is considerable discussion in this section as to whether Darling will be brought before the court on the charge of manslaughter or murder in the first degree. Many believe it will be on the former charge, because the crime was evidently committed on the impulse of the moment and was not planned or deliberated upon by the offender, as would be necessary to secure a conviction in the first degree.

Darling will probably be arraigned at the September term of court, and it is understood that he will be ably defended by one of the best criminal lawyers in New Jersey. Of the four witnesses to the crime in the hotel at New Market two are dead and one is in State prison, the latter being Theodore Roantree, who is serving a term of one year for having stabbed George Pizie at New Market last winter.

BUG KISSED BARTENDER.

MALANOLESTES PICIPES APPEARED AT THE HOTEL HUNTERSTON.

Made Things Exciting There Until Captured by Richard Waring—Bug Was Identified by Dr. Gallant, of New York.

The "kissing bug" appeared at the Hotel Hunterston, Thursday evening, and caused no end of excitement. The only one to suffer severely besides the bug was Burns, the bartender. The first that was known of the advent of the bug was a sudden yell from Burns, who went skipping about the lower corridor grabbing at the back of his head. A huge swelling, as large as an egg, appeared at the back of his head and did not go down for several days.

The bug, which was nearly two inches long, went flying about the rooms with some of the young men in close pursuit. Finally Richard Waring, of Park avenue, made a well-directed stroke and brought down the bug.

Dr. A. E. Gallant, of New York, examined the insect and declared that it was a specimen of the melanolestes picipes, commonly known as the "kissing bug." He also looked after the "kissing bug's" solitary victim.

Crushed by Falling Stone.

Louis Capanino, an Italian, was severely injured at Barrell's stone quarry at Washingtonville last Thursday by a quantity of rock and earth falling upon him. One toe on the right foot was crushed and he was bruised about the lower part of the body. Dr. J. Buchanan, of the borough, was called and dressed the injuries. The injured man is now on the way to recovery.

Evangelist Taylor Preached.

Rev. F. E. Taylor, of Newark, who conducted the evangelical meetings in Hope chapel with such success last spring, preached in the chapel yesterday in place of Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, who is at Orient, L. I.

A Change of Thirty Degrees.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the thermometer indicated 96, and yesterday afternoon at the same hour it recorded 66. Truly a great change.

BOYCOTTING NEW YORK JOURNAL AND WORLD.

Plainfield Newsies Inaugurate a Strike Against These Sheets.

IT'S A SYMPATHETIC STRIKE.

ATTEMPT TO DESTROY "RED" AND "YELLOW" JOURNALS.

Newsboys Gather at the Railroad Station and Attempt to Prevent the Agents From Receiving Their Bundles—Strikers Chase Some of the "Scabs" and Put Them to Route—More Trouble Expected.

The newsboy strike against the New York World and Journal has extended to this city. It is a sympathetic strike and promises to make trouble in this city for those papers.

All of Saturday a spirit of unrest was noticed among the little chaps who sell the red heads and yellow journals. During the day groups of newsboys gathered about their usual haunts and discussed the situation which confronts their colleagues in the big city.

At these off-hand gatherings the consensus of opinion was that in justice to their ideas of manhood and fair dealing to their fellow sufferers in the ranks, that they could no longer continue to deal in Worlds of Journals while those publications were in a war of oppression

But not until the opinion of Jack Vardon, the "yellow kid," the recognized leader among the newsboys, was secured that decisive action was agreed upon.

So the word went out that a strike had been declared on the boycotted papers. Every boy who handles the New Yorks was appealed to. Some boys displayed yellow placards upon which were printed, "Don't buy Worlds or Journals after 4:30. Stand by the newsboys in their rights!"

Things were unusually quiet until the arrival of the Worlds and Journals at 4:30 in the afternoon. Then the fun began in earnest. Tom Timbo is agent for the World. He was early at the North Avenue station and so were fully forty newsboys, together with half a hundred other lads who do not sell papers, but are naturally sympathizers with the newsboys.

The boys were led by "Yellow Kid" Vardon, who acts as a sort of master workman of the "organization." There was also present "Freckles" Hall, whose chief characteristic is his typical southern dialect, "Cross-eyed" Lynus, "Swipesy" Baker, "Woody" Hall and others.

As the train rolled into the station and the bundle of Worlds was kicked to the platform. The kids swooped down upon and tried to make off with them. Timbo, however, was too quick for them and after a short tussle succeeded in rescuing his papers.

But the trouble was not at end. "Pete" VanArsdale, a plucky little chap, is agent for the Journal. He did not fare as well as Timbo. Some of the newsboys pounced upon him and before he realized the danger many of his papers had been confiscated. In a twinkling his enemies dashed up the tracks and destroyed the "yellows."

In the meantime the newsboys who were selling Timbo's Worlds were having a peck of trouble. They had been followed up Park avenue and when an opportunity presented were set upon and their papers destroyed.

"Pete" VanArsdale was also set upon and in his efforts to save his stock of papers was roughly handled, and his clothing besmeared with tar, that some of the strikers had secured from heavy wagons and put upon sticks. Out of 80 Journals Pete succeeded in saving but four.

The strike was increasing in size and the strikers were growing more bold when "Freckles" Hall espied a man on Second street walking a slack wire. Instantly there was a stampede and many desertions from the ranks of the strikers, who ran pell mell up the street to witness the athlete's performance, leaving the persecuted newsboys whom they had been chasing in possession of prospective customers.

At 8 o'clock, however, there was more trouble in store for the agents of the Worlds and Journals. At about that hour a New York train reached town having on board a batch of extras. When the bundles were thrown off at the North Avenue station there was an attempt to confiscate the packages. There was a partial success, too. One boy picked up a bundle of Journals and threw it clear through the door of the express car. The package landed upon the opposite side of the track, and when the train pulled out it was again picked up and

DIED ALMOST A POOR MAN

Col. Ingersoll's Estate Consisted Principally of Life Insurance.

HAD SAVED BUT LITTLE.

He is Said to Have Spent and Given to Various Forms of Charity, Over $50,000 a Year.

So Far as Known He Left No Will—The Stricken Family Receives Hundreds of Messages of Condolence From All Parts of the World—Body May Be Cremated.

New York, July 24.—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll died a comparatively poor man. There is, it is said, an insurance of $100,000 on his life, that is all. Yet the great agnostic made from $50,000 to $60,000 a year every year since the war. But what he didn't spend on his family he gave away.

He had a moderate account at the Bank of New Amsterdam, in this city, but owned no real estate. If he left a will it cannot be found, though, of course, after the family recovers from the awful shock of his death the missing document, if there is one, may be found.

"I don't think the Colonel left a will," said his brother-in-law and private secretary, C. P. Farrell, at the Dobbs Ferry home. "If he did I don't know of it. Col. Ingersoll died poor. He was a great money-earner, but a poor money-saver. For years, perhaps thirty years, his income was immense. I can't recall any lawyer who is his equal at earning money. Others have made larger fees at times, but no lawyer's fees that I know of have run so high in the general average.

"He has not left any estate worth speaking of. His life was insured for his wife. Others have had the benefit of all that he earned in the law and in lecturing. What he did not spend on his loved ones he gave away in charity."

It needed not Mr. Farrell's word to prove Col. Ingersoll's constant thoughtfulness for his family. He knew he was ill—worse than he told a soul. He feared the worst. His physician, Dr. A. Alexander Smith, had told him that his trouble, angina pectoris, might carry him off at any moment. So he made all the provision he could in the short time that was vouchsafed to him.

A check received at the office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society's office proved that. It must have been mailed the day before from Dobbs Ferry. It was dated ahead, and was for $156.49, the amount of the premium on a $5,000 policy due Aug. 4. This showed Col. Ingersoll felt that the end might be near. The check was on the Bank of New Amsterdam. It is likely the widow will receive the insurance on her husband's life before it is legally due.

The check sent by Col. Ingersoll will never be paid. It is a rule of New York banks not to cash any check of an individual depositor after his death.

To-day had been settled on for the funeral by the male members of the family, but widow and daughters forbade it. So it will take place Tuseday. It will be a private funeral. No one will be invited but those nearest and dearest the dead, and will be held at the home, in Dobbs Ferry.

The delay in fixing a time for the funeral and making necessary arrangements is due to Mrs. Ingersoll and the daughters, who still are inconsolable, and will not realize that Colonel Ingersoll is gone from them. Mrs. Ingersoll will not talk about a funeral, and will not consent to any detail of arrangements. Her grief is so intense she cannot bear to have the subject of her husband's body removed from the house broached to her.

It is possible that Col. Ingersoll's body may be cremated. He preferred that in life himself and his wish may be followed.

"We can do nothing about the arrangements," said Mr. Farrell, "till Mrs. Ingersoll is able to say what she wishes done. The Colonel often told me that he preferred cremation as the most sanitary and satisfactory way of disposing of the dead. But he also told me that he didn't believe he could bring himself to cremate one of his own loved ones if he survived, though he knew it to be the rational way.

"He told me, too, that for himself he cared nothing after he was dead. His family, he felt, could do as they pleased. For that reason I can't say now what will be done. At any rate, the interment will be in Woodlawn or in Sleepy Hollow, the beautiful spot he loved so well. We have done nothing about the last arrangements, though—even the pall-bearers have not been selected."

The stricken family have received hundreds of messages of condolance from all parts of the world.

$2,000 for the N. C. A. Riders.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 24.—Chairman Batchelder, of the National Cycling Association Board of Control, has been compelled to decline the offer made by promoters in this city to give $2,000 in purses for a two days' race meet on Aug. 4 and 5. Owing to the solid array of dates on the Grand Circuit it would be impossible to secure the entries of the good men for that time. Dates will be set for later in the season, when the Grand Circuit is in this part of the country.

To Welcome Alger Home.

Detroit, July 24.—At a largely attended non-partisan meeting of leading citizens held in the Mayor's office a reception was planned in honor of General Alger's return home, as a token of the esteem in which the Secretary of War is held by those who know him best.

Editor May Go to Assembly.

Malone, N. Y., July 24.—Republican caucuses were held in Franklin County, and the nomination of H. D. Seps, editor of the Malone Farmer, for Member of Assembly, is believed to be assured. A large majority of delegates are favorable to him.

TWO MURDERERS CAUGHT.

One of the Negroes Puts the Blame on His Partner.

Springfield, Mass., July 24.—James Russell and Robert Wade, two colored men who are thought to be the murderers of Rabbi Louis Grenzberg in Binghamton, N. Y., July 4, were arrested in this city by Inspectors Boyle and Quilty. The inspectors have been watching for the men for several days, and thought they were in the city. A man answering Russell's description called at the post office for a letter, and the police were notified. The post office clerks were instructed to delay giving the man his mail if he called again, and to summon the police.

Russell called for his mail and within three minutes the police were notified and had arrested him. He was taken to the police station and made no resistance. Wade was found at a house in Eastern avenue.

Russell refused to talk, but Wade said that he lived opposite Grenzberg's shop in Binghamton, and that he and Russell had a scrap with Grenzberg. Russell doing most of the fighting.

Fighting 5-Cent Fares in Detroit.

Detroit, July 24.—The City Council, in special session, adopted a resolution declaring that the increasing of the street-railway fares to five cents straight was an unwarranted act of bad faith and a violation of law, and directed the city's legal department to begin legal proceedings against the companies to test the legality of the increase. Proceedings were authorized to enjoin the carrying of freight over the street-car tracks, and to determine the legality of the present working combination of the companies.

Syracuse to Sue the State.

Syracuse, July 24.—The big hoist bridge over the Erie Cnal at Salina street, the principal business street in Syracuse, has been in the air and inoperative for a week, and efforts to repair it have been futile. Mayor McGuire has directed the Corporation Council to bring an action against the State for damages on account of the interruption to traffic on the ground that the condition of the bridge is due to incompetence on the part of the State officers. The bridge was built last year at a cost of $35,000.

Railroad Telegraphers Talk Strike.

Lima, O., July 24.—For some time it has been known that the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton telegraph operators have been dissatisfied with their treatment by the company, and a meeting was held here. The session was secret. It was decided to demand the reinstatement of several operators who, it is alleged, were discharged without cause. If the demand is not granted the matter will be taken before the federation of the road's employes, with the demand that the entire federation strike if the men are not reinstated.

Drink of Water Cost Him His Life.

Philadelphia, July 24.—A drink of water cost Isaac H. Hartzell his life. The ice cooler at the Reading Railway's ferry slip on the Delaware River at the foot of Chestnut street stands on the edge of the wharf. Hartzell, who was a teamster, ran in a hurry to the cooler and stood there drinking. When he set the cup down he slipped, fell into the river and was drowned before help could reach him.

Gomez May Attend the Fairs.

Hudson, Mich., July 24.—Secretary Hall of the Free Street Fair Association has received a letter from General Gomez, saying that if his health will permit he will attend the fair next September. Hudson and a number of other towns sent the veteran fighter an invitation, naming a tempting financial inducement for him to visit their respective events.

Chance For a Steamship Company.

Washington, July 24.—United States Consul Kennedy, at Para, Brazil, has informed the State Department that the State Government there has passed a bill appropriating $50,000, to which the authorities at Rio will add $200,000, as a subsidy to a trustworthy company, which will establish a new line of steamships, to ply between New York, Rio and Para.

Dahlgrin is a Flyer.

Bath, Me., July 24.—The new torpedo boat Dahlgren had a preliminary speed trial over a course in the Kennebec River. She easily showed a speed of 29.76 knots in six fathoms of water, and the indications are considered promising that she will exceed her contract speed of 30.50 knots on the Southport course next week.

$20,000 Gift to a College.

Chicago, Ill., July 24.—M. H. Chamberlain of McKendree College, has announced a gift of $20,000 to the endowment fund of that institution by D. K. Parsons the well known college beneficiary of Chicago. McKendree college was founded in 1828 and is the oldest college in Western Methodism.

Spaniards Saved, Not Attacked.

San Francisco, July 24.—The steamer Australia brings news from the Caroline Islands that there was no uprising there against the Spanish during the war. The Spanish were practically deserted by their Government, and would have starved but for the assistance of the natives.

Gored By a Mad Bull.

Norwalk, Conn., July 24.—George E. Nash, a Westport farmer, was gored by a mad bull on his father's farm, receiving what it is feared will prove to be fatal injuries. After tiring of goring the victim the bull tossed the insensible form several times.

Three Million Havana Deal.

Havana, Cuba, July 24.—The San Jose warehouses have been sold to an American syndicate for $3,000,000. Senor Aguria, the owner, received $50,000 as a guarantee of the good faith of the purchasers.

New Effort to Free Mrs. Maybrick.

London, July 24.—The Government will be asked in the House of Commons whether Mrs. Maybrick's conduct in prison has been uniformly good. Home Secretary Ridley will not recommend royal clemency in her case.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between Charles H. Hand, complainant, and Charles W. Smith, et ux., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

FOR ARBITRATION OR WAR

Laurier Says These Are the Only Two Ways to Settle Alaskan Boundary.

COMPROMISE NOT LIKELY

He Asserts That No One Wants War and That Every Peaceful Means Must Be Employed.

The Statement Drawn Forth by a Fiery Speech at Ottawa, Ont., by Sir Charles Tupper—Declares That the American Proposition is "Pure Impudence."

Ottawa, Ontario, July 24.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, made an exceedingly important and significant statement in the House of Commons relative to the Alaskan boundary dispute with the United States.

"It is clear," said the Premier, "that there are only two ways by which the difficulty may now be settled—arbitration or war. I have no hope at this moment that we can settle the question by compromise. No one wants war. We must exhaust every means of removing the difficulty by peaceful methods. I have not given up hope that it is possible to agree to arbitration. I must ask the House to be patient a while longer.

"Negotiations are still going on. We must find some means of bringing about a peaceful settlement. I might be disposed to speak strongly, but by reason of my position as Premier of this country and a member of the Anglo-American committee, it behooves me to be reticent as to our position or that taken by the United States.

"Canada's case on the Alaskan boundary question is simply impregnable, but I am sorry to say that at this moment the negotiations are no further advanced than was the case in January last."

This statement by the Premier was drawn forth after a fiery speech by Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the opposition, who, dreading the consequences to his party during an election of the action of the conservative Senators in rejecting last year the government scheme for all Canadian route to the Yukon, urged the government to proceed with the railway scheme his party had already rejected and the enforcement of laws preventing any except British subjects taking up mining claims.

Sir Charles declared that in his many years' experience with English statesmen he had found that one weakness among them was unwillingness to do anything that could possibly bring on a collision with the United States.

The American proposal that, no matter what a tribunal of arbitration might decide, the Americans should nevertheless continue to hold Dyea and Skaguay was pure impudence. The policy of the Americans was obviously to prevent this matter from being settled. The reason for this attitude was plain. The Americans were in possession along this coast, and by blocking negotiations they could hold on indefinitely, enjoying the benefit of the trade, while Americans in large numbers were pouring in to the Yukon country of its gold.

Hanna Strike at Ashtabula.

Ashtabula, O., July 24.—The strike situation on the Hanna docks remains unchanged, the meeting of Manager L. C. Hanna and the strikers failing to adjust the differences. Mr. Hanna offered to reinstate Engineer Heckala, but refused to remove Superintendent Raser and Chief Engineer McNutt. The strikers have summoned President Keif of the Longshoremen's Union here from Chicago.

New York Lawyer Drowned.

East Moriches, L. I., July 24.—John Hart, a lawyer who resided at No. 17 East 124th street, New York, was drowned while bathing here. Louis B. Gerow, who was with Hart, was carried almost to death in trying to save his companion. Gerow was saved by Washington Hyde, a fisherman.

Buffalo Bid Lowest For Barracks.

Washington, July 24.—Bids were opened here at the Navy Department for the construction of barracks for naval apprentices on Coaster's Island, Newport. There were nine bidders, and the lowest bid, $117,000, was submitted by J. J. Church of Buffalo. The appropriation was $125,000.

Newspaper Burned Out.

Catskill, N. Y., July 24.—The building and plant of the Herald at Cairo, ten miles west of here, was destroyed by fire. The Herald is a weekly paper owned by Cairo Republicans and edited by George W. Squires. The origin of the fire is unknown, but circumstances indicate incendiarism.

Vardon Won Golf Match.

London, July 24.—The concluding half of the golf match between William Park and Henry Vardon was played at Ganton, Yorkshire. Vardon had a lead of two holes in the first half of the match, which was played in Scotland, and he won by eleven up and ten to play.

Assistant Secretary to Be Professor.

Washington, July 24.—Assistant Secretary of State David J. Hill, has accepted an appointment to a professorship in the Columbian University of this city. He will give his attention to diplomacy and treaty-making.

France Warns Don Carlos's Agent.

Paris, July 24.—The Marquis de Cerralbo, the representative of Don Carlos, who is now at Hendaye, has been officially notified to quit the frontier and to take up his residence north of the Loire.

Wagner Festival Begins.

Bayreuth, Bavaria, July 24.—The Wagner festival began here with the performance of "Das Rheingold." Herr Siegfried Wagner acted as conductor, and was applauded enthusiastically.

ELIHU ROOT HAS ACCEPTED.

On Aug. 1 He Will Succeed General Alger as Secretary of War.

HE IS AN ABLE LAWYER.

The President Satisfied His Desire to Have an Experienced Attorney Occupy the Place.

Acceptance of the Post Received in Washington—Lynching of Italians in Louisiana May Seriously Disturb Relations Between the United States and Italy.

Washington, July 24.—Elihu Root of New York will succeed Gen. Alger as Secretary of War on Aug. 1. President McKinley has made the formal announcement of Mr. Root's appointment. The place was offered to Mr. Root by telegraph after a Cabinet council, and after Senator Platt had assured the President that Mr. Root would accept. Mr. Root's reply, accepting the post, has been received.

Senator Platt has left Washington for New York. Speking of the selection of Mr. Root, he said that the President desired an able lawyer for the Secretaryship. Had the President agreed to appoint a military man, Senator Platt said he felt sure Gen. Francis V. Greene would have been the choice. But as President McKinley was anxious to have a man who would be able to handle the many legal questions that might arise in the civic government of the new colonial possessions, he considered it more necessary to have a great lawyer than a great military man.

Secretary Alger's successor will not be restricted in any manner as to the head of the War Department. He will be consulted as much as possible, and all orders will be signed by him, but General Corbin will be the military chief of the Secretary and the President, and Secretary Root will of necessity have to be relieved of much of the routine involved in purely military changes.

In conducting the Philippine campaign the President will advise with the Secretary in all important matters, but Mr. Root will be a civilian among soldiers and ex-soldiers. Consequently his military judgment and activities will be limited.

The Lynching of Italians.

Washington, July 24.—The lynching of five Italians at Tallulah, La., is viewed with concern in official circles on account of the effect it may have on the relations between Italy and the United States. Officials recall that a similar affair, the lynching of men of the same nationality in the same State during the Administration of President Harrison, nearly caused a war between this country and Italy, and did result in the withdrawal from Washington of the Italian Minister. The affair at Tallulah is the third of its kind involving the relations between the Italian Government and that of the United States. Only a short time ago this Government paid indemnity to Italy for the killing by a mob of some Italian subjects in Colorado. It is believed here that the least that will result from the lynching at Tallulah will be the payment of heavy indemnity to Italy.

The seriousness with which the matter is viewed by the Italian authorities were indicated by the promptness of Italy in calling the lynching to the attention of the State Department.

Otis Refuses More Medical Aid.

Manila, via Hong Kong, July 24.—Chief Surgeon Woodhull considers that the increase in the military force in the Philippine Islands will necessitate the employment of forty additional surgeons. Surgeon Woodhull's recommendation to that effect has been disapproved by Major-General E. S. Otis, commanding the United States forces here. There are nearly three thousand soldiers in hospital. The official report last week showed 1,800 in hospital in Manila, and there are several hundred at San Fernando and other garrisons. There are also 275 sick in quarters in Manila. The regimental surgeons report that large numbers of soldiers on duty are unfit for service.

Plans to Crush Filipinos.

Washington, July 24.—The President and Adjutant General Corbin have already begun giving attention to plans for the campaign which is to be resumed in the Philippines as soon as the wet season nears an end. The hope is to make a complete finish of the Tagal insurrection within the months of October and November, if the weather will permit.

Acquitted Borda's Slayer.

Montevideo, July 24.—A jury has for the second time acquitted Avolino Arredondo, the murderer of President Idiarte Borda. Among the arguments brought forward in the prisoner's behalf was one that it was not proved that the President's death was caused directly by the shot, as no autopsy had been held on the body.

Choynski Defeats McCormack.

Chicago, July 24.—"Joe" Choynski, of California, got the decision over "Jack" McCormack, a Philadelphia heavyweight, here at the end of a six round contest. Choynski was knocked down in the first round, but from that until the sixth he had a decided advantage.

Rushing Transport Repairs.

Seattle, Wash., July 24.—The transports Victoria, Garonne, Athenian and Port Algert, chartered to carry horses and army supplies to Manila, on hurry orders for the Government, are undergoing speedy repairs and will begin loading immediately.

The Englishmen Won.

London, July 24.—The Harvard-Yale athletic team was beaten by the Oxford-Cambridge combination in the international contests, losing five events and winning four.

Healthy men don't commit suicide. The man who takes his own life is the man whose nerves are on edge—whose brain is worn out with overwork and worry—whose bad digestion makes him morbid and melancholy. A man can commit suicide in more ways than one. He can let sickness kill him. If he is losing vitality he can let it go on till he dies—it won't be long. Many men hesitate to take medicine. They forget that sickness merely shows the body's need for some material that is lacking in the food. The right medicine supplies this want. In nine cases out of ten Ripans Tabules are the right medicine. They help to digest what is eaten and assist in the assimilation of nutriment. They soothe the nerves and make them strong and steady. They purify the blood and fill it with vitalizing properties. They are the one great and infallible medicine for men and women whose nerves are out of order, who are losing flesh, losing sleep, losing vitality. They bring back health and strength. The ingredients of Ripans Tabules have been used by physicians for a hundred years and have a record of thousands of cures for every year—a record unapproached by any other medicine in the world. It is only in the present decade, however, that it has been possible to obtain this medicine in the present convenient and portable form which makes it so easy to be taken and so capable of being kept for months or years with qualities unimpaired.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anæsthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

STRIKERS BLOW UP A CAR

Dynamite Again Does a Lot of Damage in Cleveland.

Cleveland, July 24.—A car on the Euclid avenue line was blown up by dynamite and several persons were injured. A call was sent out for ambulances.

Cars were started running as usual on all except one or two lines. The mobs were astir early and a thousand or more persons gathered in Burton street, on the South Side, and proceeded to obstruct the track. When a car came along with two policemen on board it was attacked with a shower of stones. In spite of the policemen, the non-union motorman and conductor were handled roughly. One of them, named McDermott, had two ribs broken, and the other was bruised badly.

One of the policemen fired at the mob, the bullet striking a man named Wennick. The mob assaulted the officers, both of whom were struck repeatedly with stones, and only for the intervention of a priest of the Catholic Church near at hand, the two men might have been lynched. By this time three cars had been mixed up in the fight, and a patrol wagon load of police arriving, the rioters dispersed, and the cars were taken back to the barns.

Cleveland Under Military Rule.

Cleveland, O., July 24.—This city is under military rule and the entire community is in a state of expectancy for violent developments. The strikers have issued a statement justifying violent methods in dealing with the forces that are arrayed against them, and, from the threats made by individual strikers, continued violence is anticipated.

Train Falls Sixty Feet.

Nashville, Tenn., July 24.—The Chesapeake and Nashville train which left Gallatin for Scottsville, Ky., was wrecked at a point seventeen miles east of Gallatin. Two lives were lost and several persons received serious injuries.

The train consisted of six cars, three of which contained freight. While the trestle between Bledoe and Westmorland was being crossed a portion of the structure gave way and the train fell sixty feet to the ground.

The engine had passed over, when the care tumbled in a heap with a terrific crash, carrying the engine with them. There were quite a number of passengers on board the train, and most of them were injured.

Mr. Bird, whose place of residence is not known, but who is said to be a representative of a show, was pinned in the ruins and burned to death. Charles Speakman, a brakeman, is missing and it is supposed that he also perished.

Million Dollar Blaze in Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, July 24.—A terrific explosion, heard distinctly all over the city, was followed by flames in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton elevator B, owned by a stock company, of which M. D. Woodford of New York is president. No one could form any idea of the cause of the explosion, and before a single engine could reach the spot there was no hope of saving either building or contents. The elevator was built about five years ago, and was worth about $350,000. The contents consisted of 815,000 bushels of wheat and some oats and corn. It is rumored that the explosion caused two deaths, as a watchman and bridge tender are missing. The fire was so hot that it was impossible to get anywhere near it.

Whipped and Hanged Negro.

Mexico, Mo., July 24.—Frank Embre, the negro charged with assaulting Miss E. Dougherty near Benton, Howard County, while on the way to Fayette to be tried for his crime was taken from the officers by a mob at Steinmetz and hanged to a tree. The negro denied his guilt. The officers and their prisoner were on board a Chicago and Alton train, which was stopped near Higbee by the mob. Embre was taken off and whipped for half an hour before being hanged.

More Earthquakes in California.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—A sharp earthquake shock occurred here, with vibrations from southwest to northeast. No damage was done.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 24.—A very perceptible shock of earthquake was felt here, with vibrations from east to west. Tall buildings rocked considerably, but no damage resulted.

Work of Incendiaries.

Trenton, N. J., July 24.—Firebugs are believed to be responsible for a fire which destroyed the barn and outbuildings of Peter Schlicher, near Pennington. When the fire was discovered the odor of oil was strong from the smoke. This is the sixth fire of a similar character to occur in the neighborhood within a month.

New Hammer-Throwing Record.

Boston, July 24.—At the St. Augustine athletic games, John Flanagan, of the New York Athletic Club, broke the world's hammer record by a throw of 164 feet 1 inch.

Forged Autographs.

The trial of a German for swindling by the use of forged autographs of Martin Luther recently brought out the fact that the ink used by Luther 350 years ago is so good that copies can still be taken from it.

Feel of Your Ears.

An English writer, who for fifteen years or more has been a student of criminal anthropology, says that large, voluminous ears are the most marked characteristics of the criminal.

English Words.

There are now over 250,000 words in the English language, acknowledged by the best authorities, or about 70,000 more than in the German, French, Spanish and Italian combined.

Wooden Legs.

Wooden legs, according to statisticians, are used by over 1,000,000 English-speaking men, and this accounts for the enormous trade in limbs of this kind.

WAITER GETS $100,000

His Wife Disinherited, Her Sister Hunts Her Up.

Chicago, July 24.—S. F. Ridley until three days ago was a waiter at the Grand Pacific Hotel, where he had worked for six months, supporting his invalid wife and child. They are now in Atlantic City enjoying a fortune said to amount to $100,000.

Mrs. Ridley has found a sister from whom she had been separated for years and who for a long time prosecuted a vain search for her. She went to Atlantic City because the sister, Mrs. Kayser, of Washington, has a handsome summer residence there.

Seven years ago the two sisters, who were members of a wealthy family in Canada, were attending a convent at St. Catharine's, Ont. Ridley chanced to meet the younger of the sisters—a beautiful girl.

The parents objected to Ridley, but there was an elopement and marriage. The daughter was cut off. Since then the parents have died. Mrs. Kayser searched for her sister and family and finally found them.

In Collision With a Yacht.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 24.—A collision occurred between the Zella, Capt. L. Adams, which had thirty passengers aboard, and E. C. Harmon's private yacht Lavinia. The former boat was trying to cross the Lavinia's bows. The Zella's rudder was broken and the Lavinia's centreboard and jib were damaged. No one was hurt, but women screamed, men hustled for life preservers and the Zella was grounded. The passengers were removed to the beach in rowboats.

Former Actor Acquitted of Murder.

Dallas, Tex., July 24.—A bulletin from Fort Worth announces that J. Doke Murphrees, a former actor, has been acquitted of murdering Sherman Gaulden, Postmaster of Mansfield, Tex. Murphree got clear on the plea of insanity. He shot Gaulden to death in the Mansfield Post Office without apparent cause. He will probably be confined in the State lunatic asylum. Murphree was a former member of Frederick Ward's theatrical company and later dramatic critic on the Dallas Morning News.

Belmont to Become an Odd Fellow.

Newport, R. I., July 24.—Oliver H. P. Belmont has found Masonic circles in Newport so attractive that he has been persuaded to embrace Odd Fellowship, and his name has been presented in Excelsior Lodge. When Mr. Belmont joined the Masons he was a citizen of Newport, but he gave up his citizenship here last year, and, therefore, a special dispensation will have to be obtained from New York, where he now resides, before he can receive any degrees.

For a Democratic Paper.

Chicago, Ill., July 24.—M. C. Wetmore, of St. Louis, who came into considerable prominence some time ago through the sale of his interest in the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, which was followed by his public denunciation of trusts, was at the Sherman House during the Democratic National Committee meeting this week. He was in consultation with Messrs. Bryan and Stone concerning the starting of a new democratic paper here.

To Have Charge of the Boats.

New Haven, Conn., July 24.—At the general offices of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, it was announced that Jacob P. Miller of New York city had been appointed to succeed S. A. Gardner as general superintendent of the marine district in New York city. Mr. Miller was formerly President of the Stonington steamboat branch, and before its absorption by the Consolidated Railroad was general manager of that steamboat line.

To Wed Private Secretary.

Springfield, Ill., July 24.—It is understood that Miss Julia O'Connell, who has been acting as Governor Tanner's private secretary since his inauguration, will send in her resignation at an early day, and will become the wife of Otto Koenig of New York. Mr. Koenig is a man of means, and was a member of the Astor battery in the Spanish-American war. At present he is in the consular service.

Offer to Pay Shortage.

Perth Amboy, N. J., July 24.—Edward Savage, counsel for the Valentine fmily, offered to pay the shortage of $7,500 which George M. Valentine confessed exists in his accounts as treasurer of the Perth Amboy Savings Institution. E. R. Pierce, the president, declined to accept the certified check which accompanied the offer until he had consulted the bank's attorney.

450 More Mules For Manila.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 24.—Four hundred and fifty mules were shipped from the Chickamauga depot to Manila by way of Seattle, Wash. Another carload went this morning to San Francisco. This makes 1,500 new mules shipped within the past two weeks, besides 500 wagons.

Horses Killed By Lightning.

Northport, N. Y., July 24.—A large new barn at the Carll S. Burr training stables at Commack was struck by lightning and two valuable horses were killed. The barn was set on fire and destroyed.

Stettin Theatre Company Coming.

Berlin, July 24.—Manager Riseman, of the Stettin City Theatre, has arranged to play his entire company in New York from Oct. 1 to Feb. 1.

French Life Senator Dead.

Paris, July 24.—M. Pierre Charles Chesnelong, life member of the Senate, is dead. He was in his eightieth year.

The Giraffe's Hide.

For the hide of a full-grown giraffe, greatly sought after in Africa for whip and sandal making, the native hunters get from $15 to $25.

London Slums.

Two hundred thousand families, it has been calculated, are living in London on about £1 a week.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

City Jail is a Disgrace.

It is a disgrace upon the city that the present police station is maintained. To spend one night among the vermin that infest every nook and cranny of the dilapidated structure that years ago outlived its usefulness as a jail, if, indeed, it ever possessed any, is severer punishment that ninety-nine out of one hundred prisoners confined there deserve. It is the profound and evident duty of the Common Council to take steps at once for the vacation of this rookery.

The unfortunates whom fate has involved in the meshes of the law, often times without justice or in accordance with fair principles, are outraged beyond amends by being thrust into a cell where it is necessary, if they are to maintain a cleanly condition, to stand up erect until released in order to escape the bugs and other odious crawling and creeping things with which the so-called jail is populated.

This disgraceful police station has been in its present condition for years and it is a duty which the Common Council owes to the respect and decency of the city to stop regarding it with a passing indifference, and to at once take steps to have the police and their prisoners located where there will at least be an avoidance of vermin.

An Enterprising Mayor.

Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, is a busy man at all times, but notwithstanding he is devoting considerable time to the interests of the city and borough that do not devolve upon him in the capacity of Mayor. This work is being done as president of the Plainfield Advancement Association, which has been organized to boom anything and everything that will better Plainfield's business, industrial or residential interests.

The latest scheme of the Mayor's is to hold a clam-bake next month as an attraction to get together a representive class of men who may be interested in the work of the Association by having their palates tickled. He has appointed a committee of hustlers to make the arrangements, and it is expected that the function will be a success along the line it is intended for.

The Philadelphia Inquirer remarks that it should be remembered that the Harvard and Yale team was not at all representative of the college athletic strength of this country, and goes on to say: "College championships in track and field sports are awarded at the annual meetings to which all colleges of good standing are invited. In the recent meeting the University of Pennsylvania alone won more points than Harvard and Yale combined. It was a team made up of winners in these sports that Oxford and Cambridge should have challenged. As it is, they have been playing against our weaklings, not against our strongest men, and the comment must be that athletics in England are at a low ebb."

Plainfield should own and manage the water supply system of the city.

Alger seems to have been Root-ed out at last.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Keen business men who understand the conditions agree that the idea of a Palisades boulevard and park, as proposed by The Tribune, would pay. New Jersey would have to issue bonds to the amount of from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 to buy the eleven miles of the Palisades which lie in the State, and to build a boulevard along the edge of the cliffs, but the sale of one-quarter of the building sites in the western side of such a boulevard would pay for the whole cost.—New York Tribune.

* * * * *

Judged by the reports from the other sections of Union county there is little justice in the large increase of valuations for Summit. Westfield and Cranford can justly offer the same claim. The total percentage of increase in valuation for the county is about one and three-quarters per cent. Elizabeth's proportion of increase is less than 2 per cent.; Plainfield offered absolutely no increase and Rahway only 1 per cent. Westfield, Cranford and Summit offered the highest percentages of increase in the county, each returning about 4 per cent. Such an increase forces those three places to bear more than their share of the State and county tax, and the assessors from all three should in future refuse to add a greater proportion to their valuations than Elizabeth, Plainfield, Rahway, Union, and the other communities in the county are prepared to report.—Summit Record.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Another case of apple stealing has developed. This time it was at the orchard of J. E. Martine and the culprits were none other than two young girls of prepossessing appearance. "Farmer Jim" was on his way home Saturday morning when he was astonished to see the young girls helping themselves to his fruit. They had filled two pillow cases and were about making off with them when detected. The owner of the premises stood aghast at the sight. Such boldness for a moment completely upset the gentleman's usual urbanity. He rubbed his eyes to see if he was wide awake. Sure enough, there were the girls. When Mr. Martine recovered his senses he made bold to cry out:

"Hey there! What in creation are you doing!"

One of the girls with considerable sang froid replied, "why mamma sent us over to get some apples."

"What are you going to do with 'em?"

"Mamma says she's going to make pies.".

Why didn't you ask permission to take the apples interrogated James of the girls. Their only answer was "don't know."

For a moment "Farmer Jim" did not know what to reply. He pulled his stubby mustache, reflected a moment and then waving his hand replied:

"Well, damn it all, take 'em along."

"The girls grasped the pillow between them and passed out of sight.

Jim didn't have any shot gun.

GIVE THE CHILDREN A DRINK

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties. Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about ¼ as much as coffee 15 and 25c.

AMERICAN STEAM LAUNDRY,

By our new process of ironing we are enabled to give you a perfect domestic finish, and to launder turn down collars without breaking them. Call and see how we do it; you are welcome to inspect our plant at all times; no mystery about our work.

Hand work on all shirt waists, cost a little more, but perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

THE SWINBURNE ISLAND EXPERIMENT.

Much interest is felt in the experiment with yellow fever serum which Dr. A. H. Doty is making on Swinburne Island, New York bay. Oscar F. Lackey is the first patient to be treated with the serum. Dr. Doty hopes the serum will be of future value in fighting "yellow jack." Dr. Bernard E. Baker, of Charleston, has gone to Vera Cruz to make a similar test.

IMPORTANT MID-SUMMER SALE.

All wise shoppers know that July and August brings the ripest bargains. It's the bridge between summer selling and fall stocking-up. # NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 24.—Supt. Adelman told a Press reporter Saturday that he expected to put the transfer tickets in operation on the Plainfield Street Railway on or about the first of August. Passengers going into this borough from Plainfield can then secure a transfer at the Plainfield boundary line and take the cars of the Brunswick Traction Co., being privileged to ride as far as the Dunellen boundary line on the transfer.

Rev. E. S. Jamieson, of the Methodist church, preached morning and evening yesterday to large congregations. His subject at the morning service was "The Angel Look In Stephen's Face." In the evening he took for his text "Samson Shorn of His Locks."

Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, will lecture this evening in the church on "The Ram's Horn." The lecture promises to be very interesting. No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken.

Mrs. Fletcher, wife of Rev. Frank Fletcher, who sprained her ankle a few day ago, is some what improved in health, which will be good news to her many friends.

The Misses Williams and Northwood, after a three weeks' visit at the home of Rev. Mr. Jamieson, have returned to their home in Boonton.

Cortez Clawson, who is spending the summer here at the home of his parents, has as his guest this week Mr. Ford, of West Virginia.

Rev. Frank Fletcher of the Baptist church, will take his vacation in August. He expects to be absent three or four weeks.

Mrs. Joseph Maier, who has been visiting her mother at Cranford, has returned home after a pleasant visit.

Rev. Dr. Jamieson has been entertaining friends from Irvington, some of his former parishioners.

Rev. and Mrs. Jamieson expect to leave on their vacation about August 7th.

Mrs. T. J. Romayne, who has been seriously ill, has recovered.

Miss Mabel Jamieson has been visiting friends in New York.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 24—Rev. Mr. Daniels, associate-pastor to Rev. Dr. Judson, of the Judson Memorial church, New York city, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church yesterday morning. Mr. Daniels proved to be an entertaining talker and preached an able sermon, and at the close gave an outline of the work being done by the Judson Memorial church and of the result of their efforts, especially in the fresh air work among the little mothers of New York city. Mr. Daniels made an earnest plea for help to carry the good work along.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

George A. Horne, of Willow avenue, was home from Orange for over Sunday.

Phillip Lichtentritt, of Central avenue, returned home yesterday after a pleasant visit with relatives at Perth Amboy.

Miss Alice Kennedy returned to Boehm's dry goods emporium this morning after enjoying her annual vacation.

W. D. Murray and family, of West Ninth street, are spending a season at the Sullivan County Club, at Waterboro, N. Y.

Harley Apgar, formerly manager at Neumann Brothers' grocery store, will spend part of his vacation at his old home in Clinton.

Mrs. Warren Marsh, of Franklin place, left today for the Pocono Mountain House, Mt. Pocono, to spend her vacation.

Miss Josie Adams, of Franklin place, has gone to Herrnhut, Cragsmoor, Ulster county, New York, for her summer outing.

Mrs. J. B. Sterling and family, of East Sixth street, have gone to Bethlehem, Pa., where they are registered at the Bellevue House.

Mr. and Mrs. Maze Edwards will arrive in Plainfield about the second or third week in August, after having pleasantly spent the summer in California.

Dr. Ralph Waldon Emerson, of West Front street, has returned home after spending several days at Asbury Park, where he was attending the sessions of the dental convention.

Thomas Ryder, of Boehm's dry goods store, will enjoy his vacation the second week in August, and will probably spend the time visiting the scenes of his boyhood days in Canada.

Ralph K. Miner, of East Sixth street, left this afternoon for Crookston Water Works, Minn., on a business trip for the American Engine Company. He will be absent several months.

D. Shepard's property, known as the old Thy's place on Front street, is encountering a great deal of trouble from the boys in town who raid the orchard every day in search of apples. The boys are not satisfied with being able to get the fruit, but break the fence and damage the fruit trees by breaking the limbs. The Judge has given several warnings and now, unless the trouble is ended, will try the law and see if this will stop the nuisance.

Saturday evening found another large crowd of merry dancers at Emery's Pavilion. From the success of Mr. Emery's venture so far he seems to have struck the right chord in catering to the amusement-loving public. Thursday evening a genuine colored southern cake-walk will be the attraction. Mr. Emery has engaged professional artists in this line, and preparations will be made to entertain a large crowd. Dancing as usual before and after the exhibition.

Fred Rose, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his family who are staying with Mrs. Rose's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gibbs. Mrs. Rose who has been seriously ill for several months has so far recovered that she will be able to return to her home in a short time.

No preaching service was held in the Baptist church Sunday evening, owing to a defect in the electric lighting. The trouble was not found out until it was time to open the church for the evening service, and the necessary repairs could not be made then.

Charles, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynus Walpole, who was recently bitten by a supposed to be mad dog, finished taking the Pasteur treatment last Friday and very little fear is now felt from the effect of the bite.

The disagreeable weather of yesterday interfered somewhat with the usual Sunday travel on the trolley extension, which has been so heavy since the line was opened.

Henry Lenz, who has been spending two weeks at the home of Mrs. Frank Hosinger, has returned to his home in New York.

Arthur Haskard, who has been spending a short time with his brothers in Boston, has returned home.

C. A. Battman, of Fanwood, led the Baptist young people's meeting last evening.

John Frazer has returned from a visit with friends in Plainfield.

PEOPLE COME AND GO.

Hobart Ayres, of Schenectady, is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. J. G. Miller, of the Stillman building.

Miss Lou Crosson, of the N. Y. and N. J. Telephone Company, is spending her vacation at Asbury Park.

Among the guests registered at the Normandie-by-the-Sea, Seabright, are Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Han, Jr, of Plainfield.

Miss Lizzie Stafford, of Grandview avenue, left today for Buzzard's Bay, where she will join her brother, Jas. Stafford.

D. M. VanVliet and family, of Washington avenue, have gone to Forest Lake, Pa., for their summer recreation.

Miss Addie Parker Jackson, of Arlington avenue, leaves shortly for Patchouge, L. I., to spend her vacation there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Morgan, of Philadelphia, have returned home after a visit with friends on West Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bennett and son, of Somerset place, have returned from a week's visit with friends and relatives at Rahway.

After a two weeks' vacation H. P. Greenwood resumed his duties at the dress goods counter in Woodhull & Martin's this morning.

Charles B. Brown, of Jersey City, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pierson, of Westervelt avenue, and returned home today.

Dr. Norman Probasco, of Belleville Hospital, has returned from Upper St. Regis Lake in the Adirondacks, to his home on East Front street.

Wm. Ball, of West Front street, will return to Florida in the fall to dispose of his property there. He will then take up his residence permanently in this city.

Rowland Cox and wife, of West Seventh street, leave tomorrow for Mt. Kineo House, Kineo, Moose Head Lake, Me., to be gone until September 15th.

Rev. M. E. Dwight, of Rockview avenue, officiated at Bethel chapel yesterday, Rev. F. D. Tildon, the pastor, being confined to the house by illness.

Rev. J. R. Sutherland, D. D., of Burlington, Iowa, who preached in Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and evening, was the guest during his stay in Plainfield of Mrs. I. Drain, of Leland avenue, a former member of his church in the west.

The many friends of Miss Ella Conover, formerly of this city, will be glad to learn of her success as a trained nurse at the Mercer Hospital, Trenton. She was graduated last week with the highest honors of her class. She will soon return to this city for a time before taking up a post graduate couse at one of the New York hospitals.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AUGUST 7.

State Committee in Asbury Park Will Discuss the Fall Campaign.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 24—The Democratic State Committee, through its Chairman, William B. Gourley, and Secretary W. K. Devereux, will issue a call today for a meeting of that body in Asbury Park, on Aug. 7, at 11 o'clock a. m., in the Coleman House.

This is expected to be more than an ordinary meeting of the Democratic State leaders, as the call also invites the presence of the Chairman of county organizations for a full, fair and free expression of their views on the policy to be pursued in the forthcoming State campaign.

—The grocery store at Duer street and Lincoln place is being remodelled.

—A meeting of the Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, will be held this evening.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

RECEIVED A SPANISH GUN.

Gift to New Brunswick Sent From Morro Castle.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 24.—The Spanish howitzer taken from Morro Castle, Havana, and presented to the city of New Brunswick by Captain William Weigel several weeks ago has arrived here on the steamer New Brunswick from New York. Captain Weigel is serving with regiment in Cuba.

The gun is a brass cannon of large bore, measuring about two feet and a half in length with a circumference of two feet and eight inches. It is a muzzle loader. On the top are two handles, by which the elevation of the cannon can be raised or lowered. On the gun are a number of inscriptions. At the breech are the words "Seville, 28 de Juno" and "Crown IV." At the mouth is the date 1798 and in a scroll the word "Athesis." The cannon was sent to New York addressed to Captain Weigel. It will be placed on exhibition in some public place in a short time.

Blacksmith Accused of Selling Beer.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 25—William J. Kilpatrick, Roselle's village blacksmith, was arrested Saturday by Constable William Sault, on a complaint lodged with Prosecutor English, that Kilpatrick was selling beer in his blacksmith shop without a license. The prisoner was arraigned in the police court before Justice Hetfield, who held him in $250 bail to await the Grand Jury's action. This is the second arrest that has been made in conjuuction with Kilpatrick's smithy.

A RIBBON PURCHASE OF GREAT MAGNITUDE.

We have just purchased from an importer his entire stock of fancy ribbons. The lot consists of two thousand, two hundred and forty-two pieces and the price is just one-third the actual value as prices range today. The variety and extent of the purchase must be seen to be fully appreciated. Almost every conceivable kind and color is here. The widths range from 1½ to 8 inches and a large percentage of them are in the widths most suitable for sashes and belts that are so much sought after at this time. Many of the kinds are represented by but one or two pieces of a kind and an early selection is important.
The lots are divided as follows:

Lot No. 1,
10c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 1½ to 3½ inches, some suitable for shirring, others fancy plaids, stripes and Roman effects. Not one yard of the ribbon in the lot worth less than 15c, and the value of the majority of the lot is 25c.

Lot No. 2,
15c the Yard.

Ribbons varying in width from 2 to 4½ inches. A bewildering assortment of plaids, stripes, gauze and plain colors. Many of this lot have the shirring cord. The values range from 25c to 40c the yard.

Lot No. 3,
25c the Yard.

Ribbons ranging in width from 3 to 8 inches in every conceivable color combination and style. Values range from 40c to $1.00 the yard.

Görlitz. Zur Errichtung von Volksheilstätten für Lungenkranke in der Provinz beabsichtigt die Stadt dem Komite einen jährlichen Beitrag von 1000 Mark zunächst auf fünf Jahre zuzusichern und, falls sich die Anstalt bewährt, und noch mehr Anstalten errichtet werden sollten, den Betrag zu erhöhen.

Zobten. Unsere Bergstadt beging kürzlich in feierlicher Weise den Tag, an welchem im Jahre 1399 König Wenzel von Böhmen dem Marktflecken Stadtrechte verlieh. Der Glanzpunkt des Festes bildete ein historischer Festzug, welcher die Zeitereignisse, die Zobten in den 500 Jahren erlebt hatte, vorführte.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Hadersleben. Ausgewiesen wurden in diesen Tagen bei dem Landmann Petersen zu Jels-Trolkier ein Knecht und bei dem Hofbesitzer H. H. Have zu Frömaihof in Grönnebek ein Kuhhirte. Bei dem Müller Wiedfeld Ostergaards-Mühle wurde der dänische Unterthan, Verwalter S. M. Wiedfeld, ausgewiesen; außerdem hatten bei ihm drei weitere dänische Unterthanen die Vorladung erhalten, sich bei dem Amtsvorsteher zu melden. Diese zogen es aber vor, sofort, ohne den Ausweisungsbefehl abzuwarten, nach Dänemark abzureisen.

Kiel. Durch den Spruch des Seeamts wurden die beiden hiesigen Dampfer „Trinidad" und „Juan" als verschollen erklärt. Beide Schiffe befanden sich auf der Fahrt nach Kiautschau mit Kohlenladungen für das ostasiatische Kreuzergeschwader. Nachdem sie Hongkong verlassen hatten, wurden sie von einem Taifun überrascht. Die „Trinidad" ging mit Mann und Maus unter; 18 Menschen fanden ihren Tod. Der „Juan" versank gleichfalls, doch rettete der englische Dampfer „Rohilla" die gesammte Besatzung.

Hammer-Leubsdorf. Die sogenannte Hammermühle, in welcher die Firma Jäger u. Co. in Siegmar Schmirgelfabrikation betrieben hat, ist ein Raub der Flammen geworden.

Leipzig. Dr. Dittrich, bisher Oberbürgermeister in Plauen im Vogtland, wurde zum zweiten Bürgermeister gewählt. Die Ausschreibung der Stellung war vom Kollegium abgelehnt worden.—Hier hat der Privatdozent Max Dolega wegen eines Nervenleidens Selbstmord begangen.—Reichsgerichtsrath v. Egge, Mitglied des fünften Civilsenats, ist hier gestorben.

Plauen. Dieser Tage wurde durch einen großen Kesseltransport in der Bahnhofstraße die Leitung der elektrischen Straßenbahn zerrissen. Da der zerrissene Draht nur mit dem Kessel in Berührung kam, wurde größeres Unglück verhütet.

Wurzen. Zu Lüptitz sind durch einen vorzeitig sich entladenden Sprengschuß in dem dortigen Steinbruch die Arbeiter Heinrich Zimmermann und Karl Jonack getödtet worden, während ihr Kamerad Ernst Wolfersdorf mit einer schweren Verletzung davon kam und eine Anzahl anderer Arbeiter leicht verletzt wurde.

Zittau. Hier ist der in der Errichtung begriffene großartige Fabrikneubau der Firma Leupold eingestürzt.

Zwickau. Der frühere Rechtsanwalt Reinhold Schraps ist vom hiesigen Amtsgericht entmündigt worden und hat einen Vormund erhalten. Schraps, der schon seit längerer Zeit an geistigen Störungen litt, befindet sich seit mehreren Monaten in der staatlichen Irrenanstalt Untergöltzsch.

AN ALARMING REPORT.

The Drink Habit Said to Be Increasing Among the Women of New York.

It is said that the drink habit is rapidly increasing among the women of New York city. "Straws show which way the wind blows," is an old but true saying, and there's a whole bale of straws pointing that way. One has only to watch the women in any fashionable restaurant to see that they get about as much comfort out of the inebriating cup as men are supposed to do. Then many a woman nowadays owns her individual flask of dainty glass and precious metal, and she keeps it full, too, or, to be more strictly accurate, she generally keeps it empty. Some women go so far as to wear a flask attached to a chatelaine, and such should not find it in their hearts to scold the man who carries his private bottle in his hip pocket. According to a German doctor, women who have contracted a fondness for liquids stronger than afternoon tea can easily cure themselves of the taste. His remedy is eating apples at every meal and between times. He says that apples, if eaten in large quantities, possess properties which entirely eliminate the craving that all confirmed drunkards have for drink. This treatment should appeal to women, for apples, if persistently taken the year round, will make the complexion beautiful, while any concoction with the slightest suspicion of alcohol in it has the opposite effect.

Sadie Webb, Mail Carrier.

Talk about feminine independence! Where will you find a more convincing illustration than in Miss Sadie Webb of Porter township, O.? Sadie is the pride of the county, and she comes honestly by her reputation. Barely out of her teens for two years, she has personally discharged her duties as contractor on Uncle Sam's mail route No. 31,277, which takes in five thriving towns. Every day she drives 32 miles, making 192 miles per week, and before her four year term has expired she will have completed 36,864 miles.

It isn't many young girls who would shoulder such a contract and assume such daily responsibilities for such a period of their lives, but Miss Webb heartily enjoys her work and has managed to make a good living out of it. Besides carrying the mails for four postoffices, she buys all of the goods for four general stores located in the villages along the route that she has to travel. She also carries passengers and is a typical hustler in every way.

A Woman Explorer.

A year ago Professor Todd was sent to Japan in charge of an expedition from Amherst College to observe the total eclipse of the sun. Mrs. Todd accompanied the party, full of scientific zeal on her husband's, as well as her own account, for she is herself no mean astronomer.

When the Mikado heard that she was anxious to study the lives and habits of the strange aboriginal race that inhabits the almost untravelled island of Yezo he put a yacht at her service which gallantly sailed away to the Okhotsk Sea, landing the intrepid explorer on the shores of the island of Yezo, where it is likely no European had ever been before, and certainly no European woman. The natives are supposed to be fierce, degraded and unapproachable. Mrs. Todd went among them, lived in their houses, saw their daily lives and customs.

How to Keep Young.

The ever youthful appearance of the members of the dramatic profession is a constant source of surprise to the public at large. The reason for this is not so much in the material necessarily used in making up, which obliterates to a certain extent the natural wrinkles of the skin, while it lubricates and nourishes it, but it is due to the change in the expression of the various emotions which every part or impersonation demands. This causes the actor to bring into play all the muscles of the face. By using them equally they all maintain their firm consistency and strength, and none wastes away from disuse. The result is that the skin is kept stretched and tense over the face and does not fall into hollows.

Unlucky Peacock Feathers.

With the unparalled craze for plumage in the decoration of gowns, hats and wraps, peacock feathers, hitherto considered a "hoodoo," or, in other words, unlucky, have been adopted con amore. At a recent sale in London alone, as reported to the New York Audubon Society, 215,051 bundles, numbering 100 feathers to the bundle of these feathers were sold. For those superstitiously inclined, a "lucky" bean is said to break the spell. This bean, which is just one of the common kidney beans, is seen now in all the jewelers mounted with gold and silver, and used either as a bangle or locket.

When Maids Are Saucy.

"If one of your maids is a little cross some days," says the woman who has no trouble in settling the domestic service problem, "don't scold her for something that she does wrong, provoke a saucy answer, and dismiss her on the spot. Keep away from her if it is possible until she is in a better mood. It may require some self-control on your part, but remember that she is human. You feel cross yourself sometimes, and you are sorry enough for it afterward. Probably she will be."

Her Novel Honor.

Miss Mary Ball of Valparaiso, Ind., daughter of the cashier of the First National Bank of that city, is said to be the first woman director of an institute of fine arts.

FASHION NOTES.

Pretty Blouses and Bodices of Transparent Goods.

The disappearance of the blouse has been repeatedly predicted as imminent, but each season, nevertheless, the blouse reappears in new and attractive varieties. This summer the finest white wash fabrics are employed, incrusted with lace and embroidery, puffed, tucked, hemstitched and elaborated with all sorts of fine needlework. These delicate blouses are worn with white or colored skirts and with or without a bolero. They are not to be adopted by stout women, however, as they increase the apparent size of the figure a great deal.

Bodices of tinted or figured lawn and nainsook often have a yoke and sometimes sleeves of open white fabric, either embroidered or cut by bands of insertion. These yokes and sleeves are unlined, showing the arms and neck beneath, and are therefore not worn for the street by refined women. They are intended for house use and look out of place elsewhere.

The cut shows a costume of pearl gray veiling. The skirt has three horizontal bands of guipure of graduated widths. The bodice is gathered at the waist in front, opening over a plastron of guipure. The collar and revers of white moire are bordered with a band of guipure, and small crystal buttons decorate the fronts. The sleeves are plain, save for a guipure band at the wrists, and the belt is of white moire, the plaited collar being of veiling. The hat of pearl gray straw is trimmed with pink azaleas and their foliage.

Dainty Gowns and Accessories For Summer Wear.

Among the most charming of summer gowns are those of the Trianon order, striped or flowered, recalling Sevres shepherdesses and all sorts of dainty china things. Far from being expansive, however, all gowns are clinging and are molded to the figure so that they envelop it as an umbrella case envelops an umbrella. Where draped tunics are used the drapery is slight, and the folds are long and flowing in the classical style, all bunchiness being avoided.

A great many buckles, pins and jewels of all sorts are used in the draperies of corsages and in decorative bows and rosettes.

Chemisettes of white or cream lace over blue, pink or rose silk have the narrowest of ribbons, tinted to match, run through the interstices of the lace to form stripes.

A new idea is to have the lower edge of the chemisette extend below the belt in square tabs, forming a sort of basque.

The belt most in favor at present is a band of grosgrain ribbon of a color matching the chemisette, fastened by a jeweled or metal buckle.

The tea gown illustrated is of mauve crepon. It falls straight in large, flat plaits from beneath a short bolero of guipure, which is pointed at the back. Around the foot is a band of guipure, the collar is of guipure, and the large, open sleeves are finished with a frill of guipure. The tea gown fastens at the top under a large bow of mauve satin, with a buckle, below which it opens over a straight front of accordion plaited cream surah.

THE WORK-BASKET.

EXQUISITE AFFAIRS TO HOLD THE SEWING OF THE RICH.

Dainty Confections in Straw and Satin That Are Used By Fashionable New York Women—Take Them Along When They Meet to Work for Charity.

To sit on a cushion and sew a fine seam for charity's sake is one of the ways for killing two birds with one stone in the season of propriety and penitence. The fine seams, of course, are laid by the bejeweled fingers of fashionable femininity in the simplest garments, meant for humble wearers, but for fear those lowly tasks might weary the lively seamstresses every hostess who calls a sewing-class meeting at her house provides music, recitations, jugglers' exploits, along with a dainty luncheon for the gathered members. These last are no new features, and the particular topic of gossip among the smart needlewomen is the sort of sewing basket suitable for stowing away one's needle and the splendid little utensils of the task.

More emphasis, indeed, is placed on one's work receptacle than on the apron one wears to stitch in, or the given amount of labor accomplished in one hour. The day a class meets every woman drives up to the door of the hostess, who is willing to temporarily turn her drawing room into a model sweatshop, and out she gets with her basket under her arm. Sometimes it is so big an affair that it must be carried for her into the workroom, and when the whole class is busy the room presents the appearance of a luxurious basket fair. With few exceptions they are stately tall things of the prettiest and most expensive materials imaginable. Satin straws of exquisite pale greens and blues, pinks and yellows are the foundation material of which they are made, while satin lace and brocade form the lavish decoration.

Mrs. Theodore Havemeyer, who leads one of the largest classes of smart Catholic seamstresses in New York city, keeps her rough gingham and cotton subjects for stitching in a huge hat of pale lavender straw, mounted on three gilded legs, set like the crossed sticks from which a gypsy kettle hangs. Within the hat is lined with pale blue satin, and the open crown is covered by a full bag of the same material, drawn up with lavender silk cords. Inside this capacious nest is the most charming set of antique silver sewing tools. An old Dutch thimble, a pair of exquisite slender scissors, said to have once hung from Marie Antoinette's chatelaine, a quaint grindstone for sharpening needles and a set of old silver reels for thread from Germany. Among all these curiosities is a pocket that holds a small silver-mounted figure, carved from black bog oak, and representing a little saint, who in Ireland is believed to bless the work baskets of the industrious with strong, graceful and swift seams.

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, at the head of one of the generous Baptist ladies' sewing guilds, uses a big flat green, yellow and red basket of Indian weave, scorns all the fripperies of lace and tufting, puts her needle in an honest red-flannel book, and is capable of making anything from a gingham apron to the most elaborate christening robe.

Mrs. Elbridge Gerry entertains the Episcopal Dorcases at her house and gives out the work herself from an ample double-decked basket, woven of white satin straw, tufted in pink and white brocaded satin, while without the basket is draped with white and rose-colored scarfs of liberty gauze. The upper deck is the basket proper, holding a sewing outfit complete in gold, while in the under part a large sachet bag contains the various garments in process of making. Mrs. Gerry's basket is not unique in shape or decoration, as the flowered gauze scarfs are used lavishly for draping the rather awkward long strawbound or gilded legs and frivolous bows of flowered ribbon flutter from handles and lids. One and all, in the tufted linings of the sewing stands delicately perfumed sachet cotton is used, and a very great deal of emphasis is laid on the coquettish gold thimble bearing the owner's name in jewels about the bottom, the small gold scissors, with red or blue enameled handles, the tinted leather needle-books, bound and initialed in gold and the emerys to match the prevailing color of the basket, and showing a gold rope.

She Plants Coffee in Hawaii.

There are several lady coffee planters in the Hawaiian islands, but the richest is Miss Wildwood, a girl of only 23. Two years ago she was a stenographer in a law office, with only a capital of $1,250, which had come to her as a legacy and which she was reserving for the proverbial "rainy weather," against which lonely spinsters often try to fortify themselves. Hearing of the coffee plantation possibilities of Hawaii, Miss Wildwood decided to risk her little capital and try her luck as a planter, and so well has she succeeded that in two years' time she believes that she will be making an income of $10,000 a year.

Photographed in Night Attire.

Among the ladies of British Uppertendom it has become fashionable to exchange photographs of themselves as attired for bed, which goes to show how bewitchingly becoming are modern night clothes. If the fair ones of to-day had continued to wear the hideous night-caps their grandmothers wore they would surely not have been tempted to expose themselves thus arrayed to the eye of the camera.

A FINE OPENING.

PORTO RICO A MAGNIFICENT FIELD FOR ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

The Coal Problem and Many Other Expensive Items Meet Ready Solution By Reason of Abundant Water Power—Laborers Earn About 75 cts. a Day.

The establishment of electric tramways throughout the island of Porto Rico, from east to west along the central range of mountains, is desirable, easy, and relatively inexpensive. An electric line, starting from Naguabo or Humacao at the east end, touching the interior towns of Juncos, Cagaus, Aguas Buenas, Sabana del Palmar, Barranquitas, Barros, Jayuya, Utuado, Adjuntas, and Maricao, and terminating at Mayaguez, with branches from the main line to the villages along the coast, would serve better than any other system ,to move the rich products of those districts and to accomodate the great number of passengers who now have no means of convenient travel.

The coal problem, and many other expensive items of railroad building, need not be a consideration in the operation and construction of such a tramway system, as there exists throughout the whole mountain range natural water powers available for any class of machinery. The many and powerful waterfalls having their sources in the mountainous inland region, and the rivers which run through this territory in various directions, seem to have been created by nature especially to aid man in the cultivation of the rich soil and the marketing of its products, which, because of the high altitudes and necessarily heavy grades of high-roads, if these should be built, would otherwise be very costly. The interior of the island is extremely mountainous, as may be well seen from some of the illustrations. Around the entire extent of its coast, however, is a flat belt of rich lowlands ,suitable for the cultivation of sugar and tobacco.

MAP OF THE ISLAND OF PORTO RICO.

The highest village of Porto Rico, Aybonito, situated at an altitude of 2,300 feet above sea-level, is on the line of the central highway which runs from Ponce to San Juan. This fine highway, built originally by the Spanish government for military purposes, has no grade greater than 14 per cent., which would be the maximum also to be met with in the construction of a tramway along the mountain range.

The ballasting of rockbeds, in whatever direction the lines might run, would cost but little, as there is more than enough material for this purpose on the ground; and throughout the whole extent of the proposed lines there is to be found wood of excellent quality for cross-ties. The labor required for such a construction is abundant and comparatively cheap, as the laborers in this region, accustomed to the hardest work, have never earned more than 75 cents a day (Porto Rican currency); and it would be an exceedingly easy matter to procure 2,000, 3,000, or 4,000 men for any kind of an enterprise.

Skillful stone cutters are easily to be had; and on the ground along the route is found an ample supply of stone suitable for bridges, culverts, and other constructions of a similar nature. In short, it is not necessary to seek elsewhere the materials for the construction of a tramway or railroad, as all, excepting the rails and other metal parts, are to be had along the mountain range. With abundant and well-distributed water power, from streams that do not fail even in the dryest seasons; with the materials for ballast and ties at hand; with labor cheap, good, and plentiful—the building of electric railway lines will certainly be attended with but little cost compared with the substantial profits that such lines may be expected to earn.

In the whole island, whose coast line measures 339 miles, there exist only the following steam railway lines, belonging to a French company: One line, of one meter gauge, from San Juan to Camuy, sixty-two miles long, and its operation produces an average income of $2,735 per mile annually. Another line leaving San Juan on the north, passing through Martin Pena and Rio Piedras, and terminating at Carolina, is 14 miles long. But the income from its operation is not so great, as another steam railroad which runs in the same direction for half the distance, or to Rio Piedras, thus dividing with it the traffic of that region. Still another line, 35 miles long, runs from Aguadla to Hormigueros. Another short line is in operation between Yauco and Ponce, a distance of 22 miles, with two stations on the line at Guayanilla and Tallaboa. This railroad has an average annual income of $2,760 per mile, but it should be noted that, because of the high freight rates, $2.25 per ton for a 22-mile haul, or ten cents per ton-mile, a great part of the freight-carrying between Yauco and Ponce is perfomed by ox-carts, in successful competition with the railroad. The freight rates of the ox-carts are not much lower than those of the railway, and the speeds are about the same. Besides this excessive charge, the railway does not offer the facilities which should obtain in this district, as it does not reach to the harbor of Ponce, where the great bulk of business is done. Bulk must be broken and the goods transferred, the transportation of merchandise and fruits from the railroad station to the harbor front by carts being a very costly item, as well as a source of great inconvenience.

DRYING COFFEE IN PORTO RICO.

The territory which produces the most coffee is in the high and mountainous parts of the island, along the central range, and here it is that the greatest need is felt for transportation facilities, the only existing means of communication being by horse roads or mule paths built by the residents. From the plantations where the coffee is gathered to the nearest towns on the coast, whence the berries may be carried in ox-carts to the markets, carriage is affected, at the present time, on the backs of horses and mules, which can take only 200 pounds a trip. These horses bring back an equal quantity of provisions and merchandise for the subsistance and necessities of the laborers and other inhabitants of the interior. For this transportation on horses and mules $1 a hundred pounds, each way, is paid from the points most distant, and 50 cents from the nearer points.—The Engineering Magazine.

Positions in Sleep.

The position affects sleep. A constrained position generally prevents repose, while a comfortable one woos sleep. Lying flat on the back, with the limbs relaxed, would seem to secure the greatest amount of rest for the muscular system.

This is the position assumed in the most exhausting diseases, and it is generally hailed as a token of revival when a patient voluntarily turns on the side.

But there are several disadvantages in the supine posture which impair or embarrass sleep. Thus in disordered conditions of the stomach the blood seems to gravitate to the back of the head and to produce troublesome dreams.

Nearly all who are inclined to snore do so when lying on the back, because the soft palate and uvula hang on the tongue and that organ falls back so as to partly close the top of the windpipe.

It is better, therefore, to lie on the side, and in the absence of special disease rendering it desirable to lie on the weak side, so as to leave the healthy lung free to expand, it is well to use the right side, because when the body is thus placed the food gravitates more easily out of the stomach and the weight of the stomach does not compress the upper portion of the intestines.

The Camel as a Plow Horse.

Count Skorzewski, a wealthy land owner in the province of Posen, Germany, to the amazement of his rustic neighbors, has introduced a novel departure on his Czerniejewoei estates, which stands a fair chance of being widely imitated in agricultural districts in western Europe. Instead of a horse or ox a camel is yoked to the plow, and the experiment has proved successful beyond the count's most sanguine expectations. The camel, inured to hardships and privations, does double work of a pair of horses, is exceedingly tractable and can be kept in good condition—for a camel—on a compartively small quantity of inferior fodder. The "Skorzewski quadrupeds," as the peasants of Posen facetiously call the laborious intruders, were soon acclimatized, and are the envy of the countryside.

Old Copper Cents.

It is estimated that there are 199,900,000 old-style copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in a while a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 4,500,000 bronze two-cent pieces were set afloat. Three million of them are still outstanding, but are never seen. A million of three-cent silver pieces are scattered over the United States, but it is very seldom that one comes across any of them. Of the 800,000 one-half-cent pieces, not one has been returned to the government for coinage or is held by the treasury.

Wonderful Nerve.

A woman shoplifter was caught stealing an umbrella the other day in a Philadelphia dry goods store. But it was decided not to prosecute her if she would pay for the umbrella, valued at $2.50, which she did. The next day she returned and requested to see the manager. When that surprised person could recover himself sufficiently to ask her business the woman calmly told him that she had been pricing umbrellas in other stores and found she could purchase one like her own for $2, and she wanted to know if he wouldn't refund her 50 cents. As a tribute to her monumental nerve the 50 cents was handed her in silence.

Growth of a Story.

As an example of how a story grows it is related that a report recently reached Ottawa, Kan, to the effect that the coal miners at Ransomville had found a petrified snake 60 feet long and nine inches in diameter. Prof Yates of Ottawa college hurried to Ransomville in fear that some other fossil collector would get ahead of him and found that the alleged snake was a bit of petrified root 18 inches long and a half inch in circumference.

Loss of Umbrellas.

Every year 600,000 umbrellas are said to be lost in Paris. According to these statistics, one person in every four loses his umbrella. The police say that ladies are much more careful with such articles than men, for the number of parasols taken to the lost property office annually is only about one hundred.

French and German Armies.

Five and twenty years ago France was able to put the same number of soldiers into the field as Germany. Now the German military forces, or rather the men of German nationality capable of bearing arms, would outnumber the French by a million.

A Peculiar Parrot.

In New Zealand a species of parrot is found that, finding its food entirely on the ground, has lost the power of flight. It differs from the rest of its family only in this particular and in being almost voiceless.

In this country placing the thumb to the nose and extending the fingers is a sign of derision. Among certain hill tribes in India it is the most expressive manner of showing respect.

MYSTERY OF DREAMS

LITTLE PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE IN SOLVING THE PROBLEM.

Some Dreams That Came True—Calphurnia Dreamed of Cæsar's Assassination—Humboldt That Columbus Would Be Successful.

Will the mystery of dreams ever be solved—the romance of sleep—that comes to all alike, rich and poor, saint and sinner, male and female? Even dogs dream, they say, and if dogs, why not horses and cattle and every other kind of animal?

And yet, common as dreams are, and familiar to everyone, the metaphysicians and the philosophers have made but little progress in solving the problem. There is perhaps not so much superstition among the educated connected with dreams as formerly, though there are still vast numbers of people who have faith in the dream book, and look upon their dreams as prophetic and full of omens. There are still intrepreters, too, who will tell you for a consideration the meaning of your dreams, though few of them are as successful as Joseph when he revealed to the butler, the baker, and afterward to Pharoah himself the portents of their respective dreams.

And yet dreams "come true" as almost everybody has experienced. Not all dreams, but some dreams. Humbolt relates in "Cosmos" that Columbus in a dream, long before his first voyage, heard a voice saying: "God will give you the keys of the ocean." Calphurnia dreamed on the night before his assassination that great Caesar fell mortally wounded at her feet, and she used all her arts of persuasion to keep him from going to the senate on that day.

The philosophic explanation of such dreams is that the waking thoughts being intently engaged upon any subject, either of hope, as in the case of Columbus, or of foreboding, as in the case of Calphurnia, continue in sleep, and in that state thought takes the form of actuality. There are few people who have not in greater or less degree had dreams of this kind.

That the mind often works intelligently and logically in dreams, solving problems or smoothing out perplexing difficulties that have occurred in actual life, has been proved by testimony that cannot be gainsaid. Franklin gives several instances where lines of policy or of argument came to him in his dreams that had greatly puzzled him when awake, and Condorcet, the French mathematician, relates that he solved many intricate problems in his dreams. "Kubla Kahn," that exquisite fragment of Coleridge's genius, was composed by him in sleep, and so vividly was it impressed on his mind that he sat down the next morning to write it out. While thus engaged he was interrupted by a visitor—a person from Porlock, a neighboring village—and when he resumed his pen the poem had vanished from his mind and he was never afterward able to recall another line. How many lovers of poetry have anathematized that "person from Porlock" would be hard to say, but their name is legion.

The Devil's Sonata" is one of the finest and most remarkable compositions for the violin that is known. Its composer, Tartini, the renowned Italian violinist, says that he dreamed that the devil challenged him to a trial of his skill on the violin, and that the Prince of Pandemonium so far excelled him in brillancy and execution that he gave up in despair. On awakening and finding that it was all a dream he wrote out the notes that were still throbbing in his mind.

Strange beyond all comprehension are the phenomena of sleep. While phrome upon our beds we enter a land of enchantment, where we see, and converse, and travel, and engage in wonderful enterprises. We are limited by neither time nor space. The impossible becomes the actual, the unborn live, the dead come back, and miracles are the commonplaces of existence.

One-third of our lives is passed in this realm, which Shelley has called the brother of death.

How wonderful is Death,
Death and his brother Sleep!
One pale as yonder waning moon,
With lips of lurid blue;
The other rosy as the morn,
When throned on ocean's wave,
It blushes o'er the world:
Yet both so passing wonderful.

Two things in human experience, apart from revelation, tend to prove the immortality of the soul. One is that the mind never grows old. The man of 70 is as youthful in his mental emotions and thought as a boy of 15. The other is dreaming, wherein the mind apparently acts independently of the body.

Can immortality be any more improbable or impossible than our dream life?

Queer Names for Wives.

The wives of some of the Indian braves have names as odd and often as droll as their husbands. They seem to have cognomens of their own, too, and not to take those of their spouses only. Some of the actual names given in a census of the families of the scouts at one place include Mrs. Short Nose, who was before her marriage Miss Piping Woman; Mrs Big Head, formerly Miss Short Face; Mrs. Nibbs, formerly Miss Young Bear; Mrs. White Crow, formerly Miss Crook Pipe, Mrs. Howling Water, formerly Miss Crow Woman; also Mrs. Sweet Water, Miss Walk High, daughter of Mr. White Calf, and Miss Osage, daughter of Mr. Hard Case.

Preserving Dead Bodies.

The success in preserving dead bodies that has been achieved by a Naples surgeon has excited the wonder of European physicians. He uses a series of special baths, without incisions or injection. The first of the three stages is provisional dessication, which keeps the body in a condition for ready dissection by the anatomist; the second is perification, giving the hardness of marble in a few hours, and the third is the restoration of natural color, flexibility and freshness, so that the subject appears to be simply sleeping.

It has been proved, as the result of experiments, that the circulation of the blood is affected by music.

PRIVATE MAIL BOXES

No Person Allowed to Use Them Without Showing Good Reasons.

Nearly every swindler in the country has, at one time or another, leased a private letter-box.

Nearly every burglar, whose operations brought an occasional letter has had it addressed to a private letter-box.

Nearly every adventuress whose business it is to involve men in her affairs has received letters through private letter-boxes.

Nearly every blackmailer, who has preyed upon the public through its fears of petty indiscretions has used a private letter-box.

Nearly every libertine who makes a practice of drawing foolish women from the ways of rectitude has received perfumed notes through a private letter-box.

Husbands and wives who stoop to clandestine correspondence have found it easy to do so by means of private letter-boxes.

Murderers, highwaymen, bunco-steerers, counterfeiters, embezzlers, have found private letter-boxes an aid to villainy and a bar to detection.

Until a short time ago 150 private postoffices were in operation in New York alone. Some had as many as one hundred letter-boxes, and brought the manager an income of perhaps $2,000 a year.

The class of people who used private letter-boxes included such men as Percy Yarrington, who travelled all over the United States in a luxurious private car carrying a gas machine which he pretended would make illuminating gas for seven cents a foot, and selling patent rights for enormous sums.

One J. Leggette cleared $40,000 through private letter-boxes by setting up bogus claims on great English estates and inducing the supposed claimants to give him money to push their interests. Leggette became in turn a sailor, school teacher, lawyer and judge. Forced to leave the bench to escape arrest for malfeasance, he eloped with a section foreman's wife. Then he went to Jackson, Tenn., and lived such a pious life that he became a doctor of divinity, a Baptist pastor and professor of oratory in the Southwestern Baptist University, and subsequently he caused a schism in the church and founded a magazine called the True Baptist.

Another dangerous criminal was Charles Howard, who had a private letter-box in a Twelfth street office. He rarely called there himself, but had his mail placed in fresh envelopes and directed to other addresses. When the police got upon his trail the keeper of the office professed ignorance regarding Howard, but as soon as the officer had gone he wrote to Howard warning him that officers were after him. When caught this warning letter was found on Howard's person.

Mail order swindlers have been frequent users of letter-boxes. They send circulars offering all kinds of things for sale and use stationery bearing elaborate headings and pictures of palatial offices. The address given is usually some number on Broadway or some other leading thoroughfare, and people are led to believe that the writers are doing business in large offices on such streets; in reality the address is that of a private post-office, perhaps in an honest cigar shop or drug store.

The class of men and women who, through the "Personal" columns of certain newspapers, advertise their desires to meet somebody with the "object, matrimony," nearly always have private letter-boxes, and a vast number of foolish girls are ruined through their use. These victims are in many cases the daughters of prosperous and refined people, whose environment does not furnish the romance which their reading has taught them to wish for, and which they hope to find through clandestine correspondence.

Near schools, colleges and other places attended by young girls one of these letter-box resorts nearly always flourishes, drawing a large patronage from the more adventurous and romantically inclined pupils, and on several occasions the postoffice authorities have been asked to break them up.

Some of the private postmasters refuse to let their boxes to very young girls or to men. But any older woman can get one. In one of these places the fee is a dollar a week for each box and the lessees are people who can afford to wear handsome clothes and pay any price that is asked. Postoffice inspectors told the writer that some of the matrimonial troubles which have created sensations in New York had their beginning in correspondence through private letter-boxes.

A Novel Lunch.

One of Philadelphia's wealthy young bachelors, who has most artistic rooms about a mile from the Philadelphia Club, was surprised one afternoon, by a call from a mother and daughter, both especial friends on whom he was anxious to make a favorable impression. Of course, he was glad to see them, but they had taken him unawares, and he reflected with a growing horror that there was not so much as a cracker to offer.

Being a man of wonderful mental resources, a bright idea suddenly struck him. Why not use dog biscuit? He had plenty of these, and they were not half unpalatable, while if broken up into judicial tiny bits there was every chance of their not being recognized. They might even be mistaken for the latest thing in biscuits. Determined to try it, anyhow, the bachelor presently offered his guests some sherry with bits of dog biscuit, served upon a dainty Sevresolate. It worked like a charm, as the guests were visibly impressed with the new viand. They nibbled at it diligently, if with difficulty, and asked where it might be obtained. Upon this point the young man was unable to give any satisfaction. The biscuits were, he said, a special importation of a friend of his, very costly and very rare, who had kindly presented them to the bachelor, the latter, of course, only serving them to his most honored guests.

The mother even asked if she could not take a sample home with her; they were going abroad very soon, she said, and would so much love to match it in London or Paris. But this aspiration the startled youth nipped in the bud by begging to be allowed to obtain a boxful of the dainty article for them from his friend.

Dartmoor, which occupies one-fifth of the County of Devon, is the largest tract of uncultivated land in England.

COLONIZE CRUSOE'S LAND.

Chileans Will Settle Where Defoe's Hero Lived.

The island on which Robinson Crusoe was wrecked, and which now belongs to the Chilean government, is about to be turned into a settlement. Almost every one knows that when Defoe drew his story of Crusoe it was the story of Alexander Selkirk, and it is remarkable how closely Defoe kept to the facts of Selkirk's existence on the isle.

Even the story of Crusoe's man Friday was a foundation of truth in the fact that Selkirk found and adopted a stray Indian. This man had become separated from a party of Indians who had landed on the island, and, having lost himself in the woods, was left behind by his people. The death of Selkirk's solitary companion did not occur in such a dramatic manner, however, as did that of Crusoe's Friday, for Selkirk's retainer was drowned while fishing for his master's dinner.

Barren as the place seemed to Selkirk when he was first marooned upon it, it now contains many flourishing spots. The fruit trees which he planted more than 200 years ago have reproduced themselves, and peaches, pears, quinces and grapes are to be had in abundance. A man who had a stock farm on the island for some reason abandoned the undertaking several years ago and turned his live stock loose. The result is that cattle, sheep, goats and pigs are now found there in a wild state, so that the new colonists are likely to have some good sport if they have a turn for hunting.

In addition to this, the sea swarms with codfish, which should provide pleasant ocupation for the anglers. The settlers, therefore, are likely to be abundantly supplied with meat, fish and fruit.

Up to the present time, the island, which is in the Pacific ocean, has been ocupied by a few German and Chilean families, numbering about 15 persons in all. It is now proposed by the Chilean government to turn the island into a regular colony, and about 150 hardy Chileans will form the nucleus of the new settlement, which is is proposed to christen "Crusoe Island."

A Snake Story.

"Talking of snakes not having intelligence," said the man with the red nose, "is all rot. From an incident in my own experience I know they are chock full of sense.

"Last summer I went on a wheeling excursion down in Missouri; my trip took me through a sparsely innabited country and towns miles apart. One day when about twenty miles from any town my hind tire collapsed. Looking in my tool bag, I was horrified to find my pump was not there. I was desperate—20 miles to walk and it after 6 o'clock. I even tried inflating the tire by blowing into it myself, but I couldn't make any impression on it. While resting from my efforts I turned, and my hair almost stood on end, seeing a large blowing adder only a few feet from me. He was a monster, I can assure you. I lost no time getting out of there and looking for a club to dispatch his snakeship. When returning to the expected encounter, imagine my surprise and delight to see that snake with his mouth on the tube and blowing with all his might; the tire was so full of wind I was afraid it would burst. Not being content, he commenced to run around in a circle, and I knew then he was tightening up the screw. After a critical look at the other tire, he wiggled away with a satisfied air. After recovering from my fit of wonder, I mounted my wheel and went on rejoicing."

As the listeners slowly arose and looked pityingly on the red-nosed man, he yelled:

"Hold on! I am not done yet. I let the air out of the tire at a church fair; every one developed symtoms of snake poisoning and the saloons sold all their stock in town."

Diamonds on Your Boots.

Did it ever occur to you," said a chemist "what a remarkable and unique process the blacking of boots is? You see, we smear the boot with a preparation of bone-black, which is entirely devoid of lustre, and then by the friction of a dry brush make it shine like the sun. There is not another process like this anywhere in the arts, so far as I know, and I never read anywhere any scientific explanation of the process.

"My solution of the seeming mystery lies in the fact that a diamond is nothing but crystalized carbon. The blacking is little more than carbon paste, and the friction of a hair-brush being one of the most efficient methods of generating electricity has the effect of crystallizing the carbon of the blacking.

"As soon as this is done the boot is covered with millions of infinitely small diamonds, and, of course, begins to shine as a mass of diamonds would."

An Oak Tree 10,000 Years Old.

An extraordinary discovery, and one which is just now exciting considerable interest in antiquarian circles in Lancashire, and Cheshire, has been made at Stockport. During the excavations in the construction of sewage works for the town some workmen came across what has since proved to be a massive oak tree, with two immense branches. Professor Boyd Dawkins, the well-known antquary, is of opinion that the tree is one of the giants of prehistoric times, and he says that the tree is certainly 10,000 years old. The corporation of Stockport is at a loss what to do with the gigantic fossil, which is supposed to weigh about forty tons.

First Beefsteak in Alaska.

The first piece of beefsteak that ever reached the gold fields in Alaska sold for $50 per pound. The piece of beefsteak was carried 250 miles on the back of a miner, and weighed a fraction over ten pounds. It was put on exhibition at Circle City, and attracted much attention. It was subsequently disposed of for $500, the proceeds going to swell the miner hospital fund at that place.

Burying a Mole.

Two sexton beetles will bury a mole in an hour—a feat equivalent to two men interring a whale in the same length of time.

If your hands are rough, hard or chapped from the repeated washings necessary to keep them free from the office dirt, examine carefully the soap you use. If it is a cheap toilet soap, you will find that it is greasy, acrid and irritating.

Ivory Soap makes a profuse lather that removes the dirt and rinses easily, leaving the skin soft and clean.

If your office force is large there are two considerations that will recommend Ivory Soap to you. It is quick in action, saving time; and is inexpensive.

Send the office boy for some and try it.

TROUBLE AT THE PUMP.

Parents Took a Hand in Their Children's Quarrel.

A lively scrap occurred at Hand's brickyard on Mountain avenue yesterday afternoon that will probably result in the arrest of one or more of the participants. The trouble originally started over the pump which stands close to the house of the employes. The little girl of John Pollock, an employe at the yard, and the young son of William H. Hall, another employe, both went to the pump. There was a quarrel. Mrs. Hall went to get her son and Mrs. Pollock joined her daughter. The trouble was continued between the mothers.

Then it is alleged that John Pollock came out with a club and beat Mrs. Hall over the head and back with it, inflicting a number of bad cuts and bruises. Arrests are to follow.

SUCCESSFUL HOP.

Charming Social Affair Held at Hotel Hunterston Saturday Night.

The most successful of the Saturday evening hops at the Hotel Hunterston this season was held Saturday evening. The guests numbered fully three hundred and filled the ball room and the wide verandas. Besides the guests at the hotel, there was a large attendance of Plainfield society people.

Dancing was, of course, the order of the evening and was continued until nearly midnight. The floor was crowded nearly all the time while many promenaded up and down the verandas. Although the evening was a warm one, the hotel was a delightfully cool place, the breeze from the north west keeping the temperature comfortably low.

Jerseymen for the Front.

The Twenty-eighth regiment, the volunteer regiment that Jerseymen are expected to enter if they want to go to the Philippines and fight, has the honor of having more recruits than any of the ten new regiments except one. It had about 550 recruits on Friday. Newark has sent in all forty-four men to swell the number since the recruiting for the Twenty-eighth began nearly two weeks ago. During the first week, ending a week ago yesterday, twenty-nine recruits were received, Last week the number of applications fell of a trifle, and the recruiting officer was, if anything, more exacting, so that the week's total was fifteen.

Visited "Snake Mary."

A number of the guests at the Mountain Park Inn enjoyed a moonlight ride and visit to the gypsy encampment Saturday evening. A wagonette and several carriages carried the party. The fortunes of the young people were told by "Snake Mary" and her able assistants, furnishing much amusement for the party.

Smashed the Flag Stones.

Horse Ran on the Sidewalk.

A horse belonging to Gus Baldwin broke his tie strap in front of Clark's Hotel on Liberty street this noon and made a wild dash down Fourth street on the sidewalk. The animal was caught at Plainfield avenue without doing serious damage.

NEW ROUTE IS BLOCKED

TROLLEY OBJECTORS IN WESTFIELD BUY PROPERTY TO WIN.

George B. Dickerson and P. R. G. Sjostrom Get Control of Majority of Property on Dudley Avenue and Block the Way.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 24.—The Daily Press told last week how the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railroad Company would, at the next meeting of the township committee, ask for another trolley franchise through Westfield, the new route to enter at Prospect street and then go through Dudley avenue to Elm street and thence down that street to the centre of town at Broad street. But some of the property owners on Dudley avenue have "kicked" and their objection has stopped the trolley. George B. Dickerson and P. R. G. Sjostrom, two owners of property in front of which the line was to pass, have purchased enough additional land from Postmaster L. M. Whitaker to give them the majority of land on the block on which it was proposed to build the line. Many who have watched the doings of the company, think that they will come down to old back road from Scotch Plains to the post office corner at Mountainside and there strike the Springfield road, which they will follow to Mountain avenue in Westfield. This will be as short as any line and will be just as easy to build. It will also be easy to get a franchise from the Mountainside borough for this route. Mayor Corey, of Mountainside, in an interview with the writer said that he had been assured by the officials of the company that it was their plan to come in on this route.

hurled into the car and carried up the road some distance before being discovered by the expressman. The bundle reached town on a later train, but too late for the boys to sell the papers.

While the boys were looking after the Journal bundle there was a lively scrap over a World bundle. The presence of Patrolman Nick Myers, however, was detrimental to the newsboys efforts and they were finally put to route.

Master Workboy Vardon has not been idle this morning. Every newsboy has been "seen." To a Press reporter he said: "We's got 'em all wid us—de ain't one of dose scabs darst sell a pape. When de even' Worl's an' Jurn'ls get here at 4:30 use'll see some fun. Dat Timbo says as what he'll have de cops to chase us away. Guess he don't know dat de 'peelers' is wid us. Just you wait!"

The head of the strikers then made a dash across the street to confer with one of his lieutenants, leaving the reporter soliloquizing.

NIBLO PALMER AGAIN IN JAIL.

Roselle Contractor Charged With Atrocious Assault on an Italian.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 24—Niblo Palmer, a well-known Italian contractor, residing at Roselle, was lodged in the county jail Saturday on a charge of atrocious assault on another Italian with a club. The injured man had to have twenty stitches put in his wounds by a physician. Palmer was committed in default of $500 bail and was still in jail this afternoon.

Some months ago Palmer was arrested for an atrocious assault on Councilman James Hope, of Roselle, and was found guilty. He got off that time with a fine of $100.

STATE SEWERAGE COMMISSION.

They Will Visit This City Within a Few Days Now.

The State Sewerage Commission will meet today in regular weekly session, and will consider applications made for approval of sewerage works. The consent of the commission is required for new work. During the next month blanks for reports upon the sewerage systems of all the cities and towns of the State will be sent out, to be filled out and returned, and to be embodied in the commission's report. The commission will visit Plainfield in a few days, to inspect improvements made in the sewerage plant since a former visit.

Blanchard Forgate, Jr., of Park avenue, is at Belmar for a week, and will then be at Asbury Park for a week or two.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

Newark fire insurance men are involved in an open war over rates.

Crows are proving very destructive to the melon fields in the vicinity of Swedesboro, eating into the half-grown melons in search of the seed.

During the winter meadow larks were nearly exterminated and the former haunts in Salem County are devoid of their welcome chirp this season.

Rev. A M. Sherman, of Morristown, has in preparation a book which will relate the experiences of Morristown soldiers and sailors during the Spanish-American War.

George Dare, a Salem confectioner, has received a letter from a party in Madrid claiming to be a relative and asking for a loan to help him out of some embarrassing circumstances with promise of reward. Mr. Dare will not bite.

The Bridgeton Chronicle, established in 1815, and the oldest paper in Cumberland County, was on Tuesday sold to S. Albert Laning at mortgagee's sale for $10,000. The paper has deen conducted for two years by William Gwinne.

Frank Headley, the Morristown letter-carrier, who had a dispute last Saturday with Assistant Postmaster Rowell, and who was suspended pending the decision of the postal authorities at Washington, has resumed his duties, a decision having been rendered in his favor.

The Newark and Hackensack Traction Company, whose cars were sold at auction by officials of North Arlington Borough last week for unpaid taxes, have decided to square up accounts. Their cars were not seized because of the injunction papers issued. The new company bought out the Union Company's property at Sheriff's sale a short time ago. Two years' taxes were then standing against the trolley company in three different boroughs.

WILL RECOMMEND A BOND ISSUE.

Perth Amboy's Plan to Tide Its Financial Embarrassment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Perth Amboy, July 24.—Chairman W. P. O'Hara, of the Perth Amboy City Finance Committee will make a report to the Board of Aldermen tonight, recommending the issue of $10,000 in one year bonds, in anticipation of the collection of delinquent taxes and assessments. It is unofficially announced that these and the bonds for a similar amonnt issued a week ago on the occount of the current tax levy will be taken by the State National Bank, of Elizabeth.

Alderman O'Hara will also report the amount of the bonds maturing within the next four months, and will recommend that all improvements be discontinued, where such a course would not involve great loss to the city. There is a total of $46,500 in bonds due between now and December 1st, and the money to pay all of them was in the sinking fund, kept in the wrecked Middlesex County Bank. One bond for $5,000 matured July 1st, and it was supposed that it was paid by the bank, in accordance with the usual custom. Mr. O'Hara says that the bank held the bond, but failed to pay it.

The Board of Aldermen will designate the First National Bank of South Amboy as the city's depository until the opening of the new bank in Perth Amboy.

HANDSOME TROLLEY CARS.

Senator Kean's New Road Will Be Equipped Luxuriously.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, July 24—The new trolley line from Staten Island ferry to the Cranford township line, and ultimately to Plainfield, which is being built by Senator John Kean, will probably be called the "Palace Line," as the cars will be unusually handsome, being painted pure white with gold lettering. The interior of the cars will be finished in bird's-eye maple, with large mirrors in the end; the cushions will be of red velvet, and beside each seat will be a touch-button to signal the conductor.

Each platform will have a rubber mat, while the centre of the floors will be covered with the same material. The trucks of fifteen of the cars have arrived, and the road probably will be in operation by the middle of August.

Fell With Lamp in Her Hand.

Mrs. John Hobbs, of Pearl street, met with a peculiar accident late Saturday evening. She was walking down the cellar stairs carrying a lamp. In some way she stumbled and fell to the cellar floor.

The lamp was wrecked and a piece of glass severed a small artery in the wrist, causing a considerable loss of blood. Dr. Carman, the family physician, was called and treated the wound properly. Aside from the loss of blood there were no serious results.

SIXTY CARS SMASHED.

Freight Wreck on Central Railroad Caused by Train Parting.

A bad freight wreck occurred on the Central Railroad of New Jersey near White Haven early Saturday morning While a train of eighty loaded coal and freight cars was coming east at a high rate of speed the train parted and shortly afterwards came together with great force.

The freight cars were loaded with heavy material and nearly all of it was thrown upon the ground. Of the eighty cars in the train there were only about fifteen which escaped damage, and many of them were demolished entirely. There was nobody hurt. The loss to the company's rolling stock will reach $45,000.

NEWSBOY STRIKERS GROWING RESTLESS.

Made Life Miserable for Agents of World and Journal.

MASS MEETING IS PROPOSED

ATTEMPTS TO SELL THE "REDS" AND "YELLOWS" DEFEATED.

The Strikers Captured a Bundle of Journals and Tore Them to Pieces—"Scab" Newsboys Set Upon and Given a Thrashing—Not One of the Boycotted Papers Were Sold on the Streets Last Night.

It was about as difficult yesterday afternoon and last evening to procure a copy of the World or Journal in Plainfield as it would be to make water stay on a duck's back. It was all owing to the newsboys' strike. As stated in The Press, the kids were determined that the boycotted sheets should not be sold in this city. And they meant what they said.

Early in the day the boys who sell the evening editions of the "red" and "yellow" sheets were gathering their forces for the affray. "Yellow-kid" Vardon, the master-workboy and recognized leader of the strikers, had his trusted lieutenants out scirmishing for recruits. By afternoon the ranks of the strikers had been increased to nearly fifty brave little chaps who were as full of fight as an egg is of meat.

At about 2:30 o'clock the boys assembled in large numbers and made a parade to the North Avenue station. At the head of the procession was "Yellow-kid" Vardon armed with a sharp stick and plenty of self assurance. Scattered through the column were "Freckles" Hall, "Pale-face" Haddon, "Shoe-leather" Mike Angleman, "Lanky-Bob" Griffin and others, while conspicuously displayed were numerous banners on which were painted "The World and Journal is a Fake," "Only Bum People Buy the Journal," "Help the Newsboys," etc. Some of the boys also had small stickers on their hats and faces with the words "Strike."

It was not, however, until the 4:36 train came in that the real fun began. The boys gathered at the station in large numbers. As the train pulled into the station the boys collected about the express car and were quite boisterous, but nothing was done then worth noting, presumably because of the presence of Acting-Chief Kiely and Roundsman Frederickson. They surrounded Tom Timbo, the agent for the World, but no attempt was made to confiscate his papers. Some of the citizens who had gathered to see the fun expressed the opinion that the boys had lost their nerve and that "Yellow-kid" Vardon was afraid to lead his forces to the attack. But those who had any misgivings that the strike was to be a fizzle were quite mistaken.

It was "Phil" VanArsdale, the local agent for the Journal, whom the strikers were laying for. When young VanArsdale hove in sight a few moments afterwards he was immediately surrounded by the boys who were waiting for him to take his papers away from the station.

VanArsdale very foolishly rode his wheel and when he started up North avenue in the direction of Watchung avenue, he was quickly followed by half a hundred of the strikers, who kept close to him. At an apparently prearranged signal one of the boys (said to be "Shoe-leather" Angleman) swooped down upon the unsophisticated VanArsdale and before he could catch his breath his bundle of Journals had been snatched from his hand. Instantly the bundle was picked up by another boy and up the street they ran followed by the entire gang. The Journals were taken to an area-way off Second street and torn into shreds. By the time the police got to the scene of destruction there was not a complete copy of a Journal to be found out of a package of 80.

Another rally was made by the strikers on the arrival of the 7:15 train, but Patrolman Myers drove the boys away. However, upon the arrival of the 8:10 train, with the baseball extras, the youthful strikers again were on hand to do battle for their rights. They gathered at the station in such numbers that Patrolman Myers had his hands full. He would chase them from one side of the platform only to have them reappear at the other side. The strikers finally found a bundle of papers and running up the track with them tore them to pieces. They proved to be only a few copies of last Thursday's Sun.

All attempts on the part of Timbo to sell the World on the street were

BOYNE BLAMES HIMSELF.

SAID HE WASN'T ROBBED IN GALBRAITH'S SALOON.

Contradicted the Statements He Made to the Mayor Sunday and Said He Caused All the Trouble Himself.

Fred Boyne walked into the station house this morning with Daniel Galbraith, proprietor of the saloon on West Third street, from which he was summarily ejected Saturday night. Half a score of Galbraith's friends accompanied them. Boyne's ideas of the trouble Saturday night had changed materially since Sunday when he made several statements to the Mayor.

When the hearing of Boyne, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, was called, Patrolman Weinzenreid was put on the stand. His testimony was that he had arrested Boyne at the request of Bartender Keefe who had put Boyne out of the saloon. Keefe then said that Boyne had tried to raise a disturbance there, and that he had been compelled to put Boyne out twice and finally asked the officer to arrest him.

Boyne completely exonerated Galbraith from any implication in the trouble. He declared that he did not know when he had been robbed and that he had been to blame for the trouble in the saloon and that the barkeeper did right in putting him out. Then he returned to his position along side of Galbraith.

Under such circumstances, City Judge Runyon said that he felt justified in suspending sentence on Boyne with a warning to keep out of trouble in the future.

THROWN FROM HIS HORSE

DANIEL RUNKLE BADLY SHAKEN UP AT PLATTSBURG, N. Y.

Young Runkle is an Enthusiastic Horseman and Spends Much of His Time on Horseback While on His Vacation.

A despatch from Plattsburg, N. Y., tells of the injury of Daniel Runkle, son of H. G. Runkle, of West Eighth street, by being thrown from his horse yesterday on the Lake Shore Drive, near the Hotel Champlain. He sustained several painful bruises and was badly shaken up but was not seriously injured.

Young Runkle is an enthusiastic horseman and spends much of his time on horseback while on his vacation. He is now spending his summer with the rest of the family at the Hotel Chaplain. H. G. Runkle was in New York yesterday but returned to Plattsburg last night. The latter is president of the Plattsburg Light, Heat and Power Company.

MUST HAVE A SPECIAL COFFIN.

Thrie Weighed 400 Pounds and Body May Be Taken Through Window.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 25—William Muirheif Thrie died at the house of Conrad Dorn, on Remsen avenue and Comstock street, Sunday, of rhematism. Thrie weighed nearly four hundred pounds. He was about fifty-four years of age.

Undertaker Quackenboss, who has charge of the funeral arrangements, is having a special casket built. It may be necessary to take the body out of a second story window, as the stairs are so narrow that it may be impossible to get the casket down that way from the second floor. The body will be taken to Easton tomorrow for interment.

Historic House Destroyed by Fire.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 25—The old building on the Clark homestead at Roselle was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. The Clark homestead was the home of Abner Clark, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. It was occupied by the families of Edward Johnson and Joseph Dunbar. William Sutherland had a narrow escape. His house and contents were consumed. The total loss was $2,500.

Dr. Connelly, Medical Examiner

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association of the United States concluded yesterday the week's session of its fifth biennial convention in Asbury Park and adjourned sine die. The supreme trustees in executive session re-elected Dr. F. J. Connelly, of Newark, supreme medical examiner. The trustees settled upon Detroit as the place of meeting for the next convention, two years hence.

First Meeting He Had Missed.

Last week Friday there was a committee meeting from the Union County Board of Freeholders, and by virtue of his office, as director of the Board, J. Frank Hubbard is a member of that committee, but owing to illness it was impossible for him to attend the meeting. This is the first meeting he has missed since he has been a member of the Board.

B. FRANK CORIELL MAY BE SHERIFF

He Will be a Candidate Under Certain Conditions.

DEPENDS HOW THINGS GO.

IF SHRIEVALTY COMES TO PLAINFIELD HE WILL TRY TO GET IT.

Mr. Coriell's Candidacy Puts a New Phase on the Political Situation in Union County--He Will Have Strong Backing for the Office if He Goes in to Win it—Some Other Interesting Facts.

The Union county Republican political situation, with respect to the selection of candidates for the county offices this fall, took on a new phase today in the announcement that under certain conditions Deputy County Clerk B. Frank Coriell, of this city, would become a candidate for Sheriff.

There has been some talk that Mr. Coriell might aspire to become County Clerk, but this is mere talk and has no substance on the part of Mr. Coriell's real intentions. Mr. Coriell realizes that as County Clerk Howard, his superior, is a candidate for renomination it would be small courtesy for him to enter the field and try to deprive his friend of what he considers but his just political dues.

In the event of County Clerk Howard being renominated and Senator Cross being chosen to serve in the Legislature again this next session, Plainfield would more than likely be offered the shrievalty nomination for one of the faithful Republicans of this city. This proceeding would cause discomfiture among the Houston forces in Elizabethport, but Plainfielders who are watching the political situation cannot see how all the Elizabeth candidates are going to win, and Houston is as likely to be defeated as any of them.

It is in this view of the probable situation that Mr. Coriell's candidacy for Sheriff is brought about. If the nomination comes to Plainfield he will make a strong effort to secure the plum, and it is said that he will have solid and influential backing in his canvass. Mr. Coriell has always been a loyal Republican, but never a very active factor in county affairs. He is a conservative, thorough-going business man, and is regarded by his friends as a strong card for the county Republican ticket if his name is put on it.

NOAH SHOEMAKER IS SANE.

County Physician so Decides—The Man is Still in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, July 25—A few weeks ago Noah Shoemaker, of Oak Tree, was lodged in jail on a charge of being insane and assaulting a relative with whom he lived. It was openly asserted that the man was crazy and that he was a dangerous fellow to have at large. He has been in jail since.

County Physician Carroll has made an examination of the man and declares that he is not insane. Jailer Messler says that the prisoner acts as rationally as any other prisoner that he has in the jail. The man is quiet and orderly, attends to his own business and shows no evidence of lunacy. He is now held awaiting disposition of the charge of assault and battery. He hopes to get bail.

Jailer Messler thinks that one of the best arguments in favor of the man's sanity is the fact that he is anxious to get out of jail. A sister of Shoemaker is now in the Insane Asylum. His son, Albert, is in State Prison, serving a term for the murder of Lizzie Shoemaker.

Church to be Closed.

After Sunday the Congregational church on West Seventh street will be closed until the second Sunday in September. During that time the necessary repairs will be made. Tomorrow evening the last of the Wednesday evening prayer meetings until September will be held. The topic will be "Nebuchadnezzar's Pride and Its Punishment." The last church service will be held Sunday morning. The Christian Endeavor Society will also give up its meetings during that time.

Miss Lally Improving.

Miss Kate Lally, who was gored by a cow Friday evening at the home of Councilman Walter L. Hetfield, as was told in The Daily Press, is somewhat improved today. The wound is not, strange to say, a painful one. A slight error was made in stating that a physician was not summoned to attend the girl until the morning after the accident. The physician was called that evening as soon as the seriousness of the accident was realized by the young woman herself.

CARING FOR THE COUNTY INSANE.

Union County Freeholders Looking Into the Subject.

MAY BUILD COUNTY ASYLUM

THOUGHT THAT IT WOULD SAVE SEVERAL THOUSANDS ANNUALLY.

It is Said That the Outlay for a County Asylum Would Not Exceed $100,000, Which Would Afford Facilities for the Care of the 237 Patients Now Supported in the State Institutions

The question of taking care of the insane and feeble-minded people in Union county has been under consideration for a long time by the members of the Union County Board of Freeholders, and it now looks as though in the near future arrangements will be made whereby the county people who have to be taken care of will not be sent to Morris Plains, as is now the case, but that the county will have an asylum of its own.

When it is realized that the county appropriates about $42,000 every year for its insane people and their care, it is considered about time a change was made. There are now 237 people from this county at Morris Plains that this county is obliged to stand the expense for. This does not include a large number of people who are paid for by their own people or friends, or who are detained at private institutions in various places. The question of the county providing an asylum for its own use has been a growing one, and it is confidently believed by the Freeholders that at least $10,000 can be saved each year to the county. It would probably cost the county in the neighborhood of about $100,000 for a suitable asylum, including land, and bonds could be issued and money secured at 4 per cent., and thus the county would save considerable money.

There is now a special committee of eight members from the Board of Freeholders who has the matter under consideration and they report to the full Board from time to time. Last week Friday this committee visited the Essex County Asylum near Caldwell, where they received a very favorable impression of the style and kind of an institution that Union county needs. This building is about 80 feet wide and 500 feet long. It is thoroughly equipped in every particular and is so arranged that as the necessity demands additions can be made to the building. The committee, of which J. Martin Roll is chairman, was very much pleased with what they saw. This committee is composed of members from every district in the county, thus allowing a full representation. The members have a certain tract of land in view for such a building, but rightfully they do not want to disclose it at present as the price might suddenly take a jump upward.

There will be a regular meeting of the full Board one week from Thursday, at which time a verbal report will probably be received from this special committee. In a week or so the committee expect to visit Camden, where there is a county asylum similar to the one in Essex county. From what can be learned there does not seem to be the slightest doubt but what Union county will have an asylum of her own, which will reduce the expense of caring for the insane to a large extent, at the same time giving them equally as good care as they now receive.

Sons of Veterans Officers Elected.

At the evening session of the annual encampment of the National Department of the Sons of Veterans last Saturday, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Commander-in-chief, Robert Morton, of West Hoboken; senior vice-commander, Joseph McKeegan, of Long Island City; junior vice-commander, Wm. Bowles, of Greenpoint; chaplain, Wm. Seegar, Carlstadt; surgeon-general, Louis Zitner, Newark; national committee, Peter Carroll, E. L. Young, J. W. Ryan, of New York; J. W. L. Roy, of Newark; E. Geisse, of Union Hill; Wm. Seegar, of Carlstadt.

Fell Dead at His Brother's House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, July 25.—John Ryan, a section boss on the Central Railroad, dropped dead at the residence of his brother, Michael Ryan, on Third street, Sunday night. There seems to be a strange fatality hanging about the Ryan family. There were four brothers. Thomas was drowned in Peters' brook some time ago, and Philip had both legs cut off by a freight train while on duty in the Central Railroad yard at Communipaw. The father, Philip Ryan, was a well-known railroad man.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Chairman Gourley Tells of Work at the Committee Meeting.

TO STRENGTHEN THE PARTY.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVES WILL TALK OVER THE OUTLOOK.

The Great Object to be Sought for Among the Leaders Will be Harmony—Senator Gorman May be at the Meeting and National Affairs May Then be Incidentally Discussed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, July 25.—William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State committee, returned to Paterson yesterday after an absence of three days, during which, it it said, he was in conference at Long Branch with State leaders in relation to the plans to be brought forward at a meeting of the committee to be held at Asbury Park, August 7th. The call for the meeting at the Coleman House was issued yesterday.

The preliminary arrangements for a vigorous fall campaign will be made. One of Mr. Gourley's chief aims, it is understood, will be to more closely unite the State committee and the various county committees. He has asked that each county committee be represented at the meeting August 7th. The representatives will be asked to give their views as to how the party can be strengthened in their respective districts so that the State Board can be in a position to assist in bringing about any reforms that may be desired.

Mr. Gourley said yesterday: "There are a variety of subjects to be discussed, and the steps to be taken toward reorganization will depend largely on these discussions. We expect to be in good fighting trim for the fall campaign, and you will find a united and enthusiastic Democracy with its shoulder to the political wheel."

"How about the story that ex Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, will attend the meeting at Asbury Park, and launch his boom for the Presidential nomination?" Mr. Gourley was asked.

The State chairman replied: "Mr. Gorman may be there and other Democrats well-known throughout the country may be on hand, but I doubt very much if National affairs are discussed. They may come up incidentally or in a very informal way, but the real purpose of the meeting is to take steps to reorganize the party in the State.

JERSEY TARS RAN THE SHIP.

Reserves on the Prairie Were in Full Charge.

Ensign S. S. Norcross, of the Battalion of the West, New Jersey Naval Reserves, writes from Gardiner's Bay, L. I., that the Reserves are having a fine practice on the United States auxiliary cruiser Prairie. The ship was turned over to the Reserves bodily Saturday morning, and from then until this morning, when she will put to sea again for the cruise home, the regular officers and men aboard merely acted as spectators, while the Reserve officers and crew performed all the duties aboard ship. The first few days were spent by the Reserves in familiarizing themselves with the Prairie's guns, and by the time the ship was turned over to them they were prepared to begin practice without assistance from the regulars.

Withdraws His Bid.

As Patsy Christmas, a bidder for the work of madamizing East Second street and Richmond street, did not receive his quotation on stone, until after he submitted his bid, and in view of the fact that the price of stone has raised, he has withdrawn his bid, thus leaving C. M. Meeker the lowest bidder. Mr. Meeker bid $1.44 for Richmond street and $1.33 for Second street. The bids have been referred to the Plainfield Street Railway Company, who are to do the work, but as yet no reply has been received by Commissioner Gavett.

Macadamizing Fourth Street.

In view of the fact that many residents of West Fourth street are asking why the authorities have not begun to macadamize that thoroughfare, The Press is able to state upon reliable authority that the bids for the work will be advertised for at the next meeting of the Common Council.

A Chimney Fire.

A fire was discovered this morning at 10:45 o'clock in the chimney at the home of Wm. Sharkey, on Harmony street. Lewis McGann, of Warren Engine Company, accompanied by Wm. Rickerts, were summoned with a fire extinguisher and quickly put the fire out.

WELCOME FOR SEWELL.

JERSEY REPUBLICANS TO GREET HOME-COMING SENATOR.

To Meet the G. O. P. Leader With a Special Steamer and Brass Band—Many Will Do Honor to the Senator.

Arrangements on an elaborate scale are being made to give United States Senator Wm J. Sewell an enthusiastic reception on his return from Europe. The Senator is expected to arrive home August 11th, and a large party of the leading Republicans of New Jersey will go down New York Bay to meet the incoming steamer. It is expected that at quarantine, in the lower part of the harbor, General Sewell will be transferred from the ocean steamer upon which he will return to the commodious vessel that will carry his ardent supporters out of New York. A brass band will furnish music, and dinner will be served on the boat.

The committee in charge of the affair comprise Congressman Henry C. Loudenslager, of the First district; State Comptroller Wm. S. Hancock and Frank F. Patterson, Jr., of Camden. Nearly all the State officials will be included in the welcoming party, and invitations have been sent out to the leading Republicans all over the State.

Word has been received from Gen. Sewell to the effect that his health has been very greatly improved by the trip abroad. The gathering of prominent Republicans to do honor to Gen. Sewell on his home-coming will mark the opening of the fall campaign.

G. O. P. NEEDS SOOTHING.

TROUBLE APPREHENDED AMONG THE YOUNG LEADERS.

General Sewell Hurrying Home From Europe in Order to Wave the Wand of Peace Among the Disturbing Element.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, July 24—Some of the Republican leaders of New Jersey express a fear that, owing to the aspirations of certain members of their party to become dictators with regard to nominations and appointments to office, there is danger of the party losing votes and running the risk of a defeat at the next election. It is well-known that some of the younger politicians would like to take the management of affairs in their own hands and conduct campaigns according to their own ideas and without consultation with the experienced leaders who have done so well during the last five or six years. Should these young men be given their way it is the prediction of a prominent leader that the party will go to pieces and the Democrats will be restored to power sooner than even they themselves expect.

There is a loud call on Gen. Sewell to come home from Europe, that he may take a hand in disciplining the unruly elements so that the welfare of the party may be promoted. It is reported that the General has heard something about what has been going on in his absence, and that consequently he has concluded to abridge his trip abroad. He will return home, it is said, about the middle of August. Certainly, if there is any trouble in his party, especially in South Jersey, he is the only man who can straighten things out. And from all accounts there is trouble, and the sooner his master hand gets to work the better it will be for all who are concerned in keeping the party in the ascendant.

Compton Held for the Grand Jury.

Halstead C. Compton, who is charged with shooting little Victor L. Houston, the grandson of Isaac E. Houston, last Thursday, appeared before Justice Nash yesterday afternoon with his attorney, S. S. Swackhamer. He waived examination and gave bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance before the Grand Jury. L. L. Manning, the well-known marble dealer, went on his bond.

Another Attempt to Install.

Another attempt will be made to install the officers of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, tomorrow evening at the regular meeting of that lodge. Fate seems to be against the officers of the lodge who have, so far, made several unsuccessful attempts to hold the installation.

Out of the Hospital.

D. W. Littell, Jr., who has been confined to a hospital in New York for treatment to one of his eyes, has returned home, though he has not been permanently discharged from the hospital. It will be some weeks before Mr. Littell is able to attend to business.

—The delights of the seashore as presented at Asbury Park are as attractive as ever this year. The next opportunity to enjoy them will be given by the excursion of the Methodist churches of Plainfield and Dunellen, Thursday morning.

FEARED DEATH FROM A FLAIL OF STEEL.

Engine's Broken Driving Rod Imperils a Man's Life.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

SMASHES THE CAB IN WHICH THE CONDUCTOR IS A PRISONER.

Accident Occurred Near Netherwood Sunday Night—Most of the Cab Was Pounded Off and it Was Feared That a Hole Might be Pounded in the Locomotive's Side and an Explosion Occur.

Crouched close to the boiler, with a mighty rod of steel aiming blows at him, Harry Shuck, a conductor on the New Jersey Central Railroad, was in danger of death for many minutes. Shuck was in the cab of the big camel-back freight engine No. 347, which was hauling a west-bound train of twenty-five empty coal cars near Netherwood last Sunday night.

The cab in the locomotive is built over the boiler and in front of the firebox. Beneath are the driving rods of the wheels. On each side of the cab is a narrow seat. Shuck sat on the left side. Charles Robinson, the engineer, was on the right. The firemen was behind the firebox. Nearing the Terrill road bridge there came the sharp snap of cracking steel, followed by a trembling of the engine.

Robinson knew in a flash that the steel belt holding the main driving red of the forward left wheel had snapped, and the rod was free. Like a gigantic flail the bar of steel, two by four inches at its thinnest part, flew through the air. At its first down stroke three ties were snipped off close to the rail, as if they had been paper. It sunk three feet into the ground and it seemed the engine would topple over, but though it careened like a puff-struck yacht, it righted and went tearing along the track, though Robinson had turned off steam and put on the brakes.

There was no depending on the brakes after the third revolution of the rod, for it cut off the air brake cylinder. Then the flying bar began to play a terrible tattoo on the engine's side as if it wished to get at the demon that was thrashing it up and down. It shaved the steel sheething from the side of the boiler as if it had been tin and then tore away the end of the cab, passing within a few inches of Shuck, who lay down and shouted to Robinson for help. The engineer could do nothing but whistle for brakes. With each swing of the bar more of the engine was destroyed. Fragments flew over Shuck and the asbestos lining of the twin boiler sheathing fell over him.

Most of the cab had been pounded off, and at every swish Robinson expected a hole would be punched into the boiler and an explosion would occur. Shuck could only lie in wait. His face was ashen white from fear. The wind from the flying steel ruffled his hair. The train was on a down grade and dashed through Netherwood, the rod hammering away at the engine.

At the first signal T. F. Snyder, a brakeman, began putting on brakes, and just beyond the station brought the train to a standstill. Shuck was almost helpless from fright, and had to be lifted out of the debris of the cab.

LAID AT REST.

Funeral of James Z. Petrie, a Well-Known Musician.

The funeral of the late James Z. Petrie were held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harris on Fourth street. A large number of the friends of the deceased, who had admired his musical abilities ank personal traits were present to pay their respects. Rev. Dr. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church officiated and made a feeling address. Charles Lewis rendered splendidly the hymns, "One Sweet Solemn Thought" and "Forever With the Lord." The body was encased in a handsome casket upon which had been placed Mr. Petrie's violin, the instrument which had won for him so many friends and had been his constant companion in his last hours. It was almost concealed from view by entwining smilax which covered the casket. After the services the body was shipped to Truxton, N. Y., his native village, for burial.

To Take a Bicycle Tour.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of West Seventh street, leaves this week on a short bicycle trip on the south shore of Long Island. He will go awheel and return by boat.

THE TROOPS WERE IN PERIL

A Waterspout Threatened the Transport Sheridan in the Pacific.

SHIP'S COURSE CHANGED

The Big Teansport Arrives at Manila in Safety With Reinforcements For General Otis.

Captured Officers of the Hospital Ship Relief Receive the Most Excellent Treatment From the Filipinos—Gen. Otis Asked to Intercede For Their Release.

Manila, July 25.—The United States transport Sheridan, which sailed from San Francisco June 25 with reinforcements for Gen. E. S. Otis, has arrived here.

On July 16 a great waterspout was discovered directly in the course of the ship, and to avoid it it was necessary to make a detour of several miles.

Gen. Otis has received a letter dated July 2, and signed by Charles Blanford and Fred Heppe, respectively Assistant Engineer and Third Officer of the hospital-ship Relief, who were captured by Filipinos off Paranaque on May 30.

The letter says the prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos "are receiving excellent treatment, but the suspense of fearing the loss of our positions is terrible."

The writers beg Gen. Otis to intercede for their release. Gen. Otis has taken steps in that direction.

Two Augustinian Friars who had landed from the Hong Kong ship have been arrested here. It is said they had documents upon their persons showing they were agents of the Filipino Junta at Hong Kong and that they intended to bear messages to Aguinaldo.

On board the transports Sheridan were Brig.-Gen. Samuel B. M. Young and aides, Col. Daggett, Major Quinton, Companies B and H of the Fourteenth Infantry, 239 enlisted men and two company officers; Troop A and F, Fourth Cavalry, seven officers and 173 enlisted men; Lieut. Moss and 25 men of the Twenty-fourth Infantry; 8 Hospital Corps men, and 41 members of the Signal Corps, as well as 1,248 recruits for the regiments already in the Philippines.

Will Not Disturb Otis.

Washington, July 25.—It is stated on unquestionable authority that President McKinley has determined to retain General Otis in supreme command in the Philippines.

For some time the President has been deliberating over the advisability of divorcing the Governor Generalship and the military command.

It was believed for a time that either General Merritt would be ordered back as governor general or that General Lawton would be directed to take entire control of the military operations. It is now stated, however, that no change will be made that would seem to be an admission that the existing arrangement has not been an entire success.

General Otis is to have 45,000 men for his next campaign and to retain the governor generalship.

Killed in Philippines.

Washington, July 25.—The War Department has received the following from Gen. Otis, at Manila:

"Additional casualties—Killed: First California Infantry, at Bulong, Negros, July 1, E., Walter Sweenie; Ninth Infantry, near San Luis, July 18, K., Edward B. Webster.

"Wounded: First California Infantry, at Bulong, Negros, July 1, E., Claude W. Hulf, arm, slight; Twenty-first Infantry, near Morong, July 17, C., Francis Glancey, knee, moderate; Ninth Infantry, near San Luis, July 18, K., Sergt. Herbert L. Hartwick, arm, slight."

Planning Cuban Government.

Washington, July 25.—President McKinley is rapidly maturing the plans which he has had under consideration for many weeks to place the Cubans in possession of their own government. The President has been laboring to this end persistently and conscientiously, and the establishment of self-government for Cuba is assured in the near future. Within the next week or ten days there will be definite and practical action, the inception of the great work which the President has in mind.

Prepare to Protect Dreyfus.

Rennes, July 25.—Now that the date of the court-martial for the trial of Captain Dreyfus has been fixed for August 7, there is greater activity in the preparations for that event. Telegraph and telephone lines are being constructed, and officers on furlough have been ordered to return to their posts by August 4. The gendarmes have been told of a new countersign, and the Minister of War has issued instructions with regard to possible demonstrations. Barriers will be erected in the vicinity of the building in which the court martial will hold its sittings.

Will Fight the Law.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 25.—Judge John Morris and Judge A. A. Capin are at the head of a strong combination of local attorneys who will contest the validity of the fifteen-per-cent. tax increase announced for Allen County, which is alleged to be designed to make up the shortage involved in the new $700 mortgage exemption law. They will give notice of appeal to the State Board of Tax Examiners in a few days.

Governor Breaks the Law.

Debeque, Col., July 25.—Governor Tanner, of Illinois, is safely out of the State, despite efforts of game wardens to detain him for violation of the game law in killing out of season one four-pronged buck. Not satisfied with the pelt of a mountain lion for his parlor, the Executive of Illinois slew a young deer, and the incident promises to make trouble between Colorado and Illinois.

THE NEGRO VOODO DANCE

Hundreds of Colored Folks Flock to Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, July 25.—The negroes of Chattanooga and vicinity have inaugurated the voodoo dance and the entire negro community has gone wild on the subject.

Negroes have congregated from as far as Alabama and Mississippi to participate in the weird exercise and worship. The city is full of excited colored people, drawn here by the news which has gone forth.

Several hundred of the negroes started dancing to the accompaniment of tomtoms and other like instruments, and will continue to do so until their physical strength is completely gone.

Tod Fights Extradition.

Deadwood, S. D., July 25.—Sheriff Lancaster of York county, Neb., has arrived here with requisition papers from Gov. Lee for Capt. Grant M. Tod, the New York mining expert, who is under arrest here charged with swindling the York Mining Company out of large sums as its manager. Capt. Tod was turned over to the Sheriff, who was met with a writ of habeas corpus. Tod's attorney appeared before the court this morning and demurred to the order of Gov. Lee on the ground that the charges in the complaint did not warrant such an order. Capt. Tod says he will carry his case to the Supreme Court.

Two Children Burned to Death.

Monticello, N. Y., July 25.—During the absence of their father, who is the owner of an extensive dairy farm near here, "Freddie" and Edward McCullough, three and four years old, respectively, were burned to death in the haymow of the barn. The lads were at play in the hay, and in some way the building took fire. After a three hours' search in the ruins the body of one of the lads was found, with his hands shielding his eyes and his lower limbs burned away. The other lad's body was found close by, with his hand pressed to his heart.

No Hope For Mrs. Maybrick.

London, July 25.—In the House of Commons, Mr. Michael Davitt, member for South Mayo, asked the Government if, in view of the fact that the conduct of Mrs. Maybrick in prison had been uniformly good, the Home Office would not recommend royal clemency in her case. Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, said that he was unable to hold out hope of exceptional treatment for Mrs. Maybrick. The Home Secretary added that he was not aware of the existence of any reason for royal clemency.

Negro Fiends Lynched.

Bainbridge, Ga., July 25.—One negro lynched by hanging, two found dead who were undoubtedly lynched and were afterward scalped, and an excited mob chasing five other negroes, is the situation in the Ogletree outrage. There is the wildest excitement all over this section of the State, and it is feared by the law abiding citizens that others will be put to death by the frenzied mob searching for the negroes implicated in the assault of Mrs. Ogletree, at Saffold, Ga.

A Minister For Sunday Baseball.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 25.—Rev. Maurice Sampson, of Heidelberg Reformed Church, who delivered a sermon to the members of the Fort Wayne and Wheeling baseball teams in favor of Sunday games, has tendered his resignation as pastor. He says his resignation has nothing to do with his stand on the baseball question.

New Trainer For Cornell.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 25.—It is announced that "Jack" Moakley, of Boston, has been engaged as athletic trainer for the teams of the university. Moakley has been excellently recommended, and it is expected that Cornell will make a better showing in track and field events next year than for several seasons.

He Weighed 500 Pounds.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 25.—William Muirhead Ehrie, a well-to-do resident of this city, is dead. He weighed 500 pounds. Undertaker Quackenbush is having a special coffin made. Part of the house wall must be knocked out to remove the body. It will probably be lowered from the second story. It will be buried at Easton, Pa.

Pitcher Played Too Often.

Matawan, N. Y., July 25.—Walter E. Keene, pitcher of the Glenham Baseball Team, has a broken arm as a result of an uncommon accident. In delivering an in curve ball he felt a snap in his arm. Dr. Tiel examined it and found a bad break above the elbow.

A Baby With Two Heads.

Wonfield, W. Va., July 25.—A babe born to Mrs. Simms Hall has two heads of about equal size. The normal head possesses no deformities, but has rather a handsome face and bright eyes. The other head has neither eyes, mouth nor ears. The child seems in the best of health.

Shot Negro to Death.

Wilmot, Ark., July 25.—Chick Davis, the negro murderer of Will Grin, a respected farmer, was lynched here. He was overtaken in a corn field and he snapped both barrels of his gun at the pursuing party and was then fired upon by them and killed instantly.

Steamer Vortigern Disabled.

London, July 25.—Advices received from Amoy state that the British steamer Vortigern, Capt. Fairweather, bound from Yokohama for New York, has returned to Amoy with her crank shaft defective and her piston rod broken.

Bicyclist Badly Injured.

Wapakoneta, Ohio, July 25.—George Griffin, a bicyclist, riding on a wager from Chicago to New York, ran into a lumber wagon east of this city, and dislocated his shoulder and was injured internally. He is in a critical condition.

Two Brooklyn Men Dead at Saratoga

Saratoga, July 25.—Two Brooklyn men, the Rev. Father Augustus Fransioli, of the Order of Redemptorists, and William Keating, are dead here.

EVERYTHING DEPENDS ON HEALTH.

Success, beauty and happiness are impossible without it. Health depends on strong, nourishing food. Tender, juicy meat eaten regularly enriches the blood and strengthens the body.

If you get pleasant service, and the best of all kinds of fresh, nutritious meat, at low prices, where you're trading, all right. We can't offer better. If you are not satisfied, we'd like to see you.

DEATH IN A COAL SHAFT.

Two Men Lose Their Lives by an Explosion at Grindstone, Pa.

CAUSED BY FIRE DAMP.

The Fate of Two More Men Still Entombed in the Mine is Unknown to Anxious Friends.

A Boy, Badly Injured, Refused to Be Taken Home Until His Father and Brother Were Rescued—Intense Excitement Follows News of the Explosion.

Pittsburg, July 25.—There was an explosion of gas and fire damp in the mine of the Redstone Coal, Oil & Gas Company, at Grindstone, near Brownsville, on the Monongahela River. The explosion was on Entry No. 10, and the force was so great that eight men who had just descended the shaft were knocked down and bruised badly. They all escaped. One boy of the name of Solomon came out with a bad cut across his throat, but he went back, refusing to go home till his father and brother could be got out.

Two men were killed and two taken out of the mine and removed to the State Hospital at Connellsville, and two are still in the mine unrescued. Their fate is unknown. Both of the dead men were frightfully burned. They were John Yankura, 17 years old, and Steve Skleanel, 38 years old.

The explosion is believed to have been due to a fall of slate and consequent pressure of fire damp and gas out into a section where the men were at work.

The force at the mine consists of about seventy men, and most of them were in the mine at the time of the explosion.

The mine is operated by a shaft, and there was no other way of escape for the entombed miners. The work of rescue was pushed vigorously until all but two were rescued. There was intense excitement about the mine, and the walls of the wives, mothers and children who surrounded the mouth of the pit were frightful to hear.

Quarrel Settled By Bayonets.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 25.—Lieutenant Bennett, of Company C, Ninth Regiment, N. G. P., is likely to get himself into serious trouble by an assumption of authority over which much indignation has been aroused. There was a strike at the Boston colliery, near Yatesville, owned by Bennett's father. The strikers waited around the colliery for Mr. Bennett's answer. Lieutenant Bennett donned his uniform, got four privates of his company to put on theirs, and, armed with muskets and bayonets, they charged upon the strikers and ordered them back into the mine. The ignorant Poles and Huns, thinking they had violated some law, went back to work.

Banquet on the Olympia.

Trieste, July 25.—At the banquet given by Admiral Dewey on board the flagship Olympia, there were twenty-two covers. Admiral Dewey drank to the prosperity of his old home and the land of his birth, and to the health and prosperity of Minister Harris. He also expressed his appreciation of the great measure of hospitality extended to him and his officers and men by the city of Trieste. The company afterward took coffee on the deck of the flgship. Mr. Harris left for Vienna. He will return at the end of the week to see Admiral Dewey before the Admiral's departure from Trieste.
best.

Woman Accused By Lad of Murder.

Newark, N. J., July 25.—Robert Alden Fales, the lad who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Thomas Hayden, wrote a letter three months before he died in which he claimed that not he, but a woman, had committed the crime. The letter has been made public. The boy wrote that he received $700 as the price of his silence. Hayden was killed April 30, 1892, the motive being robbery. Fales died last May.

Excursionists Were Afraid.

Derby, Conn., July 25.—Two excursions, which left here, one to North Beach and the other to Coney Island, were failures because of a report circulated that Miss Evangelina Adams, of Boston, who claimed to have foretold the Hotel Windsor fire in New York, had predicted that disaster would overtake one of the boats.

The Spokes Hit Her.

Kokomo, Ind., July 25.—Miss Mary Bradford, a well-known young lady of this city, was frightfully mangled in a runaway accident. The spokes of a broken carriage wheel passed through her lower limbs in a dozen places, breaking bones and lacerating the flesh. An ambulance brought her to her home.

Cretans Now Rule Crete.

Candia, Crete, July 25.—The Government of the Island of Crete has been formally handed over to the Cretans by the British authorities, the British flag being finally lowered. The emigration of Mussulmans continues.

Boy Killed By Fly Poison.

Suffield, Conn., July 25.—James, the three-year-old son of James Egleston, died in great agony here as the result of poisoning. While playing about the house, he drank freely from a dish which contained fly poison.

A Chain Letter Scheme.

Boston, Mass., July 25.—A chain-letter scheme has been started for the erection of a monument to the unknown dead of the Spanish War in Arlington Cemetery.

KILLED BY A CONDUCTOR.

A Young Boy Shot Down at Cleveland Because He Cried "Scab."

THREATS OF LYNCHING.

The Residents of Orange Street Are Stirred up to a State of Ungovernable Fury.

A Crowd of 1,000 With a Rope Seek to Put an End to the Conductor's Career—More Bloodshed Threatened as a Result of Strike—Militia Preparing For Trouble.

Cleveland, O., July 25.—A deliberate murder by a non-union trolley conductor of a boy who yelled "Scab!" at him aroused the residents of Orange street to fury, and threatens more bloodshed in retaliation than any other previous development of the strike.

A lad of fifteen, son of a butcher named Cornweitz, cried "Scab" at the crew of the Big Consolidated car on Orange street.

The conductor got off, chased the boy and finally shot him dead, the bullet piercing his forehead.

Ralph P. Hawley, the conductor, was put under arrest. Orange street is the place where several children were killed by cars before the strike. This tragedy has worked its residents into ungovernable fury and police and militia prepared for bloodshed in earnest.

A crowd of 1,000 persons, with a rope and the slogun "Lynch him," gathered at Orange and Cross streets. Hawley, the conductor, was taken to the Central police station, guarded by an extra squad of police.

The scenes of disorder Sunday and yesterday are being succeeded by marked quietness. Cars are running on at least a dozen different lines of the Big Consolidated system. They, however, carry but few passengers. 'Bus lines are in operation over many of the Big Consolidated lines, and these are well patronized.

Later reports from those injured in the Euclid avenue explosion show that they were hurt much worse than at first supposed. It is now said that Mrs. Harris sustained a fracture of the skull and may die, while F. A Smith had both legs broken.

With the addition of the organizations called out, the military force to cope with the street car strike now numbers 800 men. If more are needed a call must be made for State troops. It was the opinion at military headquarters in the City Hall, however, that the increased force will be able to cope with the strike successfully.

The riots and murderous attacks that occurred convinced the Mayor it was time to call out all the available soldiers, and this was done at once. Violence will be suppressed at any cost. If 800 troops are not sufficient to this end the Governor will be asked for more.

Smelters Fail to Start Up.

Denver, Col., July 25.—The authorities and the smelter managers are apprehensive of trouble between union and non-union men as a result of the starting up of the plants. The smelter managers have called upon the old employes to return to work under the new schedule, and announce that unless they do so at once, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and other States will be called on to furnish men to operate the smelters.

The Globe plant here and the trust plants at Pueblo and Leadville were fired up and the whistles were blown, calling the men to work. At the Globe plant here no response was made, the former employes, many of whom do not belong to the union, contenting themselves with standing idle outside the big fence that surrounds the plant. The managers say they have a list of over 100 men who are willing to work, but who say that they fear the vengeance of the union men. In order to reassure them the smelter managers called on the Sheriff of this county and several deputies were sent to the smelter. In addition a goodly supply of private guards have been employed. Despite this fact none of the men whom the managers say they have on their list came forward to work, and it is almost certain that the smelters will remain idle until the managers accede to the union's demands or import men. If they bring non-union men from other places serious trouble will follow, as the union men are in an ugly mood and very determined. A strike leader says that every effort to avoid violence will be made.

Havana Very Healthy Now.

Havana, July 25.—The health report for the past two weeks has been the most favorable in the history of Havana. There have been no yellow fever cases, and the number of other contagious or infectious diseases has been reduced to the minimum. The authorities do not declare a yellow fever epidemic impossible, but are doing everything possible to avoid such an occurrence.

Tells of Escape in Box.

Columbus, July 25.—Timothy Hogan, the mail-box robber who escaped from the penitentiary May 8, and made his way to New York, is safe in his cell again. He said that he was nearly smothered in the box, but he had the courage to refrain from cutting a hole, although he had a knife, lest it be noticed.

Sanday Laws Are Not Enforced.

Worcester, Mass., July 25.—The attempts to enforce the Sunday blue laws in this city have failed. Druggists and restaurant keepers remove the covers from their cases and sell cigars and tobacco on Sunday without interference.

This Boy is a Musical Prodigy.

Sycamore, Ill., July 25.—Four-year-old Laurence Church is a literary and musical prodigy. He could read before he could talk. He reads the columns of a newspaper as readily and intelligently as a grown person and also reads music.

R·I·P·A·N·S

I felt better from the very first one I took. I had taken them for about a month, and was feeling so much better that I had forgotten about the bad feelings I used to have. The doctors called my trouble dyspepsia. I had it for about seven years, and had never in all my life been able to eat rich food or a very hearty meal. I often wondered why I should have so much dyspepsia. I would have what I call waterbrash sometimes four or five times a day, when clean water that seemed hot would run out of my mouth and the pain was something terrible for a minute, or else I would have pains at times in my stomach that would fairly double me up or pains in my shoulders and legs and all over me so that I would wish I was dead. I would send for the doctor, and when he came in he would say: "Well what is the matter now?" The best way to describe how I felt was just to say that everything was the matter with me and I felt bad everywhere. I think everybody who is troubled with their stomach ought to just try Ripans Tabules and they will soon know how valuable they are. My age is fifty-one years.

WANTED:—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. Send five cents to Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce Street, New York, for 10 samples and 1,000 testimonials. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents, or 12 packets for 48 cents, may be had of all druggists who are willing to sell a standard medicine at a moderate profit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the packet. Accept no substitute.

MADE DUMB BY A BLOW.

Pitcher Brace, Who Was Hit By a Ball, Unable to Speak.

New Haven, July 25.—Harry Brace, one of the substitute pitchers of the New Haven State league team, is in the same critical condition into which he was thrown by being struck by a pitched ball by Dickey, the Windsor Locks pitcher, on Saturday. Brace is suffering from concussion of the brain. His general condition is more comfortable. His senses have completely returned, and he has recovered the use of his limbs. The concussion has, however, caused him to lose his power of speech. His vocal organs are as completely paralyzed as when he was struck by the ball. He has been unble to utter a sound since then. Prof. Thomas Russell of the Yale Medical School, who has the case in charge, said that there seemed no hope that Brace would regain his power of speech.

Root With the President.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Elihu Root, the new Secretary of War, is the guest of President McKinley, and is discussing with the President and others the important duties about to devolve upon him as head of the War Department. It is again rumored that a new Cabinet Office will be created in the near future and that Mr. Root will soon be officially known as Secretary of the Colonies, and that some Western man will succeed him in the War Department. At a special conference the entire colonial policy was gone over to some extent, but Cuban affairs received as much attention as the war in the Philippines.

Rescued Bather in Sight of 3,000.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 25.—Three thousand persons saw Lifeguard Jeffries heroically rescue Mrs. Normal E. Keefe, of New York, from drowning in the surf. As she came to the surface the second time the guard attempted to put the buoy about her body, but the frantic woman grabbed him tightly around the neck. By a desperate effort he broke her hold and then had to dive for her as she sank again. The woman, when brought ashore, was resuscitated with much difficulty.

Three Killed, Sixteen Hurt.

Berlin, July 25.—Three persons were killed, sixteen seriously hurt and 100 prostrated by the flash of lightning while a gymnastic and bicycle tournament under the auspices of Polish societies was being held at Charlottenburg, in the province of Brandenburg. From the guy rods the lightning passed into the spectators' stands, where a horrible scene took place. Two women and a man in one of the stands were killed outright and their bodies consumed by the electric fluid.

Movements of Naval Vessels.

Washington, July 25.—The Machias has left San Juan for St. Thomas. The Annapolis has sailed from New Bedford for Boston, the Michigan and Yantic arrived at Mackinac Island, and the Adams has left Victoria, B. C. The Marblehead has reported at Coquimbo, on the way up the west coast of South America. The Potomac and Hist are on the way from Key West to Port Royal.

Another Plant Joins Thread Trust.

Millbury, Mass., July 25.—The Finlayson & Bonsfield Company, Limited, of Grafton, Mass., has joined the big thread trust. The property was transferred on Saturday. The price, as indicated by the revenue stamps upon the deed, was $227,000. The mills will be run as usual. About 5,000 hands are employed.

Fell Dead From His Bicycle.

Lowell, Mass., July 25.—Jefferson E. Knowles, aged 66 years, fell dead while riding his bicycle. He was returning from Bedford Springs, where he had spent the day, and had reached the corner of the old Boston and Billerica roads when death came. Heart failure was the cause.

New Canal Superintendent.

Albany, N. Y., July 25.—Superintendent Partridge of the State Department of Public Works has appointed Jacob M. Gross of Groves superintendent of Section No. 1, Erie Canal, to succeed John McDermott, resigned.

Killed By an Express Train.

Freeport, L. I., July 25.—Charles E. Carty of Rockville Centre was instantly killed by the westbound Patchogue express train. He was walking on the track toward the train. His head was severed from his body.

Two More Yellow Fever Deaths.

Washington, July 25.—Gen Brooke at Havana sends the following death report: "Twenty-second, Santiago, Geo. Alson, civilian employe; Arthur W. Hayes quartermaster sergeant, died 19th, yellow fever."

Cruiser Boston Slowly Coming Home

San Francisco, Cal., July 25.—The cruiser Boston is expected here from Manila at any hour. She is out now forty-five days from the port and twenty-five days from Nagasaki.

"Lucky" Baldwin Coming Again.

San Francisco, July 25.—"Lucky" Baldwin announces that his Santa Anita stable will be represented in the Eastern tracks in 1900 with a bigger string than ever before.

WRONG MAN CONVICTED.

Knack is Serving a Life Term For Poisoning His Wife.

Wautoma, Wis., July 25.—John M. Clark, clerk of the Circuit Court of Waushara County, has received a letter from a man in the northern part of this State which says he committed a crime ten years ago for which Ferdinand Knack is now serving a life sentence.

Ferdinand Knack was convicted at the September term of the Circuit Court of Waushara County in 1889 for poisoning his wife.

Chemists who analyzed the stomach found strychnine in sufficient quantities to produce death, and Waupaca druggists identified Knack as the person to whom the drug had been sold.

The man writing the letter claims that he was in love with Knack's first wife before she married him, and when he was discarded for another swore revenge. He went to her residence in Springwater and, pretending to be on friendly terms as of old, gave her some candy, of which she ate and which he claims caused her death, as it was poisoned.

Mrs. Ingersoll Seriously Ill.

Dobbs Ferry, July 25.—All arrangements for the disposal of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll's body have been made. It is to be cremated at Fresh Pond, L. I., on Wednesday. To the members of Colonel Ingersoll's family, who have remained disconsolate beside his bier, the completion of arrangements for the disposition of his body has been almost as nerve-shattering as was his death. Mrs. Ingersoll is seriously ill, and Dr. Judson, the family physician, is in constant attendance. He says that her illness is due to the ceaseless vigil which she has kept at the side of her dead husband.

Lincoln's Sweetheart Dead.

Lexington, Ky., July 25.—Mrs. Mary Love Lawless died at her home here. She was eighty-two years old. She was a sweetheat of Abraham Lincoln and a reigning belle of her day. Her maiden name was Joplin, and her home was at Mount Vernon, Ky. Her husband was James R. Lawless, a Mexican war veteran, who survives her. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Scott, widow of the late Lieutenant John Scott, of the United States Army.

To Try Oil as Fuel in a Torpedo Boat.

Norfolk, W. Va., July 25.—The torpedo boat Talbot is being fitted out at the Norfolk Navy Yard for a test of the practicability of using oil instead of coal for fuel. The work upon the Talbot is being done under the supervison of F. E. Magee, of New York. Mr. Magee hopes to demonstrate that oil as fuel is 50 per cent. cheaper than coal. The Talbot will shortly make a trial run in Chesapeake Bay, and will afterward proceed to Annapolis.

To Overhaul Ward Vessels.

Philadelphia, July 25.—The Cramp Shipbuilding Company has received the contract to overhaul and make repairs in the entire fleet of the Ward line steamships. The list includes the steamships Ceneca, Seguranca, Yucatan, Orizaba and Niagara. It is said to be the largest repair contract that ever has been given to a shipbuilding company in this country.

Under the Wreckage.

Massillon, Ohio, July 25.—A serious accident occurred on the W. and L. E. Railroad near Jewett. A car of pipe broke down, derailing a portion of the train. Conductor T. M. Kiger and Brakemen Creager, Girley and Walters, of Massillon, were injured. Creager was buried under the wreckage in a ditch and was nearly drowned when reached. Girley's arm was broken

They Want Their Wages.

Anderson, Ind., July 25.—Graders and trackmen in the employ of the H. W. Schunk Construction Company, building a through freight cut-off south of the city, have enjoined the Big Four from paying the construction company for work until after it had first satisfied $12,000 in wage claims, which, it is claimed, the construction company is slow in paying.

The Leap Was Fatal.

Bedford, Ind., July 25.—John Martin was dressing stone on a car in the Perry Matthews & Buskirk stone quarry, when a switch engine tried to couple the car, but failed, and started the car down grade. Martin jumped and the embankment gave way, throwing him under the engine and cars. He was cut into three pieces.

Appointed as Captain.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 25.—Captain George W. Biegler, of this city, late of Company B, One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Regiment, Indiana Volunteers, was notified by a telegram from Senator Fairbanks at Washington that he had been appointed a Captain in the regular army.

Animals That Love Perfume.

An investigator of the effect of perfumes on animals in Zoological Gardens discovered that most of the lions and leopards were very fond of lavender. They took a piece of cotton saturated with it and held it between their paws with great delight.

Flies' Eggs.

The fly lays four times each Summer and eighty eggs each time. The descendants of one female fly in a single season may number 2,080,320.

The People Who Work Best.

The people in all lines of duty who do the most work are the calmest, most unhurried. Duties never wildly chase each other in their lives. One task never turns another out, not ever compels hurried, imperfect doing. The calm spirit works methodically, doing one thing at a time well, and it, therefore, works swiftly, though never appearing to be in haste.

Spider Stops a Clock.

A spider that had woven a web around the pendulum, after infinite trouble and many failures that would have discouraged one less persevering, succeeded at last in stopping an old reliable clock at Nantucket.

When You Are Away

For a week, or a month, or the whole summer, there is nothing more welcome than the news from home. There is only one way to get this news in the right shape, and that is by having The Daily Press sent to you at your vacation stopping place. When leaving town for a season be sure to order The Daily Press to follow you by mail. The address will be changed as often as desired. Ten cents a week will cover all expenses.

Municipal Ownership.

The Plainfield correspondent of the New York World has this to say of the agitation in Plainfield for municipal ownership of the water supply:

The question of municipal ownership of water works is one of the matters that is now agitating the minds of taxpayers in Plainfield. Though the subject has been discussed spasmodically during the last few years, and former Mayor Fisk and Mayor Rockfellow have urged in their messages to the Common Council that negotiations for the purchase of the city water supply be undertaken, nothing material has come from it. Now, however, it is felt that results will be observed in a short time, from the resolution introduced by Councilman Hetfield into the Council, calling upon the fire and water committee to take up the subject and investigate the question of municipal ownership of water works in a thorough manner. The Councilmanic committee has been unable to do anything that can be reported as yet, but the various phases of the subject are being looked into carefully. It is the conservative sentiment of business men that with even much more moderate charges to private consumers than now prevails, the city would be able to purchase the plant and secure the use of water for city purposes without cost and pay off the bonds that it would be necessary to issue to raise the funds to buy, in less than forty years.

Something Wrong Somewhere.

The New Brunswick Home News says, pertinently and justly, in regard to the wrecked Middlesex bank: "It is time for somebody to rise up and inquire what has the State Commissioner of Banking been doing that his eyes were closed to one of the most stupendous and remarkable defalcations in the history of our State banks."

This suggests the Newark Advertiser to say: "There are twenty-one State banks in New Jersey with a total of $8,104,080 19 of deposits reported January 1st this year, the total liabilities footing up to $11,839,960.29. The defalcations of Cashier Valentine, of the Middlesex Bank, made possible by the carelessness of the bank directory and the apparent neglect by the State Banking department, reflect upon all the other twenty State institutions.

FROM NEW YORK TO FRISCO BY AUTOMOBILE.

Frenchmen think they are automobilists because they have traveled 621 miles in a horseless carriage. American pluck and enterprise is to show them their mistake. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Davis are on their way across the continent from New York to San Francisco in an automobile. They will travel 3,700 miles before reaching the end of their journey, and some of the roads they will encounter are far from good, while in France all of the highways are excellent. The automobile used by Mr. Davis was especially constructed for the trip. It derives its motive power from gasoline. The progress of this first attempt at a long journey by automobile in this country will be watched with great interest. That the horseless carriage has come to stay no one doubts, but before it comes into general use proof must be furnished that it will be available for more than short pleasure outings on highly improved roads. The Davis jaunt may furnish the desired proof.

Jersey to Do Her Part.

Governor Voorhees says that he is disposed to send the whole National Guard of the State to represent the State of New Jersey in honoring Dewey on the occasion of his reception by the people in New York city next October, but the Legislature had not appropriated money and there was no available funds in the State treasury to defray the expenses of transportation. "But I have the matter under advisement," said the Governor, "and some way may present itself that the world will know that New Jersey recognizes the great service done for the American people by the hero of Manila."

The total immigration to the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1899, was 311,707; and of this number of arrivals 195,277 were males. The Philadelphia Record says that this great proportion of males is accounted for by the fact that many of the married immigrants expect to return after a more or less prolonged stay to their old homes. But the total immigration is now far below the figures of former years, when sometimes the total annual arrivals were above 800,000. Hence, in view of the smaller proportion of foreign-born inhabitants to the total population of the United States there is no occasion for the alarm which the Nativists are now manifesting in regard to immigration.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company is playing fast and loose with the people of Dunellen. After a long fight for transfers the Plainfield company finally consented to give transfers on its cars, good on the cars of the Brunswick Traction Company. The agreement was made in the most public and positive way, but when the Dunellen people who patronized the line of the Plainfield company asked for transfers they were laughed at, and told that the company had set no time when it would institute the transfer system, and that transfers would not be given until the company was good and ready. During the controversy that preceded the adjustment of the transfer difficulty, the people of Dunellen were inclined to make the Brunswick Traction Company the scapegoat, and load up on it all of the blame for the trouble. They regarded with fine skepticism the claim of the Brunswick Traction Company that the fault lay with the Plainfield Street Railway Company. Perhaps by this time the people of Dunellen are able to place the responsibility where it belongs.—New Brunswick Times.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

If Attorney General Griggs had been made Secretary of War, and if he could have beat General Aguinaldo the way he beats "Colonel Bogey" when he plays golf he would have been a howling success. Mr. Griggs began playing golf two years ago, and last year became one of the champions of this section. His home club is the North Jersey Country Club, of Paterson, and the success of that club's golf course, as well as its excellence, is due in great measure to his efforts. He plays the games as he does other things, with much care and accuracy. He is a good shot and a good billiard player, and the trained eye which is developed by these sports has stood him in good stead in his golf. He is also a man who keeps his nerve, playing very nearly as well at one time as another. His management of his game is also excellent. In short, characteristics which have won success in more serious trials seem to serve him as well in golf.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Nevius, of this city, spent Sunday with relatives at North Branch.

Mrs. F. K. Willett and son, of East Second street, are stopping at Asbury Park for a time.

Mr. and Mrs Dow, of Elizabeth, have returned home after a brief visit with Plainfield relatives.

Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Elmwood place, and her son Raymond, are visiting relatives at Junction.

Miss Mamie Clark, of New York, has returned home after an extended visit with friends in this city.

Miss Daisy Snyder, of West Front street, has returned from Asbury Park, where she spent her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dodge, of Lincoln place, are spending two weeks at Maspeth, L. I., with relatives.

Miss Mabel VanMiddlesworth, of this city, will leave in a few days for Manasquan, where she will visit relatives.

Miss Nettie Chandler, of the local telephone company, returned to work yesterday after enjoying a vacation of two weeks.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, July 25.—A valuable bird dog belonging to William Carman, the butcher, was killed by the cars last Saturday night near the railroad station. This is the second dog Mr. Carman has lost in a similar manner. He had been offered $50 for the dog.

Quite a large number of the members of the Middlesex Bowling Green Club played in the rinks at the Dunellen court Saturday afternoon. There was no special match, the games being of an informal character. Some very good scores were made and an afternoon very pleasantly spent.

Augustus Runyon, or Plainfield, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Runyon.

Capt. John Wherley, of Somerville, has been at the residence of Mrs. Charles Rugge.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lake have returned from a visit with friends in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Harry Swackhamer has been entertaining her father, John Fenner, of Pluckamin.

The friends of Mrs. Harmon Apgar will be pained to learn of her severe illness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bodine have gone to Asbury Park to spend a month.

Mrs. Howard Giles has been entertaining her mother from Perth Amboy.

Mr. and Mr. Augustus Todd have been visiting friends in Tarrytown.

William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet this evening.

Harry Swackhamer spent Sunday with friends at Allentown.

T. J. Ronayne spent Sunday at Glen Island.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, July 25—The residents of the village and friends of the families of William Traino and John Reick are wondering and talking of the strange disappearance of Charles Reick and William Traino, Jr., Sunday night. There is no clue as to their disappearance more than that they were known to have bought tickets for New York Sunday evening about 9 o'clock. The first the families knew of their disappearance was when it came time to call them Monday morning. Then it was found that their rooms had not been occupied during the night. The boys are about seventeen years of age, and both have comfortable homes and no reason is known for their running away. Reick was learning his trade at Scott's Press Works in Plainfield and only had one more year to serve to be out of his time. Traino worked about the village and at times helped his father about his blacksmith shop.

The trolley extension has become blocked along North avenue from Graceland to Westfield and a new survey is being made from Westfield avenue through Henry Cook's farm to Jerusalem road, then taking this line to Westfield. This will be a good thing for the owners of property through that section.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hall, of Fanwood entertained Rev. Mr. Daniels, who occupied the Baptist pulpit Sunday, during his stay in town.

Miss Minnie Hosinger has returned to her duties at Crosby & Hill's after enjoying a pleasant vacation of two weeks.

Miss Lulu Hollingsworth led the Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Miss Hurlbut, who has been visiting the Misses Shott, has returned to her home in New York.

Fred Schmidt, who has been seriously ill for a week, is able to be around once again.

The annual excursion of the Baptist Sunday-school to Asbury Park will be held August 3d.

Miss Malom, of Stout avenue, entertained New York friends Sunday.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Peck is still making a noise about his three pair of ladies' hose at $1.

—The next meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday evening, August 7th.

—Prof. VanWert will soon take possession of his new rooms in the Babcock building.

—On Friday evening, August 4th, there will be a regular meeting of the Borough Council.

—Next Monday evening there will be a meeting of the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital.

—The case of Kane against Yettman, in Justice Mosher's court, was settled out of court. John H. Van Winkle, Jr., was attorney for the defendant.

—The cases of contagious disease in the borough are all doing well and no new cases have been reported. The health authorities have the epidemic well under control.

—By putting a nickle in the plate one must not expect a gold crown, but one can get a good glass of ice cream soda with crushed fruit syrups for 5 cents at the Central Pharmacy.

—Work will be started in a few days constructing a sewer along South, Woodland and Belvidere avenues. The work will be done under the direction of the street commissioner.

—A great improvement to the plunge bath room at the Y. M. C. A. building will be the wooden flooring that is to be laid over the old tile flooring, which became very slippery when wet.

—There will be a grand time in store for all who go on the Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school excursion August 10th to Asbury Park. This church always conducts a successful excursion.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Westfield, July 25—The merchants of Westfield are taking a big interest in the big fifteen-mile road race to be run here the 4th of September, Labor Day. The race will be run under the direction of Wm. Embleton, a well-known wheelman of this town. The time prize will be a Spalding racing wheel, and the first prize a gold watch. The second and third prizes have not as yet been decided upon. The course will be on Broad street, but it has not been decided where either the finish or start will take place. Entries are already being received by Mr. Embleton, who expects to have one hundred riders at the starting place the day of the race. An experienced handicapper, who has done handicapping for many of the New Jersey road races, will place the men.

The class of '99 of the Lincoln High School has appointed a committee, consisting of Misses Josephine Oliver, Beth Morehouse, Miss Mair Williams, Lloyd Thompson and Carle Whitehead, to arrange for the organizing of an Alumni Association. The committee will shortly hold a meeting at which time a constitution will be adopted and members enrolled. All graduates of the school will be welcome to join and those who have ever attended the school but who have not graduated can join as associate members.

Joseph Moore, of New York, who has been visiting Plainfield relatives, has returned home.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

HAPPENINGS IN A FEW LINES FROM ALL OVER JERSEY.

More or Less Important Happenings and Events in Various Sections Served For a Quick Glance at.

A bug "almost as big as a sparrow," attacked Phillip Whitman, of Bridgeport, but he managed to beat it off and kill it before it nipped him.

While upland hay in Salem county is scarce, farmers are cutting an immense crop of meadow grass, and it will all be needed before spring.

Burlington township has refused to pay its share of the grading, and the new stone road that is being built between Mount Holly and Burlington City will be stopped indefinitely.

Farmers in Cape May county are growing a large acreage of tomatoes for the can house, but are troubled with that everlasting big green worm that eats the life out of the plant.

It is rumored at Bridgeton that the entire plant of the Cohansey Glass Company will be moved to Doylestown, Pa. The Cohansey is one of the plants which is under the ban of the striking blowers.

Henry Schick, pound-keeper of West Hoboken, has adopted a new method of disposing of dogs. Instead of drowning, he electrocutes them. He has rigged up an electrical machine in the pound.

The First National Bank of Ridgewood was opened yesterday morning and did a very good business for the opening day. President Ackerman says the bank will be a success. L. F. Spencer, of Passaic, is cashier, and William C. Banta, of Ridgewood, clerk.

The first burial permit ever given in Newark for the interment in a cemetery of the severed limb of a human being was granted by City Clerk Connelly yesterday. It was a grant to bury the leg of Mrs. Caroline Francisco, colored, who had to have it amputated.

Richard Lyons, an employe of the Cliffwood Brick Works, Matawan, was at his racking machine yesterday when his clothing caught in a bolt and he was slowly drawn toward the cogs and wheels. He was picked up, his clothing torn, a mass of bruises. It was at first thought he could not recover, but the doctor found that the most serious injury was the breaking of the collarbone.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gallagher, of Orchard place, are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter.

Miss Mary Meehan and Miss Kate Dunham, both of this city, have returned from their summer outing at Ocean Grove.

Mrs. Theodore Vroom and two daughters, of the borough, leave for Sandusky, Ohio, Mrs. Vroom's former home, this afternoon.

A. W. Demarest, of Craig place, left Plainfield yesterday morning to spend a few days with Mrs. Demarest and family at Hope Valley, Rhode Island.

Miss Ella Lunger, cashier at the store of the J. P. Laire Hardware Company, has returned from her outing spent at Sunnyside, Hunterdon county.

Frank Jones, of the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, has returned from England, where he has been for sometime past erecting presses.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

YES OR NO.

Plainfield People Are Respectfully Asked To Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Can the reader dispute and then disprove local evidence?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of residents of Plainfield of any greater moment than opinions held by residents of Maine or Michigan?

Would you sooner believe people living in those states than those in your own city?

Answer these questions honestly after you have quietly read the following.

Mr. F. O. Smith, of 616 West Front street, contractor for painting, etc., says:—"For sometime I had symptoms of kidney trouble and despite all my endeavors to get rid of it, I never was successful until I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. There was a distressing pain across the small of my back which clung to me all the time. When I got seated at times if I moved a sharp pain struck me in the back and loins and almost made me exclaim. Any change in the weather if I caught the least cold always aggravated the trouble and caused me to suffer severely. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by one of my employes who had been cured of a long standing case of kidney complaint by their use. I commenced the treatment and derived benefit from it immediately, and before I had finished the first box I was cured.

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Celebrated His Birthday.

Harry Rottberg, of West Third street, was eleven years old yesterday, and last evening he gave a party to a number of his friends. There were about fifteen in all present and the evening was passed in playing games and in having a jolly good time, after which refreshments were served. The young celebrant received a number of very useful presents from his friends.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Thüringische Staaten.

Arnstadt. Die seit dem 1. November 1898 hier bestehende „Deutsche Bahnmeister-, Wege- und Tiefbauschule," welche im ersten Schuljahre von 62 Schülern besucht wurde, wird in Folge dankenswerther Anregung aus Fachkreisen zum Wintersemester 1899—1900 zu einer „Bautechnischen Fachschule" erweitert werden. Die Anstalt umfaßt dann folgende Abtheilungen: 1. eine Baugewerkschule für Hochbautechniker jeder Art; 2. eine Eisenbahntechniker- und Bahnmeisterschule und 3. eine Straßen- und Tiefbauschule. Der Lehrgang aller Abtheilungen umfaßt vier Semester.

Jena. In der städtischen Brauerei wurde der 57jährige Arbeiter Grunert von einer Transmission erfaßt und zerrissen.

Koburg. Der Landtag der vereinigten Herzogthümer nahm das Gesetz an, nach welchem der Herzog von Albany auf dem Throne von Sachsen-Coburg und Gotha folgen soll. Im Falle des Aussterbens der Albany-Linie soll Prinz Arthur von Connaught folgen, und wenn diese Linie gleichfalls aussterben sollte, die Nachfolgeschaft an die Familie des Prinzen von Wales übergehen. Fürst Hohenlohe-Langenburg ist als Vormund des Herzogs von Albany bestellt.

Weimar. In Weida hat sich ein angesehener und vermögender Einwohner, der auch das Amt eines Gemeinderaths bekleidete, Fleischermeister Reihl, erhängt. Er hatte seinen Strohdiemen, der hoch versichert war, angebrannt und sollte deshalb verhaftet werden.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Der frühere Lloyddampfer „Kaiser Friedrich," der von der Firma Schichau wieder zurückgenommen wurde, weil er den kontraktlichen Bedingungen nicht entsprach, ist hier auf Blohms Schiffswerft gedockt worden, und sollte nach Vornahme einiger Aenderungen von der „American Line" übernommen werden. Die betreffenden Unterhandlungen haben sich indeß jetzt, nachdem durch eine deutsche Bergegesellschaft die „Paris" glücklich von den Felsen abgebracht worden ist, zerschlagen. Dagegen hat eine französische Gesellschaft, wie es heißt die „Compagnie Generale Transatlantique," ein begehrliches Auge auf den stattlichen Dampfer geworfen und mit Herrn Schichau Unterhandlungen angeknüpft, deren Abschluß jedoch nicht eher erfolgen wird, als bis der Umbau des „Kaiser Friedrich" zum Zweck der Erzielung größerer Fahrgeschwindigkeit beendet ist.

Bremen. Vom englischen Generalkonsulat in Hamburg war dem Vizekonsul hierselbst ein Telegramm zugegangen, des Inhaltes, daß das Konsulat bei der Ankunft der „Karlsruhe" mehrere Gold enthaltende Kisten, die das Schiff mitbringt, mit Beschlag belegen lassen solle. Dieselben sollen über eine Million an Werth haben und in Australien gestohlen worden sein. Die Sendung, die aus sechs großen Koffern mit goldenen Uhren, goldenen Ketten und dergleichen bestand, wurde unter persönlicher Aufsicht des hiesigen großbritannischen Vizekonsuls von Bord geholt und in dem Treforgewölbe der hiesigen Bankfirma Wolff u. Zomber einstweilen untergebracht.

HE TOOK THE ADVICE.

Concluded to Be a Leader and Surprised His Father.

The boy had got into trouble and the old gentleman had taken him to task for it with considerable severity.

"I just followed the other boys," he pleaded, "and did what they did."

"That's worse than no excuse at all," returned the old gentleman. "That indicates that you haven't any independence or individuality. I want you to lead and not to follow. The leaders are the people who count in this world, and I want you to be a leader. I never want to hear again that you have followed the other boys into trouble."

The boy promised that he would follow this advice and results showed that he lived up to his promise. When he was next before his father for getting into trouble his face was wreathed with smiles.

"It's all right this time," he said.

"All right this time!" exclaimed the old gentleman. "Why, it's worse than ever. According to the complaints coming in from the neighbors you have been up to more mischief in the last two days than ever before."

"But I didn't follow anybody," protested the boy; "I led."

"Worse and worse," returned the old gentleman.

"Why, you said you wanted me to be a leader," asserted the boy.

"What has that to do with all this deviltry?"

"Everything," answered the boy. "There ain't but one way to be a leader that I know of."

"And what is it?"

"Why, to size up which way the crowd's going to go and then travel a little faster than any one else in that direction."

The old gentleman stopped in his search for the cane he had intended to use, and which the boy had carefully hidden. His eyes opened wide with astonishment, and he gasped once or twice before he was able to speak.

"That boy," he said at last, more to himself than any one else, "is born to go into politics, and there's no use trying to whale it out of him."

Finger Stocks for School Children.

In the old Dames' schools in country districts, even so late as 50 or 60 years ago, there was always kept on the desk, side by side with the birch, a pair of finger stocks. As the children went up in turn to the desk to repeat their lessons, they were each obliged to put on these stocks.

FINGER STOCKS FROM WALES.

The hands were placed behind the back, and the four fingers of each hand inserted in the holes. With the shoulders brought well back, the child in this position was absolutely helpless, and entirely at the mercy of the old dame, should she be inclined to use the birch or box the ears of any delinquent scholar.

These finger-stocks were also used as a mode of punishment, the children having to stand with their hands fixed in them for an hour or more at a time.

Although they do not look a very formidable method of torture, it only remains for them to be tried to satisfy the inquirer of their efficacy.

The finger-stocks here illustrated are the actual size of the picture. They came from a remote village in Wales, and are made of limewood, tied together with old brown ribbon.

Fears of Animals.

If scientists are to be trusted, it is a mistake to suppose that the lives of animals are peaceful and happy.

Worms are in constant terror of birds. The smaller birds are never free from dread of hawks, or owls or cats. Cats are afraid, not only of their ancient enemy, the dog, but of the wicked small boy who throws stones. Dogs are afraid of one another and in mortal terror of cows.

Horses are haunted by the swish of the whip. Sheep appear to suffer from a constant prevision of the butcher. Sprats are tortured by the expectation of being swallowed by the mackerel and mackerel are always expecting the same fate at the jaws of a shark. Almost every living thing is afraid of man.

Besides, not an animal exists who is not being perpetually gnawed by hundreds of parasites. The woodcock and turbot swarm with tapeworms. In the young caterpilar the ichneumon lays its eggs, and the little animals that are hatched eat the caterpilar till not a particle is left.

Thousands of little worms live in the rabbit and when a dog eats him they lodge themselves under the dog's tongue and often drive him mad with pain. Great tumors are raised on the backs of sheep and cattle by parasites which bore under the skin. Even crocodiles suffer from never ending toothache, caused by a little beast that lodges in his jaws.

In fact, it is as true with regard to animals as of men—that there is no peace for them on earth.

Keep Quiet.

Arthur, who is forbidden to speak at the table, had his revenge the other day. As dinner began he was uneasy, and finally said: "Ma, can't I speak just one word?"

"You know the rule, Arthur."

"Not one word?"

"No, Arthur, not until your father finishes the paper."

Arthur subsided until the paper was finished, when he was asked what he had to say.

"Oh, nothing; only Nora put the custards outside the window to cool, and the cat has been eating them up!"

SUMMER GOWNS.

Details of Their Trimming and General Arrangement.

Small buttons of fine goldsmiths' work are fashionably employed as a decoration for bodices, and even white blouses of wash materials are thus adorned. The smaller the button the more valuable it is, as a rule, stones of genuine value being frequently used.

The mode has a tendency to enlarge the width of the shoulders, although sleeves are close and sleeve caps are less and less seen. The bodice itself is cut rather wide at the top, and the top of the sleeve is stiffened with canvas to give it a square form.

Costumes of lawn, thin nainsook or batiste, or Swiss muslin are usually made over a lining, either colored or white. It is not necessary that this lining should be silk, percaline or some similar lining fabric of fine quality answering the purpose very well. If it is colored the lower edge may be finished with a pinked silk ruffle of the same shade, and in any case it is best to stiffen the hem a little in order that it may give proper support to the separate outside skirt.

The princess costume of pink crepe de chine which is shown in the sketch has a slight train, and closes at the left side, the edge of the skirt having a deep flounce of plaited pink mousseline de soie, which follows the line of closing up the side of the skirt to the waist. The flounce is headed by a continuous design of bow knots in narrow black velvet. The bodice has a mousseline plaiting, headed in the same way and forming a fichu. Black velvet trims the waists. The leghorn hat is decorated with pink tulle and black plumes, a scarf of tulle coming from pink roses beneath the brim and tying under the chin.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Flowers and Other Trimmings For Summer Hats.

Enormous flowers are used on hats—roses so gigantic that they almost cover one side. Then there are turbanlike scarfs of gauze and garlands of flowers, all tending to enlarge the mass of the hat. High, detached sprays of trimming are less used than they were last year.

Orchids are seen upon some of the most elegant models of hats. Large shapes, with twisted brims, are much trimmed with these effective flowers, especially hats of the directoire style, which are shown by the great millinery authorities.

Scarfs of tulle and gauze, coming from the back of the hat and tied under the chin or at the side, are becoming to nearly all faces, and their revival is an agreeable circumstance.

Many women wear beneath the ordinary veil another one of the finest white illusion, which answers the double purpose of protecting the skin and making it appear clearer.

A novelty in parasols is of light colored taffeta, decorated with Louis Quinze knots of black velvet in application. Another idea is to have the velvet bands design a Greek or arabesque border, the edge of the parasol being cut to follow the shape of the design.

The picture shows a hat of leghorn straw. The brim is not very wide and curls upward. Around the crown is a band of black velvet, and in front is a chou of sky blue ribbon and a full trimming of bunches of black and white grapes, with leaves, black and white dandelion balls and ears of ripe wheat.
